VERNER'S LAW IN ITALY,
an Essay in the History of the Indo-European Sibilants.

'The method is rigidly scientific and Mr Conway is fully entitled to the credit of a good working hypothesis' The essay deserves a cordial welcome, not only for what it contains, but also as a promise of excellent work in the future'

Prof A S Wilkins in The Academy

'Mr Conway has an excellent case, and an array of evidence admirably collected and marshalled'

The Classical Review

'Mr Conway's book is worthy of all praise In formulating his law he has shown a mind keenly sensitive to linguistic phenomena In working up his material he shows thorough acquaintance with the most advanced German authorities and the conscientious painstaking of a true scholar. Aside from the main line of his investigations many questions are touched suggestively and helpfully . . . We predict many more papers of value from Mr Conway's pen'

The American Journal of Philology

'Der etwas sonderbare Titel dieser höchst beachtenswerthen Untersuchung erklärt sich aus dem Bestreben des Verfassers, die Verschiedenheit in der Behandlung von intervocalischem s im Lateinischen in ähnlicher Weise zu erklären, wie man seit Verner's schöner Entdeckung das Verhältniss von ahd nasa bas zu altslov nosu bovii sich zurechtlegt. . . Die Untersuchung, welche von ernsten lautphysiologischen und sprachgeschichtlichen Studien zeugt . . . begründet die Aufstellungen in scharfsinniger Weise . . . Auf jeden Fall ist die Arbeit ein werthvoller und interessanter Beitrag zur altitalischen Lautlehre.'

Gustav Meyer in Literarisches Centralblatt

'Au point de vue de la conscience et de la methode, de l'etendue et de la variété des connaissances, peu d'essais de linguistique indo-européenne méritent plus d'attention et d'éloges que celui de M Conway . . . En tout état de cause l'auteur garde le mérite d'avoir complètement exploré un domaine jusqu'à présent peu connu, et enrichi la science de résultats nouveaux glanés au cours de sa consciencieuse enquête'

PREFACE TO THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

In consideration of the length to which the Second Volume of this Grammar was likely to extend it seemed desirable to publish it in parts¹). Those which are still to appear will first complete the Morphology of Nouns and Pronouns, including the history of the Case-Endings. The latter section will be comparatively brief, since the ablaut of the inflexional syllables has been discussed in all its most important points in connexion with the Formative Suffixes. Then will follow the Morphology of Verbs (Stem-Formation and Inflexion), and finally a list of Additions and Corrections to the First Volume, [and an Index to both].

A third and last volume of smaller dimensions will contain the Syntax. In this part of Comparative Grammar very little work has been done, at least very little that can be called scientific, and hitherto no one has tried to give any systematic account of the subject as a whole. For a long while, I confess, I could hardly make up my mind to include it in the present work, but I have been greatly encouraged to make the attempt by the appearance of the fifth Volume of Delbrück's Syntaktische Forschungen (Altindische Syntax 1888), which, though it is not directly concerned with Comparative Grammar, has done a great deal to prepare the way for a general history of Indo-

1) The different parts of the German edition will appear as separate volumes in English.

Germanic Syntax. And in my work for the third volume I hope to have the help of O. Behaghel's Grundzüge der germanischen Syntax which has been announced for some time.

I have accepted as necessary one or two alterations in the transcription of Avestic; ṛ instead of ṛ̥ (before r, see vol. I § 558 p. 415), š for all three signs š, š̥ and š̌. As regards these sibilants we ought still, in all probability, to make some distinction between the sounds in such words as hištati = Skr. tīṣṭati (I § 556 p. 410), mašya- = Skr. mārtya- (I § 260 p. 212 f., § 474 p. 350), šyaoṇa- = Protoethnic Aryan caytna-* (I § 448 p. 333, § 473, 4 p. 350). I accepted with other scholars the theory which Bartholomae advanced in Bezzenberger's Beiträge VII 188 ff. as to the respective value of these three signs in the Zend alphabet, and, so far as I can see, it is not disproved by Geldner's recent edition of the Avesta. At the same time it is certainly not confirmed by the results of Geldner's work, and Bartholomae himself, with Hubschmann and others, now follows him in writing š indifferently in all cases. Thus I had no alternative.

In Celtic Prof. Thurneysen has given me the same generous assistance as in the first volume. My pupil Dr. W. Streitberg has helped me in correcting the proof. To both I may here offer my hearty thanks.

TRANSLATORS' PREFACE.

In the two years that have followed the translation of the First Volume of the Grundriss der vergleichenden Sprachwissenschaft by Dr (now Professor) Joseph Wright, the difficulty of the task has sensibly diminished. The methods and the nomenclature of the scientific school of Comparative Philology have found their way more and more into the work of English teachers, and it has become far easier to decide what innovations can, and what cannot be reconciled with established usage. Such words, for example, as 'thematic', 'ablaut', 'analogical', 'contamination', 'proethnic' are completely naturalised. The last we have universally adopted as the clearest equivalent of the German ur- prefixed to the name of a group of languages: 'proethnic Greek' is Greek older than the rise of its various dialects, 'proethnic Indo-Germanic', or more simply where there is no ambiguity, 'the proethnic language' is the parent of the various families of Indo-Germanic speech.

On the other hand the new subject-matter of the present volume involves new difficulties. On almost every other page of the original the word Grundform is used to denote the original form from which any particular word has been developed by phonetic change, and considering the frequency of its occurrence we could see no alternative but to adopt it bodily into English. Again some such expressions as 'fertile' (produktiv) and 'extended' (erweitert) were indispensable to describe the history of the different suffixes. The process of deriving a feminine form from the masenline stem of an adjective (Germ. Motion) we have called 'differentiation'. To express the change by which a substantival compound becomes an adjective, or in terms of Sanskrit grammar, by which a karma-dhāraya-compound becomes a bahu-vrīhi German scholars have created a new verb mutieren, i. e. the Lat. mutare; the word 'epithetised' which is used for the first time in this translation is an attempt to describe the nature of the change a little more explicitly. Thus in English blackbird is a simple or 'non-epithetised' compound, Greatheart, rosy-fingered, in Latin magnanimus, in Greek ῥοδοδάκτυλος are 'epithetised' (see p. 92). The ambiguity of the word 'formation' which like the German Bildung does double duty, to denote sometimes an abstract process and sometimes its concrete result, is a source of considerable difficulty, which might well be avoided by using such a term as 'formate' to express the second meaning; and the convenience of words like trans-formate, re-formate afformate (Umbildung, Neubildung, Nachbildung) is at once obvious. But the change is not absolutely necessary and therefore, since this is a book of general reference, it seems fairer to the reader to suggest it in the Preface rather than to introduce it directly into the text; perhaps however we may assume the licence in the following volumes.

A small but perpetually recurring difficulty of which the reader should be warned, has been the translation of the preposition zu in its technical sense, for which we have no exact equivalent in English, except such phrases as 'directly related to', 'connected in accordance with' and these would be, to say the least, a little wearisome, if they appeared twenty times on a page. It really covers several shades of meaning; in 'amāvi zu amō' 'tult zu ferō' it means used as a tense of; in 'ansātus zu ansa', a derivative of; in 'modestus zu modus', used as a derivative of; in 'Lat. inclutus zu Gr. κλίω', containing the root of; and so on. The nearest English equivalent in the first two cases would be the preposition from, in which there is a more serious ambiguity, used as it is to denote both historical and logical connexion, 'tult from the root tel', 'tult from ferō'.

Sometimes of course the two coincide, but only in the case of words of which the first was in use in the form in which we quote it before the second came into existence. suavior 'comes from' suavis historically as well as logically because it is a special formation in Latin (in place of the Indo-Germanic stem syūd-ijos-*); whereas the genitive patris can only be said to 'come from' the nominative pater in the logical sense, not the historical, since both are descended from proethnic forms. The rule therefore that we have adopted has been to write from in the logical sense only where there can be no possible doubt that that is its meaning; where there would have been any danger that the reader should infer from it a historical, derivative relation that was not implied in the German, we have used beside. Thus in the examples given above we should render 'tulī from ferō' but 'modestus beside modus' (see p. 418). The line is of course hard to draw, but for safety's sake, we have used beside in all cases of doubt. To do so universally, i. e. to have written always 'patris beside pater' instead of 'from pater' seemed a little pedantic. On the other hand from has of course its proper derivative significance in such phrases as 'ansātus from ansa', where in German von and zu are used indifferently. The German aus connecting a form with its immediate phonetic antecedent, e. g. 'Lat. fissus aus fid-to-s*' we have followed prevailing usage in rendering by for, 'fissus for fid-to-s*'. The reader will find that for is used only in this sense of direct phonetic connexion; to describe an analogical substitution (Germ. für) we have regularly kept to 'instead of'.

In minor matters, such as abbreviations, and details of printing we have followed English rather than German precedent. For obvious reasons however we have retained the order of the original in such phrases as 'Gr. Att. ἴσθης' 'Skr. Ved. śray-iṣṭha-' (cf. p. 244), where they occur in a list of forms from different languages. But we have ventured to retain the symbol: which occurs on every page, and denotes that the forms that it connects stand in a definite relation to one another, and this, when it is not otherwise explained by the context, is always one of regular phonetic correspondence; for instance it is invariably used to connect an Indo-Germanic form with the words which represent it in the derived languages e. g. Idg. kelu-tó-s*: Skr. śru-tá-s, Gr. κλυ-τό-s etc. A modification of this symbol, for which it was equally impossible to find a substitute, 'cp.' means 'partly related to' 'in some respects to be compared with'; it is employed where the forms compared are not completely parallel, but only to some extent, e. g. on p. 39, § 23 'Skr. án-ápta-s: cp. Lat. in-eptu-s'; here the two words are parallel, but not identical, as the Latin form is derived from ap-tó-, the Sanskrit from ap-tó-, see Vol. I § 97, 3 p. 91. Similarly on p. 60, § 34 'Lat. sim-plex: cp. Gr. ἀ-πλόος' implies that the compounds are parallel, but identical only in their first member; p. 193, § 75 Gr. ἡμέ-τερο-ς 'cp. Lat. nos-ter', that the use of the suffix is the same in both. It would be difficult to enumerate all the varieties of positive meaning that may be implied by this practically colourless symbol; to remove it altogether would be to re-edit the whole Grammar, not to translate it. The symbol : is also placed at the end of a general statement which is immediately followed by a list of illustrative examples, but otherwise it is not used as a mark of punctuation. On the other hand where the scientific brevity of the original made the connexion of the argument a little difficult to follow, so that sometimes the meaning of a whole paragraph turned on the significance of a comma or a bracket, we have felt less scruple in giving it more explicit expression.

In the first hundred pages and in the sections on the Meaning of the Suffixes, the reader will find a few additions to the text for which the translators are responsible. With Prof. Brugmann's permission we have inserted illustrations from Modern English beside his own from Modern German, where the latter are given to illustrate some general principle. These interpolations are all enclosed in square brackets.

At his request we have departed from Dr. Wright's usage in one important respect by using Old Church Slavonic instead of Old Bulgarian as the name of the language of the Slavonic apostles Cyril and Methodius. We hesitated for some time between 'Welsh' and 'Cymric', but decided on the whole to keep the latter in conformity with the first volume. The Corrections and Additions' of the German edition are embodied in the text, together with several other minor alterations, mainly of misprints, which Prof. Brugmann has sent us. To him we would offer our hearty thanks for his constant help in matters of difficulty. We owe to Dr. Wright's courtesy a list of Corrigenda in Volume I.

The translation is a joint work throughout, but Mr. Conway is everywhere responsible for its final form, as Mr. Rouse will be in the remaining volumes, which we hope will follow the parts of the German edition as they appear, at much shorter intervals than has been possible so far.

The present volume has demanded a year's continuous work and a good deal of anxious consideration from us both. But we shall be more than rewarded if it can do anything to extend the share which English-speaking students can claim in the marvellous increase of exact knowledge which the book itself records. It is the boast of modern discovery to have made the world more thinkable and human life more full of meaning in a thousand ways; and before the century reaches its close, Comparative Philology, that is, the History of Language, will have attained no mean rank in the great sisterhood of sciences whose task is to explore the history of man.

SIGNS AND ABBREVIATIONS.

* prefixed to a form indicates that it is not on record, but only inferred from other forms in the same or kindred languages. Prefixed to a root it implies that that form of the root does not occur in any word of which we have record.

√ = root

= 'to be directly compared with'

cp - 'to be in part compared with' (see the Preface, p. XII)

. after a form denotes that its final sounds cannot be exactly determined, (e.g. in mēn-s-* p. 186 all that is said of the suffix is that it began with s)

α denotes a sound which was either a, e, or o but cannot at present be more closely identified

A small figure added to the name of a book denotes the edition referred to, e.g. Paul, Princip²

Hom A, B, Ω = Hom II book 1, 2, 24

Hom α, β, ω = Hom Od book 1, 2, 24

cp = compare lit = literally.

orig = original, or originally esp = especially

scil or sc = scilicet, i.e. the word which follows it is to be supplied in the preceding phrase ib = ibidem.

loc. cit. = in loco citato

Pr., O, Mid, Mod prefixed to names of languages denote Protothmic, Old, Middle, and Modern respectively

poss = possessive (adjectives),

dimin = diminutive (adj. or subst.)

denom. = denominative (noun or verb)

There remain the usual abbreviations of Gender (m t n), Number (sg du pl), Case (nom gen etc.), Degree (pos comp superl), Mood (ind impv etc.), Voice (act med pass.), Tense (pres impf etc.) and Part of Speech (subst adj parte sup(ine) ger(und) etc.)

It is unnecessary to add a list of the abbreviations for the names of the languages. The latter are fully enumerated in the Introduction to the First Volume (p. 4 ff). Observe only that A S = Anglo-Saxon, O.Sax = Old Saxon

MORPHOLOGY: STEM-FORMATION AND INFLEXION.

§ 1. All the developements of language denoted by the terms Stem-formation and Inflexion are based upon one common principle, the juxta-position and more or less intimate fusion of elements which were originally independent¹. The units of speech produced by this kind of composition became in later ages the types on which new words were made; and many such standard forms, which were in use long before the dissolution of the pro-ethnic Indo-Germanic community, still serve as models for new words. But this process of blending groups of independent words into single forms has been continually repeated all through the centuries; and thus new types have been successively evolved, to be in their turn the means of further developement. Yet these new types have never brought about any material change in the general method of forming words which had been adopted by the Indo-Germanic language in its proethnic stage. Certain primitive types, which were characteristic of the morphology of this family of languages, remained in constant use wherever they were spoken; and the forms which have arisen in later times, from the coalescence of words grouped in some syntactic relation, have always been cast in the mould of one or other of these prescribed models.

1) See Vol. I § 13. 14.
Brugmann, Elements. I

It is therefore the business of the grammarian, in this division of his subject, to exhibit these processes of composition, and the new formations to which their analogy gives rise.

In this department of the history of language, the main line of division is that which separates Noun and Pronoun on the one hand from Verb on the other. In dealing with the former class, we have to discuss terminations of Case, and the many different methods by which nouns or pronouns form their stems, in the latter class, we have to consider terminations of Person, and the equally numerous methods by which verbal stems are formed. These two departments, however, constantly overlap. Verbs are formed from noun-stems, as (Gr. τιμάω 'I honour' from τιμή 'honour' Lat plantō from planta ('Derivative Verbs'); and, on the other hand, nouns often contain verbal stems (for example, the so-called participles, gerunds, infinitives, and supines, e. g. Gr. part. δῶσαν inf δώσειν as compared with δώσω 'dabo'). Forms of this double nature are accordingly discussed in both divisions of Morphology.

In either case we shall begin with those words whose structure exhibits most clearly the principle of composition, which is the basis of the whole formative system of the Indo-Germanic languages, we shall begin, that is, with compounds in the common acceptance of the term, such as Gr. ἵππο-δαμο-ς 'horse-taming' ἀπο-βάλλω 'I cast away'. Last of all will be treated those elements of words whose original independence is now least obvious, i. e. the signs of the cases on the one hand and the personal-endings on the other.

Throughout our discussion we shall consider both the forms as such and the meaning attached to them. Here we shall meet with questions of Syntax, which however includes too many heterogeneous elements to be fully treated in connexion with Morphology.

It is necessary first to offer a few remarks on the general principles of formation whose action can be traced in the history of Indo-Germanic. To a certain extent these will merely repeat in greater detail what has been already said in the General

Introduction (I § 13. 14) to explain the use of hyphens, and of a few special terms, which will be found in this work.

§ 2. When a group of words connected in some syntactical relation is fused into a single form, it is called a 'compound'; e. g. Gr. Διόσκουροι 'sons of Zeus' from Διός ροῦροι, Mod.H.G. hungersnot 'pressure of hunger' from Mid.H.G. hunger not, [Eng. commonwealth from common wealth]. The compound — to restrict the term for the moment to those consisting of two members — becomes a simple word when either its first or its second member has lost its connexion in the mind of the speaker with kindred words which are uncompounded, and consequently the comparative independence which it formerly had. This process may give rise to a word which to the speaker's consciousness is absolutely simple, e. g. Lat. nom. sing. qui for quor*¹⁾ i. e. quo* 'who' + i (deictic particle, cp. Umbr. po-ei sing. 'qui' pur-i pl. 'qui'), O.Pers. nom. sing. hauv 'this' from ha* = Skr. sá + the particle u = Skr. ú, Lith. bú-k 'be it, as though' which contains the particle -ki -k, Lat. s-ub no doubt for (e)x-ub* (I § 568 p. 425); or else the element in question loses its full meaning, and being used with the same value in a considerable number of words is reduced to what is called a suffix or a prefix; as -heit, a suffix which forms substantives denoting a quality, found e. g. in schönheit, which originally meant 'beautiful condition' (in O.H.G. and Mid.H.G. heit is still an independent word), [Germ. heit = A.S. hād Mid. Eng. hōd Mod. Eng. -hood in maiden-hood etc.], Lat. -iter, a suffix used in forming adverbs, e. g. breviter, which originally = breve iter 'short-way' (iter 'way'), O.H.G. ala- ('omni-') an intensive prefix, e. g. in ala-festi 'firmissime', Mod.H.G. stork-, also intensive, e. g. stork-finster 'pitch dark' stork-dumm 'utterly stupid' [cp. Eng. stone-deaf, stone-blind] (see Tobler, Über die Wortzusammensetzung p. 116 ff.). If a word is compounded with itself the process is called reduplication, e. g. Gr. πάμ-παν entirely'. Here also either of the two parts may be degraded by a process similar to that which gives rise to a suffix or a prefix; e. g. on the one hand Mod.H.G. mur-mel 'murmur' (Lat. mur-mur), where the termination -mel has the character of a suffix, and on the other hand Skr. ci-kt- 'comprehending, aware', where ci- is a kind of prefix.

1) It is a moot question whether qor in the Duenos-inscription is qui or cui, see Zvetaieff, Inscriptiones Italiae inferioris, 1886, p. 80 sqq.

§ 3. No hard and fast line can be drawn between a phrase or group of words connected in some syntactical relation, and a compound.

It is no doubt a fair definition of a compound to say that it is fully formed when the whole becomes in any way isolated from the parts of which it is composed as used independently (I § 13 p. 14). Lat. māgnōpere, for instance, was isolated from its component elements māgnō opere by its vowel contraction, Lat. dēnuō, from dē novō, by the weakening of -ov- to -u- due to its enclitic position, and Hom. πᾶν-ῆμαρ 'all day long' by the circumstance that the neuter πᾶν* (for πᾶρτ*) when used independently took a long α from πᾶς πᾶσα. In Gr. Διός-κοντοί, in Lat. plēbis-itu-m, and in Mod H.G. gross-vater 'grandfather', suss-holz 'herbicide' the isolation was caused by the meaning of the whole being more definite and limited than the meaning conveyed by the mere syntactical grouping of the parts [cp. Eng. best man, blackbird]. Again in Attic Greek ἀπο-βαίνω 'I go away' ἐκ-βάλλω 'I throw out' Lat. ab-eō, ἐ-μικνῶ the cause (or rather one of the causes) was the restriction of each one of the prepositional adverbs to use within a particular series of combinations. Thus the causes of isolation, and of the accompanying change of a phrase into a compound, are very diverse and quite easy to appreciate. But isolation is a matter of very gradual development; and we cannot fix a point at which the phrase passes into the compound, least of all in ancient languages, where we cannot appeal for help to the consciousness of any living speaker. At every stage in the development of language we find compounds in process of formation; and, naturally enough, it is often impossible to decide whether in any given instance a compound is completely formed or not. Thus opinions may and do differ whether the spelling to be adopted is διτίφιλος or διὲ φίλος, καρηχομῶντες or κάρη νομῶντες, and so forth, in Homer (see La Roche, Hom. Textkr. 311 ff.), senātūscōnsultum or senātas cōnsultum in later Latin, and in Mod.H.G. aus himmelshöhn or aus himmels höhn (in Schiller, compare his phrase an ufers rand), möglycherweise or möglicher weise, wenngleich or wenn gleich.

Remark. According to a very common view, if a phrase is included under one accent, it is proved eo ipso to be a compound; but this is incorrect. In that case every syntactical combination of two words where the second word is an enclitic (cp. I § 669 p. 534 § 672 p. 538 and elsewhere) would be a compound, which no one would maintain. Nor can the formation of derivatives from a given phrase by means of secondary suffixes be taken as a certain proof that the group is a true compound (e.g. Gr Διοσκουρείον from Διός κοῦροι). For the need of a derivative often creates a compound where the original is only a phrase; cp. Gr καλονόμιστος from καλός νόμος, Mod.H.G. langweilig from lange weile, [Eng. freetrader from Free Trade], Gr. ἐγκέφαλος; adj. 'in the head' from ἐν κεφαλῇ, παραθαλάσσιος; 'situated by the sea' from παρά θάλασσαν, Skr. anv-ṣatyá-s 'consistent with truth' from anu satyám (cp. § 15), O.C.Sl. obonŭ-polinŭ 'situated on the further shore' from obŭ onŭ polŭ (§ 47). Thus a derivative of this kind, itself a true compound, may be formed while the original phrase is only on its way towards becoming one: cp. also Lat. Sacramēnsēs as compared with sacra via, quartadecimānī as compared with quarta decuma, O.C.Sl. peřinadesetŭnŭ 'fifteenth' compared with peřŭ na desetŭ 'fifteen'; Avest. aspa-vīra-jan- 'striking horses and men down to the earth' compared with aspa vīra (a Dual combination, cp. § 27).

Where a compound consists of parts each of which can be used as an independent word, the following are the surest signs that it is a true compound: 1. If the termination of one member of the phrase is transferred to words which are incapable of taking it when uncompounded; e.g. when Gr διόα-δοτος (διός gen. sing.) gives rise to such a form as θεόα-δοτος (cp. § 17). 2. If the case-ending or other inflexion of the first member, which was essential to the meaning of the original compound, loses its force in analogical formations; when for instance Ἀρηι-λυκος; (Hom.) Ἀρηι-θύσσωνος 'fimbria Martialis' (Aeschyl.) are formed in imitation of ἀρηι-φωτος ἀρεϊφωτος 'slain in war'. 3. If the phrase is 'epithetised' (§ 50), as ἀερί-οικος 'having one's dwelling in the air', not 'a dwelling in the air'.

§ 4. It is equally impossible to draw a hard and fast line between a compound and a simple word. One part of a compound is reduced or degraded to a suffix or prefix, or generally to an inflexional element, by losing in some way or other its connexion with the simple word in the consciousness of the speaker. This isolation may affect the meaning only, take e. g. the Lat. suffix -iter in breniter longiter and the like, which were originally compounds (for breve iter, longum iter, see p. 3 above), the O.Ir. intensive prefix bith- (originally 'world-' cp. bith 'world') in such for as bith-beo 'semper vivus, immortalis' bid-slán 'semper salvus' etc.; or it may affect only the form, e. g. Mod.H.G. -tel in drittel viertel etc. as contrasted with teil; or it may affect both at once, e. g. Mod.H.G. -lich in weiblich (orig. = 'having woman's form') beside leiche leich-dorn [= Eng. -ly in wife-ly A.S. lic, Eng. lych-gate The suffixes in hat-red, friend-ship bishop-ric etc. were independent words in Old English]. Isolation is most complete when the simple word passes out of use altogether, e. g. Gr. ποδ-από- Lat. long-inquo-s prop-inquo-s, the second part of which is the Skr. -añc- 'directed somewhat' (§ 163), Mod.H.G. schonheit, whose second part was still an independent word in Mid.H.G.; the same thing has happened in the first part of a compound e. g. in Germ. ala-, as in Goth. ala-mans pl. 'all men' O.H.G. ala-wār 'quite true' (the only form used independently is alla-, for al-no*). Thus even in the protoethnic Indo-Germanic period the temporal adverb e*, seen in such phrases as é bherom* 'I bore' é dr̥kom* 'I saw' (Skr. ábharam údṛśam, Gr. ἐρερον ἔδραον), had no doubt sunk to the level of an inflexional prefix, because it was no longer used except in these combinations with enclitic preterite forms. Sometimes the conscious connexion with the simple word is lost because one member of the compound chances to resemble some common suffix in sound; the compounded word is then treated as equivalent to this suffix, and the whole becomes a simple word: for instance, Gr. καθ-ίζω 'I set down' (ἵζω for si-zd-ō*, √sed-) was associated with verbs in -ίζω, as πολεμίζω, hence the fut. Att. καθιῶ Dor. καθιῶ; O.H.G. gom-man (gen. gom-mannes) 'married man, man' was associated with simple nouns like eban zeikhhan, hence such new formations as gen. sing. gommanes nom. acc. pl. gommana.

But in all these cases the change of function is very gradual; in every period we find compounded words in course of becoming simple inflexional elements. Compare further Skr. úd-añc- 'upwards' praty-āñc- 'backwards' prāñc- 'forwards' and the like (see § 163, and observe their later association with the suffix go-, § 86); Armen. -a-vor in lus-a-vor 'clear' etc., corresponding to the Gr., -φóρo-ς (§ 28); Gr. -ειδής in θεο-ειδής 'godlike, divine' etc.; Lat. -gn-o- (cp gen-us) in benignu-s, malignu-s and similar forms, -ig-ā- (cp. agere) in nāvigāre lūtigāre flammigāre and so forth (Leo Meyer, Bezzenberger's Beitr VI 130 ff.), O Ir. -mār (mār 'great') in ardd-mār 'very high' Mod. Ir. buadh-mhar 'victoriosus' (Gluck, Kelt Namen 77. 80 ff.), O. Ir. -luch (slōg 'troop') in teg-lach 'household, familia' lucht-lach 'the gens in toto, the district community' etc. (Zimmer, Kelt. Stud. II 25 ff.); Mid. H. G. nūt-hart lug-hart, Mod H. G. aller-hand gewisser-massen and aller-best aller-meist.

Remark The reverse process does not often occur, i. e. when an element once a suffix or a prefix is raised in the speaker's consciousness to the dignity of a compounded word, but we find it e. g. in Mod H. G. hau-mund 'repute, character' (popularly connected with mund 'mouth') — Skr śrō-mata- (§ 82), bṛō-sam 'the crumb of the loaf' (influenced by sāme 'seed') from O H G brōsma, Avest yurac-ra tāitī, where the latter form was abstracted from yurac-tāt, and shows how the suffix -tat- was regarded in the speaker's mind (§ 102 Rem.) A further example is Mod H. G. wahn-sinn wahn-nutz, whose first part was the prefix wan- pr Germ wuna-* 'lacking, without' [So the suffix in Eng wed-lock has nothing to do with the verb to lock, nor that in cray-fish (from Fr écrevisse) with fish. Similarly rounde-lay = Fr rondelet]

It has already been pointed out in § 2 that the transition from a compound to a simple word does not always give rise to an element of the nature of a suffix or prefix. The following conditions are necessary for the production of an element of this kind. 1. the principal member of the compound must be etymologically clear; it must be associated with a kindred word or a kindred group of words. 2. the part so degraded must appear not in isolated words only but in a group of words, and in all of them it must have the same meaning: 3. this meaning must be more or less abstract and general

(Paul Princip.² 294). When these conditions are not fulfilled, the resultant forms may be called obscured compounds. To the speaker's consciousness they may appear absolutely simple words (apart from the endings of declension or conjugation which were ultimately affixed), as Mod.H.G. welt for O.H.G. wer-alt [Eng. world, A.S. woruld], Lat. surgō for sub-regō*. Or even if they produce the impression of a word containing a suffix or prefix, it is only because their initial or final part has become associated with real suffixes and prefixes through some phonetic resemblance, e.g. Mod.H.G. adler for O.H.G. adal-ar ('noble bird of prey'), Mod.H.G. wimper 'eye-lash' for O.H.G. wint-brāwa 'wind-brow', Mod.H.G. albern 'foolish' for O.H.G. ala-wāri, 'very friendly' whose terminations resemble those of such words as sattler, schneider, silbern and the like [cp. Eng. righteous for right-wise, as though its formation were the same as that of duteous plenteous, window from Icel. vind-auga 'wind-eye' compared with meadow fallow, scabbard whose second part is identical with -berk in hauberk, Mod.H.G. berg-en, not with the -ard of ponard petard etc]. A third group consists of polysyllabic words like Mod.H.G. bräutigam (O.H.G. brūti-gomo 'bride-man') Lat. ūsūrpō 'I use' for ūsū-rapō* [cp. Eng. nightingale A.S. nihte-gale 'singer of the night', wiseacre = H.G. weissager, watershed whose second part is Mid.E. scheden A.S. sceadan Mod.H.G. scheiden]. Here the second element has not become clearly associated with previously existing suffixes, while on the other hand such words as these are not conceived as absolutely simple. No general definition can express the way in which the instinct of the speaker regards them; each case must be treated by itself.

Obscured compounds undoubtedly existed as early as the protothnic period of Indo-Germanic, and in its later stages they are nowhere rare. The following examples may be assigned to the protothnic vocabulary: svēkuro- 'father-in-law' (Skr. śvāśura- Gr. ἐσφρός Goth. svafhra), svēsor-* 'sister' (Skr. svāsār-

Lat. soror etc.)), uśanti* 'twenty' (Skr. viśati- Gr. ἑξήκοντα etc.), no doubt also nizdo*- i. e. ni-zd-o-* (✓sed-) 'settling place, nest' (Skr. nīdā-s Armen. nist etc.), per-ut(-i)* loc. 'last year', connected with Gr. ῥέτος (Skr. parut Gr. πέποι etc.), pr-sto-* pr-sti-* per-sti-* 'prominence, something prominent' beside ✓stā- 'stand' (Skr. prsthā-m 'prominent ridge, height, peak, top' -L.Germ. and Dutch vorst f. O.H.G. first m. A.S. first fyrst f. 'roof-ridge'), soy* 'this' i. e. so* + the particle u (O.Pers hauv Gr. οὐ in οὐ-τος), nei* 'not' i. e. ne* + the deictic particle i (Avest. nae-ciš 'no one' Lat. nē Lith. nei, cp. § 15). Even where this obscuration is found in more than one language it may often have arisen during the individual development of the languages in question: e. g. Skr. pīdāyami 'I press' (pf. pīpīdē) for pi-zd-*, Gr. πιέζω 'I press' for pi-sed-*, originally 'sit upon'; Lat. credo O.Ir. cretim 'I believe' beside Skr. śrād dadhāmi 'I believe, trust' (cp. § 160, 1). Examples peculiar to single groups of languages are: Skr. nēd-tyas- Avest. nazd-yah- 'nearer' for na-zd-*, originally either 'ἐπιζών, προσήμενος' (✓sed- 'sit') or 'approaching' (✓sed- 'go, move', Gr. ὀδός). Skr. bhiṣāj- 'physician', no doubt to be resolved into bhi-ṣāj- 'conjurer, magician', cp. abhi-ṣajati 'he bewitches, curses'. Gr. ἐκατόμυθη, cp. Skr. śata-gu- 'having a hundred cows'. δεσπότης originally 'lord of the house', δάπεδο-v originally 'house-floor', see § 160, 2. ῥεσπός probably to be resolved into ῥεσπός 'lying around', and compared with Skr. ā-śēṭe, see § 66. ὅπως ὅπως 'how (soever)', ὅτι ὅτι 'what (soever)' for afód* πως, sfód τι, cp. H.G. sō hwēo, sune 'howsoever' sō hwēr, swer 'whosoever'. Lat. sub super for orig. *(e)ks-upo *(e)ks-uper, cp. Gr. ἐξ-ὑπερθε. ap-eriō op-eriō beside Skr. ṛ-ṇōti 'he moves something, makes away with it', with apa 'he makes away with, removes, opens'. pergō for per-regō*. surpuī for sub-rapuī*. prōmō for pro-emō*. noenum nōn for ne-oinom*. superbu-s for super-fu-o-s*, ✓bhe-, cp. Gr. ὑπερ-φ-ίλο-ς I § 166 p. 147. Goth. preterite frēt

1) The -sor- in yesor-* seems to have been a root-syllable, but the word appears to have attached itself to nouns like bhrātor-* 'brother' dōtor-* 'giver' (§ 119 ff.), just as Gr. καθ-ίζω was associated with πολεμίζω etc. (p. 6).

O.H.G. frāz 'he devoured' from pr. Germ. fra-ēti*, O.H.G. hiutu O.Sax. hiudu 'to-day' beside O.Sax. hiudiga A.S. heōdæg for hin-dgu* = Goth. hia dagu 'on this day' (cp. Kluge, Paul Braune's Beitr. XII 376 f.). Mid.H.G. bange adv. 'anxiously' for bi-ango* Mid.H.G. gunnen for O.H.G. gi-unnan 'to give freely'. Mid.H.G. nihl 'nothing' for O.H.G. nuerht. Goth. ni valhts not a whit'. Mod.H.G. unt. Goth. and-bahtr, [Eng. huzzy O.E. hūs-ætf.]

Obscured compounds of this kind will be treated along with the rest, although no doubt by this method words will often be classed together which were very differently regarded by the speakers of any given period.

Lastly, it should be observed that the terms Suffix and Prefix, particularly the latter, are sometimes used in the science of language with a far wider sense than that which has been here assigned to them. One of the members of a compound may be called suffix or prefix, as the case may be, simply because it appears with the same meaning in each one of a group of words. Thus we meet with such phrases as 'the compound ἀνο-βαίρω with the prefix ἀνο'.

§ 5 When one member of a compound has become a prefix or a suffix, the group of words which contains it generally creates similar forms, and is thus enlarged by analogy. The more general the significance of such an element, the more readily are words of the same type formed, take for example the extent to which -heit -lich (mann-heit mann-lich) have spread in Mod.H.G., and in Latin the future ending -bō (calē-bō), which is derived from Idg. bhe-ō* (✓ bhe- become).

If a suffix or a prefix at a given epoch can be employed to produce new forms on the analogy of those already in existence, it is called fertile or living, and if not, barren or dead. Suffixes or prefixes which once had great vitality may die out, to be perpetuated only by memory in a certain number of examples, and no longer used for the formation of similar words. Thus the suffix -ti- (§ 99. 100), used in all the Indo-Germanic languages to form nomina actionis, was still fertile in protoethnic Germanic, but in the High German period was restricted to a limited group of nouns, such as zucht 'breeding, discipline' ankunft 'advent' geburt 'birth'; its place has been taken principally by -ung (as in schenkung 'donation'), which still maintains its vitality. [In English it has been largely replaced by -ness, e. g. drought dryness, dearth dearthness, sloth slowness]. In like manner the same suffix was dead in Latin by the beginning of the literary period (e. g. messi-s, mors stem morti-), and its place had been taken by -tiōn- (as fissiō nātiō captatiō), which is fertile even in late Latin. Again, -o-, in Homer still a living conjunctive suffix for verbs in -μ (ἴο-μεν, ἄλλε-ται) came down to Attic Greek only in a few forms which had a future meaning, such as ἔδομαι χέω, in its place we find -ω-, which remained in active use throughout the classical period.

In a historical account of Indo-Germanic morphology this point must always be kept in view; and we are further bound to look for the reasons why one element used in forming words has died out and another taken its place. Thus for instance the suffix -ti- just mentioned fell out of use because it had split into several different forms by phonetic change, cp. Goth. ansti- ga-baurþi- ga-mundi- ga-dēdi- (pronounced ga-dēði) ustassi- (cp. § 100 under Germanic); so that the unity of the group was destroyed. But language always seeks like phonetic expression for like functions; and thus new suffixes of other and usually fuller form were preferred, and encroached more and more upon the old ones.

An adequate consideration of this aspect of Indo-Germanic Morphology is here impossible. Unfortunately the present position of the science of language precludes such an attempt, and, in any case, regard must be had to the due limits of this work.¹⁾

1) In monographs on Word-Formation full justice has been done to it; see e. g. K. von Bahder in his work 'Die Verbalabstracta in den german Sprachen', 1880. I may record my complete agreement with the principles laid down in his Introduction (pp. 1—9).

§ 6. In § 2 reduplication was mentioned as one of the factors in the formation of words in Indo-Germanic. This subject also calls for a few preliminary observations.¹⁾

Here too we start from the juxta-position of two originally independent words. The same word is repeated twice or still oftener, to express repetition or lengthened duration of a process, or such ideas as universality and intensity. At every stage of the development of the Indo-Germanic languages, so far as they can be traced, we find this process going on; and it is undoubtedly as old as human speech itself. Now no hard and fast line can be drawn between the mere repetition of a word independently and the new single word arising from the coalescence of the original with its echo, if only because the aim of the repetition is nearly always such that the resulting form has the nature of a compound. Cp. Skr. piba-piba 'drink!' (Rgv. II 11, 11 piba-pibéd indra śūra sōma 'drink, drink the soma, mighty Indra'), divē-divē 'day by day', prā-pra on and on, yáthā-yathā 'howsoever'; Gr. πάμ-παν 'altogether', προ-προ-ρولينόμενος 'rolling on and on' (Hom.), μᾶλλον μᾶλλον 'magis magisque', πλέον πλέον 'more and more'; Lat. mane mane, audī (Plaut. Asin. 229), jam jam, semper semper, quis-quis, ut-ut, Ital. colpo colpo, piccolo piccolo.

In this way repeated words had been fused into single forms even before the inflexional period of the Indo-Germanic parent language; and there is nothing to prevent our referring immediately to this oldest type of reduplication any words in the descendant languages in which the whole root is repeated; e. g. Skr. gár-gar-a-s 'eddy' dár-dar-ti 'he shatters, breaks up', Gr. βᾶρ-βαρ-ος 'speaking unintelligibly' ἀγ-αγ-εῖν 'lead on', Lat. quer-quer-u-s murmur, O.C.Sl. glagolŭ 'noise, word' for gol-gol-ŭ* (I § 281 p. 224).

Where, however, the reduplication is part of the structure of a simple word, full reduplication (reduplicatio integra) is comparatively rare. As a rule there is hardly more than a suggestion of the repetition, 'reduplicatio mutila', e. g. in the perfect forms Skr. ri-rĕc-a Gr. λέ-λοιπ-ε 'he has left', Lat. tu-tud-it, Goth. ga-rat-rōþ 'he applied himself', and in Skr. śi-śir-a-s 'cold, frost', (I).H.G. fi-faltra 'butterfly'.

It is usually the former of the two syllables which has this abbreviated form. It is then regarded in the speaker's consciousness as a prefix, like the adverb é, the so-called 'augment' (cp. Gr. ἔ-φειγον : πέ-φeyγα) and other degraded initial elements of compound words (reduplicatio praefixa). This mode of regarding it was supported by the unreduplicated forms which usually existed side by side with it; these the speaker's thought connected into one group (e. g. πέφeyγα beside φeyγω φeyξομαι φeyγή etc.). Where the simple form corresponding to a reduplicated form had died out, or if it survived had lost all connexion with it in the mind of the speaker, the reduplication had not so clearly the stamp of a prefix; e. g. Skr. ja-gar-mi 'I watch', Gr. Γi-γα₂ (Π-yavr-), Lat. me-mor me-moria, Skr. da-dru- A.S. te-ter Lith. de-dervinė 'pustular eruption'.

Less frequently the second element of the reduplicated form is debased (reduplicatio suffixa). The commonest example is what is called 'broken reduplication', e. g. Skr. dar-d-ā- 'eruption on the skin' Lat. derbiōsu-s for der-d-ŭ- (I § 170 p. 150) beside Skr. dar-dar-a 'burst' and the Skr. da-dru- etc. already mentioned,

Gr. μῆρ-μ-ῶ 'bogic' beside μῆρ-μῆρ-ος 'fear', πόρ-π-η 'needle, clasp' beside περῶν 'clasp' περάω 'I pierce', Lat. bal-b-u-s beside Skr. bal-balā-karōmi 'I speak stammeringly', gur-g-es beside gur-gul-ιδ, Lith. mūr-m-iu 'I growl' beside Lat. mur-mur. Here nothing of the nature of a suffix could arise because there were no clearly defined groups of words with which these single forms might have become respectively connected, as was the case in the reduplication of the perfect. Only where there was some accidental phonetic resemblance to an already existing suffix did the element of reduplication assume the character of a suffix; e. g. Goth. val-v-ja 'I roll' (resembling ufar-skad-v-ja): cp. Gr. ἐλ-ελ-ίζω; and this often occurred in examples of reduplicatio integra and of reduplicatio praefixa as well, if the last element happened to sound like some suffix: e. g. Mid H.G. Mod.H.G. murmeln = O.H.G. murmulon mur-mur-on (Lat. mur-mur-äre) like lisp-eln schauk-eln hand-eln, Skr. cakrá-m 'circle, wheel' Gr. κύκλ-ος 'circle' A.S. hweowol 'wheel' (Idg. qe-ql-o-*) like Skr. abh-rá-m 'cloud' Gr. ἀγ-λο-ς 'contest' A.S. tanȝ-ol 'star'; Mod.H.G. zittere zittre (for pr Germ. ti-trō-mi*) like schnatt-ere schnatt-re zimm-ere zimm-re; Mod.H.G. thät (for O.H.G. te-ta, reduplicated perfect) like schau-t.

Remark. How are the types de-der- (di-der-) and der-d- related in their origin to the full form der-der-? First as regards de-der-, Pott and other scholars may be right in assuming that this is not a phonetic corruption of der-der-, but a mere 'suggestion' of the complete syllable, which was felt to be enough. de-der-, they maintain, is equivalent to der-der- in intention though not in fact, and there is no need to assume that such a form as der-der- preceded it. They point to such words in colloquial French as mé-mère 'little mother' bé-bête 'beastie' Ba-barpe 'Bab' (dimin. of 'Barbara') Cha-chale 'Charlie' as examples of the same principle. In single instances, however, phonetic change may have produced this type of formation, such a form as dei-dr-o- becoming de-dr-o- by dissimilation. Again, in the process of broken reduplication different agencies may have been at work, and in any case the examples of this kind have not all the same history. Here too dissimilation may sometimes have been the cause; der-d-o- may stand for der-dr-o-. And sometimes der-der-o- may have been unconsciously resolved into derd-ero-, and thus being associated with words of the same type as Skr. pat-ara- 'flying', may have given rise to new formations in which derd- was taken as the 'root'.

It should be remembered that we are here discussing only the ultimate origin of these different kinds of reduplication. When for instance such a form a de-der- had once been evolved it became a creative type, and the later examples (e. g. all extant reduplicated perfect forms) are — directly or indirectly — mere analogical formations, made on the model of those in which the genuine process of development had taken place.

We have still to mention one more resemblance between these forms and compounds in the strict sense. In reduplicated words, as well as compounds, the real nature of the form may be obscured in some way or another, especially by phonetic change, and the result is a word which the speaker supposes to be absolutely simple (disregarding of course derivative suffixes, and any case-endings that may be in existence at the time); e. g. Skr. sēd- (in the perf. indic. 1. pl. sēd-imá opt. 3. sing. sēd-yā-t = Avest. ha-zd-yā-p etc.) Lat. sēd- (in sēd-imus sēd-are) for Idg. se-zd-* i. e. se-sd-* from $\sqrt{\text{sed-}}$ 'sit'; Lat. ser-ō 'I sow' for si-sō* cp. Gr. ἴημι for si-si-mi*, $\sqrt{\text{sē-}}$; Mod.H.G. beb-t = O.H.G. bibē-t, Skr. bī-bhē-ti 'he fears'; another example which must be as old as the protoethnic period is the perfect stem ēd-* (1. pl. Skr. ād-imá Lat. ēd-imus Goth. ēt-um, Lith. part. ėd-ęs) for e-ed-* from $\sqrt{\text{ed-}}$ 'eat'.

§ 7. Lastly, we must consider Vowel-Gradation (Ablaut, see I § 307 ff. p. 244 ff.) as a factor in the formation of Indo-Germanic words.

This appears in elements of all kinds: in root syllables, e. g. i- eī- 'go' Gr. ἵ-αμ ἵ-μι; in suffixes used to form noun-stems, e. g. -tr- -ter- Gr. πα-τρ-ός πα-τέρ-ες, or verb-stems, e. g. the present suffix -nu- -ney- Skr. ci-nu-más ci-nō-mi; in case-endings, e. g. the genitive ending -s -es -os Skr. sūnō-ś O.C.Sl. nebes-e (for -es*) Gr. νεφέ-ος; in personal endings, e. g. 3. sing. -ti -taḥ Gr. δίδω-σι δίδω-ται; and in the reduplicatio praefixa, e. g. Skr. pres. imper. act. ci-kiddhi indic. med. (intens.) (ē-kutē from cit- 'perceive'.

We saw in vol. I (loc. cit.) that vowel-gradation, a mechanical consequence of shifting accent, has quite as little to do with morphological differences of function as any other phonetic variations which arose within a given group of forms through the action of what is called phonetic law. For instance, the o-form of ablaut which appears in the root-syllable of perfect forms like de-dorġ-e* le-logġ-e* (Gr. δέδορκε λέλοιπε), as distinguished from derġ-* leġ-* and dġk-* lġ-* in other forms of the verbal system, had originally no more connexion with the meaning of the perfect, nor had the e-form of ablaut, found in the formative suffix in the accusatives pə-ter-ŋ* mā-ter-ŋ* (Gr. πατέρα μητέρα) etc., as distinguished from -tr- -tġ- in other cases, originally any more connexion with the notion conveyed by the accusative, than (say) the σ of the second persons ἴσ-θα ἴσ-τε, as contrasted with the δ of the 1. and 3. persons οἶδα ἰδμεν οἶδε, had to do with the distinction of persons. But the arbitrary phonetic differences produced by ablaut in the various groups of forms often acquired in time a special meaning, the particular phases of ablaut becoming closely attached to the particular idea conveyed by the whole word, and appropriated to this or that function in connexion with it. This is most clearly seen when such formative elements as had served, either solely or primarily, to distinguish the meaning of a particular form from that of other members of the same group, have been lost, thus leaving only the ablaut to indicate the meaning; e. g. Mid.H.G. 1. pl. pres. binden 'we bind' pret. bunden 'we bound' = Goth. bindam bundum, Idg. present stem bhendho-* preterite stem hēbhġdh-*; Goth. acc. aúhsan dat. (loc) aúhsin (nom. aúhsa ox) = Skr ukṣán-am (ukṣán-am) ukṣán-i; Goth. acc. fadar brōþar dat. fadr brōþr cp. Gr. πατέρα πατρός. Thus even in procthic Indo-Germanic the vowel-grade -tēr- e. g. pātēr* 'father' (Gr. πατήρ) had become in the nom. sing. the chief exponent of the special meaning of the case, as opposed to the voc. sing., Gr. πάτερ, and differences of ablaut like δέχοιτο δράνοι, λείποι λίποι had become connected with different kinds of action (continuous as opposed to momentary). In the same way other phonetic differences which had arisen accidentally became the exponents of different meanings. For example, in the masculine i-declension in Old High German it so happened that the whole plural had come to have the modified vowel: gesti etc. as opposed to the sing. gast. The cases of the plural had originally been sufficiently distinguished from the singular by other means. But later on final -e was lost in Upper Germany, and partly so in Central Germany; and hence the modified vowel became, and still is, the sole sign of the distinction of number in the nom. and acc.: sing. gast pl. gest (gäst). Afterwards on this analogy täg was formed as a plural for tag, and arm for arm etc.

In this way a definite phase of vowel-gradation in the Indo-Germanic languages has often become the mark of some definite meaning, so that the relations of Ablaut are of special importance in any account of their morphology.

In accordance with what has been previously said (I § 310) we distinguish 'Strong' and 'Weak' forms in the elements of which words are built up. The weak form shows the vocalism of the Lower or Weak Grade of Ablaut, the strong form that of the Higher or Strong Grade, and in each class again there are differences, which in forms of the strong grade may be very considerable (cp. e g. I § 311).

The simplest of all the phenomena of vowel-gradation are those which appear in the terminations denoting case and person.

In the formation of stems, especially those of nouns, very complicated relations have sometimes arisen, chiefly because the original differences of gradation have been readjusted in course of the various processes of 'levelling' which the forms have undergone in one direction or another. Some such readjustments must have taken place soon after the differences in gradation had first appeared, i. e. long before the protoethnic language had broken up; and since then the process has been continually repeated. In this branch of our enquiry we can scarcely hope for anything like complete success in investigating the original distribution of the different phases of Ablaut.

Yet in a considerable number of groups of forms we have attained to a fair degree of certainty, and can even now reproduce, in all essential points, the vowel-gradation shown by the stem at the period of the first separation of the tribes. In many classes of noun-stems the formative suffix had Strong-Grade vocalism in the nom. acc. voc loc. sing., in the nom. acc. du., and in the nom. (no doubt also acc.) pl., e. g. Gr. πα-τήρ πα-τέρ-α πα-τέρ πα-τέρ-ι, πα-τέρ-ε, πα-τέρ-ες πα-τέρ-ας, and in the other cases that of the Weak Grade, e. g. πα-τρ-ός, πα-τρ-ών πα-τρά-σι. And similar distinctions hold good to some extent in the stem-syllable of root-nouns, e. g. Skr pát pād-am pād-as as opposed to pad-ē pad-ás etc. The terms used to distinguish these forms are Strong and Weak Cases respectively; a more detailed account is reserved for the sections dealing with Case-formation. In the verbal system, the three singular persons of the active generally had the strong form, and the plural and dual of the active with the whole of the middle had the weak form; and indeed this difference appears equally in root-syllables, e. g. (Gr. ἐλ-μι ἔ-μεν, in suffixes of Tense, e. g. Gr. δά-ν-νῃ-μι δά-ν-νῃ-μεν, and of Mood, e. g. Gr. ε-ἴ-ν-ε-ἰ-μεν (ἔσ-ι-ν-ε-ἰ-μεν* ἔσ-ἰ-μεν*))

§ 8 We have seen in the foregoing pages that the Indo-Germanic formative system in all its branches is really based upon composition. This being the case, the task of systematic morphology is to exhibit, first the processes of composition which gave rise both to what are usually known as compounds, and to all formations containing elements of the nature of suffixes or prefixes; and secondly, the developement of the analogical formations which are associated with these. It is clear however that this task can only be very imperfectly accomplished.

The furthest point to which we can trace the past history of Indo-Germanic speech, without entering upon a region of the merest conjecture, is an epoch when, so far as we can judge, many elements originally independent had become so completely lost in composition as to show no vestige of their original character either in meaning or in form. The instinct of the language for the particular kind or kinds of composition by which these elements had assumed the shape in which we find them had by that time completely died out, and it is hence very probable that there had already been a good deal of shifting and displacement. It is therefore impossible for us to say whether any given formative element ever existed independently in precisely the form which it has when we remove it from its surroundings, or whether one or other of its sounds may not have been a later accretion which originally formed no part of it (cp. Mod. HG. -keit, I § 14 p. 16, [Eng. -ology in ge-ology, cp. theo-logy], Lat. -cētū-m in būcētū-m busticētū-m, which was abstracted from such forms as nuc-ēū-m ilic-ētū-m). By that time, too, hundreds of complex forms may have become simple units both in use and in appearance, so that, strictly speaking, we cannot be sure that any one formative element which we regard as a unit in morphology was really a simple form to start with. In modern times we are not in a position to determine what the actual processes of composition may have been — they were certainly many in number — whose work began and ended before the proethnic community was dissolved: all that can be done is to accept as data their after effects, direct and indirect. I would take this opportunity of once more calling attention to a point on which I have already laid stress (vol. I p. 17 f.). The formative elements which date from the proethnic period we call by such names as 'root', 'suffix', 'prefix'; but this does not imply that they were originally independent words. Thus the division of a word by hypheus, e. g. seq-e-ta₁* (Gr. ἐπ-ε-ται Skr. sác-a-tē), merely indicates the parts which the speaker probably regarded respectively as the kernel of a whole group of forms (seq-), or as a formative element used in different words with the same special function (-e- and -ta₁).

Among the forms that serve to show the method of formation which prevailed in the parent language there are comparatively few in which we can feel sure that our analysis actually agrees with the original process of composition, so that the hyphen really marks the point where the word originally divided. We feel most confidence in analysing reduplicated formations like Skr. dár-darti; next, in the case of the augment, e. g. é-d₁kom* 'I saw' (Gr. ἔ-δρακον); and the same may be said of some of the personal endings, as -mi -ma₁, -ti -ta₁, e. g. e₁-mi 'I go' (Gr. εἶ-μι), since these are no doubt connected with me-* 'I' to-* 'the, that'.

The case is different with later compounds formed after the first division of the language had taken place; e. g. Skr. ekacutti-bhavanti 'they become of one mind' Lat calē-bō for calē fuō*. Here, unless the contrary is expressly stated, our hyphens always imply the assertion that in the case of the oldest examples of any formation which gave the type for the whole group, each of the parts thus separated was once really an independent word.

Remark 1 Of late years much labour and ingenuity has been spent in the attempt to determine the original form of Indo-Germanic 'roots', especially since the publication of de Saussure's suggestive Mémoire sur le système primitif des voyelles (Leipzig 1879). This subject, important as it undoubtedly is, I must dismiss with only a reference in passing, because of the grievous uncertainty of the theories hitherto advanced, nor do I wish to suggest to the beginner that he need at the outset give any special attention to the question. I still feel wholly uncertain whether Idg ah₂-* (Gr pres āyē-tē āyō-uer, subst āyē āyō-) was earlier or later than ah₁-* (Gr hē-ak-tō-) and Idg h₂enā-* (Skr jum-tū-) than h₁en-* (Skr jān-man-), whether the shorter form came from the fuller or whether the latter was derived from the former by the addition of -e- -o- and -a-. The relation of Idg ple-* (Lat ple-nu-s) to pl-* (Goth. fil-u Skr. pī-pu-ti) is also quite obscure. ple-* may be regarded as standing for an older form pele-*, and its -e- as an element not originally belonging to the root. But we may equally well regard pele-* as the original simple root-word from which all shorter forms have been derived. The authorities are cited by Hubschmann, Das indogerm. Vocalsystem p 181 ff, Johansson, De derivatis verbis contractis linguae Graecae p 82 sqq 93 sqq, Bezzonenberger, Götting. gel. Anz. 1887 p. 417.

Remark 2. Another question much discussed is that of the so-called 'root determinatives'. Certain consonants frequently appear as the final sound of roots in a larger or smaller number of the words which belong to them. E. g. -dh- in Skr ra-dh-a-ti 'brings about, prepares, satisfies' Goth ga-rē-d-an 'to reflect upon something' O.C.Sl ra-d-iti 'to reflect upon, care for' beside Lat rē-ti, ra-tio Goth ra-þjō 'ratio'; Gr pu-ō-ō 'putrefy' beside pu-or 'pus', O.C.Sl i-d-a' 'go' beside Gr ei-mi 'I go', further, in the suffixes -dh-ro- -dh-lo- -dh-mo- (see § 77). -s- in h₁leg-s-* 'to hear' Skr śru-ṣ-ṣi-ṣ 'courtesy, readiness' part śi-ō-s-a-mi-na-s O.Ir. cluas 'car' (I § 51, p 377) A.S. hlū-s- 'hearing' O.C.Sl slu-ch-ū 'act of hearing, hearing' beside h₁leg-* Skr part śru-ti-s Gr. kle-tu-s etc, and in ten-s-* 'extend, stretch out' Skr tṣāyati 'he pulls this way and that' vi-tast-i-ṣ 'span' O.H.G. dinsan 'to drag, trail' Lith. trinti 'I stretch' beside ten- Skr. fut taniyā-ti Gr. teuei etc. The use of this -s- became widely extended in the Aorist and Future and also in Desiderative formations, it may also be etymologically connected with the -es- in Gr. ξέν- (ξένω 'I scrape, smooth' aor. ξέσα-α) beside ξέν- (ξένω) and γέσ- (Lith kas-aū 'I scratch' O.C.Sl čes-ati 'to oomb, curry'), in σβέν- (σβέν-αι 'to quench') beside σβέν- (ξ-σβή 'was quenched') and σέβ- (Lat sēpni-s etc 1; in κέν- (Lat. ves-ti-s) beside εξ- (Lat. ind-uō with αἰ-νῆ αἰ-τι), and many similar forms -εμ- -ν- may sometimes be regarded in the same way, e. g. in ῥεεμ- 'flow' (Skr. sráv-a-ti Gr. ῥεῖ) beside σεῖ- 'move forward' (Skr. sáti-a-ti 'goes, flows' Gr. ὀε-μῆ 'haste, impulse'). There need be no hesitation in assuming that in such instances we are dealing with elements which were not originally integral parts of the primitive word, or 'root', and that therefore, in parallel forms which we find without them, they have not been lost, but simply never existed. The name we give them — determinatives, formative suffixes, or what not — is a matter of no importance. Their origin and their original value are obscure. Where, as -ν- in the aorist, they have a definite grammatical function, they may be named accordingly. Thus I describe -s- in ἔδεικ-α-α as an aorist-suffix, although I take it for granted that this element had originally nothing to do with the meaning of the aorist, but in doing so I imply no more than in calling e. g. -mini in Lat. legimini (= λεγο-μενοι § 71) a suffix of the second person plural.

FORMATION AND INFLEXION OF NOMINAL (AND PRONOMINAL) STEMS

§ 9 Our discussion so far has led us to the conclusion, that in the Indo-Germanic languages the first step towards a complete inflexional system is to be seen in the nominal compounds whose first member is an uninflected stem, and reduplicated nouns in which neither of the two members has sunk to the level of an inflexional element; that is, if we consider them apart from their case-suffixes and from any further derivative elements or other particles which may have become attached to them. It seems appropriate, then, to begin our account of the Morphology of Nouns, by treating first of Compound Words and of Reduplicated Forms.

COMPOSITION OF NOUNS (NOUN-COMPOUNDS)¹⁾

THE COMPOUNDS CONSIDERED IN RESPECT OF THEIR FORM.

§ 10. We may distinguish four classes of compound forms.

I. Compounds whose first part is the stem of an inflected noun or pronoun, e. g. Gr. μυρο-γενής compared with μύρο-ς;

Germanic languages accessible to our investigation, and only appears in compounds, e. g. Gr. ἄ-βατος:

III. Compounds whose first part is an old adverbial word (with or without case-ending), which was also used uncompounded, e. g. Gr. ἐπί-θετος compared with ἐπι (ἐπὶ);

IV. Compounds whose first part is either a case-form which when it first entered into composition was a living member of some case-system, or an adverb which had only become such during the development of the separate languages, and had the force of an adverb at the time when it was compounded; e. g. Gr. Διός-ουροι and παν-αίολος.

No differences in principle are implied by this classification. It is chiefly intended as a convenient means of survey. In the course of the development of the different languages, the boundaries of the various classes often wavered considerably, and here and there new formations arose which departed widely from the type originally proper to their particular class.

Classes I and IV are often contrasted as 'genuine' and 'spurious' compounds. The latter are also called Juxtaposita.

guages, and therefore may reasonably be classed here. Several have a numeral for their first member; e. g. Skr. dvi-pád- Gr. di-pous Lat. bi-pēs A.S. twi-fēte 'two-footed'; Skr. tri-dant-tri-dánt- Lat. tri-dēns 'three-toothed'; Skr. śata-pád- Lat. centi-pēs 'hundred-footed'. O.Pers. hama-pitar- Gr. ὁμο-πάτωρ ὁμο-πάτριος O.Icel. sam-feðr 'having the same father, a common father'; Gr. ὁμό-γυνος Goth. samū-kunja- see I § 142. p. 128. Avest. pouru-nar- Gr. πολυ-άνθρω 'rich in men'; Skr. puru-dāsas- 'rich in wondrous deeds' (Gr. πολυ-δῆνεα πολύβουλον, πολύμητιν (Hesych.). Gr. ὠκύ-πους Lat. acu-pedius 'swift-footed'; Skr. āśu-pātran- Gr. ὠκυ-πέτης 'swiftly flying' Lat. acu-piter*, which popular etymology changed to accipiter, as though from accipiō, and even to acceptor. Skr. nṛ-mānas- 'having the mind of a man', Gr. Ἀνδρο-μένης. Skr. nāvajā- i. e. nāva + ajā- 'driving ships, seaman', Lat. nāvigō 'I navigate' from nāv-igo-* 'driving ships'. It is to be noticed that these formations scarcely ever correspond exactly; we have usually to suppose that analogy has modified the forms in the separate languages (e. g. Gr. Ἀνδρο-μένης instead of ἀνδρᾱ-*, see § 29).

§ 12. The termination of the first member.

Stems in -o- had -o-, cp. Gr. ἵππο-δαμοῦς 'taming horses', (Gall. Dēvo-gnātu (dēvo- 'god'), (Goth. gārda-valdands 'master of the house', Lith. gera-dėjis O.C.Sl. dobro-dějī 'benefactor'. Whether -e- occurred as well as -o- (cp. Gr. ἡμέ-λαος beside ἡρό-, see § 29. 30) is doubtful. The final vowel of the stem seems to have remained unchanged even where the second part of the compound began with a vowel: Skr. Ved. yuktā-aśva- 'who has horses yoked', O.C.Sl. bělo-okū 'white-eyed' (cp. also Pruss. dago-augis 'young sprig of a tree' deina-algenika-mans dat. pl. 'to day-labourers'), see I § 600 p. 453.

Stems in -ā-, in compounds formed in the separate families of language, sometimes end in -ā-, and sometimes have the same form as the o- stems. The former is frequent in Aryan and Greek, rare in Latin and Lithuanian: Skr. urvara-jñ- 'gaining arable land' Avest. daṇā-vazah- (proper name) from daṇḍā- 'law, faith', Gr. βουλῆ-φόρος 'giving counsel', Lat. fabā-ginus 'proceeding from beans', Lith. sziksznó-sparnis 'bat' (properly 'leather-winged creature'). The -o-form is not uncommon in Aryan and Greek; it preponderates in Latin and Lithuanian; and in Keltic, Germanic and Slavonic it is the only form found: Skr. Ved. ukha-chīd- 'breaking the pot' from ukhā-, Avest. gaḍā-para- 'wielding a club' from gaḍā- (= Skr. gaddā-), Gr. ἑλο-τόμος 'felling timber' from ἑλῆν, Lat. alī-pēs from ala, Gall. Teuto-bōdiacī beside O.Ir. tuath f. 'people' ground-form teutā*, Goth. airpa-kunds 'of earthly origin' from airpa, Lith. galvā-raiztis 'headband' from galvā, O.C.Sl. glavo-bolije 'headache' from gliva. From these data I do not venture to draw any definite conclusion for the proethnic period. It seems to me, however, improbable that the transition from -ā- to -o- took place independently in all the different languages. Indeed it is certain that the latter was the regular form in proethnic Indo-Germanic when the compound consisted of an adjective + a feminine substantive: Skr. priya-bhāryā 'beloved wife', Gr. ἀκρό-πολις 'upper part of a city', O.Ir. sen-mathur 'old mother, grandmother' from seno-* (cp. however § 39), O.H.G. junc-frouwa 'young lady' for jungo-*, Lith. jaunā-martė 'young woman' sen-motė 'old mother, grand-mother' for sena-* (cp. O.Ir. sen-mathur), O.C.Sl. plūno-luna 'full moon'.

Stems in -ī- and -ū- had -ī-, -ū- before consonants and u-, ū- before sonants. Skr. dhī-jāvana-s 'exciting devotion, inspiring', bhrū-kutī-ś 'frown'. Skr. śrīy-aditya- (man's name) from śrī-, Gr. σῦ-αγχος 'choking swine' from σῦ-. Compare Skr. instr. pl. dhī-śū beside instr. sing. dhīy-ā.

Stems in -i-, -u-, nasals, liquids, and such of the stems in explosives as were declined with vowel-gradation had regularly the weak form of ablaut, from the proethnic period onwards, in compounds as well as in derivatives (e. g. Gr. βαρυ-δαίμων like βαρυ-της, Skr. pitṛ-dēva-s like pitṛ-tva-m).

Stems in -i- and -u- had -i-, -u- before consonants. Skr. tri-pād- Gr. τρί-πους Lat. tri-pēs A.S. ðri-fēte 'three-footed', Gall. tri-garanus 'with three cranes', Lith. tri-kojis 'creature with three feet' O.C.Sl. trǐ-zabŭ 'trident, three-prong'. Skr. agni-dhāna-m 'receptacle for fire', Lat. igni-fer. Proper names containing uesu-* 'good': Skr. vāsu-rōciṣ- Avest. voḥu-raocah-, Gall. Visu-rīx (woman's name) O.H.G. Wisu-rīch. Skr. paśu-pā-s 'cattle-keeper' Goth. faihu-friks 'covetous' Gr. ἡδύ-(F)επής 'speaking sweetly' Skr. svādu-rātī-ś 'bestowing beautiful gifts', Lat. manifestus, Gall. Catu-rīges ('battle-kings') O.Cymr. Cat-mōr, O.H.G. Hadu-mār, Lith. verszū-kolnis 'mountain peak'. Before sonants we find sometimes -u(ɔ)-, -u(ɥ)-, sometimes -ɔ-, -ɥ-, cp. I § 120 p. 111 ff. The first form is certainly original in such words as tri-* 'three', dru-* 'wood'. cp. Skr. Ved. trī(y)-aruṣa- 'marked with red in three places', Gr. τρι-αῖος 'three-branched', Lat. trinum, Gall. Tri-obris, O.H.G. dri-ortēr 'triangulus'; Skr. Ved. drū(v)-anna-s 'having wood for food', Gr. Δρυ-οῦ (cp. further Skr. Ved. hīru(y)-aśva-s 'having golden-yellow steeds' kṛṣṭi(y)-ōjas- 'vanquishing the nations' beside ahy-ārṣu-ś 'falling upon dragons', puru(v) anīka-s 'having many semblances' madhu(v)-ād- 'eating sweet things' bāhu(v)-ōjas- n 'strength of arm' beside pulv-aḡhā-s 'harming much' (examples with -y-, -v- — which alone occur in classical Sanskrit — are rare in Veda, see Edgren, Journal of the Amer. Orient. Soc. XI 71), Gr. βρωτ-άειρα fem. 'nourishing men', πολυ-ιππος 'rich in horses', O.C.Sl. has an isolated example, medo-ědi 'bear' ('honey-eater') from medŭ = Lith. medūs 'honey'.

Stems in -n- may have sometimes had forms in -ɥ-, before consonants, and forms in -u- or -ɥn-, before sonants. -ɥ- may be inferred from Greek compounds like κερή-δεμνον 'head-band' for kerā(v)-a-*, ὀνομα-καί τος 'with famous name' (I § 224 p. 192). We may set beside them Lat. nōmen-clator nōmen-culātus and' Skr. compounds like śīrṣa-bandhanā f. 'head-band' nāma-dhā-s 'name-giver', and also vṛṣaṇ-vasu-ś 'strong as an ox' (cp. vṛṣaṇ-vant- and vṛṣaṇ-yāti- for uṛṣṇ-* I § 225 p. 192). As examples of -n- before sonants might be given Gr. ἀρν-ωδός 'singing for the prize of a lamb' (late), κυν-ῶπις 'dog-eyed', Lith. szūn-obūlei pl. 'hawthorn' ('dog-apples'), and for -ɥn- Ved. vṛṣaṇ-aśvā- 'having stallions for steeds, drawn by stallions' (said of a chariot). Yet it is very uncertain whether those forms are the direct representatives of original types. What we most commonly find is a substitution of o-stems for the stems in -n-, and this mode of representing the n-stems in composition appears to me undoubtedly proethnic. Gr. κτό-κράνον 'capital of a column' from κτων, ἀνυό-θερον 'anvil-block' from ἄνυον, αἶμο-παφής 'dipped in blood' from αἷμα, Lat. honn-cūda, sangu-sūga, numi-clatori (inscr.), Mid. Ir. talam-chumscugud 'earthquake' from talam gen. talman (§ 37), Goth. guma-kunds 'of the male sex' from guma gen. gumins, auga-daurō n. 'window' ('eye-door') from augō gen. augins, Skr compounds like śirśa-bandhana may also be classed here, and all the more confidently because such forms as Skr ukśānna- = ukśa-anna- 'devouring oxen' (from ukśan-) Avest zrvāyu- = zrva-ayu- 'specified time' (from zrvan-) clearly show the type of the o-stems (cp. yuktāśva-). This substitution of o-stems for stems in -n- is obviously connected with a similar change in the final members of compounds, as Skr. tri-parva-s 'with three edges' from pūrvan-, priyā-dhāma-s 'occupying a charming position' from dhāman-, Gr. ἄ-πειρος 'boundless' beside ἀ-πειρον (stem περfor-*), ἀν-αιμος 'bloodless' beside ἀν-αἷμον, Lat. ex-sanguis for an older ex-sanguo-s* (see § 93, under Italic) from sanguen, sublimu-s, later sub-līmu-s (properly 'reaching up to the lintel') from līmen.)

Stems in -m- Skr. sa-kṣt 'once' Gr. α-πλόος 'single' Lat. sim-plex, Idg. sm-, from sem- 'unus' Gr. εἷς neut. ἑν. Gr. δά-πεδον 'floor in a house', then 'ground' generally, for dm-, from dem- 'house', see § 160, 2

The Indo-Germanic type of formation in r-stems is shown in Skr. pitṛ-śrāvaṇa-s 'gaining glory for one's father' and pitṛ-artham 'for one's father's sake'. Cp. also Gr. τετρά-γυνος 'containing four measures of land', from the Idg. stem getyer-* (τετρα- = Idg. getur-*, cp. I § 285), Goth. brōþru-lubō 'brotherly love' (P see § 40) and Gr. πατρωνίμιος 'named from the father', ἀνδρ-άγρια 'spoils of an enemy'

1) No inference can be drawn from such Germanic examples as Goth hauk-hairta- 'haughty' beside hairtan- n 'heart'. For even granting that stems like these had always been n-stems, the a-inflection must in any case have been forced upon them by the analogy of the strong declension of adjectives Cp. Leo Meyer, Got Spr. p. 247.

Stems in -nt- had -nt-. Skr. bṛhad-rathá- 'having a great car', Idg. bhṛghyt-*

Stems in -s- Gr. μῦσ-φόνος 'killing mice', Lat. mūs-cipula 'mouse-trap', Idg. mūs-*. Stems in -es- no doubt had -es-: Gr. σάκεσ-φόρος 'shield-bearer', Goth sigis-láun 'prize of victory', Skr. rajas-túr- 'hastening through the sky' -s- no doubt occurred as well, cp. Skr. mandhātúr- 'thoughtful, devout person' for manz-dhātúr-*, beside mánas- Gr. μῑνός. The use of -o- stems in their place, which is found in Greek, Latin, Celtic, and Slavonic (§ 29 34 37 47, cp. also the Germanic, § 40 Rem 5) may be an independent developement of the separate languages

§ 13 The action of analogy produced many changes in what we must assume to have been the original forms of the initial members of compounds

(On the one hand, we find one kind of stem taking the place of another, e. g. a stem in -o- replacing a stem in -i-, as Slav. gosto- instead of gostī- (§ 47). We have just seen (in § 12) that changes of this kind arose even in protoethnic Indo-Germanic. Thus it may well be the case that dwi-* 'two' (beside nom. acc. du. dwyū*: Skr. dvāú etc.) was formed in this period to correspond with tri-* 'three' (cp. e. g. dwi-pod-* 'two-footed' beside tri-pod-*) just as Gr. διᾱ-ρόοιοι was modelled on τριᾱ-ρόοιοι, πεντά-πους (for πεντί-πους) on ἑντά-πους, and so forth, a different explanation of dwi-*, which does not seem to me convincing, is given by Bartholomae (Ar Forsch. III 39) In the developement of the separate languages the use of -o- as the connecting link in compound words was especially frequent; hence this ending has been called the 'vowel of composition' ('Compositions-vocal').

On the other hand, the stem is sometimes replaced by a case-form (the compound thus passing into Class IV) Of this kind are new formations like Skr. agrē-gá-s (loc. sing.) beside the more archaic agra-ga-s 'going at the head', Gr. Πυλογενής (loc. sing.) 'born in Pylos', Mod.H.G. befehls-haber lands-mann (gen. sing.) for the older forms befelch-haber land-mann. In this class also a few examples may be procthmie, ep. Skr. aṣṭā-pad- aṣṭā-pada- Gr. ὀκτώ-πους 'eight-footed', Lat. octō-jugis (Goth. ahtáu- seen in ahtáu-dōgs 'eight-day' (adj.) for ahtō-*, following the uncompounded ahtáu) with the form of the nom. acc. du., and similarly, with the form of the nom. acc. sing., Gr. ἑκατό-πους-πῆδος Lat. centum-peda beside the more archaic Skr. śata-pād- Lat. centi-pēs -peda (ep. also Goth. handa-faps 'centurio', Lith szimta-kōjis 'hundred-footed').

Remark Cp the occurrence of the -ō- of the nom. acc. du. in the case-endings Skr. -ā-bhīyām Lat. -ō-bus (duōbus) Skr. aṣṭa- (seen in Ved aṣṭa-karṇā- etc.) and Lat. octi- (seen in octi-pēs etc.) do not represent the Idg. stem okto-*, from which the dual was formed, but they follow the analogy of sapta- and septi-, cp Gr. ὅστα- beside ὀκτω- in imitation of ἑπτα-.

The same substitution of case-form for stem is seen in certain derivatives formed by means of suffixes, examples of this are Skr. tad-īya-s 'belonging to that' tad-vant- 'provided with that' (tā-d nom. acc. neut.) kī-yū-ṣ 'desiring what' (kī-m nom. acc. neut.), Skr. divā-tama-s 'diurnus' (diva instr. sing. 'by day', § 69), Skr. uccāṣ-tard-m 'higher' (uccāṣ instr. pl. 'high', § 75), Gr. μυροί-τατος 'furthest back in the corner' (μυροί loc. sing. 'in the corner, within', § 75), Gr. ἰγίς 'powerful' (ἰ-γι instr. sing. 'with power, with might'), Lat. extrē-mu-s (extrē-* adv., § 72, 2), Goth. jáu-n-s 'that' (m) (zōz* loc. sing., § 66).

§ 14. Class II Idg. g-* gn-* 'un-', connected with ne-* nē* 'not' (Skr. nā nā etc.) Skr. a-mṛta-s ā-marītya-s 'immortal' an-aśvā-s 'without horses', Armen. an-gēt 'unknowing', Gr. ἀ-μφοτος ἀ-μφοδω- (ep. I § 120 p. 111) αν-ιπος, Lat. in-somnis (Skr. a-svapnā-s 'sleepless'), O.Ir. ē-tromm 'not heavy, light', O.II G. un-enden 'endlessness' (Skr. an-antā-s 'endless'), cp. I § 227 p. 194, and the parallel form g-* 'un' = Gr. vā- vη- etc., see I § 253 p. 207. Idg. dus-* 'mis- ill-': Skr. dur-manas- 'illwill, malevolence', Armen. t-gēt 'unknowing', Gr. δυσ-μενής 'ill-disposed', O.Ir. do-chruth 'deformed, ugly' (from cruth 'form', the c being changed to ch on the analogy of so-chruth 'beautifully formed', see I § 658 p. 510 f.), O.H.G. zur-lust 'wilfulness, illwill'.

These initial members of compound words may once have been independent adverbial words which were restricted even in the proethnic period to use in composition; just as Idg. su* 'well' and sēmi* 'half', which in Aryan still occur as independent words, in the other branches of Indo-Germanic only survived in compounds.

§ 15. CLASS III. This class may be split up into numerous subdivisions; only a few of them can be noticed here.

Adverbs used in the separate languages as verbal prepositions are compounded with verbal nouns. Idg. ēpi-dhato-s* 'added'. Skr. āpi-hita-s 'shut, enveloped' Gr. ἐπι-θετος 'added'. Idg. āpo-qiti-s* 'expiation, punishment' Skr. āpa-citi-ṣ Gr. ἀπο-τισις. Idg. ni-zdo-s* 'place for sitting down' (✓ sed-): Skr. nīdā-s, Arm. nist, Lat. nīdu-s, O.Ir. net, O.H.G. nest, see I § 590 p. 447. Idg. peri-sroyo-s* 'a flowing round': Skr. pari-srāva-s, Gr. περί-ρροος. It was not before the period of separate development that adverbs of this kind were closely united with the finite verb, as in Gr. ἐπι-τίθημι, and it is clear that the older practice of compounding them with nouns gave considerable impulse to this tendency.

Remark. The group of purely verbal compounds then reacted upon the class of nominal compounds. It is true enough to say that e.g. Gr. ἑξοχο 'eminent, prominent' is not a compound of ἕξ and ῥος, nor Goth. aflets 'remission, forgiveness' a compound of af and lets, but that those words are simple derivatives from the verbs ἕξχω and afleta (J. Grimm, D. Gr. II [1878] 694, Zacher, Zur griech. Nominalcomp. 8), and there is after all good reason for adopting Zacher's name for them, 'pseudo-compounds'. But it must not be forgotten that in creating such forms the language is merely adding new examples to old classes, whose types have come down from the proethnic period, and that by far the greater number of the so-called compounds in the Idg. languages were certainly not formed by any real process of composition, but merely through analogical imitation of old typical forms; that is to say, they are only 'pseudo-compounds'.

Adverbs, used in the separate languages as prepositions governing a case, are compounded with nouns which are found governed by them; ἐγκέφαλος = ἐν κεφαλῇ ὧν. In the proethnic period, when this group of forms began to develop, prepositional phrases like Skr. ānu satyām 'conformably to truth' Gr. ἐν κεφαλῇ 'in the head' Lat. ante portam can hardly, as yet, have become a recognised construction. The need of derivatives, however, had already given rise to compounds, exactly in the same way as in Mod.H.G. lang-weilig is derived from lange weile, in Lat. Sacraviēnsēs from sacra via etc. (cp. § 3 Rem. p. 4 f.). Then, the more firmly the prepositional construction established itself in the separate languages, the easier was it to form corresponding compounds, and the more freely were they coined. Skr. api-karṇā-m 'that which is situated by the ear, the region of the ear', Gr. ἐπί-γαιος adj. 'on the earth'. Skr. upāri-martya-s 'rising above mortals', Gr. ὑπερ-άνθρωπος ὑπερ-ήνωρ (the same). Lat. inter-vallum 'that which is situated between two palisades (inter vallos), intermediate space', Skr. antar-hastā-s adj 'in the hand' Goth. uf-áiþeis 'under an oath, bound by an oath', Skr. upa-kakṣā-s 'reaching to the armpit'. Lith. pér-galve f. 'that which is laid over or around the head, cowl', Gr. περικέφαλον περι-κεφαλαῖά 'head-covering'. It is noteworthy that Sanskrit and Greek agree in using as adverbs the acc. sing. neut. of these adjectival compounds, e.g. Skr. praty-ākṣa-m from praty-ākṣa-s 'lying before the eyes', ati-mātrā-m from ati-mātrā-s 'exceeding the proper measure', Gr. ἐμ-πεδον from ἐμ-πεδος 'situated on the earth, firm', ἐπέρ-μορον from ἐπέρ-μορος* 'beyond destiny'.

The negative particles ne*, nei* (cp. O. Brugmann, Über den Gebrauch des condicionalen NI in der alteren Latinität, 1887, p. 32 f.), mē* are compounded with the pronominal stems gi-* go-. ne: ná-ki-ś 'no one, nothing, not' (ki- instead of the regular ci-, see I § 448 Rem. p. 333). nei*: Avest. nae-ci-ś 'none', Lith. nē-kas O.C.Sl. ni-kūto 'none'. mē* (prohibitive) Skr. mā-ki-ś, Gr. μή-τις.

§ 16. Class IV. Compounds of this kind do not appear in any great numbers until the later periods of the history of the languages. Of these, too, by far the greatest number are due to no real process of composition, but merely to the analogy of already existing types. The following may be regarded as formations which had the character of compounds as early as the proethnic period.

The words for the tens from thirty upwards, as Gr. τριάκοντα, τετρακάκοντα, which have a nom. acc. pl. neut. as their initial member.

Idg. duō-dekṃ* duō-dekṃ* 'twelve': Skr. dvā-daśa dvā-daśa, Avest. dva-dasa (with a instead of ā, following dva), Gr. δύο-δεκα δύο-δεκα, Lat. duo-decim (with o instead of ū, following duo), compare Skr. dvādaśama-s Lat. duodecimū-s 'twelfth'. Idg. tréze-dekṃ* 'thirteen'. Skr. tráyō-daśa, Lat. trēdecim (I § 594 p. 450), Mid.H.G. drī-zehen (the sounds at the junction of the two words have been modified on the analogy of the two uncompoundd forms, for -zd- would have become -st- in Germanic)

Remark. We may generalise so far as to assume that in proethnic Indo-Germanic there already existed compounds for all the numbers 11—19. Yet it must be noticed that the names of the numbers up to nine are not all genuine case-forms, e.g. Idg. penqe* 'five' seen in Skr. pāñcadaśu Lat. quindecim Goth. fimftaihun.

Possibly there were also in the Indo-Germanic period compounds containing case-forms of div- 'heaven'; cp. Skr. div-rúr- 'shining from heaven' (Gr. Διός-δοτος 'given by Zeus', Skr. divi-jā-s divi-jāta-s 'born in heaven'. The Greek compound δεσπότης 'master of the house', whose first member was the Idg. gen. dem-s* (I § 204 p. 171 and § 160 below) may also have been inherited from the parent language.

To this class also belong such forms as Skr. tad-vuśā-s 'having a desire for that', Gr. ποδ-από- 'whence coming?' with the form of the nom. acc. sing. neut. See I § 228 p. 195 and § 163 below.

§ 17. The forms of this class, like those of Class I, gave rise to many analogical innovations. The most noteworthy of these is that the case-ending of the first member of the compound ceased to be regarded as a case-ending, and was used in composition with nouns which could not be joined with it uncompounded; c. g. Gr. θεσόδωρος (beside θεός, gen. θεοῦ) on the analogy of διός-δωρος, Mod.H.G. hilfstruppen 'auxiliary force' (beside die hilfe, gen. der hilfe) on the analogy of forms like hungers-not. See § 24. 32. 44. 47.

§ 18. Compounds of all classes have been used from the earliest period as personal names¹⁾, and it must be assumed that even in the parent language this was the commonest method designating of persons.

It remained in living use amongst all the Indo-Germanic peoples except the Italic²⁾. Examples are: Skr. āśva-mēdha-s (āśva- 'horse'), dur-mitrā-s (duṣ- 'mis-'), upa-diśa-s (upa 'hither, this way'), divō-dāsa-s (divās gen. of div- 'heaven'); Gr. Ἰππόναχος, Ἀ-δμητος, Ἵππό-δίκης, Ἀρηι-λινος; Gall Dēvo-gnātu (dēvo- 'god'), Su-carus Su-caria O.Bret. Hu-car Ho-car (su- 'well'). Skr. sū, su-, cp. I § 573 p. 430), Ro-smerta (ro: Gr. πρό); Goth. Austro-valdus with Latinised termination (austro- 'east'), O.H.G. Wolf-boto (wolf- 'wolf'), O.H.G. Un-forht (un- Gr. α-), Lith. Vausz-nor-s, Nor-butū-s, But-vilū-s (vaisza-s* or vaiszu-s* 'guest' cp vaiszinū 'I receive as a guest, entertain', norū-s 'will', būta-s 'house')³⁾, Pruss. Buti-lubes (buta- house') Austi-gaudis (austa- 'mouth') Na-bute (na 'after, in accordance with'), Serv Vuko-mir (vuk O.C.Sl vlūkū 'wolf'), Ljubo-mir (O.C.Sl ljubū 'dear').

These compounds had in many respects a peculiar history.

Amongst the Greeks and the Germanic peoples, it was a custom to insert in a child's name one of the words which were found compounded in the name of the father or the mother:

1) See in particular A. Fick, Die griech. Personennamen nach ihrer Bildung erklärt, mit den Namensystemen verwandter Sprachen verglichen und systematisch geordnet, Göttingen 1874.

2) And perhaps the Armenians. On the subject of personal names in Armenian I have received communications from Prof. Hübschmann, and I am satisfied that in the present state of our knowledge it can neither be affirmed nor denied that this people retained any genuine Indo-Germanic compound names. In the case of geographical names, however, the old principle of nomenclature may be said to be still fully in force.

3) In Lithuanian this mode of forming family names is now obsolete.

e. g. Δινο-γράφης son of Δινο-γλῆς, Εὐ-κράτης son of Εὐρύ-κράτης, Ἄνδρο-νίκος son of Νίνο-γλῆς; in the 8th century A. D. we have Walt-bert son of Wald-ram, Walil-bert and Wolf-bert sons of Hram-bert, Wine-gaudus son of Wine-burgis (Stark, Die Kose-namen der Germanen, p. 159)¹) This explains the fact that words of the most heterogeneous meaning were often combined to form one name, as Gr. Ἰππό-λας, Ῥοδ-ιππος, O. H. G. Wolf-dag, Fridu-gundis.

One of the two compounded words was sometimes used alone as an abbreviation for the whole name (these are called 'Kurznamen' 'short names'), and suffixes expressing endearment were often added at the same time to this single stem. This practice of abridgement, which shows the same kind of linguistic thrift as we see e. g. in Mod. H. G. balin = eisenbahn, lager = lagerbier, solu = soduwasser, kilo = kilogramm, ein viertel neuen = ein viertel liter neuen weines, in London slang phrases such as zoo = zoological garden, pops = popular concerts, buz = omnibus, and in Gr. πᾶ, μᾶ from πατήρ, *μάτηρ*², may be regarded as unquestionably belonging to the proethnic period. Skr dēva-s dēvaka-s dēvika-s dēvya-s dēvala-s dēvīla-s = dēva-datta-s dēva-kṣatra-s dēva-śrava-s etc. Gr. Ζεῦς Ζεῦξιας = Ζεῦς-ιππος Ζεῦσι-δαμος Ζεῦξι-θεος etc. Gall. Toutus Toutius Toutillus = Touto-bocio O. Cymr. Tut-ri (cp. Gall. Toutio-rīx) etc. O. H. G. Wolfo Wolpho (Goth. Vulþla) Wolfin = Wolf-brand Wolf-brant Wolf-gang etc. Pruss. Bute Butil Buteko = Buti-labes etc. Serv. Vuk Vuko, Vukel Vukolin = Vuko-voj Vuko-mir etc. (vuk = O. ('Sl. vlkŭ 'wolf') This shortening was also effected by dropping the first member of the compound,

1) In Greek the influence of the father's name may be observed even in names consisting of single stems, the formative suffix being taken over to the new name, e. g. Βασιλ-υλλος son of Βασ-υλλος, Λαμμεν-ιππος son of Φιλ-ιππος. See J. Baunaok, Stud. auf dem Gebiete des Griech., I 1, 57

2) The psychological side of this practice of abbreviation has been examined by Behaghel (Die Deutsche Sprache, p. 68 f.). It springs from the general tendency to leave unspoken whatever can be understood, or is at once suggested by the immediate context.

c. g. Gr. Κλη̃τος = Ἀνάκλητος (a bishop in the first century), Vulfus = Hun-ulfus, Scirorum primas, saec. V, Jornandes c. 54.

Where this kind of abbreviation took place the feeling for the etymological structure of the compound was sometimes lost, and so the initial consonant or consonants of the second member remain in the curtailed form. Gr. Νικο-μα̃ς = Νιρο-μήδης, Δημο-σθ̃ς = Δημο-σθένης, Εὐ-χρ̃ς = Εὐ-χρηστος, Πολυ-ξ̃ς = Πολυ-ξένη. O.H.G. Adal-bo = Adel-bero and Adelboldus, Sibo = Sibold Sigi-bald, Rat-po = Rat-poto, Thiemo = Thiet-mārus, Ercam-bius = Ercam-bertus.

Remark. I do not know what view to take of the frequent strengthening of a medial consonant in abbreviated names in Greek and in Germanic; c. g. Gr. Ξενναί, Ἀγαθῶ, Δικκῶ, Καλλο-ννῶ, Κλεό-μμ̃ς, Θεο-κκῶ, Νικο-ττῶ, Κλεο-θθ̃ς; O.H.G. Itta = Ita-berga, Sicco = Sige-rīch Sig-bertus Sig-fridus, Aggo = Ago-bardus. Cp. Fick, Die griech. Personennamen p. LIX sq. and Bezzenberger's Beitr. III 277 f., Baunaok, Studia Nicoltana (Lips. 1884) p. 47 f., and Studien auf dem Gebiete des Griech. I 1, 60, Stark, Kosenamen p. 19 ff.

The student should compare the examples of abbreviated names in other languages collected by R. Mowat, in his essay De la déformation dans les noms propres (Mém. de la Soc. de Ling. I, 171 ff.).

§ 19. Accentuation of Compounds. In languages where the free Indo-Germanic accentuation can still be observed, the position of the accent in compounds varies considerably in many ways, and it is certain that even in the proethnic period a complicated system had been developed. Certain principles, however, can be everywhere recognised, and must probably be assumed as holding good for that period.

1. Where the meaning was not 'epithetised' (§ 50) the compounds of Class I (see above) were usually oxytone if the second member was a nomen agentis: Skr radhra-cōdā-s 'driving on the weary' (cōdā-s 'driving on') aśva-hayā-s 'driving on the steeds' (hayā-s 'driving on'), Gr. ψῆχο-πομπός 'conducting souls' (πομπός 'conductor') παιδο-τρόφος for παιδο-τροφός* (I § 676 p. 542 f.) 'nourishing children' (τροφός 'nourisher'). On the other hand, where the meaning was 'epithetised', the first member usually bore the accent, no matter of what parts of speech the word was compounded: Skr. hāri(y)-aśva-s 'having golden-yellow steeds' hīraṇya-kēśa-s 'golden-haired', Avest. stehr-paēsah- 'adorned with stars' = pr. Ar. stf-paiśas-* (I § 260 p. 212, § 288 p. 229 f., § 674 p. 539), Gr. βαθύ-κόλπος 'with deep, full bosom' κλυτό-πιῶλος 'having glorious steeds' χαλνό-πους 'bronze-footed' (as regards instances like εὐρύ-ρεῖθρος 'with wide stream' for *εὐρύ-ρεῖθρος; see I § 676, 2 p. 541 and Wheeler, Der griech. Nominalacc. 43 ff.), A.S. fyðer-fēte 'four-footed' for pr. Germ. fipur-* (I § 529 p. 384 f.) like Skr. cātuṣ-pad-. Thus we find existing side by side forms like Skr. rāja-putrá-s 'king's son' and rāja-putra-s 'having kings for sons', (tr παν-τρόπος turning all' (cp. τροπός 'turner, strap by means of which the oar is turned') and πολύ-τροπος 'of many wiles' (cp. τούπος a turn') with many similar examples.

Remark 1. The exceptions to these rules still need careful investigation. Thus for example, Sanskrit compounds of -pati- 'lord', though they belong to the immutata or unepithetised class, accentuate the first member, as gand-pati- 'lord of a troop' prir-pati- 'lord of a stronghold', and the d of Goth. -fadi- in hunda-fadi- 'leader of 100 men' points to the same accentuation, pr. Germ. hundá-fadi-* (I § 530 p. 386 f.). May not this substantive have been originally a nomen actionis meaning 'rule, lordship' (cp § 149), so that the compounds in question would originally have been mutata (epithetised)?

2. Compounds with u- yu- un- accented this prefix if they were the same part of speech as their final member. Skr. á-kumāra-s 'non-boy, matured youth' (kumāra-s), á-dirgha-s 'not long' (dirghá-s), á-kṣita-s 'imperishable' (kṣitá-s), án-andha-s 'not blind' (andhá-s). Gr. α-δωρεα 'gifts that are no gifts' (δωρεα), á-οηλος 'not plam' (δηλος), á-γησιτος = Skr. á-kṣita-s, úr-ulτος 'insatiable'.

Remark 2. If the phonetic law for ú, which was laid down in I § 226, is correct, Skr. án- and Gr. án- must once have been regular even where the next part of the compound began with a consonant. In that case the unaccented a- á- of epithetised compounds like 'Skr. a-tamás- 'without darkness' Gr. á-δ(F)ής 'fearless', must have passed into more general use, thanks no doubt to the fact that before a sonant every u-*, accented and unaccented alike, regularly became an- án- (cp án-andha-s and an-énás- 'sinless', án-αιτος and án-αιδής 'shameless').

3. Compounds consisting of adverbs + participles in -to-, abstract substantives in -ti-, or similar verbal nouns (Class III), had the accent upon the adverb, just as the corresponding forms of the finite verb in a principal clause threw back their accent upon the adverbs which qualified them (cp. I § 669 p. 534). Skr. prá-tta-s 'given up' Gr. πρό-δοτος 'abandoned', Skr. prá-tti-ṣ Gr. πρό-δοσις; A.S. frá-coð Goth. frá-kunþs 'despised', O.H.G. frá-tāt 'transgression'. In Greek the accentuation followed new rules; thus we have ἀπο-τελεύτητος instead of ἄπο-τελευτᾶτος*, ἀπό-τισις, for ἄπο-τισις*, cp. ἐνυ-ρέεθρος above, 1.

4. Cumulative numerals (Dvandva) had the accent on the first number, as Skr. dvā-daśa Gr. δώ-δεκα 'twelve'.

Aryan.

§ 20. In the proethnic period of Aryan the existing types of formation underwent no important changes.

In certain forms, as Skr. áśva-magha-s, we find -a- where we should expect -a-. These no doubt arose by analogy in proethnic Aryan, if they are due to the influence of Indo-Germanic stems in -a-, or if they contain the form of the instr. sing. See § 22, with the Remark.

Examples of compounds which accurately represent the Indo-Germanic types are: Skr. vīra-hán- Avest. vīra-jan- 'slaying men'. Skr. áva-hata- Avest. O.Pers. ava-jata- 'beaten off, struck down, killed': cp. Lat. au-. Skr. dūrē-śrūta- proper name, Avest. dūraē-śrūta- 'far-famed', containing the loc. sing. of the stem dūra-.

§ 21. In Sanskrit, nominal compounds were freely developed. In the Veda and the Brāhmaṇa compounds containing more than two members appear but rarely; but in the classical language, especially in the artificial style, stem-compounds (Class I) consisting of several members are quite common, e. g. sakala-nīti-śāstra-tattva-jña-s 'knowing (jña-) the essence (tattva-) of all (sakala-) manuals (śāstra-) of deportment (nīti-)'. Later poets created compounds which were absolute monstrosities; see the examples given by Justi, Über die Zusammensetzung der Nomina, p. 17.

§ 22. Class I.

o-stems. aśva-yūj- 'yoking horses'. Gr. Ἰνός-ζυγος. Ved. yuktā-aśva-s and yuktāśva-s 'for whom horses have been yoked'; in classical Sanskrit only the contracted form occurs. No satisfactory explanation has been given of the -ā- in Ved. āśva-magha-s 'rich in horses' gūrtā-vasu-s 'possessing agreeable things' and other similar examples.

Remark. Cp -ā- beside -a- in Iranian (§ 25) Here we may conceivably have either 1 the feminine -ā- (cp Gr. θαρατή-φάρος; beside θαρατο-φάρος § 29), 2 Ar ā = Idg o in open syllables (I § 78 p. 69); 3 the effect of some principle of rhythm (cp. Avest. acc. vei'pṛā-jan-em beside gen vei'pṛu-yn-o nom vei'pṛa-ja-jā); or 4 the instrumental in ā taking the place of the stem. The origin of the ā need not, of course, be the same in every instance Cp. also Skt āśvā-vant- and the like, § 127 a-stems. Ved. jyā-vāja-s 'having the speed of the bow-string': Lith. gijà 'cord' Parallel to these are forms with -a-, Ved. ukha-chīd- 'breaking the pot (ukhā-)' etc, see § 12 p. 24 f.

i-, ā-stems śacī-vasu-s 'powerful', tanū-tyāj- 'abandoning life and limb'. Cp. § 12 p. 25.

i-, u-stems. tri-pād-, paśu-pā-s, trī(y)-aruśa- etc. (§ 12 p. 25 f.). Cp. also dyu-kṣa- 'dwelling in the light of heaven' beside div-īt- 'going to heaven' (cp instr. pl. dyū-bhiḥ. instr. sing. div-ā): nom sing. dyāu-s, Gr. Ζεύς.

Nasal stems nāma-dha-s etc., see § 12 p. 26 f. sa-kyt (Gr. ἀ-πλόος, see ibid. p. 27

r-stems. putr-śrāvāṇa-s 'bringing honour to a father', ptr-artham 'for a father's sake'. Cp. § 12 p. 27 f.

nt-stems. bṛhāt-kētu-s 'having a lofty banner': acc sing. bṛhānt-am. Cp. § 12 p. 28.

es-stems. rajas-tūr- 'hastening through the atmosphere'. The -ō- in rajō-mēgha-s 'cloud of dust' vacō-vid- 'skilled in hymns' (vācas Gr. ἔνος), like the -ō- of the instr. pl. (rájō-bhiḥ), is taken from the nom. acc. sing. in -ō (rájō), see I § 591 p. 447 f., and § 24 below.

It is not uncommon to find the types of Classes I and IV confused, a case-form taking the place of a stem. Examples are given in § 24.

§ 23. Class II. á-gata-s 'not gone, untrodden': Gr. ἄ-πατος, 'untrodden'; án-ápta-s 'not reached, not reaching to, unskilful'. cp. Lat. in-eptu-s. duš-pāra-s 'hard to make one's way over, hard to pass': Gr. δύσ-παρος, the same. The opposite of the latter form, sú 'well', was not restricted to use in compounds until the post-Vedic period (as in su-śrávas- 'famous'); cp. § 26.

Class III. prá-tata-s 'outspread' prá-tati-ś 'an outspreading'. Gr. πρό-τασις 'a stretching forward, assertion'.

ánti-grha-m 'the space over against (before) the house': Gr. ἀντί-θρονος 'the space over against (before) the door'. anu-śatyá-s 'conformable to truth (ánu satyám)'. pari-hastá-s 'placed round the hand (pári hástam)'. á-dēva-s 'going to the deity (dēvám d)'.

§ 24. Class IV pitā-mahá-s 'grandfather on the father's side' (gen. pitāmahásya) from pitā mahá-s 'pater grandis', from which came the feminine derivative pitāmahī 'grandmother on the father's side'. Cp. Lat. rōs-marīnus gen. rōsmarīnē § 36.

divō-jā-s 'child of heaven' (gen. of div-). dasyāh-putra-s 'son of a slave-woman' (gen. of dāsī). brāhmaṇas-pāti-ś 'lord of prayer', śubhás-pāti-ś 'lord of adornment' (gen. of brāhman-, śubh-). yudhi-śthira-s 'proper name, 'firm in battle' (loc. of yúdh-). diva-kīrtiya- 'to be repeated by day' (instr. of div-).

This group of forms was considerably enlarged because case-forms were sometimes substituted for stems in compounds of the type of Class I; e. g. divi-kṣít- 'dwelling in heaven' (loc. of div-), apsu-kṣít- 'dwelling in the waters' (loc. pl. of ap-), agrē-śá-s 'going at the head' (loc. of agra-, agra-śa-s is also found), vājam-bhará-s 'carrying off booty' (acc. of vāja-), agnim-indhá-s 'kindling fire' (acc. of agni-). In such compounds as these there can have been no transition from a phrase to a compound word, but merely an analogical imitation of compounds already in existence; for at the time when these were formed, their final members were no longer in use as independent words.

The same holds good of all such 'epithetised' compounds of this class as had that meaning as soon as they came into existence; cp. rāyās-kāma-s 'having desire for wealth' (gen.) from kāma-s 'desire', dūrē-antas 'ended, ending in the distance' (loc.) from ānta-s 'end' (compare dūrē-śrutas, a proper name, 'far-famed'), śatām-ūti-ś 'furnishing a hundred (acc.) aids' from ūti-ś 'help' (with the simple stem. śatā-vāja-s 'furnishing hundredfold sustenance')

It often happened that the case-ending of the first member was used in new formations after it had ceased to be recognised as such, so that one part of the new compound shows a case-form which does not appear when the word is independent: thus vānas-pāti-ś 'lord of the wood' (stem vāna-, gen. vānasya-) is formed on the analogy of compounds ending in -as-pati-ś, whose first member was the genitive of a consonantal stem, as brāhmanas-pāti-ś, vasun-dhara-s 'concealing treasure' instead of vasu-dhara-s* (cp. vasu-dhāra-s) from vāsu n. 'treasure', on the analogy of forms like dhuran-dhara-s 'bearing a yoke' (acc. dhur-am) kulan-dhara-s 'sustaining one's family' (acc. kula-m).

A further consequence of the dull appreciation of these case-forms was their use in new formations without their proper meaning, i. e. as though they were simple stems. Thus e. g. apsu-, loc. pl. of ap- 'water' (apsu-kṣīt-, see above), was used in place of ap- in apsu-yogā-s 'the binding effect of water' (Ath.-Vēda X 5, 5 beside sōma-yogā-s 'the binding effect of soma'), cp. the adjective apsavya-s 'situated in the water', which was formed from ap-sū as madhavya-s from mādhu ('sweet draught').

In imitation of old pronominal compounds like tad-vaśā-s, containing the neuter element -d (§ 16), neuter pronominal forms in -m were made to serve as the initial members of compounds, as idā-rūpa-s 'having this form' beside masc. ayám 'this', kio-kāraṇa-s 'having what cause?' beside masc. ká-s 'who?' (cp. the parallel Vedic form kād-ārtha-s 'having what purpose?' kad- = Lat. quod).

From the protoethnic Aryan period onwards combinations of two dual forms were common; e. g. mītrā várūṇā, 'Mitra and Varuṇa', properly 'Mitra and the other (sc. Varuṇa) and Varuṇa and the other (sc. Mitra)'. Each dual form was inflected independently. Side by side with them, however, we find mītrā-várūṇābhyam mītrā-várūṇayōṣ, which should be compared with such forms as dva-daśabhiḥ trayō-daśabhiḥ. In these the process of composition is complete, and the same may be said of the new compounds formed on the model of those whose first member is a dual form ending in -ā, as agnāviṣṇū 'Agni and Vishnu' (Ath.-Vēda) instead of agnī-viṣṇū (cp agnī-śmā in the Rig-Veda); which is shewn also by the substitution of -a- for -ā, as the termination of the first member, on the analogy of Class I, as parjānya-vātā beside parjānya-vātā 'rain-cloud and wind'. Cp. also the derivatives in -vant-, mītrā-várūṇa-vant- 'accompanied by Mitra and Varuṇa'.

The compounds pitā-putrāu 'father and son' mātā-pitṛāu 'mother and father' hōta-pōtarāu 'summoner and purifier' must have been preceded by older phrases such as pitā putrah, mātā putā, hōta pōtā, which did not receive the dual inflexion until the process of composition was complete. Cp. O.C Sl. bratŭi-sestra § 47.

When anyō-'nyam and paras-param 'alter alterum' had become compounds, the inflexion of the initial member was dropped and the form of the nom. sing. masc. was applied to all the cases; hence e. g. anyōnyām altera alteram instead of anyā anyām*, tayōḥ . . . kāmō 'bhāt . . . anyōnyam prati (Nala 1, 17) 'eorum (in cis) amor enatus est alterius in alterum' instead of anyasya anyam prati*. Cp. Gr. ἀλλήλων; § 32, Mid.H.G. ein-ander § 44 and Lith. kits kitą § 46

Class I. Stems in -o-. Avest. ver'pra-ja- 'victorious': Skr. vytra-hān-. Avest. yuxta-aspa- and yuxtāspa- 'for whom steeds have been yoked': Skr. yuktā-aśva yuktāśva-. Avest. srīraoxšan- (proper name) = srīra + uxšan-. O.Pers. xšaša- pāvan- 'guardian of the land, satrap'. Avest. xšaθru- Skt. kṣatrá- 'lordship, kingdom'. O Pers. xšayāršan- (proper name) = xšaya- + aršan-. Sometimes -ā- is found in place of -a-, as Avest. ašā-dā 'giving what is pure', acc ver^eprā-janem beside nom. ver^epra-ja-, O.Pers. ariyā-rāmna- (proper name), perhaps also uvā-maršiyu- 'dying by suicide' (cp Avest. xwā-daena- 'having one's own faith'), on this point see § 22 Rem. In Avestic -ō- is often found instead of -a-, the form of the nominative being used instead of the stem (cp the Author, Curt Stud. IX 269, Bartholomae, Die Gāpā's 81), e.g. darvō-dāta- 'made by the demons' (beside daēva-yāza- 'demon-worshipper'), even where the o-stem was neuter, as xšaθrō-dāh- 'bestowing lordship' (nom xšaθre-m). This -ō- spread still further, see below.

Stems in -ā- Avest. daēnā-vazah- (proper name), from daēnā 'fath'. At the same time we have forms with -a-, Avest. gaθā-vara- 'wielding the club' (gaθā-) etc (see § 12 p 24 f.) and with -ō- instead of -a-, compounds like daēnō-disa- 'teacher of the law'.

Stems in -i- and u Avest. aži-cīpra- 'sprung from the serpent', pri-ayara- 'space of three days'. Avest. pouru-nar- 'rich in men', urv-āpa 'with broad stream', per^epu-amika- 'with wide front', O.Pers. parāv-zana- (read paruzana-) 'rich in people'. Here too we sometimes find in Avestic the form of the nominative in place of the simple stem e.g. nasuš-pacya- 'burning of corpses' or 'arising in the burning of corpses', bāzuš-aogah- 'strong-armed', vaxnuš-dāta- 'well made'.

Nasal stems. Avest. ašava-frazanti- 'pious offspring' from ašavan-. Forms with -ō- instead of -a- on the analogy of the o-stems. Avest. bar^esmō-zasta- 'holding twigs for offering in the hand' from bar^esmān-. Avest. zem-fraθah- 'encompassing the earth' from zām-.

Stems in -r-. Avest. stehr-paēsa- 'adorned with stars'. ner^e-bar^ezah- 'man's height'. Skt. nr-bahū-ṣ 'man's arm'. Compounds in which the strong form of the stem is inserted: nar^e-gar- 'devouring men', atar^e-carana- 'belonging to fire', with others like them; cp. dat. abl. pl. star^e-byō beside ner^e-byō. The form of the nom. sing. has replaced the simple stem in atarš-ciṣra beside atarš- ciṣra 'sprung from fire, combustible'.

Stems in -nt-. Avest. raçvas-ciṣra 'of splendid family' (-sc- for -tc-, see I § 473 p. 349) from raçvant-. O.Pers. dāraya-vau (proper name) 'possessing property' (gen. dāraya-vahauš) for dārayad-vahu-*: cp. Skr. dhārayat-kṣitīś 'sustaining the races of mankind'; cp. Hübschmann, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 603 f.

Avest. vīs-pati- 'lord of a village': Skr. viś-pāti-ṣ-. zarāz-dāh- 'giving the heart' with -zd- for -d + d- (cp. I § 476 p. 351), from zarād-: Skr. hrd-.

As examples of the nominative used in place of the simple stem we may notice here Avest. vāxš-aṣša- 'the desire of the hymn' (stem vāc-), aṣš-ciṣra 'sprung from water' aoṣ-data 'resting in water' (stem ap-), kerfš-xwar- 'eating flesh' (stem kehrp-).

Stems in s-. Avest. vacas-tašti- 'preparation of words, text', temas-ciṣra 'sprung from darkness', uoḡaz-dastema- 'most helpful'. Compounds with -ō-, which was taken from the nom. sing., are ayō-zaya- 'with iron weapon' ayō-ver^epra- 'with offensive weapon of iron' ayō-ayra- 'iron arrow' (Skr. ayō-gra- 'pestle') from ayah-: Skr. āyas-. O.Pers. vahyaz-data- (proper name), like Avest. vañhaz-dāh- 'giver of the best', beside the comparative Avest. vañhah- 'better'. Skr. vāsyas-.

Remark. The student should compare the Avestic use of the nominative form instead of the stem in derivatives made by formative suffixes and even in the simple cases: srīrō-tara- 'more beautiful' (srīra-), spentō-tema- 'most holy' (spenta-), like daevō-dāta-; huḡdānuš-tema- 'wisest' (hu-ḡdānu-) like nasuš-pacya-; dat. abl. vāyē-byō from vāc- like vāxš-aṣša-. Cp. § 13 p. 29.

§ 26. Class II. Avest. a-yru- 'not pregnant, virgin': Skr. ā-gru-; O.Pers. a-kšata- 'uninjured'. Skr. ā-kṣata-; Avest. an-ašavan- 'impious'. cp. Skr. ān-gta-. Avest. duš-manah- 'thinking ill' Skr. dur-manas- Gr. δυσ-μενής. The Idg. su* 'well' (Avest. hu-ber'ta- O.Pers. u-barta- 'well born, well cherished': Skr. sū-bhṛta-), the opposite of Idg. dus-*, appears in Avestic, just as in the Veda, as an independent word (hu).

CLASS III Avest upa-yata- 'subactus, married'. Skr. upa-yata-. O Pers. fra-tarta- 'drawn away'. cp. Skr. prā-tirna-

Avest. paiti-biṣi- 'directed against the enemy, conquering the enemy'. antar^e-daēyu- adj. 'within the country'. pari-daēyu- 'lying around the country'. upāpa- 'adj. in the water'

§ 27. CLASS IV The use in Avestic of the form of the nom. sing. instead of the simple stem, as in daēvō-data, has been spoken of in § 25 p. 42

The Avestic adjectives anrōmainyava- and spentōmainyava- were no doubt formed from the phrases anrō mainyuš 'the evil spirit' and spentō mainyuš 'the holy spirit'. cp. Skr. pītamahī § 24. Gr. Nēanolīτης § 32. O.Pers. aura-mazdā (with acc. aura-mazdām) 'Ormuzd' should be regarded merely as a concretion of two nominative forms, not a compound of two stems (aura- 'lord', mazdah- 'wise one') Avest. ahurō mazdā.

Avest. drujūm-vanant- 'overcoming the fiend' (acc. of druj-) vīren-ja- with the acc. sing. beside vīra-ja-, see § 20 ahūm-mer^{nc}- 'life-destroying' with the acc. sing., beside ahu-mer^c-. vīspa-hišant- 'able to do everything' (acc. pl. neut. of vīspa-). dūraē-fraḍāta- 'made in the distance' (loc. of dūra-) raḫae-štar- 'standing in the chariot (loc. of raḫa-), warrior'. cp. Skr. saṃyā-ṣṭhar- 'standing on the left, -ṣṭhar- for st-tar-*, see I § 316 p. 255. Epithetised compounds: dar^eyem-jūti- 'having one's life long (acc. sing. neut. of dar^eya- used adverbially), long-lived', z^emas-ciḫra- 'having an earthly origin' (z^emas- gen. of zam-), ayraē-raḫa- (proper name) 'whose chariot is at the head' (loc. of ayra-).

Avest. aēvan-dasa- 'undecimus' from aēvan-dasa-* 'undecim'; the first half of the word is no doubt aēvem, the form of the neuter and of the masculine alike.

Combinations of two dual forms occur in Avestic as in Sanskrit (§ 24 p. 41), e. g. ahura miḫra and miḫra ahura 'Ormuzd and Mithra', apa urvairē 'water and plants' (ap- 'water', urvair- 'plant'), pasu vīra 'cow and man'. But the fusion of these elements is not by any means so close as it is in Sanskrit, since the first member always retains its own inflexion, e. g. dat. ahuraēbya miṣraēbya. Cp. Bartholomae, Bezzenberger's Beitr X 267 ff., XIII 57 f.

Armenian.

§ 28. Class I. Here the Indo-Germanic differences in the termination of the stem of the first word were largely obliterated. Where the second member begins in a consonant we find an -a-, the so-called 'vowel of composition', whose origin is as yet unexplained.

Compounds in which the second member begins in a sonant: dr-and 'door-post, threshold' from dur-*, pl. durē. hair-anun 'having one's father's name' from hair, gen. haur. skesr-air 'mother-in-law's husband, father-in-law' from skesur, gen. skesri. hing-ameay adj. 'of five years', from hing.

Compounds in which the second member begins in a consonant: dr-a-kic 'door-companion, neighbour'. len-a-qom 'whitish' from lusn, pl. lusun-ē, 'λευκώματα' and qom 'colour'. lus-a-vor 'clear' from lois, gen. lusoy, 'light', -vor being a suffix which corresponds to the Gr. -φῶς 'bringing'; a later compound is lus-a-ber 'light-bringing, enlightener' (cp. I § 485 p. 358 for an account of Idg. bh) ms-a-ker 'eating flesh' from mis, gen. msoy, 'flesh'. mi-a-rin 'unigenitus', from mi, gen. mioj, 'one'. Combined with the termination of stems in -xo-, -a- became -e-, e. g. age-vor 'wearing a tail' from agi. This -a- was even introduced into compounds whose first member was the case of a noun, see below, Class IV.

Remark 1. This vowel of composition, -a-, no doubt formed the original ending of some one form or set of forms when used as the first member of a compound, and then became general. Phonetic laws, however, forbid our assuming that this represents the Idg. suffix -o-. I conjecture that it first occurred in words borrowed from the Iranian (e. g. bar-a-pān 'doorkeeper' = O.Iran. dvara-pāna-* or dvāra-pāna-*), and thence spread further by analogy. Compare the -o- borrowed from the Greek in Latin compounds like albo-galērus, § 34.

Remark 2. It is not clear whether such compounds as stn-di 'sucking the breast, suckling' (stn, gen. stean, 'woman's breast') akn-kul 'in one's eye, visible' belong to Class I, but have never had the composition-vowel -a-, or whether they contain case-forms (Class IV).

Class II. an-ban 'carens ratione et verbo': cp. Gr. ἄ-φρωνος; an-kin 'without a wife, widower' cp. Gr. ἄ-γυνος; an-anun 'ἄν-άνυμνος', an-arg 'unhonoured'. t-gēt 'not knowing' (beside an-gēt). Skr. dur-vēda- 'unlearned'; t-zōr 'not mighty, weak' (beside an-zōr). Its opposite, h- = Skr. sú 'well', is found only in composition, e. g. h-zōr 'excellent in strength, mighty'.

Class III. Excluding m-st, which has become a simple word (§ 15 p. 30), I know of no compounds containing prepositional words that are certainly proethnic. I strongly suspect that ham- 'with, together' (e. g. han-dart 'quiet, soft': cp. Skr. sq-dhṛta-; han-dēs 'proof': cp. Skr. sq-dēša- 'information') was borrowed from Iranian (Avest. ham-).

Class IV. haur-elbair 'father's brother', haur gen. sing. of haur. diuc-azn 'divine race, he who is of divine race, demi-god, hero', diuc gen. pl. of dev, which was borrowed from Iranian. The vowel of composition, -a- (see above, Class I), is inserted e. g. in arn-a-kin 'husband's wife', arn gen. sing. of air; mel-s-a-sēr 'loving sons', mel-s acc. pl. of mel.

air-ev-ji 'man and horse, knight' sometimes inflected both of its parts, e. g. gen. arn-ev-jiōy, sometimes only the final noun, gen. air-ev-jiōy; cp. Mod H.G. der wert deines grund und bodens, 'the value of your estate'.

Greek

§ 29. Class I.

Stems in -o-, where the second member began in a consonant, had -o-: ἀγο-νόμος 'dwelling in the country' (ἀγορός). It must be left an open question whether the -ε- in such compounds as Ἀγέλαος (from ἀγός 'guide') ἀρχέ-πολις (from ἀρχός 'governor') was derived from Indo-Germanic stem-forms in -e-, or whether it was substituted by the Greeks for an older -o- in consequence of the association of the first member with a verbal stem (for which see § 30).

Where the second member began in a sonant, elision was the rule (I § 600. 603 p. 457): ἰππ-αγωγό-ς 'transporting horses' (ἵππο-ς). This elision dates from the proethnic period of Greek, and the type then established gave rise later to such forms as καχεΐσι 'ill condition' (ἔγω for σεχω*, I § 564 p. 421) φιλ-εργός 'loving work' (εργον for φέργον, I § 164 p. 145), by the side of which we also find phonetically regular forms like ῥαβδοῦχος 'holding a staff' (for ῥαβδο-(σ)οχος*) κακο-εργός κακοῦργος 'doing evil'. Forms like ἀράχνη-υρή-ς 'woven by spiders' (Philo) are obviously new formations of a later date; cp. Lat. multi-angulus § 34, Goth. galiuga-apauštaulus § 40.

The stem-final -o-, as we shall soon see, was extended from o-stems to others of the most widely different classes; monosyllabic stems were least affected by the tendency (e. g. χέρωνις, πυγ-μάχος, see below).

-ā- (Ion. Att. -η-) often appears instead of -o-; e. g. θανατηφόρος beside θανато-φόρος 'death-bringing' (θάνατο-ς), ῥυμφορ-γενής 'rain-born' (ῥυμφο-ς).

Remark This -a- appears side by side with -o- even where the latter was due to form-association, as ἀσπιδ-η-φόρος beside ἀσπιδ-ό-δουπος; stem ἀσπιδ-, see below.

As regards the origin of this -a-: the wide extent of its usage is certainly due to the action of analogy, and it is conceivable that its origin is to be found 1. in forms like νεα-γενής; (νεη-γενής) ὀλεγγ-πελείων, which contained adverbs like Dor. άμα άμαϊ, κρυφά (Westphal, Meth. Gramm. II 8 f, Mahlow, Die lang. Voc. A E O 131 f.); 2. in a number of instances where ā- and o-stems existed side by side, 3. in such compounds as νικη-φόρος βουλ-η-φόρος, αἰθρη-γενής μοιρη-γενής, the terminations -ηφόρος -ηγενής being regarded as indivisible and thus coming into general use; just as in Attic, compounds like ῥαβδοῦχος (ῥάβδο-ς) and compounds like κακοῦργος (κακό-ν), being virtually analysed ῥαβδ-οῦχος κακ-οῦργος, gave rise to new formations, πολι-οῦχος παι-οῦργος and the like, and just as feminines from n-stems, such as τίκταινα 1 e τεκταν-ῃα* (from τίκτων), suggested new formations like λύκ-αινα (from λύκο-ς) (§ 110). I feel certain that a great part at least of the instances where -a- is found in place of -o- are to be explained in this last way. Cp also -ηεις (-ā-fev-) in § 127.

Stems in -ā-: followed by those whose nom. sing. ends in -ιά (§ 109). νικη-φόρος 'bringing victory' (νίκη). ὕδρευ-φόρος 'bearing a water-vessel' (ὕδρις). Ion. μοιρη-γενής 'born to good fortune' (μοῖρα for μοριᾶ*). By the side of -ā- there are a few instances of -α-; as Ἀλκά-θοος, τιμωρός for τιμα-ορος* 'guarding a man's honour, protecting, helping' (Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 263, XXVIII 132), the historical relation of -α- to -ᾱ- is obscure. -ο- frequently appears instead of -α-. Νικόμαχος: νίκη; πολίτο-φθόρος 'destroying the citizens': πολίτη-ς; Dor. ἔστιο-πάμων 'house-owner': ἐστία; ἄελλο-πος 'storm-footed': ἄελλα. The influence of ο- stems is seen also in the loss of the final vowel of the stem when the second member begins in a sonant, e g. Νίκ-ιππος. Cp. § 12 p. 24 f.

Stems in -ι- and -ᾱ-. An original type of formation may be preserved in such compounds as σύν-αγγος 'choking swine' (σῦ-ς). Cp. § 12 p. 25. Where the second member begins in a consonant we find the vowel short, thanks to the analogy of the preceding group: e g. σύν-γορβός 'swineherd'; in the same way we have loc. pl. σύν-σι for σῦ-σι* following σύν-ός; σύν-ιδν etc., see § 160, 4. Some forms insert -ο-. νύν-ο-μουσά 'swine's music' σύν-ο-κτόνος 'killing swine', ἔχθύν-ο-ψάγος 'eating fish' beside ἔχθύν-βόλος 'striking fish'. ἔχθῦ-ς.

Stems in -ι- and -ᾱ-. μῶντι-πόλος 'busied with prophecy': μῶντι-ς. βιωτι-άνειρα f. 'nourishing men': βῶτι-ς* 'act of nourishing'. ἄστυ-γίτιον 'living near the city': ἄστυ. πολύ-ανθής 'with many blossoms' πολύ-ς Cp. § 12 p. 25 With -ο-: φύσι-ο-λόγος, 'investigator of nature' φύσι-ς.

ναυ-πηγός 'shipbuilder' for ναυ-* (I § 611 p. 461): cp. Skr. nāu-cara-s 'going by ship'. From such forms ναυ- came to be used even where the following member began in a sonant, e g. ναύ-αρχος 'ship's commander', instead of να(φ)- (cp. Lat. nāv-igō § 11), which is contained in Νέαρχος if this is for Νέαρχος, from Νη-αρχος* (cp. I § 611 ad fin.). Examples of inserted -ο-: νη-ο-σώος 'preserving ships', which may be compared with βο-ό-κληψ 'cattle-thief' (βο-η-νόμος 'pasturing cattle') beside βου-νόμος; hence the correspondence of νη-ο-βου- with the Skr. forms nāva- gava-, which appear as the initial members of compounds, is an accident.

Stems in -ν-. With α = Ing. ν: ὀνομά-κλυτος 'with famous name'. We should no doubt compare κυνάμια 'dog-fly'; the regular form would be κνα-μνια*; the -ν- came from forms like κυν-ός κυν-ηγός; κνα-* = Skr. śva- (instr. pl. śvā-bhiḥ) Idg. kuṃh-*. It is questionable whether such compounds as κυν-ῶπις 'dog-eyed' are the immediate representatives of any original type of formation.

With -ο- instead of the n-suffix: e. g. κίό-κράνο-ν 'capital of a column'. See § 12 p. 27.

Compounds in which we have a strong form of the n-stem are a new formation in Greek. If their second part began in a consonant, -ο- or -ᾱ- was inserted. φρεν-ο-μανής 'mad'. κίον-ό-κράνον beside κίό-κράνον (see above). ῥην-ο-φορέυς 'bearing a sheepskin'. ἄγων-ο-θέτης 'director of a contest'. λιμεν-ή-οχος 'closing in the harbour' (cp. πολι-ᾱ-οχος) beside λιμεν-ο-σκόπος 'watching the harbour'. ἄκτιν-η-βολία 'the shooting of rays' beside ἄκτιν-ο-βολία. Probably the only example without -ο- (-ᾱ-) is φρέμ-παρος 'with impaired understanding' Hesych. (the correct spelling is due to Lobeck), which appears beside φρεν-ο-μανής and the like as μελαγ-χροίης μελάγ-χρους beside μελαν-ό-χρους 'with dark skin' (μέλας gen. μέλαν-ος, compar. μελάν-τερος), cp. also χέρ-νιψ beside χερ-ό-νιπτρον p. 50. Where the second member begins in a sonant: φρεν-ώλης 'distracted in mind'; τεκτόν-αρχος 'presiding over the artificers'; ἄγων-ἀρχης 'director of the contest'.

ἄ-παξ 'once': Skr. sa-kṣt 'once', Idg. szh-*. χθον-ο-τροφής 'nourished by the earth', beside Skr. kṣam-, a new formation like κίον-ό-κράνον; as to σ instead of μ see I § 204 p. 172 and below, § 160, 2.

Stems in -r-. Whilst the Indo-Germanic type was faithfully followed where the second member began in a sonant, e. g. πατρ-ωνίμους ἀνδρ-άγρια (§ 12 p. 28), where this began in a consonant it was the rule to insert -ο-, as πατρ-ο-φόνος 'patricide'. This was preceded by a form πατρα-φονος*, cp. loc. pl. πατρά-σι and Skr. putr-śrāvana-s. Thus we still find τετρά-γνος = Idg. getur-*, where a was preserved by the parallel compounds with ἑπτα- etc.¹⁾ The strong form of the stem is often found instead of the weak, as ἀστὲρ-ο-ειδής 'star-like' from ἀστήρ ἀστέρος; this is regular in nomina agentis such as λαμπτήρ-ο-φόρος 'bearing lights' (λαμπτήρ) ῥήτορ-ο-διδάσκαλος 'teacher of rhetoricians' (ῥήτωρ), the original type is shown by Skr. hōṭṭ-śādāna-m 'seat of the offerer' (hōtar-); see § 120. Monosyllabic ρ-stems sometimes have and sometimes have not -ο- or -ᾱ-: χέρ-ων 'water for washing the hands' and χειρ-ό-νιπτρον χειρ-ό-νιπτρον 'wash-hand basin' (for the etymology of χείρ cp. § 132), πυρ-καυή 'burning-place' and πυρ-ο-ειδής 'fire-like' πυρ-η-τόνος 'producing fire'.

1) I no longer compare the first part of the pl ἀνδρά-ποδα with Skr. nr- (G. Meyer, Gr. Gr. ² p. 23), but I regard the word as a new formation.
Brugmann, Elements. II

Stems in -ντ- show here as in their declension (§ 125. 126) their strong instead of their weak form. δρακοντ-ό-μαλλος 'with snaky locks', the weak form of the stem being δρακατ-*. ὀδοντ-ο-φυής 'sprung from teeth'. γίγαντ-ο-φόνος 'killing giants'. παντ-ο-μίσής 'all-hateful'. Before sonants: πάντ-αρχος 'all-governing'.

Stems ending in other explosives. πυγ-μάχος 'pugilist'. ποδ-ώκης 'swift-foot, swift-footed'. These usually have -ο- or -ᾱ-: φλογ-ο-ειδής 'flame-like', νιφ-ό-βολος 'pelted with snow'; ἀσπιδ-ό-δουπος 'clattering with shields' ἀσπιδ-η-φόρος 'shield-bearing'.

Stems in -s-. μῦσ-φόνος 'killing mice': Lat. mūs-cipula.

es-stems have -εσ- in poetic diction, as ἔπες-βόλος 'hurling words, speaking boldly', ἐγχεσ-φόρος 'spear-bearing'. At the same time we find -ο- instead of -εσ-, sometimes even in Homer, and regularly in prose: ἑρσο-κομος 'spinning wool', ἔπο-ποιός 'epic poet', ἀληθό-μαντις 'prophet of truth'; similarly ψευδ-άγγελος 'messenger of falsehood', where the second part begins in a sonant. -ο- for -εσ- no doubt arose from the similarity of the nominative forms, ἔπος: ἔπo-ς. Examples with -ᾱ- instead of -ο-: ξίφῃ-φόρος 'sword-bearing' (beside ξίφο-φόρος), θύη-πόλος 'busied with sacrifice'.

mation modelled upon τετράποδα (Iw. Müller's Handbuch II 70 Rem. 1). Of course it is conceivable that this form arose at a time when νατρε-φονος* was still spoken and that afterwards the -α- in ἄνδρα-ποδ- remained because it was supported by the -α- of τετρε-ποδ-. Cp. also Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 298.

Stems in -ασ- were treated in much the same way. σελασ-φόρος 'light-bringing', κερασ-φόρος 'horn-bearing' (cp. Skr. jyōtīṣ-pakṣa-s 'winged with light', § 134, 2). At the same time we find forms with -ο- -ᾱ-, as κερο-φόρος, κρεο-δόχος and κρηη-δόκος 'holding or containing flesh'. There is no example amongst -es- stems analogous to Hom. κερα-ο-ξός 'worker in horn' (with regard to the apparently similar Hom. ἐλεό-θρεπτος beside τόϊλος see p. 34 ff. of R. Schroeter's treatise cited on p. 22).

§ 30. From the phrase καλὸς κἀγαθός was formed the abstract substantive καλοκἀγαθία 'character of a καλὸς κἀγαθός'. Cp. O.C.Sl. osmo-na-desetŭ § 47 and the use of the bare stem in Mod.H.G. phrases like freund- und verwandtschaft, gold- und silberschmied.

In Greek, as in Germanic and Slavonic (§ 41. 47), a large number of compounds came to be regarded in a new way. Their first member now appeared to the popular consciousness to have a verbal instead of a nominal force. This gave rise to many new formations in which real verbal stems were employed as the initial members of compound words.

Thus ταυνί-γλωσσο-ς, whose meaning originally was 'with outstretched (adj. ταυνί-ς* = Skr. tanū-ṣ) tongue', was explained to mean 'stretching out the tongue' (and compared with τάνν-ται), φιλό-ξενος 'to whom a stranger or guest is dear (φίλος)' was explained as 'loving one's guest' (and compared with φιλέω), φνυγο-πιτόλεμος 'unfriendly' (φνυγο-ς*: cp. Lat. lūci-fugu-s) to war' as 'fleeing from war' (and compared with ἐφνυγο-ν), and so forth. Hence arose new formations like μῖσέ-ξενος (first modelled upon the form φιλό-ξενος, cp. μῖσέω: φιλέω) 'hating a stranger', φαινο-μηρίς 'showing the hips' (φαίνω), ἐθελό-πονος 'willing to work' (ἐθέλω). As to the -ε- of Ἀγέ-λαος, ἀρχέ-κανος etc. see § 12 p. 24, § 29 p. 46. If this is not the e-form of the suffix, and so derived from the pre-Greek period, we must assume that it was borrowed from forms like ἄγε-ι ἄγε-τε when the first part of such compounds came to be regarded as a verbal stem.

New formations of all kinds were introduced by compounds like τερψί-μβροτος τανυσί-πιτρος ἀρκεσί-γυιος, the initial members of which were abstract nouns formed with the suffix -ti- (§ 100) τέρψις 'delight' τανυσις 'outspreading' ἄρκεσις 'help, strengthening', because these were associated with the aorists in -σ- (ἔτερψα ἔτανυσα ἤρκεσα), and were consequently regarded as having a verbal force, 'delighting men' 'spreading the wings' 'strengthening the limbs'. The new verbal signification was all the more easily established in these forms because of compounds like φυγο-πτόλεμος, whose first member had been identified as an aorist-stem at an earlier stage of Greek. Thus in the first place, where the abstract noun and the σ-aorist showed different grades of ablaut in the root-vowel, that of the latter was introduced: by the side of στασί-αρχος (στάσις) arose Στησί-χορος 'bringing on the chorus' (on the model of ἐστήσαι); φθισί-μβροτος 'destroying men' (on the model of ἐφθίσα) as contrasted with φθίσις. Next, the connexion of these aoristic compounds in the mind of the speaker with such others as λειπο-ψυχέω φυγο-πτόλεμος ἀρχέ-κακος φυγ-αίχμης led to an imitation of the ending seen in the initial members of these latter forms. Hence compounds like λειψό-θριξ 'having lost one's hair' περσέ-πολις 'destroying cities' Στησ-αγόρης (contrast στασί-αρχος from στάσις). But on the other hand the -ι- of compounds in -σι- crept into compounds whose initial member was the stem of a present or a strong aorist. Hence such forms as ἀλέξι-κακος 'keeping off harm' (ἀλέξω) λαθι-κηδής 'forgetting care' (ἐλαθον, cp. λησί-μβροτος). This process of mutual assimilation may have been aided by the double type of the σ-aorist, ἔδειξα and ἔξον existing side by side. Many other new formations were caused by the association of these -σι- compounds with those of Class IV whose initial member was a loc. pl. in -σι, as ὄρεσί-τροφος 'reared on the mountains'; see Osthoff, Verb. i. d. Nominalc. 193 ff. Lastly, we must notice certain other new formations: Πρωτεσί-λαος (beside Πρωτό-λαος, from πρῶτος 'first') formed on the model of Ἀγασί-λαος Ἀρκεσί-λαος and the like, and Ἐρησι-λεως

Ἑρμῆσι-άναξ Ἑρμῆς-ανδρός (from Ἑρμῆς) modelled on such forms as Ἀγῆσι-λαός Ἠγῆσι-άναξ Ἀγῆς-ανδρός.

§ 31. Class II. ἄγνωτος 'unknown': Skr. á-jñātas Lat. ignōtus for in-gnōtus* (I § 506 p. 370); ἄνυδρος 'waterless': Skr. an-udrā-s. On the analogy of forms like ἄνυπνος 'sleepless' ἄ-ονος 'wineless', in which the hiatus was due to the loss of some consonant (the older forms were ἄ-συνπνο-ς*, ἄ-φοινο-ς*, though the latter can hardly have been developed regularly from a pre-Greek form φ-μοῖνο-*, see I § 225 p. 193), there were formed several other compounds like ἄ-οδμος ἄ-οζος (with ὀδ- cp. Lat. od-or; ὄζος = Goth. asts) by the side of the forms ἄν-οδμος ἄν-οζος which are also found. δύσ-φορος 'hard to bear'; cp. Skr. dur-bhara-s 'hard to bear, to nourish'.

Class III. ὑπό-θετος 'placed under' ὑπό-θεσις 'groundwork, foundation': Skr. úpa-hita-s 'placed under, situated' Lat. sub-ditus sub-ditiō (sub- for x-ub-*? see I § 568, 2 p. 424, II § 2 p. 3).

πρὸς-έσπερος 'towards evening': Skr. prati-dōṣā- 'towards evening'. παρά-βακτρος 'situated near one's staff', παρά-νομος 'contrary to law'. ἀνά-λογος 'corresponding to λόγος'. ἐγ-κέφαλος 'being in the head, brain'. These compounds generally end in the suffix -ιος, as ὑπ-ασπίδ-ιος παρα-θαλάσσι-ος ἐν-αγών-ιος; see § 63.

οὐ-τις 'no one' beside μή-τις, no doubt took the place of an Idg. form ne-qi-s* at the time when ne* was driven out of use by οὐ, a form whose origin is still obscure (cp. § 15 p. 31). Later arose οὐδ-είς 'no one' and the like.

§ 32. Class IV. By the side of δω-δεκα (§ 16) arose έν-δεκα 'eleven' (έν- nom. acc. neut.), τρεῖς-καί-δεκα 'thirteen', τετταρες-καί-δεκα 'fourteen' (nom. pl. masc. fem.); another word for 'thirteen' is the Att. τρίσ-καί-δεκα (acc. pl.), note also the form τρεῖςκαίδέκατος 'thirteenth', and others of the same sort.

From Νέα πόλις ('Newtown') were formed gen. Νεῆς πόλιως and Νεᾶπόλιως, and further Νεᾶπολίτης. Similarly τριτημόριος 'making the third part' was probably based on τρίτη μόρᾱ.

Διός-κουροι 'sons of Zeus', hence Διοσκούρειον, Διός-δοτος 'given of Zeus', properly 'one given belonging to Zeus' (gen.

of Ζεύς). νεώσ-οικοι 'ship's houses, arsenal' (gen. of ναῦς). νόσ-κίαιμος 'pigs' bean' (gen. of ῥίς). Πελοπόννησος for Πέλοπος νήσος 'island of Pelops' (cp. I § 565 p. 422 f.). δίτ-φίλος or διτ̃ φίλος 'dear to Zeus' (loc. of Ζεύς). δουρί-κτητος 'won in battle' (loc. of δόρυ). λαρί-δρεπτος 'plucked in spring' (loc. of ἔαρ). Ἀλνι-μέδων 'ruling in might' (loc. ἀλκ-ι). κηρεσι-φόρητος 'driven or impelled by the Kêres' (loc. pl. of κήρ). πᾶσι-μέλων 'of interest for all' (loc. pl. of πᾶς). Ἰφι-μέδουσα (proper name) 'ruling with might' (instr. of ῥ-ς Lat. vi-s). παν-ῆμαρ 'the whole day' (acc. neut. of πᾶς). νουν-εχόντως 'in an intelligent way' (acc. of νοῦς).

This group of forms was considerably enlarged by the employment of case-forms instead of the first stem of the original stem-compounds (Class I). Among mixed formations of this kind are compounds whose final member has survived only in forms belonging to Class I, and no longer exists as an independent word, as πυλοι-γενής 'born in Pylos' (loc. of Πύλο-ς), δορί-μαχος 'fighting with the spear' (loc. of δόρυ), Ἰφι-κράτης proper name (cp. Ἰφι-μέδουσα above), νουν-εχής 'having intelligence, intelligent' (cp. νουν-εχόντως above), δικασ-πόλος 'administrator of justice' (acc. pl. of δίκη, cp. I § 204 p. 171).

As these words were formed not by any real process of composition but on the analogy of already existing compounds, so also were those which never had any but an 'epithetised' meaning; e. g. ἀερί-οικος 'having one's dwelling in the air' (ἀέρ-ι).

When the termination of the first member was a case-ending whose true character was no longer clearly perceived, it often happened that it was applied to stems with which it properly had nothing to do, as θεός-δοτος 'god-given' (also θεό-δοτος, from θεός-ς) on the analogy of διδός-δοτος; Λυκόσουρα a town in Arcadia ('Wolf's-tail', from λύκο-ς) on the analogy of forms like Κυνόσουρα ('dog's tail'); ποσειτρόφος 'nourishing grass' and ποισίχρους 'grass-coloured' (from πόα ποιή 'grass, herb') on the analogy of forms like ὄρεσι-τροφος and ἀνθεσι-χρως (with loc. pl. of τὸ ὄρος 'mountain' and τὸ ἄνθος 'blossom').

A further consequence of the obscuration of the case-ending of the initial member, was the use of this ending in new formations as though it were only the ending of a simple stem, and therefore with no trace of the function properly belonging to the case; e. g. ἀταλά-φρων 'with untroubled mind' (cp. ἀταλά-φρονέων, ἀταλά φρονέων, acc. pl. neut. of ἀταλάς), ἀρει-θύσανος 'fimbria Martialis' (cp. ἀρει-φάτος 'slain in war', loc. of ἄρης), πυρι-ήκης 'with fiery point' πυρί-πνοος 'breathing fire' πυρί-παις 'fire-child' (cp. πυρί-γαστος 'burnt with (in) fire', loc. of πῦρ), Ἀλκί-νοος Ἀλκί-φρων (cp. Ἀλκι-μέδων), χολοί-βόρος 'consuming gall' or 'consuming like gall' (cp. χολοί-βατος 'dipped in gall' beside χολό-βατος χολο-βαφής), κηρεσι-φόρος 'death-bringing' (cp. κηρεσι-φόρητος p. 54), ἰχθυσι-ληστήρ 'fish stealer' (ἰχθύς) etc.

Remark 1. Compounds containing real stems in -ι-, as μυντι-πόλος, may also have given the appearance of simple stems. to initial members of compounds which were locatives ending in -ι- like πυρι-. And in discussing those forms which contain locatives pl. in -αι-, stem-compounds like τεφρί-μβροτος ἀρεσι-γυιος τανυπ-πτερος (see § 30 p. 52) must not be forgotten. Compare also the fact that the abbreviated form Ἥρι- was made from Ἥρι-γένεια Ἥρι-γόνη and the like, whose initial part was the loc. ἥρι 'early', no doubt on the analogy of Ζεῦξι-: Ζευξι-δαμος; and in the same way the abbreviated form Ἰφι- was made from Ἰφι-άνασσα and like, which contained the instr. ἰ-φι.

It should be observed, however, that a large proportion of the new formations we are now considering are only found in late poets whose diction contains much that is artificial.

The form παν-, found in use as well as παντ-(ο-), is the neut. πάν which stands for παντ*, and was used originally with the force of an adverb in compounds like παν-αίολος 'all-gleaming' πάν-σοφος 'all-wise' πάμ-πρωτος 'quite the first, the very first'. From these forms it spread to others, with the same meaning as παντ-(ο-), e. g. Παν-έλληνες 'the united Hellenes' πάν-δημος 'concerning the whole people' πάμ-μηνος 'lasting through all the months'. παν-οὔργος 'clever in any business' followed the type of forms like κακοῦργος i. e. κακο-(F)εργός.

Remark 2. In some combinations, παν- may possibly be the regular phonetic representative of the stem παντ- (cp. χε- beside χε-ο- and the like). So much may be admitted; but it seems to me improbable that this was generally the origin of the form.

Other examples with adverbs: ἀκαλα-ρείτης 'flowing quietly'

(acc. pl. neut.), ἀμα-τροχιά 'collision of wheels' (instr.), παλαι-φατος 'told from of old, foretold' (loc.).

ἐν-χειρί-θετος 'placed in the hand'; ἐμ-πυρι-βήτης 'standing in the fire' derived from the phrases ἐν χειρὶ θεῖναι, ἐν πυρὶ βῆναι.

ἀλλήλους 'each other', which was used as readily of two single things or persons as of two pairs or two larger contrasted groups, must imply a proethnic Greek phrase ἄλλος-ἄλλον*, du. ἄλλω-ἄλλω, pl. ἄλλοι-ἄλλους*. ἄλλᾱλλ-* arose by contraction in the combinations ἄλλᾱ-ἄλλᾱν* ἄλλα-ἄλλα*, and then spread through the other cases. Next the dual and plural inflexion was used even where only two single things were spoken of. Lastly -ἄλλ- became -ᾱλ- Ion. -ηλ- (cp. Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 294 f.). A more detailed discussion may be found in Fleckeisen's Jahrb. 1887, p. 105 ff.

Similarly we have αὐτοσ-αυτό- (also αὐσ-αυτό-) in the Delphic dialect and elsewhere. Originally the phrase αὐτοσ-αυτοῦ was used only in reference to a nom. sing. masc. in the sense of 'ipse sui', with the parallel forms αὐτᾱ-αὐτᾱς* etc. But when the phrase passed into a single word, the first member became incapable of inflexion, and the form of the nom. sing. masc., as occurring most frequently, was used throughout. Hence e. g. Delph. inscr. κυριεύουσα αὐτοσαντᾱς and κυριεύοντες αὐτοσαντῶν, Heracl. inscr. μετ' αὐτοσαντῶν.

The genuine forms ποδ-από-ς ἄλλοδ-από-ς, whose etymological structure had become obscured (§ 16 p. 32), gave rise to new formations like ἡμεδαπός 'born in our country, countryman' παντοδαπός 'of all sorts or kinds, manifold', as though the second member of the compound were -δαπο-. The same δ occurs in ὅστις ὅτι 'who (whoever)' for σφό-δ τις*, σφό-δ τι*, see § 4 p. 9.

τοῦτο = τό ὃ το*, where ὃ is a particle = Skr. ú. The forms masc. ού-* and fem. αὐ-* = Idg. só u*, sá u*, date from the pre-Greek period and perhaps these were pronounced as monosyllables σόμ* σάμ* even in proethnic Indo-Germanic: cp. masc. Skr. só, O.Pers. hauv. Then the neuter τό was added to these with the force of an adverb (cp. O.C.Sl. kü-to 'who?') giving the forms οὔτο* αὔτο* (for αὔτο*, by the regular change,

I § 611 p. 461) and a new formation τοῦτο (instead of τοδ-υ-το*). Then these forms, whose ending was invariable, were influenced by other pronominal forms whose endings were inflected, and thus we have finally οὗτος αὐτός etc. Cp. Delbrück, Synt. Forsch. IV 139 f., Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 257 f., G. Meyer Gr. Gr.² p. 396.

The phrase ἐμαυτόν = ἐμὲ αὐτόν 'me ipsum' gave rise in Attic to the new formations ἐμαυτοῦ ἐμαυτῷ, while in Ionic ἐμεωντοῦ = ἐμέο αὐτοῦ (cp. τῶντό = τὸ αὐτό) produced ἐμεωντῷ and ἐμεωντόν.

Italic.

§ 33. In the Italic group, especially in Latin, the practice of compounding noun-stems by the method of Class I survived in popular speech, though only to a small extent. Amongst the Romans it received an artificial stimulus and attained a certain degree of importance through the close adherence of Latin poetry to Greek models. But eminent stylists and grammarians of the classical period recognised the spurious character of words coined on Greek types, and protested against encumbering the language with new formations of this kind. The developement of the Fourth Class of compounds, however, was by degrees extended all the more widely for this restriction in Class I. As regards Classes II and III, Italic stands in the same position as the other branches of Indo-Germanic.

§ 34. Class I. We may discuss the Latin forms first.

Stems in -o-. Where the stem-final of the first member was not entirely lost before an initial consonant in the second part, it took the intermediate form of the irrational vowel. Accordingly it usually appears as -i-, e. g. belli-ger (beside bellum); before labials and before l as the sound intermediate between u and i, e. g. centu-peda centi-peda, māgnu-ficus māgnificus, cunu-ligus. Where -o- appears instead, as in albo-galērus Ūno-mammia sexcento-plāgus (Stolz, Die lat. Nominalc. 19 ff.), we must assume that it is due to the influence of words borrowed from the Greek, or sometimes to the influence of Gallic (cp.

the Armenian -a- in compounds, which — if our conjecture be right — was borrowed from Iranian, § 28 Rem. 1 p. 45)¹). The final of the stem has completely disappeared in prīn-ceps from prīmo-, oin-vorsei (S. C. de Bacch. 19) from oino- uno-, and some other instances; see I § 633 p. 474. Where r, following a consonant, preceded the final vowel of the stem, it sank with the latter to ɣ, perhaps as early as the protoethnic Italic period, whence the er which appears in the historical period of Latin; e. g. sacerdōs, which was directly preceded by the form sācɣ-dō(t)-s* (see vol. I loc. cit. and Stolz, Wien. Stud. IX 304 f.); such words as sacru-fex sacri-fex, agri-cola were formed afresh at later period²), just as ācri-tās took the place of acertās*, which would have been the regular form, and facili-tās arose by the side of the older form facul-tās. Where the second part began in a sonant, the vowel was elided, as somn-ambulus, rēm-ex, māgn-animus, flex-animus ('touched to the heart'); such forms as multi-angulus (beside mult-angulus) came into use later on by analogy (like Gr. ἀπαχρο-υγής, § 29 p. 47) see I § 604 p. 458.

Since compounds like albo-galērus cannot count as genuine Latin formations, we are left in doubt whether the -i- (-u-) of historical Latin stands for Idg. -o- or -e-. The probabilities however are in favour of the former. Cp. § 12 p. 24.

Stems in -iō- regularly show -i-, as medi-terrāneus from mediu-s, offici-perda from officiu-m. Cp. capis I § 135 p. 122, also Goth. arbi-numja § 40 and the remarks on the gradation

1) The -o- of ho-diē must be regarded as of genuine Latin origin, if Danielsson (Stud. gramm., Upsal. 1879, p. 51 sq.) is right in his explanation of the word; he supposes that an old form hō-diē* (Class IV) was re-modelled on the analogy of Class I (cp. multi-modi § 36), and that the o was preserved from being weakened to -i- or -u- by its position in the accented syllable. But perhaps we ought rather to derive ho-diē from an instr. sing. hō*, with its ō shortened on the analogy of modo and similar words (cp. quo-que). A third derivation is suggested by L. Havet, Mém. de la Soc. de Lingu. IV 229 sq.

2) sacerdōs was not transformed into sacridōs*, because its component parts had ceased to be clearly recognised.

of the suffix -iō- which will be found in § 63. If this -i- stands on the same footing as the -r- of sacr-dōs* (see above), the derivative socie-tās (from sociu-s) must bear the same relation to the above mentioned compounds as sacri-fex to sacer-dōs. Med-amna 'Μεσονοταμία' follows the analogy of māgn-animu-s (see above). trit-avo-s then might be referred either to a form tritiō-* (cp. tertiu-s, Avest. pritya- etc.) or to trito-* (cp. Gr. τρῖτο-ς).

-i- corresponds in Latin to the -o- which serves in Greek as the 'vowel of composition' after most consonantal stems, cp. e. g. ὀδοντ-ο-φνής 'sprung from teeth' and dent-i-frangibulus. It seems probable that the Lat. -i- here sometimes represents the Idg. i of i-stems (cp. igni-fer from igni-s), especially when we consider how frequently the consonantal stems pass into the i-declension, e. g. nāv-i-s and dent-i-bus dent-i-um § 93 (Italic). Then e. g. nāv-i-fragus (beside the older nau-fragus) will have been formed from nāv-i-s, that is from an i-stem.

Stems in -a-. -a- is hardly to be found except where the second member has sunk to the level of a suffix: fabā-ginus, cp. fabalis fabāceus; oleā-ginus -gineus. Elsewhere the forms are treated like the o-stems. tubi-cen : tuba; aqui-dūcus : aqua. tubu-lūstrum and tubi-lūstrum : tuba. -o- (a Grecism): viocūrus : via; blatto-sēricus : blatta (cp. holo-sēricus). glōri-ficus : gloria like offici-perda. The i of tibi-cen (: tibia) has not been explained; is it parallel to Skr. śacti-vasu-ṣ?

Stems in -i- and -u-. angui-cornis : angui-s. tri-dēns : dat. tri-bus. morti-fer : gen. pl. morti-um, Skr. mṛti-ṣ. The disappearance of the final -i- of the stem in fūn-ambulus from fūni-s is to be explained as due to the analogy of o-stems; fūni-ambulus was a later analogical formation like multi-angulus (p. 58); cp. also sēm-ermis sēm-ustus beside sēmi-ermis sēmi-ustus from sēmi- = Skr. sāmi 'incomplete, half'. -u- occurs in u-stems only before labial sounds, as in *acu-pediū*s (cp. Gr. ὠκύ-ς 'swift') manu-festus (manu-s), and since in such instances i is sometimes written as well as u (mani-festus) the sound must have been intermediate between u and i (I § 49 p. 41 f.). Thus the u-stems also were treated in the same way as those in -o.

nau-fragus, like Gr. ναυ-πηγός, is no doubt a complete, not a syncopated form; nāv-igō is of the same kind, cp. § 11 p. 24; nāv-i-fragus and nāv-i-ger are new formations. Similarly we have bū-caedu and bov-i-cīdium: cp. Gr. βου- and βο-ο- § 29 p. 48; yet we must notice, first, that bou- was probably borrowed from Oscan (I § 432 Rem. 1), and secondly that the meaning 'great' in bū-mammius etc. points to Greek influence.

Nasal stems. nōmen-clātor like Gr. ὀνομα-κλυτός? homicīda (acc. homin-em). Goth. guma-kunds 'of the male sex' (guma, gen. gumins), sanguī-sūga (sanguen), inscr. numi-clatori. See § 12 p. 27. With the last group we should probably compare nūncupō for nōmi-cupō*, cp. prīnceps p. 58. There is a third group, the largest and the latest formed, consisting of words like imāgin-i-fer germin-i-seca Aniēn-i-cola aquilōn-i-gena, cp. Gr. γορευ-ο-μιανής etc. (§ 29 p. 49).

sum-plex · cp. Gr. ἀ-πλόος, § 12 p. 27. We must also mention here septem-fluos decem-peda nūn-dinae, beside which are found septi-rēmīs sept-ennis, dec-enis (cp. octi-pēs oct-enis from octō).

Stems in -r-. frātr-i-cīda sorōr-i-cīda, cp. Gr. πατρ-ο-φόνος ἑτηρ-ο-διδάσκαλος (§ 29 p. 50).

Stems in Explosives. dent-i-frangibulus serpent-i-gena. ped-i-sequos frond-i-fer. vōc-i-feror. rēg-i-fugium.

Stems in -s-. nas-turtium mūs-cipula. jūdex for jouz-dic-s*, jū(s)-stitium, and beside it jūr-i-dicus. Stems in -es- show -i- and -er-i- foedi-fragus volm-ficus and foeder-i-fragus mūner-i-gerulus. The forms with -i- only are no doubt due to the similarity of the nominative terminations of the two stems, foedus: haedu-s. Nouns in -ōs -ōris (§ 133): labōr-i-fer odōr-i-sequos; the form rūmi-ficō by the side of rūmor, implies, as does also rūmus-culu-s, an older word rūmus -eris* or -oris (cp. decus beside decor), cp. also horri-fer -ficus beside horror. The form cini-flō, from cinis -eris, is due to the nominative-ending -is (cp. angui-s), since we could hardly derive it phonetically from a form like cinis-flō*; cp. the new formations cucumī cucumim beside cucumis -eris, and another word which must also be explained by reference to the form of the nominative, lapi-cīda from lapis -idis.

Remark. We must no doubt assume the loss of -i- through syllabic dissimilation in the following: irucidāre, for iruc[i-e]iūdāre*, arcubū (qui exubabant in arce) for aruc[i-e]ubū*, cordolum for cord[i-d]olum*. See I § 643 p. 482. The monosyllabic stems contained in pelluviae for ped-luviae* (I § 369 p. 280), sōl-situm (beside sōl-i-fer) and other such compounds may or may not have dropped an -i- (I § 633 p. 474). With pelluviae compare malluviae for man-luviae*.

In the monuments of the Umbro-Samnitic dialects this class of compounds is very scantily represented. If we disregard compounds containing numerals, and uncertain instances like the Osc. .ovfrikūnūss, whose initial part is mutilated (Pauli, Altit. Stud. II 118), there remains only the Osc. med-dīss med-dis, whose first part is the same as the Umbr. meī-s mers 'ius, fas' (§ 132. 163).

du- for Idg. dwi-* 'two' is peculiar to the Italic languages: Lat. du-plus du-plex du-centī du-bius (I § 170 p. 150), Umbr. du-pla 'duplas' du-pursus 'bipedibus'. I regard it as a new formation of proethnic Italic, suggested by quadru-: Lat. quadru-plus -plex -pēs, and in early Latin quadru-centī* for quadringentī (Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 283); quincu-plex etc. are formed on the same model. Umbr. petur-pursus 'quadripedibus' was a new Umbrian formation.

§ 35. Class II. Lat. in-jugis: Skr. a-yuga-s Gr. ἄζυγος 'unyoked'; in-eptus: cp. Skr. ān-āpta-s 'unattained, unskilled'. Umbro-Samnitic has an- 'un-', which seems to correspond to Gr. νη- = Idg. ǵ-* (I § 253 p. 207): Umbr. antakres 'integris' Osc. an-censto fem. 'incensa, not valued'.

In Italic, Idg. ne* 'not' was also restricted to use in compounds, as Lat. ne-fās.

Class III. Lat. com-mōtus Umbr. comohota 'commota', Lat. con-ceptus Falisc. cun-captum 'conceptum', Lat. con-ventiō con-ventus Osc. kūm-benniefs gen. 'conventus'; O.Ir. com- e. g. ro co-scad 'corruptus est'. Lat. per-emptus per-versus Umbr.

per-atom 'peremptum': Skr. pari-vṛtta-s 'turned about' Lith. pér-versta-s 'reversed, changed'. Lat. ab-ditus: Gr. ἀπό-θετος 'set aside, secret', ab-ductio: Mid.H.G. abe-zuht 'a drawing away'. Lat. por-tentum por-rectum Umbr. pur-ditom 'proditum': no doubt to be compared with Gr. nápa (Stolz, Arch. f. lat. Lexicogr. II 498 f.).

Lat. inter-mē(n)stris inter-mēnstruos Umbr. anter-menzaru 'intermenstruarum', cp. Lat. inter mēnsēs. Lat. amb-urbium, Osc. am-víanud abl. of the stem am-viano- 'that which lies on both sides of the way', hence 'vicus, platea' (cp. Bücheler in Nissen's Pomp. Studien 499). Lat. per-nox per-dius (per noctem, per diem); per-fidus (per fidem fallere). sub-jugu-s (sub jugo). ante-novissimus (ante novissimum).

Idg. ne* 'not', as has been said above (Class II), was restricted in Italic to use in composition, as Lat. ne-fās.

Lat. ad-modum. in-vicem. af-fatim 'to satisfaction'. de-nuō for dē novō I § 172 p. 152. ilicō for in slocō* 'on the spot'. I § 81 p. 73. pro-fectō for prō factō* properly 'as good as something done' I § 682 p. 549. Many such phrases were reduced to single words largely through the enclisis of the noun and the isolation caused by phonetic change.

§ 86. Class IV. In Umbrian desen-duf corresponds to the Lat. duo-decim (§ 16 p. 32), cp. Gr. δέκα δύο beside διό-δεκα. Lat. ūn-decim, explained in I § 633 p. 474 as standing for ūnu(s)-decim*, may contain other case-forms; according to Wackernagel (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 284) it stands for ūnum-decim*, cp. Gr. ἐν-δεκα.

Lat. Ja-piter Juppiter is said (no doubt correctly) to be = Gr. Ζεῦ πάτερ, and is therefore a vocative used as nominative (I § 612 p. 463), Umbr. Iu-pater. Lat. Diēs-piter, gen. Diēs-pitris; an analogous form is Mars-piter, also Māspiter (I § 269 p. 217). The words postrī-diē cottī-diē (cottī- for quettī-*, see I § 419 p. 307, § 431 p. 320, originally meaning 'on which-soever day of a series'; Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 147 gives a different explanation), and merī-diē (properly 'in the clear day', from meru-s, see. Stowasser, Archiv f. lat. Lexicogr. I 273 ff.) contain two locatives. The nom. meridiēs is like the Mod.H.G. die mitternacht 'midnight', which comes from the gen. dat. mitter nacht 'at midnight', and cotidianu-s meridianu-s like mitternächtig.

We have a group of words which did not become compounds until the literary period of Latin: holus atrum, rōs marinus, fēnum Graecum, jūs jūrandum, rēs publica, alter uter etc.: gen. holusātri beside *holeris ātri*¹⁾, rōsmarinī beside rōris marinī, alterutrūs beside alterius utrūs and so forth (Neue, Formenl. I² 590 f.).

Sacrauiēnsēs from sacra via, quartadecumānī from quarta decuma (legiō).

In some cases the initial member follows the analogy of Class I: Aquiflāuiēnsēs from Aquae Flāviae; equiferī 'wild horses' ovifer 'wild sheep' instead of equos ferus and ovis fera, influenced no doubt by the type of Greek compounds like αἰγ-αγρος 'wild goat' ὄν-αγρος 'wild boar' (cp. the Author, Rhein. Mus. XLIII 404); multi-modīs, omni-modīs instead of multis modīs, omnibus modīs (Danielsson, Studia grammatica, Upsal. 1879, p. 51).

In the literary period of Latin, phrases like aquae ductus and aquae ductiō, agrī cultūra, plēbis scītum, fidet commissum, capite cēnsī, jūre cōsultus etc. became compounds. Then, by a transition to Class I, aqui-ductus, cp. aqui-dacus 'ὄδραρυός'. pater-familiās, like Mod.H.G. mutter-gottes, 'mother of God' leib-brót 'loaf of bread' (O.H.G. leip prōtes) Pol. štuka-mięsa 'piece of meat'.

quot annī*, quot mēnsēs*, originally relative clauses (cp. Gr. ὅσῳῖῃ 'daily'), in course of time ceased to be regarded as such, and then the compounds quotannīs, quotmēnsibus were formed, like his annis (Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 146 f.). Cp. Lith. kas-vākara § 46.

1) The i of the form holusātra (Apicius) was due to the analogy of compounds of Class I like multi-sonus; for the formation is too late to admit of the supposition that it was caused by the natural course of phonetic change, as in the second syllable of ilicō for inslocō* (I § 81 p. 73.)

breve iter, longum iter became breviter, longiter, and so forth. Thus arose the adverbial suffix -iter -ter. See Osthoff, Archiv f. lat. Lexiogr. IV 455 ff.

nu-dius tertius 'the day before yesterday', properly equivalent to 'nunc dies tertius' (nu = Skr. nū Gr. ν etc.). Hence nudius-tertiānu-s 'belonging to the day before yesterday'.

male-volēns, male-dicēns (from which were formed malevolentissimus, maledicentior, cp. Mod.H.G. tieffühlendst, freigelegener). bene-volēns. Derivatives of these are malevolentia benevolentia, and on their analogy were formed malevolus benevolus, maleficus beneficus for the older forms mali-volus beni-volus, mali-ficus beni-ficus (Class I, cp. benīgnus for beni-gnu-s*, I § 619 p. 466 f.). A compound found in Tertullian, altēgradus = altē gradiēns, shows the same type as male-volus.

In later Latin, as we have already seen (§ 33 p. 57), this class grew more and more extensive. Especially where the inflexional differences of the cases had disappeared, and the first member of the compound consequently lost its proper meaning as a case, compounds of Class IV came more and more into favour. By far the greatest part of the nominal compounds now found in the Romance languages belong to this class. This disuse of Class I, in favour of Class IV is most clearly seen in 'epithetised' compounds, as French rouge-gorge 'red-gullet' pattepelue 'hairy-paw' i. e. 'fawner, sneak'. See A. Darmesteter, Traité de la formation des mots composés dans la langue française etc., Paris 1875.

Old Irish.

§ 37. Class I. The final vowels of the stem of the initial members were accurately preserved only in Gallic. In Irish they suffered syncope and disappeared (I § 634).

Stems in -o-. O.Ir. ech-rad fem. (collective) 'horses': Mod. Cymr. eb-rwydd 'quick' Gall. Epo-rēdia, pr. Kelt. ekyo-rēda-* (as to the second part, see Zimmer, Kelt. Stud. II 24), beside O.Ir. ech

'horse', Skr. áśva- Gr. ἵππο- etc. O.Ir. dag-duine 'bonus homo', from dag 'bonus'): Gall. Dago-vassus. O.Ir. Doman-gart: O.Cymr. Dofn-garth, Gall. Dubno-rîx Dumno-rîx, from domun 'world'; doman- for domno-* through the intermediate stage domp-*, see I § 623 Rem. 1 p. 469. Gall. vergo-bretus name of a magistrate amongst the Aedui, = 'cuius iudicium efficax est', beside O.Cymr. guerg 'efficax'; Nerto-mārus from nerto- 'strength, might'. In Irish the change of t, c to p, χ (th, ch) at the beginning of the second member indicates that the first originally ended in a vowel (I § 514 p. 375 f., § 658 p. 510), as fîr-threbaire 'true wisdom' from trebaire, nocht-chenn 'bare-headed' from cenn. The same is true of the f in such compounds as find-folt 'white hair' from folt, and the s in compounds like macc-slabrad 'plaything' from slabrad 'chain' (I § 576 p. 431, § 658 p. 510). Where the second member began in a sonant, -o- disappeared in protoethnic Celtic: e. g. O.Ir. find-airgit 'white silver' (cp. Gall. Vindo-magus) fîr-aingliu 'veros angelos'; so in Gallic we find Art-albunnum beside Arto-briga as compared with O.Ir. art 'stone'; here too should be classed compounds like Mid.Ir. (h)uasal-athair 'patriarch' ('august father'), if the elision of -o- in this position was later than the loss of initial p- (I § 339 p. 268).

Remark In Gall. -u- is sometimes found instead of -o-, e. g. Virdu-mārus and Virdo-mārus, Adiatu-maru-s and Adiato-rîx, and sometimes -a-, as Reita-genus (Egger, Beitr. zur gallo-kelt. Namenkunde I 5. 6 f.). These differences are due in part to an inexact representation of unaccented vowels in writing, but in part also to dialectic variation.

O.Ir. aîli-thîr 'stranger, pilgrim' from alio- and tîr 'terra'. nûe-litridi acc. 'novos, recentes litteratores': cp. Gall. Noviodunum 'Newtown'.

Stems in -ā-. It may be assumed that -o- was regularly found even in protoethnic Celtic (§ 12 p. 24 f.). Gall. Tento-bōdaci Touto-bociō beside O.Ir. tuath f. = Goth. þruda f. 'people', common ground-form teytā*, so that no doubt O.Ir. Tuath-char and

1) With this combination of adjective and substantive, and with those to be mentioned below compare § 39.

O.Cymr. Tut-ri originally had -o-. O.Ir. dál-tech 'forum' (house of assembly) dál-súde 'forum' (seat of assembly) from dál f. O.Ir. briathar-chath 'battle of words' for brētro-* through the intermediate stage brēt̪-*, beside briathar f. 'word' for brētrā-* (I § 623 Rem. 1 p. 469, § 634 p. 475)

Stems in -i-. O.Ir. muir-bran 'mergus' ('sea-raven') from O.Ir. muir n. 'sea' for mori*: Gall. Mori-tasgus Mori-dūnum. In these and other words the palatalisation of the last consonant of the first member is an obvious trace of the -i- which once stood before it (cp. buand-lia 'formix', properly 'triumphalis lapis' from buand n. 'victory', sain-chenele 'proprium genus').

Stems in -u-. O Ir cath-buadach 'victorious in battle' cath-lach 'battle-host, assembled fighting men' cath-charpat 'battle-chariot' from cath 'battle' (Gall. Catu-slōgus (= cath-lach) Catur-rīgēs, O H.G. hadu-. bith-beo 'semper vivus', from O Ir. bith 'world', which when used as the first member of a compound took the meaning 'everlasting, ever' (cp. § 4 p. 6) · Gall. Bitu-rīgēs. fid-boc 'ligneus arcus', from fid 'wood, tree', O H.G. aitu 'wood'

To determine the chronology of the loss of the final vowel in the first member, we have the evidence of such forms as the nom. pl. gnīmartha beside sing gnīm-rad 'act, deed', compared with the *u-*stem gnīm, cp. ech-rad above. Since -ar- came immediately from -r-, and this came from -rē- (I § 634 p. 475), the stem-final of the first member must have already disappeared before the process of samprasārana began. Indeed, even in Gallic we find Lugdunum for Lugu-dūnum (Dio Cass. XLVI c. 50 τὸ Λουγδούνον, ῥῶν δὲ Λούγδουνον κατοούμενον).

Stems in -n-. For these the form in -o- is substituted, as in Gr. νῶ-κρᾶνον (§ 12 p. 27); c. g. Mid.Ir. talam-chuimscugud 'earthquake' from talam, gen. talman, f. 'earth'.

Stems in -r-. The examples of these stems are not free from difficulty. O.Ir. athar-gein 'procreation (of the father)' māthar-marbthach 'matricide' māthar-lach 'matrix', the -thar being no doubt for -tr-o-* (cp. Gr. πατρ-ο-κτόνος). athr-amil 'patri similis' māthr-amil 'matri similis' beside forms like sain- samail sain-email. Where the final member begins in a sonant: athir-oircnid 'patricide'. sethar-oircnid 'murderer of a sister' is no doubt modelled on forms like máthar-marbthach, where the gen. sing. determined the type.

Stems in Explosives. All of these must have had -o-. O.Ir. carat-rad 'friendship' from cara, gen. carat; compare Gall. Carent-o-magus. Mid.Ir. oiged-chaire 'friendship between guest and host' from oegi, pl. oegid 'guest'. O.Ir. rig-thech 'king's house' rīg-fáth 'royal poet' from rī, gen. rīg, 'king', cp. Lat. rēg-i-fugium. Cp. also Gall. Cinget-o-rix beside Cinges gen. -elis O.Ir. cing, acc. cingid, 'vir fortis, heros'; Gall. Brig-obanne and Breg-o-gilum* (whence the modern Brigueul and Brieulles-sur-Bar), beside O.Ir. brī, gen. breg, 'rising ground'.

Stems in -es- show in Irish the same type as Gr. εἰρη-κόμος. O.Ir. tey-lach 'household, familia' (O.Cymr. teulu 'familia') beside tech n. 'house' = Gr. στέγος, tecnate 'domesticus, familiaris' for tech-gnate* (the spirant having been assimilated to the initial consonant of the second member) a derivative from tech-gnath* (gnath 'consuetus'). O.Ir. leth-cholba 'the pillar by the side, the second pillar', led-marb 'half dead', from leth n. 'side, half'. It is probable that Gallic names like Cartis-mandua Civis-marus (see Zeuss² 785. 853) represent the same type of compound as Gr. ἑπεσ-βόλος; yet it is at least possible that a vowel has fallen out after the -s-, cp. e. g. gen. Viscari for Visu-cari*.

§ 38. Class II. Idg. ǵ-* 'un-' appears in Irish in different forms according to its phonetic surroundings. ǵ- before t, c: O.Ir. ǵ-tromm 'not heavy, light' ǵ-cain 'indecent'; but in Cymr. an-, as annheilung 'unworthy': O.Ir. ǵtualng-ithe 'indignatus', cp. Mod.Cymr. cant: O.Ir. cēt 'hundred', I § 243 p. 201. in- for en-* before d, g (cp. I § 520 p. 378): O.Ir. in-derb 'incertus' in-gnad 'insolitus'. an- before vowels, Idg. ǵn-* I § 243, 4 p. 202: O.Ir. an-eolas 'inscientia', beside eola 'gnarus', an-se 'heavy' beside asse 'light'. By analogical transference an- came to be used before explosives, even in O.Ir.: an-cretem 'infidelitas', an-dach 'nequitia', an-glan 'immundus'. Further examples of this kind are an-fiss 'inscitia', an-bsud 'instabilis' (foss 'quietude'), Mid.Ir. am-mine 'roughness' and the like.

do- du- in do-chruth 'deformed' etc.· Skr. duṣ-, cp. § 14 p. 29. The opposite of this, so- su- = Idg. su-*, is kept in Keltic (as in Armenian, § 28 p. 46) only in composition· O.Ir. so-nirt 'good in strength, strong' from nert 'strength', su-thain 'everlasting' from tan 'time'.

Class III. O.Ir. cum-rechta 'alligatus' beside con-rung 'alligo': cp. Lat. com-ēsus es-arte 'caesus, expalmatns' beside es-arcon 'excisio': cp. Gr. ἱξ-αίρετος 'selected'. etar-scarthi 'divisa' cp. Lat. inter-fectus. acsu 'act of seeing' dat. acsm beside the pres. ad-chiu· cp. Lat. ad-emptiō

O.Ir. ess-amin Mod Cymr. eh-ofyn 'fearless' Gall. Ex-obnus Ex-omnus, from pr. kelt. ex 'out' = Lat. ex and (O.Ir.) omun 'fear'. Gall. Ambi-rēnus ('around the Rhine'), Ad-lēdus ('by the river Ledus'), Are-morica ('before the sea')

O.Ir. ro-, an intensive particle, as ro-mōr 'very great' ro-chain 'very beautiful', stands for pre-Keltic pro-* (I § 339 p. 268). cp. Gr. πρό-καλος 'very beautiful' πρό-καρος 'very bad'. O Ir. ēr-, also an intensive particle, as ēr-chosmīl 'very similar' ēr-chian 'very long', comes from ex-ro-*; for the loss of the -o see I § 634 p. 475.

§ 39. Class IV. Besides compounds in which an adjectival stem was followed by a substantive (Class I), in Irish, as in the other Indo-Germanic languages, inflected adjectives were combined with substantives. Such phrases often developed into compounds, and this process was all the more natural because the adjective lost the characteristic inflexion of many of its cases, and thus the phrase looked like a compound of Class I. Hence the two groups overlapped, and in particular instances it is difficult to decide how the compound arose. In none of these words have we any clear traces of the destructive influence which the accent elsewhere exerts upon the final members of compound words, e. g. drog-scēla 'māli nuntii' dag-gnīm 'good work' (I § 685 p. 552), and therefore we might in all cases decide in favour of Class IV. But there is nothing to prevent our assuming that compounds belonging to Class IV influenced the accent of those of Class I. See Zimmer, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIV 224 f., Kelt. Stud. II 19 ff. We shall find a similar confusion of two different types of composition in High German, § 44.

Germanic.

§ 40. Class I.

Stems in -o-. Where the second member began in a consonant the vowel seems always to have survived in procthic Germanic. In Gothic we find stems sometimes with -a- and sometimes without, but no rule has yet been discovered to account for this difference, although it must be connected with some variation of accent¹): guda-faurhts 'God fearing' gud-hūs 'God's house' from guf 'God', āna-bair 'innate, native' ān-falps 'simple' from āns 'one', lāusa-vairds 'speaking folly' lāus-qīprs 'with empty stomach' from lāus 'loose, empty, null', akrana-lāus 'fruitless' from akran n 'fruit', þindan-gardu f. 'king's house' from þindans 'king'. In West Germanic, where the vowel still appears as o in the oldest monuments (I § 83 Rem. I p. 77), the law of syncope described in I § 635 p. 476 was in operation; but its results were largely obscured by new formations. The following are examples of the regular developement. O.H.G. tago-sterno taga-stern 'daystar, morning star', spilo-man spila-man 'player', wego-wīso wega-wīso 'guide'. On the other hand we find boum-garto 'orchard', wīn-rebe 'vine', lumil-zungal 'stars of heaven', houbit-band 'head-band'. Parallel to these stand such forms as eban-līh 'aequalis' regan-mānōd 'rainy month' ātum-zuht 'respiration' accar-bigengo 'agricola' vogal-chrūt 'chick-weed', which come from prehistoric ground-forms containing ēbno- *rezno- *ēāmo- *akero- fuzlo- (cp. Goth. ibna-leiks, figgra-gulþ 'finger-ring' and Austro-valdus, Count of Toulouse, 588 A. D.). However, it has still to be determined (cp. Kaufmann, Paul-

1) See Holtzmann, Altdeutsche Gr. I 2, 55; Kluge, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 81; Kremer, Paul-Braune's Beitr. VIII 381. 488. Kremer's theory is the least satisfactory.

Braune's Beitr. XII 537 ff.) how far the historical form of the first member may have been due merely to the influence of the uncompounded word (eban regan etc.).

Remark 1. In O.H.G. through the partial coincidence of the i- and the a-deolension, -i- often intruded in place of -o- -a-, as wegi-rih beside wego-rih wega-rih 'waybread, plantain' (properly 'way-ruler'). Cp. Rem. 3 infr.

The treatment of -o- in protothmic Germanic, where the second member began in a sonant, is uncertain (cp. I § 606 p. 459). It is possible that in some forms the hiatus remained (see above, § 12 p. 25), cp. Goth. galiuga-aparistailus 'false apostle' (from galug n. 'lie'), O.H.G. sigo-ēra sige-ēra beside sig-ēra 'honour shown for victory'. Elision is by far the most frequent: Goth. hals-agga 'curve of the neck, nape' from halsa- 'neck', all-andjō 'complete' from alla- 'all'; O.H.G. wer-alt O.Sax. wer-old A.S. wor-old O.Icel. ver-öld 'age of men, period, world' beside Goth. vair (stem vaira-) 'man', O.H.G. ein-ougi A.S. ān-eāge O.Icel. ein-eygr 'one-eyed' beside Goth. dins. O.H.G. eban-alt 'equally old' Mid.H.G. oster-ābent 'Easter-eve, day before Easter' for ebn-* ōstr-*, show the same analogical change as is seen in O.H.G. ebano ebanōn (see I § 215 p. 182 f); the regular type is preserved in Vestr-ālpus, an Alemannic chief (Ammian).

Forms containing the suffix -jo-. Goth. alja-kuns 'of other origin, strange', frapja-marzeins 'derangement of mind' (frapi n.), and on the other hand, with a long syllable before the suffix, arbi-numja 'receiver of an inheritance, heir' (arbi n.), aglāiti-vaurdei 'improper speech' (aglāiti n. 'impropriety'). Cp. the contrast of gen. sing. harjis and hairdeis, I § 120 p. 112 f., § 143 p. 128 f., II § 63. In West Gothic -i-, not -ja-, is found from the sixth or seventh century onwards even in the former class of words. In Old High German -i- is universal, as eli-lenti 'foreign' eli-boro 'alienigena' heri-berga 'camp, shelter' arpi-lōs 'without inheritance'. It is questionable whether we should assume that -i- had appeared after short syllables, as in eli- (cp. O.Sax. eli-lendi O.Fris. li-lende), before the consonant-strengthening (I § 143 p. 129) and the syncope (I § 635 p. 476) of West Germanic (Sievers, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XII 488 ff.); see Kaufmann ibid. 537 ff. -io- -ijo- are frequently found in proper names belonging to different Germanic stocks in the first centuries A. D., as Χαρίο-μηνος Hario-baudes, Inguio-mērus.

Stems in -ā-. It may be assumed that even in protothnic Germanic -o- was regular (§ 12 p. 25). Goth. airþa-kunds 'of earthy origin' from airþa 'earth', hveila-hvairbs 'accommodating oneself to the time', πρόσραιος from hveila 'time, while'. O.H.G. beto-man 'one who prays' beta-hūs 'house of prayer' from beta 'prayer'; on the other hand erd-rīkhu 'kingdom of earth' from erda, brāch-mānōt 'month of the first ploughing, June' from brācha 'land broken up'. O.H.G. ahsal-pein 'shoulder-bone' from ahsla 'shoulder', like vogal-chrūt O.H.G. erd-aphul ('earth-apple') 'cucumber, melon' from erda-, scab-tsen 'shaving tool' from scaba 'shaving tool, plane', like wer-alt. Mid H G nādel-aere 'needle's eye' from O.H.G. nādla Goth nēþla 'needle', like ōster-āvent. Compare p. 70.

Words containing the suffix -lē-, -iā-. Goth. þūsundi-faþs 'leader of a thousand' from þūsundl f (nom pl. þūsundjōs) 'thousand', O.H.G. sunti-lōs 'sinless' from suntia suntea sunta 'sin', redi-haft 'eloquent' from redia reda 'speech', like eli-lenti; see above.

Remark 2 In these feminines -o- and -a- often occur as well as -i-, e.g. redo-haft reda-haft, hella-fiur 'hell-fire' (from hella Goth. halla 'hell'). Here analogy has been at work, this new formation spread in the -i- (-iā-) stems, not in those with -io-, because the sonant -i- which stood at the point of juncture was not supported in the former class of stems as it was in the latter (cp. heri-berga beside nom. acc heri) by the case-forms of the uncompounded word; the -i- of the compound was especially liable to alteration after the ɣ of the original word had been completely assimilated to the preceding group of consonants.

Stems in -i-. In protothnic Germanic -i- was no doubt kept in all compounds whose second member began in a consonant. Goth. -i-, as gasti-gōþs 'hospitable' from gasts, drauhti-vitōþ 'service in war, fight' cp. ga-drauhts (stem ga-drauhti-) 'warrior'; rarely the -i- is lost (cp. the loss of -a- above): brap-faþs 'bridegroom' from braps 'bride', put-hairn 'horn for blowing' from puti-* 'noise, sound' = O.Icel. þytr Mid.H.G. duz. In O.H.G.

the forms are syncopated according to rule. steti-got 'genius loci' turi-sul 'doorpost, post', but tāt-rahha 'narrative of what has happened' gast-hūs 'strangers' shelter' truh-sāzo trut-sāzo (Mid.H.G. truht-saeze) 'lord high steward'.

Remark 3 In O.H.G. through the partial coincidence of the -i- and the o-declension -o- -a- often took place of -i-, as scritā-māl beside scriti-māl 'pace, step' from scrit, pl scriti Cp. Rem. 1 above.

Stems in -u-. In protothmic Germanic -u- always appeared in compounds whose second member began in a consonant. Gothic has always -u-, as faihu-gairns 'covetous' from faihu 'cattle, possessions', filu-fūhs 'very various' from filu 'much, very'. In O.H.G. the forms were altered by the law of syncope. fihu-wiāri 'cattle-pond', filu-sprāhhi filo-sprāhhi 'speaking much', witu-hoffa wito-hoffa ('wood-hopper') 'hoopoe' from witu wito 'wood', Hadumar proper name (hudu- 'battle' Gall. catu-), but on the other hand tōd-līh 'mortalis, mortiferus' from tōd = Goth dāuþu-s 'death', hungertag 'day of fasting' for hunagru-* (cp. accar-Ingengo p. 69) cp. Goth hāhru-s 'hunger'.

Stems in -n- in protothmic and later Germanic show the same type as Gr. νῆρ-νῆρων (§ 12 p 27) Goth. guma-kunils 'of the male sex' O.H.G. gomo-heit goma-heit 'persona' beside Goth guma O.H.G. gomo m. 'human being, man', cp. Lat homi-cida p. 60. O.H.G. hana-crād hana-crāt 'crowing of a cock' from hana Goth hana m. 'cock'. O.H.G. namo-haft numa-haft 'having a name' from namo m. Goth. namō n. 'name'. Goth. auga-daúrō n. ('eye-door') 'window' O.H.G. oug-brāwa 'eyebrow' from Goth. augō O.H.G. ougu n. 'eye'. O.H.G. herz-blīdi 'heartily agreeable' from herza Goth. hairs n. 'heart'. When the second member begins in a sonant. O.H.G. brunn-ālura 'vein of a spring' from brunno Goth. brunna m. 'spring, brook'.

Remark 4 It is noteworthy that the type of compound containing a genitive (Class IV), such as hanin-fuoz, Franchōno-lant (§ 44), common enough even in O.H.G., in later times continually encroached upon the stem-compounds of Class I, particularly in the Modern period. The chief factor in this development was the circumstance that -en came ultimately to be the ending of other cases besides the genitive, and hence lost its originally definite character. Cp J. Grimm, D. G. II (1878) p 528. 591 ff Stems in -r-. In Gothic we have the form brōþru-lubō 'brotherly love'; it is uncertain whether the first part represents Idg. bhratṛ-* (I § 299 p. 237 f.), or whether, like the nom. pl. brōþrijus, it was a new form modelled upon the u-stems. brōþr-a-lubō also occurs, cp. Gr. πατρ-ο-φόνος etc. O.H.G. pruodar-līh 'brotherly' may be variously explained; fatar-erpi 'patrimonium' is in any case a new form instead of fatr-*. We also find pruader-līh fater-līh and the like, where e is due to the influence of the inflected forms of the uncompounded word.

O.H.G. fiant-līh 'hostile' friunt-līh 'friendly', fuoz-scaml 'footstool', like Gr. δρανοντ-ό-μαλλος, ποδ-ο-στράβη. At the same time it must be observed that in O.H.G. many of these consonantal stems have gone over bodily to one of the vowel-declensions, e. g. mānōd 'month' (Goth still has dat. sing. mēnōþ nom. pl. mēnōþs), with which compare e. g. mānōd-sioh 'lunaticus'.

Stems in -s-. Goth. sigis-láun 'prize of victory' (cp. Goth. Sigis-mēres Burg. Sigis-mundus O.Frank. Sigis-bertus etc.) from sigis n. 'victory' (stem sigis-a- or sigiz-a-). Skr. sāhas n. O.H.G. egis-līh 'horrible' beside Goth. agis n. 'fear' (stem agis-a-), cp. also O.H.G. egis-o in 'fright' egis-ōn 'frighten' like Gr. συχαιο-φρόος. The following may also belong to this group, if they have lost the vowel of the suffix -es-. Goth. þrūts-fill A.S. drust-fel (for ðruts-*) 'scab' and A.S. Hēns-brōc, name of a place, compare probably O.Icel. hōns (only in pl.) 'fowls'. Rather more frequently we have -es- stems extended by -o-. Goth. áiz-a-smīþa O.H.G. ēr-smid 'copper-smith', O.H.G. Lembr-bah (cp. Kelbiris-bach with the gen. sing., Class IV) Mid.H.G. eier-vel (A.S. æzer-felma) 'skin of an egg', Mid.H.G. rinder-hirte 'cowherd' (A.S. hrýðer-heord 'herd of cattle'). After -er- became a sign of the plural (§ 132) the first member of these compounds took a plural meaning (rinder-hirte = 'herdsman of cattle').

Remark 5. The transference of these stems to the o-declension (§ 132), caused by the loss of the final -os in the nom. and acc. sing., gave rise to alterations of the stem in compounds, on the model of the o-class; thus O.H.G. ind-stal. The oldest example of this type is perhaps the form requa- 'darkness' (cp. Goth. rigis Skr. rdjas-), seen in requalinuhano, which occurs on an inscription of the second or third century A. D. (found in the District of Cologne), if Holthausen is right in explaining it as 'living in the darkness', but perhaps it is better to refer it to the analogy of nom. requaz* uolfa-z*.

§ 41. In many compounds, in Germanic as in Greek and in Slavonic (§ 30. 47), the popular conception of the first member underwent a change, and the latter was regarded as having a verbal instead of a nominal force.

Thus in O.H.G. first of all nominal stems in -i- (for an original -i-, -io-, -ia- or -iē-) came into immediate connexion with verbs in -ien, e. g. spuri- in spuri-hunt 'hunting-hound' (Mid.H.G. spur spur f. n. 'trace, track') came into connexion with spuriēn spurren 'to trace'; smelzi-gold ('melted gold') 'refined gold, standard gold' (smelzi n. 'gloss produced by melting, enamel') with smelzen (Goth. smaltjan*) 'liquefy'; deche (older decchi-*) seen in deche-lachen 'cloth or sheet for covering' (decha, older decchia*, 'covering') with decchen (O.Icel. þekja) 'to cover'; slengi-stēn 'sling-stone' (slenga, older slengia*, 'sling') with slengen (O.Icel. slengja) 'to sling, hurl'. Hence numerous new formations whose initial members were real verbal forms, as deni-lachen 'cloth for spreading out, tent-cloth' from denen 'to spread out', wezzi-stēn 'whetstone' from wezzen 'to whet'. The next step was to give a new verbal signification to nominal stems ending in original -o-; thus O.H.G. strit-muot 'eagerness for the fray' strit-louft 'race' (strit m. 'strife') was referred to stritan 'strive', scelt-wort 'abusive word' (scelta f. 'abuse') to sceltan 'to abuse', giving a type which was followed by large number of new formations like melc-faz 'milk-vessel' from melchan 'to milk'. Then, when the ō and ē in inflexional syllables had sunk to e, which also represented a and e, when e. g. bēta-hūs 'house of prayer' and bētōn 'to pray' had become bete-hūs beten, and līna-berga 'railing, trellis' and līnēn had become line-berga linen respectively, the numerous forms of this kind gave a fresh impulse in High German to the verbal interpretation of the initial members of compounds, and the new type of formation already established was taken into yet wider use; e. g. Mid.H.G. lebe-sīte 'manner of life' from leben 'to live'.

Remark 1 In Mid.H.G. the stems of all classes of verbs had begun to be used in the initial part of compounds, and the number of such verbal compounds has been considerably on the increase down to modern times. There were always a number of words which to the popular consciousness appeared halfway between nominal and verbal compounds; as do even now such words as stret-lust, tanz-lust, schlummer-stätte, raub-vogel, cp. stret and streiten, tanz and tanzen etc. [Similar uncertainty is felt in English with regard to compounds like shou-room, paint-brush, watch-tower, slaughter-house.] But such forms inevitably came to be regarded as verbal when the noun was no longer used uncompounded, e. g. in betthaus, which was formed from O.H.G. bēta Mod.H.G. bete 'prayer', but, when this noun was lost, was of necessity connected with the verb beten.

Remark 2 The same process of analogical formation arising from a new interpretation of nominal stems is found in the other West Germanic dialects and in those of Scandinavia; whether it also took place in Gothic is doubtful. See Osthoff, Verbum in der Nennuale p. 10 ff.

Remark 3. Connected with this is another characteristic of High German which may be mentioned here; -- the new meaning given to the initial member of adjectival compounds in -bar, -lich, -haft, -sam. E. g. O.H.G. danc-bar Mid.H.G. danc-baere at first meant exactly 'gratias (re-) ferens' (O.H.G. danc Goth. þagks 'thanks'), O.H.G. scēn-bār Mid.H.G. schēn-baere literally meant 'boaring an appearance, having an appearance'. Now when the second member had acquired the character of a suffix, the first was referred to the verb to which it was akin (Mid.H.G. danken and schönen). Hence further new formations like Mid.H.G. hrl-baere 'seeking to hide oneself' Mod.H.G. trunk-bar anwend-bar etc., in which the second member is used like a primary suffix. See Osthoff loc. cit. p. 112 ff.

§ 42. Class II. Germ. un- 'un-' before consonants and before sonants: Gr. α- ἀν- etc. Goth. un-kunþs O.H.G. un-kund 'unknown': cp. Gr. ἄγνωτος. Goth. un-veis O.H.G. un-wīs 'inexperienced': Lat. in-vīsus; Goth. un-viss 'uncertain'. Gr. ἄωτος 'unseen, unknown' (cp. ἀόωτος, § 31), cp. I § 527 p. 382. Goth. un-agands 'not fearing'; O.H.G. un-ende n. 'endlessness': Skr. an-antá-s 'endless'. Germ. tuz- 'ill-, mis-' = Gr. δυσ-: Goth. tuz-vērjan, a denominative formation, 'to doubt' ('be chary of faith'), O.H.G. zur-wāri 'suspicious, suspectus'.

In the course of the separate developement of Germanic several particles were restricted to use in composition, e. g. fra- = Gr. φρῶ in Gothic and in West Germanic.

§ 43. Class III. Goth. fra-kunþs A.S. fra-coð 'despised': cp. Skr. prá-jñāta-s 'different, recognisable'. O.H.G. frá-tat

'transgression'. ep. Gr. πρό-θίσις 'a setting forth', Lith. pra-dėti 'to begin' prā-džia 'beginning'. As regards the accent see § 19, 3 p. 37. Goth. af-stass f. 'separation, defection': ep. Gr. ἀπό-στρασις 'separation, defection'. O.H.G. in-ziht f. 'accusation'. Lat. in-dictiō, Gr. ἐν-δειξις 'an information'.

Goth. anda-nahti n 'the time towards night' ep. Lith. añt-kaklė 'that which one has on one's neck (añt kāklo), burden', Gr. ἀντα, ἀντι. ὑφ-ἀρχεις 'under an oath, bound by an oath'. ep. Gr. ἐπ-ασπίδιος faiura-dauri 'that which is before the door, street': ep. Gr. παρὰ-θαλάσσιος.

Goth. miþ-gasiþa m. 'travelling companion', Mid H.G. mit-erbelinc 'co-hen'. Gr μέτρα. Goth. ufar-fullei O.H.G. ubar-fulli f. 'superabundance'. Skr upāri.

O H.G. nucihl Mid H.G. nihl 'nothing' contrasted with Goth. ni valhls 'nothing' ni valhtā 'in nothing, not at all': Goth. valhls 'thing, something'; we have also O H.G. neowihl 'nothing' for ni ēo wihl 'no thing at all' O.H.G. neoman Mid.H.G. nieman 'no one' for ni ēo man, ep. Goth. ni manna and manna ni 'no one'.

§ 44. Class IV. O.H.G. drī-zug A.S. ðrī-tiz 'thirty' = Goth. þreis tiguns, acc þrim tiguns; O.H.G. zwein-zug A.S. tuān-tiz twēn-tiz 'twenty' was derived from old phrases containing a dative, ep. Goth. tuām tigum 'duabus decadiibus'. Other instances of this kind do not occur until later periods. Thus Mod H.G. jung-geselle 'bachelor' neu-jahr 'New Year' ober-rock 'overcoat' are from the Mid.H.G. phrases junc geselle 'young comrade' nunne jār, ober ioc, and these forms are therefore stem-compounds (Class I) only in appearance. Mod.H.G. jeder-mann 'every one', gen. jedermanns, from jeder mīnn 'every man' From the common phrases in which a preposition (ze, in etc.) was combined with a place-name consisting of adjective and substantive, arose new nominative forms, as Mid.H.G. Höhen-burg, Höhen-vels; ep. the nom. sing. Schwaben from zen Swāben (dat. pl.).

Many compounds in Germanic contain the genitive. In High German these continually grew more numerous; their development out of mere phrases may often be traced in the literary monuments of the language, e. g. Mod.H.G. hungers-nöt from Mid.H.G. hungers nôt, Baierland from O.H.G. Beiero lant.

O.H.G. (Alemann.) Zios-tac A.S. Tīwes-dæz O.Icel. Týs-dagr 'Tin's (Zio's) day, 'Tuesday', cp. gen. Gr. Δι(ς)-ἡς Skr. div-ás. Similarly O.H.G. donares-tag A.S. ðunres-dæg O.Icel. þörs-dagr 'Thursday'.

Goth. baúrqs-vaddjus 'wall of a fortress or city' from baúrg 'fortress, city'. Instead of dulgis skula 'he who has a debt (dul-gis in) to pay, debtor' (Luke 7, 41) it is perhaps better to write dulgisskula Crim-Goth. hæmms-clep would no doubt in Wulfila's Gothic appear as hámms-hlúifs* 'house-bread'.

O.H.G. gotes-hūs 'God's house', hundes-fluga (beside hunt-fluga) 'dog-fly', Suabo-lant 'Swabia', hanm-fuoz 'crow-foot' (name of a plant, lit. 'hen's-foot'), ohsin-zunga 'ox-tongue' (name of a plant), gerstūn-korn 'barley corn', Franchōno-tal 'Frankenthal' (valley of the Franks), with these latter forms containing the gen. sing. or pl. of n-stems cp. § 40 Rem. 4 p. 72. In this class (not in Class I, § 40) should no doubt be placed the further examples O.H.G. truhtī-gomo 'follower' brūti-gomo 'bridegroom'. In the Mid.H.G. period first occur compounds with the gen. pl. aller, as aller-best, aller-grōzest; in O.H.G. we have the phrase allero bezzist. From the beginning of the Modern period substantives are compounded with adjectives in forms like manns-toll (Mid.H.G. mannes tol) ἀνδραυνής geistes-arm (cp. Mid.H.G. lasters arm) 'poor in spirit'.

In Mod.H.G. it was often forgotten that -s was a sign of the genitive in such compounds as hunds-fliege. Hence many new formations; on the one hand, forms like hilfstruppen 'auxiliary troops' nahrungsmittel 'means of subsistence, provisions' from hilfe and nahrung, gen. sing. hilfe, nahrung (Grimm, D. Gr. II 922); on the other hand forms like bauersmann reitersmann instead of bauermann 'countryman' reitermann 'cavalry-man'. Similarly in English occurs doomsday: A.S. dōm-dæg, herdsman: Mid.Eng. herde-man. Cp. § 17.

Remark. Compounds containing a dative or accusative governed by the second member do not seem to occur in Gothic nor in the older periods of High German. In any case we must reject the view (Mahlow, Die laugen Vocale p. 100) that Gothic seina-gairnā 'φλαυροι' (gloss on 2 Tim. 3, 2) contains a dat-loc and means 'desiring for his own, i. e. for himself'. It is a matter of choice whether to regard this, like the reading lūsawarū dāi beside lūsawarū dāi 'ματωδύοι' (Tit 1, 10), as a mere mistake in writing, or to assume that the scribe wished to represent the sound of ē instead of a, following the pronunciation of his day; cp. Sungai-frijas (Lat. Sunefridus) in the Naples Document (Wulfila ed. Bernhardt p. 649), where ai is certainly to be read as ē.

The close connexion between the nom. sing. ein and the oblique cases of ander, which was established in O.H.G., produced the Mid. and Mod.H.G. ein-ander. In O.H.G. we still find such a phrase as sie sind ein anderen ungelīh 'they are unlike each other' (lit. 'one to others'). Cp. Skr. anyō-nya- § 24 p. 41.

Balto-Slavonic.

§ 45. During the proethnic period of Balto-Slavonic only a few new uses seem to have been developed. Two points may be mentioned.

1. The original Indo-Germanic compounds with y-* 'un-' (Class II) gave way to compounds with ne* 'not'. Cp. Lith. ne-gālė 'weakness, sickness, disease' O.C.Sl. ne-mostŭ 'feebleness, weakness', with Lat. in-valitūdō O.H.G. un-maht. Besides ne-*, another particle, which appears in Lith. as bė, in O.C.Sl. as bezŭ, and is connected with Skr. bahṣ 'outside, without', had no doubt begun to be used as a negative prefix; cp. Lith. be-dūgnis O.C.Sl. bez-dūnŭ 'groundless', Lith. be-dėvis O.C.Sl. bez-bogŭ 'godless'.

2. The compound adjectival declension came into use, as Lith. geras-is 'the good (masc.)' = gėras jis (I § 147 p. 131), O.C.Sl. novŭ-jŭ novy-jŭ 'the new (masc.)' (I § 84 p. 80).

§ 46. Lithuanian.

Class I. The nom. sing. of compounds of this group generally ends in -is masc. (gen. -io) and -ė fem. (cp. § 63).

Stems in -o-. Where the second member begins in a consonant, -a- is found less and less frequently in the course of the literary period; the conditions of its loss still need careful investigation (cp. I § 636 p. 477, § 664, 1. 2 p. 522). The old form veida-mamis is now veid-mam̃ys ('changing the countenance') 'hypocrite' from vėida-s 'countenance'. Old form auksa-kasis, modern áuks-kasis 'gold-digger' from áuksa-s 'gold'. darbā-vetė 'place of work' from dárba-s 'work', sretimā-szalis 'foreigner, stranger' from svėtima-s 'strange', gera-dėjis 'benefactor', visa-galīs (beside vis-galīs) 'all-powerful, almighty' (or perhaps the last two contain an acc. neut., and belong to Class IV?). szón-krūlis ('side-bone') 'rib' from szóna-s 'side of the body', vil̃k-paūtis 'wolf's egg' (a kind of malodorous fungus) from vil̃ka-s 'wolf', minkszt-prōtis 'weak in mind, soft-head' from minkszta-s 'soft, tender'. In Russian -a- is generally kept, e. g. lauca-gerto 'partridge' from lauka-n acc. 'field', labba-segīsna-n acc 'benefit' from labba-s 'good'.

Where the second member begins in a vowel, -a- is always dropped, e. g. vėn-ākis 'one-eyed man' from vėna-s 'one'. In Prussian on the other hand (as in Slavonic, § 47) the stem-final is kept; dago-augis 'summer shoot or sprout' beside daga-gaydis 'summer wheat' (cp. dėna-algenika- below, p. 80).

Forms containing the suffix -jo-. We still find -ja- in the older authorities, e. g. nauja-vedis 'newly married man' from nauja-s 'new'; cp. Pruss. caria-woytis karige-wayte 'review' (g in karige- = j), crauya-wirps 'blood-letter' from crauyo krauia 'blood'. In the modern language -jo- stems are treated as though they were stems in -o- or -i-. The stem-final has been lost e. g. in jaut-vedė 'leading-rope for oxen', jaut-akis 'ox-eye' (a plant) from jautis -cžio 'ox', vėžligė 'cancer' from vėžj-s 'crayfish', krau-leidj̃s 'blood-letter' from krauj̃a-s 'blood'; examples with -u- are grebl-ā-kotis 'rake-handle' from grebly-s, broł-ā-vankis 'brother's son' from bróli-s. Cp. also nauj̃i-kaulis 'bony excrescence'.

Remark 1. We meet with spellings like nauj-veda beside nau-vedė 'newly married man', krauj-gysle 'vein of blood', vėj-malūnis 'windmill' (cp. bažnyč-kėmis beside bažnyt-kėmis below). These forms cannot be said to represent the stage preceding the loss of the j, which is only restored in them from the uncompounded word.

Remark 2 This treatment of jo-stems in composition, which is also found in Lettic, reminds us of the treatment of the same stems where they are extended by derivative suffixes: jaut-akis like jaut-ūžis jaut-dūsis 'little ox' The form žem-obūlys (from žėmė), which will be noticed further on, should be compared with karv-ūžė karv-āste 'little cow' from kārvė 'cow'. In Prussian kel-laxde 'spear-shaft' (beside kelia-n 'spear') seems to correspond to these Lithuanian compounds.

Stems in -a-. -ū- is quite rare; the example sziksznósparnis 'bat' was mentioned on p. 25. These stems are usually treated like stems in -o- galva-žudỹs and galv-žudỹs 'murderer' from galvā 'head'. vasarā-sziltis 'warmth of summer'. barzd-skutỹs 'beard-shaver, barber' from barzdā 'beard'. nugar-kaulis 'backbone' from nugarū 'back'. bal-ūpe 'moorland stream' from balā 'moor, marsh', vasur-angis 'this year's shoot' from vasarā 'summer', like vėn-ākis; cp. on the other hand Pruss. deina-algenkamans dat. 'to day-labourers' from dėina-n acc. f. 'day' (Lith. nom. dėnā).

Feminines in -ia -e -i are treated like the -jo- stems. gīrparszis 'little wild pig' from gīria gīre 'wood' bažnīt-kėmis (also bažnījcz-kėmis, see Rem. 1) 'village with a church' from bažnījzia 'church' (borrowed from Slav) žėm-skire 'landmark, field-boundary', žėm-obūlys 'earth-apple' from žėmė 'earth'. marī-merge 'bridesmaid' from marīl, gen. marczyōs, 'bride'. An example with -a- is kregžd-a-žole 'swallow-wort' from kregždė 'swallow'. In Prussian, the feminines which correspond to the Lith. feminines in -ė show -e- and -i-, the equivalents of Lith. -e-, e. g. ape-witwo 'river-willow, osier' from ape, Lith. ūpe 'stream', wosi-grabis 'spindle-tree' from wosee 'goat' (Lith. ože*, cp. masc. ožỹ-s).

Stems in -i-. tri-rāžis 'three-pronged'. In words of more than one syllable -i- is rare, e. g. naktī-kovis 'roving at night'. The forms are usually without -i-, as ak-mirkis 'twinkling of an eye, moment' from aktis 'eye', ānt-kiauszis 'duck's egg' from ānti-s 'duck'; cp. Pruss. perst-lansta-n 'dust-window, window-shutter' beside O.C.Sl. prŭstŭ f. 'dust'. Here and there we have -ā-, as ugn-ā-vėtė 'fireplace' from ugnī-s 'fire' (cp. darbā-vėtė).

Remark 3. These stems may have first followed the analogy of stems in -o- (ugn-a-) and then dropped the -a- (ak-ant-), or else the -i-, where it does not occur, may have fallen out by regular phonetic change, leaving the forms to be remodelled by the analogy of compounds like darbā-vėtė. In any case this group of compounds also (see Rem. 2) must be compared with diminutival formations like ak-ūžė 'little eye' ugn-ūžis 'little fire' etc

Remark 4 aky-mojis = akiu mojis 'moment, twinkling of an eye' aky-moju 'instantaneously' (which we can scarcely suppose to have been influenced by forms like akų-ti akų-las etc.) may perhaps contain the nom. acc. du. used as the dual stem, aki for akī*, see I § 664 p. 523. Cp the retention of the original i in trijų-lika 'thirteen'. Whether ie in Bretken's akše-mirksnis 'moment' (Bezenberger's Beitr. zur Gesch. d. lit. Spr. 270) stands for ia is doubtful. — It may be asked in passing how we should regard the y in aby-pusė 'on both sides', which contains the dual abī pusē, where abī comes from abē*. Should we compare (in spite of the different accentuation) the relation of apy- to api- apē, of py-y- to pri- prē?

Stems in -u-. -u- was on the whole rather better preserved than -a- and -i-. alū-daris 'brewer' from alū-s 'beer'. virszū-galvis 'upper part of the head, crown' from virszū-s 'upper (part)'. The loss of -u- (-iu-) and the intrusion of -a- in its stead appear to be connected with the partial transition of u- stems into the o- decl.: pēt-valgis 'midday meal' from pētūs pl. 'midday', žmog-žudys 'murderer of men' žmog-edys 'devourer of men' from žmogūs 'man', gyr-pelnys 'ambitious person, braggart' from gyrnu-s 'fame', pig-ā-kalbis beside pig-kalbis 'proficient in speaking' from pigūs 'easy, cheap'. The form placz-kojis beside plat-kojis 'broad-foot' (platūs 'broad') is explained by reference to the cases which have -zo-, as dat. sing. placzia-m, cp. bažnyč-kemis beside bažnyt-kemis p. 79.

Amongst consonantal stems there is scarcely a single example of a genuine type which has not undergone some destructive change in the course of its development. szūn-obūlei pl. ('dog's-apples') 'hawthorn' from szū, gen. szūns, 'dog', like Gr. κυν-ώπις, can scarcely be considered a direct representative of an original type, this is shewn by the forms szun-mušė 'dog-fly' szūn-szūdis 'stercus caninum', which by the rules of formation in Indo-Germanic should have been szvin-* (= Skr. śva- Idg. kyn-*). móter-žolės pl. 'mother-wort'

Class II. Of this class there is no trace in Baltic.

Class III. pra-muñtas 'named'. Skr. prá-mata-s 'contrived, uttered'. pér-pm̃tas 'planted crosswise' O.C.Sl. prě-petŭ 'drawn outwards, outspread', pér-jástas 'girt over, girt about'. Gr. περί-ζωστος 'girt about'.

pér-galve 'that which is laid over or around the head, hood': cp. Gr. περι-κέφαλον περι-κεφαλαῖα 'head-covering'. apŷ-vakarīs 'the time towards evening' (apŕ vākarą). pa-stalė 'drawer under the table' (põ stalū).

āt-laikas āt-lėkas 'remnant': O.C.Sl. otŭ-lėkŭ. sán-dora 'concord', sá-szlavos pl. 'sweepings' cp. O.C.Sl. sa- Skr. sam-ne-kās 'scarcely any one, hardly any one'. ne-vėnu-s 'not only one, not alone', but Pruss. ne-ams m-ams 'no one', cp. Lat. noenu-m nōn

Class IV. dù-szintu 'two hundred' trŷ-szintu 'three hundred' (for trys-szintu* according to I § 664, 6 p 524) beside dù szintū = trŷ(s) szintaĩ trŷ-lėka 'thirteen' keturių-lėka 'fourteen' no doubt contain the nom. acc pl neut. Accusative forms. szĩ-mėt 'this year', szĩ-nakt 'this night', anā-syk 'that time' for szĩ mėta, szĩ nakti, anā syki. We have no doubt instrumentals in szė-pus 'on this side' anū-pus 'on that side' from pūsė 'half'. aby-pusė 'on both sides' is formed from abĩ pusĩ 'both sides' (cp. Rem. 4). Du. nom. masc. jũ-du fem. jė-dvi, dat. instr. masc. jėm-dvėm fem. jóm-dvėm, from jĩs 'he' and dù 'two', similarly du. paczũ-du from pàts 'self', with other forms of the same sort.

In some dialects we find kas-vākaras adj. 'every evening' kas- mėts adj. 'every year', originally subordinate relative clauses, i. e. 'which ever evening (year) it may be' (the Author, Lit. Volksl. u. March. 320, and for a similar usage in Slavonic see Miklosich, Vergl. Gr. II 376, IV 87). In other dialects the analogy of accusatives of time like tā (szĩ) vākarą 'in the evening (this evening)' gave rise to kasvākarą, kasmėta, similarly kasdėna 'daily' and other forms; and, with loss of the ending, kasmēt kasdēn etc.; and further, derivatives like kasdēnis kasdēnims 'daily'. Cp. Lat. quotannīs § 36 p. 63.

Compounds having a dependent genitive for their first member are rare; e. g. szuns-ūdēgius ('dog-tailed person') 'flatterer, fawner' from szū, gen. szuñs, 'dog'. There are more examples in Lettic, as femes-māte 'earth-goddess' from feme = Lith. žemė 'earth'.

Remark 5. How are we to regard būts-angē 'house-door' (būta-s 'house'), and Lett. gads-kārta 'time of year' (gads 'year', stem gada-) which seems to be a form of the same kind? Was there a stem būtes-*? (No great importance perhaps should be attached to the Prussian form buitas-taws beside buitan-tāws and buita-tawas 'house-father').

Further, what is the origin of the y in karsztymetis 'hot time' (kárszta-s 'hot', kařszti-s m 'heat'), brangymetis 'dear time, dearth' (brangŭ-s 'dear'), darbymetis 'work-time' (dārba-s 'work'), vasarymetis 'summer time' (vasarā 'summer')? Should we start from the nom. pl. karsztū mētai (cp aby-pusei from abi pusi, Rem 4) or a form karsztŷn-mētai*? For the general use of the ending -ymetis cp Gr. -ηρόρος -ημερίς § 29 Rem. p. 47.

kits kitā 'one another' is now regarded so much as a single word that the first part retains its masculine form even when the subject is feminine. In Bretken (16th century) we still find moteriszkės gedōja prėsx kitū kitā 'the women sang against each other'.

§ 47. Slavonic. Class I. Many of the following examples are not popular combinations, but a scholar's translations of Greek compounds.

Stems in -o-. The stem has -o-, whether the second member begins with a consonant or a sonant. O.C.Sl. bogo-rodica 'mother of God' from bogŭ 'God', črŭno-ulasŭ 'black-haired' from črŭnŭ 'black', črŭno-okŭ 'black-eyed', bogo-izbranŭ 'chosen of God'. bogo-učenŭ 'taught of God'.

Forms with -ze- from -jo- (I § 84 p. 80): voje-voda 'leader of a host' from voji pl. 'warriors, soldiers', lŭže-prorokŭ 'false prophet', from lŭžŭ 'lying, false', gnoje-imenitŭ 'κονσιώνυμος' (nickname of a Byzantine emperor) from gnojŭ 'dung', maže-ubijica 'homicida' from mažŭ 'man'. Through the preponderance of the forms with -o-, this sound often took the place of pr.

Slav -e- in later Slavonic, e g. Serv. konju-zobica ('equum nutriendus') 'bag of fodder'.

Stems in -ā- always show the ending of the o-stems vodu-nosū 'water-vessel' from roda 'water', raکو-pīsanije (χειρό-γραφον) 'bill of debt, bond' from raко 'hand'; raко-obyčīnū 'accustomed to the hand, tame', zemlje-měrijе 'land-measurement, geometry' from zemlja 'land', zmiје-nožīnū 'snake-footed, with feet of or like snakes' from zmiја 'snake', duše-gubīnū 'destroying the soul, annihilating' from duša 'soul', zmiје-obrazīnū 'having the form of a snake', duše-ubijīca 'murderer of souls'. Serv. zmiјo-glav 'snake-headed' for the older and true form zmiје.

Stems in -i-. trī-zabū 'trident' from tri 'three'. Many examples have -o-, following the analogy of o-stems, as gosto-ljubivū 'hospitable' from gostī 'stranger, guest', zvěro-vulīnū 'having the appearance of a wild beast' from zvěři 'wild beast', sīmuīto-nosū 'death-bringing' from sīmrtī 'death', zvěro-obrazīnū 'having the form of a wild beast'. We often find -e- (but this is late), e g. zvěre-nulīnū beside zvěro-nulīnū, zvěre-imeutīnū beside zvěro-imeutīnū 'named after an animal', pute-bočīdī 'guide'.

Remark. It is a question whether in the latter examples -e- is the i of the stems in -io- (roи- etc.), as Osthoff assumes (Verb in d. Nominale 213), or the e of forms like putem for putimī (I § 36 p. 36, Leskien, Handb.² p. 21 ff.) Osthoff's view seems to be the true one.

Stems in -u- have -o-. syno-tvorjenije 'ἐνδοξασια, reception into the position of a son' from synū 'son'. medo-točīnū 'sweet-streaming' from medū 'honey'. (Compare the transference of u-stems to the o-declension, which is found in the very earliest authorities; such forms as synochū instead of synūchū (I § 52 p. 44, and Leskien, Handb.² p. 21 ff), need hardly be taken into account, see the last Remark. As regards medvēdī see § 12 p. 26.

krv-o-politije 'bloodshed' from the stem krāv- 'blood', gen. sing. krāv-e, 1dg. stem gruv-* grū-*, cp. Gr. ἱχθυο-φάγος. Yet the forms with -o- may not have sprung up until after some of the cases of the word had been formed afresh in the i-declension, as nom. kriv-ŭ.

Stems in -n-. kamen-o-vidinŭ 'having the appearance of a stone' from kamy 'stone'. imen-o-nosinŭ 'bearing a name' from ime 'name'. The original types of formation seem to have completely disappeared.

Stems in -r- matere-dosaditelŭ and matere-ubijica 'matricide' like zrčre-vidinŭ (see p 84 above). Beside these we have, without -o-, četrě-gubŭ 'quadruplus' for četver-gubŭ*.

Stems in -s-. Generally -o- appears instead of -es-; čudo-točinŭ 'sending forth wonders, spreading them abroad' from čudo 'wonder', oko-izmetinŭ 'casting out the eye' (on the other hand Russ. and Serv. have oče-, Russ. oče-vidnyj 'appearing to the eye') from oko 'eye'; compare the transference of forms from the es-declension to that of o-stems, as instr. sing. neboŭ beside nebesinŭ. More rarely we find -es-o-, as čudes-o-točinŭ beside čudo-točinŭ, nebes-o-podražatelinŭ 'imitating heaven', cp. loc. pl. nebesčchŭ instead of nebesičhŭ.

Of Class II no examples remain in Slavonic

Class III. pro-stritŭ 'outstretched'. cp. Skr. prá-stūrna-s 'stretched forth, outspread' u-vṛstŭ 'crowned' u-vṛsti 'to crown': cp. Pruss. au-klip-s 'hidden' Skr. áva-hata-s 'struck back, driven off, slam'. iz-čtŭ 'taken out' iz-čti 'to take out' Lith. isz-iŭta-s isz-iŭti pri-morije 'the region by the sea' (pri mori). na-glavije 'turban' (that which is on the head [na glavě]). Cp. Miklosich, Denkschr. d. Wiener Ak. XIII 19 f.

sq-logŭ 'consors tori' cp. Gr. ἄ-λογος, Idg. som-* sqi-* 'together, with'. pa-dŭšti 'step-daughter': Lith. pó-dukra.

Class IV. bratŭ-sestra 'brother and sister'; this was inflected like the nom. du. of an o-stem, hence bratŭsestroma, compare the dimin. bratŭsestrica. Jisusŭ-Christosŭ has gen. Jisusŭ-Christosa. dŭva-desetŭinŭ 'twenty' (beside dvo-desetŭinŭ), derived from dŭva desetŭ ('two decades') 'twenty'. Many similar examples occur in modern Slavonic dialects; e. g. in Polish wielka-noc ('great night') 'Easter' has gen. dat. wielkanocy.

polu-nošti 'in the middle (loc.) of the night (gen.), at midnight', and similarly polu-dine 'at midday'; compare polu-noštije 'midnight' polu-dinje 'midday', polu-noštini adj. 'of midnight' polu-dinini adj. 'of midday' obonūpolinū 'situated on the further bank', derived from obū onū polū 'on that side, on the further bank'. peŕt-na-desętinū 'fifteenth', derived from peŕt na desęte (five on ten) 'fifteen'. With -o-, the 'vowel of composition', inserted: osmo-na-desętū 'eighteenth', cp. Gr. καλο-κἀγαθία § 30 p. 51. Compare on this subject Baudouin de Courtenay in Kuhn-Schleicher's Beitr. IV 204 ff.

krŭvi-prolitije (beside kruv-o-prolitije, see above) 'bloodshed', gen. of krŭvŭ 'blood'. domu-zakonnikū 'house-manager', gen. or loc. of domū 'house'. bratu-ęęda (beside brato-ęęda) 'brother's daughter', dat. (possessive dat.) of bratū 'brother', bogu-mrŕizŭkŭ (beside bogo-mrŕizŭkū) 'hated of God' bogu-milū (beside bogo-milū) 'dear to God' (proper name), dat. of bogŭ 'God'. doma-ęędŭci 'domi natus, vernaculus' doma-živŭci 'living at a place, inhabitant', doma adv. 'at home' from domū. As the special meaning given by the case of the first member became obscured, there sprang up formations like Czech. Bohu-sud on the analogy of Bohu-mŕl, cp. O.C.Sl. bogo-sęđŭnĕ adv. 'dei iudicio'.

The -i- appearing in the cases of the i-stems (krŭvi-prolitije) was connected in popular usage with verbs in -iti and treated as having an imperatival force. Such a form, for instance, as Misti-drugŭ (Czech. Msti-druh) was properly 'ultionis socius', mŕsti being gen. of mŕstŭ 'vengeance'; but since mŕsti was also 2. sing. impv. of mŕstiti 'to avenge', the word came to be regarded as meaning 'ulciscere socium'. This change of meaning produced a large number of compounds which were either formed on the new type, or altered to suit it, e. g. Serv. Ljubi-voj ('love the warrior', ljubiti 'to love') instead of Ljubo-voj*, cp. Ljubo-brat 'φιλάδελφος'. See Osthoff, Verbum i. d. Nom. p. 209 ff. Cp. § 30. 41.

NOUN COMPOUNDS CONSIDERED IN RESPECT OF THEIR MEANING.

§ 48. In Stem-Compounds of the proethnic Indo-Germanic type (e g. Skr. aśva-hayā-s Gr. ἰππόβοτος) the nature of the relation which the first member of the compound bore to the second was quite undefined to start with. It was implied solely in the particular meaning which happened to be assigned to any one such combination. The logical relation between the two parts must naturally have assumed a different character in different cases. If the parts of a compound meant 'sun' and 'moon' respectively, the logical connexion between them would not be the same as if they meant 'sun' and 'beam': 'sun and moon' in the first case, 'beam of the sun' in the second. If words meaning 'man' and 'slaying' were compounded, they would be related in one way ('slaying a man'), words meaning 'spear' and 'slaying', in another ('slaying with the spear'). A number of compounds whose parts had the same logical connexion would form a group, and many such groups arose in the proethnic Indo-Germanic period. Hence even the proethnic compounds of noun-stems may be arranged in a series of Classes according to their meaning. These Classes, we shall find, need no serious extension to include all the compounds of this kind formed at later times in the separate languages.

The compounds whose initial member was a definite inflexional form have a different history. From the first this inflected form gave to the relation between the parts a perfectly defined meaning, e. g. Skr. divi-jā- 'born in heaven', divi-rūc- 'shining from heaven'. It must be observed, however, that in later times the special meaning attached to the inflexional ending of the initial member was often forgotten. Cp. § 17 p. 32 f.

The native grammarians of India and modern students of language in Europe have devoted much labour to the task of classifying compounds according to their meaning.

Remark. It must be confessed that in these attempts at classification scholars have almost from first to last allowed too much influence to a desire for logical symmetry, and too little to the true historical method, which abstains from all criticism that is merely a priori and that is not directly suggested by and limited to the nature of the facts to be studied. In particular it is often forgotten that in most compounds the mutual relation of the two parts in the mind of the speaker which the scholar has to reproduce is a conception far too indefinite and variable to be confidently assigned, as too often it is, to this one or that of the numerous classes of meaning. Hence there has often been a needless amount of contention as to whether a compound belongs to one class or the other, whether for example Skr. sakhi-gana- (sakhi- 'friend', gana- 'band') is one of the Dependent [Whitney, Skr Gr § 1263] or of the Descriptive [ib § 1279] compounds (whether it is equivalent to 'amicorum caterva' or 'amica caterva'), or whether πατρις in πατρις-γονις 'patricide' is to be regarded as genitive or accusative. But as a rule these precise relations of meaning were simply imported into the words by the grammarian — a mistake natural enough where a paraphrase was needed to render the compounds into other languages — whilst the speakers themselves were content with a general impression of the meaning. If the established canons are to be strictly maintained, we must at least allow a large number of intermediate stages, in which the different classes meet.

§ 49. There are two leading principles by which we can distinguish the different kinds of compounds, which go back to the protoethnic period and which are of primary importance in any attempt to classify the compounds according to their meanings. First 'coordinating compounds, (called in Sanskrit dvandva) are opposed to 'subordinating compounds', and secondly 'non-epithetised' (nicht mutierte) are opposed to 'epithetised' (mutierte) compounds'. But in neither pair were the contrasted classes ever absolutely distinct, there were always various intermediate stages between one class and the other.

In the first of the two contrasted classes, the coordinating compounds, the two members stand side by side on the same level, nothing more being implied than the addition of two items, these may be regarded as joined together by 'and', whence such compounds have been called 'copulative'. In subordinating compounds, on the other hand, one member is defined more closely by the other, the one contains the principal idea, the other is merely an adjunct subordinated to it.

The subordinating compounds certainly formed by far the larger group in the Indo-Germanic period, and so it has remained in nearly all the subsequent developments of the separate languages (Sanskrit is an exception, see p. 90 f.). The way in which one of the two members was defined by the other was shewn in each case by their meaning or grammatical character, and in all periods it has varied between very wide limits. We may instance the following groups of compounds with parallel meanings in the different languages.

1. Skr. rāja-rśi-ś 'a sage who is a king, royal sage', Gr. ἰατρό-μαρτις 'a seer who is a physician', Lat. angui-pēs 'having a foot which is a serpent, serpent-footed', O.Ir. rīg-faith 'a prophet who is a king, royal prophet' ban-clu 'a dog which is a female, bitch', Goth. þiu-magus 'a boy who is a servant' (translation of παῖς) O.H.G. gold-ring 'a ring which is gold, gold ring', Lith. obel-medis 'a tree which is a pyrus malus (obells), apple-tree', O.C.Sl. konje-člověku 'a man who is a horse, centaur'.

2. Skr. mātṛ-śvasar- 'mother's sister', Armen. skesr-ar 'mother-in-law's husband', Gr. πατρ-ἀδελφός 'father's brother', Lat. mūs-cerda 'mouse's dung', O.Ir. rīg-thech 'king's house', Goth. þiudan-gardi f 'king's house', Lith. broč-ū-vaikis 'brother's child' O.C.Sl. brato-čęda 'brother's daughter' Cp. compounds containing genitive forms like Skr. mātuh-śvasar- 'mother's sister', Armen. haur-elbar 'father's brother'

3. Skr. adhara-hanú-ś 'lower jawbone', Armen. kaj-air 'valiant man', Gr. ἐκπό-πολις 'upper city, upper part of the city', Lat. plēni-lūnum 'full moon' longi-pēs 'having a long foot', O.Ir. find-folt 'having white hair', Goth. hrúnja-hairts 'having a pure heart', O.H.G. junc-frouwa 'young lady', Lith. ju'd-varnis 'black raven' rud-kāklis 'having a red neck' O.C.Sl. krivo-nosū 'crook-nosed'.

4. Skr. saptá-rśay-as pl. 'the seven wise men' (name given to the Great Bear) tri-rātrá-mi 'space of time including three nights', Armen. hiug-am 'five years, quinquennium', Gr. τρι-πόδες 'three-legged frame' τέτταρ-ἵππων 'team of four horses', Lat. bi-pēs tri-noctium, O.Ir. tre-choste 'tripod' Gall. tri-garanus 'provided with three cranes', O.H.G. zwi-houbit 'having two heads', Lith. tri-rāšis 'having three prongs' O.C.Sl. tri-zabŭ 'having three teeth'.

5. Skr. tāmra-dhūmrā-s 'dark tan-coloured', Gr. ὀγρό-ξανθός 'pale yellow', O.Ir. dub-glass 'dark blue', Mid.H.G. bleich-grüne 'pale green', Lith. jū'd-bėris 'black-brown' Russ. světlo-zelenyj 'light green'.

6. Skr. vēda-vīd- 'knowing the Veda, Veda-knower', Gr. βου-πλήξ 'goading oxen, ox-goad', Lat. jū-dex 'declaring right, judge'.

In this way a large number of categories may be distinguished; but the boundary line between any two is never clearly marked.

The coordinating compounds have nowhere been largely developed except in Sanskrit, and there only in the post-Vedic period. Probably there was a time in proethnic Indo-Germanic when no compounds of this class existed except those which had a case-form for their initial member, e. g. duō-dekē* 'twelve' (2 + 10). Skr. dvā-daśa etc., see § 16 p. 32; and dvandva compounds with a stem for the initial member only arose when compounds containing a case were re-modelled on the analogy of the older subordinating class, which had the simple stem. This process of conversion may often be traced with certainty in historical times, e. g. Skr. parjānya-vāta instead of the older form parjānya-vāta 'rameloud and wind' (§ 24 p. 41), cp. also Gr. καλο-καταθία, ρηλιπο-καίβληπέλαιος, O.C.Sl. osmo-nadesetŭ (§ 30 p. 51), and Skr. pūrva-pūrvas for pūrvas-pūrvas and the like, § 53. The use of the stem instead of a case cemented the combination more firmly; and such a process would be all the more natural because many compounds of the subordinating class approach very closely to the coordinating compounds in regard to the particular relation subsisting between their parts, and there was never any sharp distinction between the two groups (cp. p. 91).

Whether dvandva compounds were formed with the simple stem in proethnic Aryan is doubtful. Even in the Rig-Veda, coordinating compounds containing the simple stem occur only rarely by the side of those containing a case; e. g. ajāvāyas (aja-avāyas) pl. 'goats and sheep'. The extension of the class is a special developement in Sanskrit, spreading only by slow degrees, until in the classical language we find any number of nouns thus strung together into what was grammatically a single word, as mukhabahūrupādātas (mukha-bāhu-uru-pādātas) 'from countenance, arms, thighs, and feet'. In non-Aryan languages, coordinating compounds containing a stem are, on the whole, comparatively rare. In Greek no clear examples occur until rather late, e. g. λιρ-ασπίδ- 'lyres and shields' seen in τορφευτο-λυρασπίδο-πηγύς 'joining together turned lyres and shields'¹⁾, νυχθ-ήμερον 'diem noctemque', λουτρὰ ἀνδρῶ-γυναι 'baths for men and women alike', λευκο-μύλας 'white and black'; in Modern Greek there are many formations of this kind, as γυναῖκό-παιδα 'women and children', μαχαίρο-πύρρα 'knives and forks'. Lat. reci-procu-s, originally 'going backwards and forwards' (§ 86 a), su-ove-taurīlia (the form su-ovi-taurīlia is perhaps more correct) 'a sacrifice in which a pig, a sheep, and an ox are slain'. In Keltic and Germanic I know of no examples except those whose initial member may conceivably be a case, as Mid.Ir. brat-gaisced 'mantle and weapons' gorm-gel 'blue and white' O.H.G. sunu-fatar-ungo Hild. 4 'people of the son and the father' (-unga- is a suffix which denotes 'belonging to' something, cp. § 88) and O.Sax. gi-sūn-fader 'son and father', whose initial member may be nom. sing. (cp. O.C.Sl. bratīi-sestra, where it is certainly so). Lith. vyr-moterimis 'concerning man and wife, concerning married people', Lett. mišch-āufas 'barley and oats'; O.C.Sl. maže-ženū 'having the nature of man and of woman, ἀνδρόγυνος' (Gregor. Naz.), Russ. bēlo-rumjanyj 'white and red' (of the face).

We have already remarked that there is no fixed boundary between coordinating and subordinating compounds. The Greek ἰατρό-μαντις, which was placed in the latter class on p. 89, may be also taken to mean 'one who is physician and seer', and similarly there are two possible explanations of such compounds as τραγ-έλαφος 'goat-stag' γλυ-κί-πιτρος 'bitter-sweet', Lat. dulc-acidus, and many more in all the Indo-Germanic languages

1) This would be a dvandva compound even if the scholiast's explanation were correct: οἱ τορφεύουσι λύρας καὶ ἀσπίδας πηγνύουσι.

§ 50. The distinction between the two classes of compounds which we term 'non-epithetised' and 'epithetised' (other terms widely used are 'primary' and 'secondary', compounds of 'lower' or of 'higher order', the second class is called by the Sanskrit grammarians bahuvrīhi) depends upon a certain change of meaning in the compounds, developed in proethnic Indo-Germanic, and since that time constantly repeated in new-examples. For instance, dus-menes-* 'evil mind' (immutatum) acquired the meaning 'an evil-minded person' (mutatum) (nom. sing. Skr. durmanas Gr. δυσμενής), and in Modern German dick-kopf 'thick-head' means 'a thick-headed person' [cp. Eng. redbreast etc.] The essential point in this process is the conversion of a substantive into an adjective, the concrete meaning was disregarded, so that the idea remaining in the word was solely that of the quality or qualities which belonged to the concrete person or thing. This developement of meaning is one which may often be traced even in uncompounded substantives, and it will often meet us again in the course of our investigation. The substantival origin of these forms is still sometimes shewn in the deficient expression of their adjectival function, e. g. in Greek ρόδοδάκτυλο- 'rosy-fingered' was used in spite of its -ο- for the fem. as well as the masc., and χρῆσο-ρόμη- 'golden-haired' in spite of its -η- for the masc. as well as the feminine. But extended formations were very soon developed to give fuller expression to the adjectival character of the compounds; for instance the adjectival -ιο- had come to be used as a convenient affix in the proethnic period: cp. Skr. dāśa-mās-īya- 'happening every ten months' etc., § 63, 2. It is probable, as we saw in § 19 p. 35, that there was even then a difference in accentuation between the mutata and the immutata.

The student must be on his guard against the idea that every epithetised compound in the Indo-Germanic languages has passed through this course of developement for itself. By far the greatest number were formed with the derived sense, on the model of older forms.

Both subordinating and coordinating compounds containing substantives are found with the epithetised meaning, e. g. Gr. πολύ-οινος 'having much wine' and ἀνδρό-γυνος 'intended for men and women' (λοιστόν). Examples have been given in the preceding section, and to these a few may be added from the group of subordinating compounds. Skr. hiraṇya-kēśa-s 'golden-haired', Armen. hast-a-bazuk 'strong-armed', Gr. λευκό-αἰμος 'white-armed', Lat. māgn-animus, O.Ir. nocht-chenn 'bare-headed', Goth hráinja-halits 'who has a pure heart', Lith minkszgulvis 'who has a weak head' = 'soft-headed' O.C. Sl. črno-vlasū 'black-haired'. cp. the non-epithetised compounds Skr. adhara-hanú-s 'lower jawbone', Gr. ἀρό-πολις 'upper city' etc. p. 89. Skr. a-putrá-s 'who has not a son, sonless' Armen. an-kin 'who has no wife, widower', Gr. ἄ-παῖς 'childless', Lat. im-berbis, Mod.Cymr. an-nwedd 'endless, unending' (from Mid.Cymr. duwed 'end' = O.Ir. dēad); in Germanic and in Balto-Slavonic there is no group of epithetised compounds with ṛ-* 'un-', but cp. Mod.H.G. eme verfolgte unschuld = 'innocent person', lit. 'persecuted innocence', Lith ne-kalbù 'no-speech' = 'who says nothing'. Parallel to these are the non-epithetised compounds, Skr. á-kumāra-s 'no boy (any longer)', Lat. in-unīcu-s, O.H.G. un-chruft 'weakness', etc.

Finally we must observe that even between mutata and immutata no sharp line can be drawn. Take for example the Greek ἄδωρα δωρα 'gifts that are no gifts' (Soph. Aj. 665). Here ἄδωρα may be regarded equally well as a substantive or an adjective; so also πῶλις νόπτολις (Aesch. Eumen. 690) and similar instances. In these the feeling of the language may be as undecided as it is e. g. in the Mod.H.G. phrases es ist not 'there is need of it, it is needed', er ist schuld 'he is the guilty cause, it is his fault' and the like. Speaking generally, no sharp distinction between substantive and adjective can be drawn in the Indo-Germanic languages (§ 138).

§ 51. We distinguish three groups:

I. Forms in which the first element of the reduplication is a more or less complete form of the root, e. g. Skr. gár-gar-as 'eddy';

II. Forms in which it is a noun-stem, e. g. Skr. sukha-sukhēna (instr.) 'very gladly',

III. Forms in which it is a case-form, e. g. Skr. divē-divē 'daily, day by day' (loc.).

With the second group should be compared such compounds as Skr. sukha-svāpa-s 'pleasant sleep'; with the third, compounds like Skr. divō-jā-s 'child of heaven' (§ 10 ff.).

§ 52. Class I. A number of the words belonging to this class may have been either formed directly as nouns, or derived from older reduplicated verbal forms. No certain line of distinction can be drawn, and though we shall here take no account of verbal nouns in the strict sense, i. e. participles etc. (e. g. Gr. κρ-ρρᾱγ-μός), yet we must include many nouns which were certainly formed in connexion with the verbal system (e. g. Gr. κρ-ρρᾱγ-μός).

As regards forms with 'broken reduplication' see § 6 p. 13.

1. Many reduplicated forms derived from roots beginning in a consonant stand in more or less clear connexion with intensive verbal formations, as Skr. dár-dar-ti 'rends asunder, shatters'.

Skr. gár-gar-as 'eddy', Gr. γαρ-γαρ-εὖν 'uvula' γέρ-γερ-ος 'throat, gullet', Lat. gur-gul-iō gur-g-es, O.H.G. quer-chal-a quer-ch-a O.Icel. kver-k 'throat' (for the interchange of r and l see I § 282 p. 225 f.): cp. the Skr. intensive verbal forms, part. jár-gur-āṇa-s and 2 sing. jal-gul-a-s. Skr. bam-bhar-a-s 'bee', Gr. πεμ-περ-ηδών a kind of wasp: bhem-bh(e)r-* for bher-bher-*, see I § 282 p. 226. Gr. τῆ-θῆ 'grandmother' τῆ-θί-s 'aunt', Lith. dē-dē 'uncle' O.C.Sl. dě-dŭ 'grandfather'.

1) The authorities on this subject are cited on p. 11, footnote 2.

Skr. gad-gad-as 'stammering', beside gád-a-ti 'pronounces'. cañ-cal-cas 'moving to and fro' beside 3. sing. cañ-cal-ya-tē. Avest. ra-rem-u- 'resting, reposing', from $\sqrt{\text{rem-}}$. Skr. rē-rih-ás 'licking' vē-vij-ás 'hastening'.

Gr. βάρ-βαρ-ος 'speaking unintelligibly': Lat. bal-b-u-s, cp. Skr. bal-bal-a-karōmi 'I stammer'. γογ-γύλ-ος 'round', beside γαυλό-ς 'milk-pail, vessel'. παι-πάλ-η 'flour-dust', beside πάλ-η 'flour-dust, dust', Lat. pollen.

Lat. quer-quer-u-s 'cold, so as to make one shiver'; compare perhaps Goth. faúrht-s 'timid' (Bezzenger in his Beitr. XII 77, and above, I § 444 p. 329). Mar-mar (Song of the Arval Brethren): Gr. υάρ-μαρ-ος 'gleaming, shining'? (Pauli, Altital. Stud. IV 56 ff.). derbīōsu-s 'full of scabs or sores' for der-d-u-* (I § 170 p. 150): Skr. dar-dr-u-* dar-d-ū- 'eruption on the skin'. can-cer (I § 269 p. 217): Gr. καρ-κ-ίνο-ς Skr. kar-kata-s 'crab'.

O.Ir dor-d 'susurrus' (cp. 3. sing. mid. derdrethar 'there is a sound, a cry'). Gr. τερ-τερ-εῖα 'empty chatter' τορ-θρ-ύ-ς 'murmur'. grai-g 'drove of horses' for gra-gi-?*: Gr. γέρ-γερ-α πολλά Hesych., γάρ-γαρ-α 'swarm, heap' (γαρ-γαίρω 'I swarm'), Lat. grex stem gre-g-; cp. § 160 Rem. 1.

Mid H.G. mur-mer mur-mel 'murmur, growl, dull sound' (O.H.G. mur-mur-ōn mur-mul-ōn 'to murmur'): Skr. mar-mar-a-s 'roaring, roar', Lat. mur-mur, cp. Gr. μορμήρω for μορ-μυρ-ιω* 'I murmur, roar', Lith. mūr-m-u 'I growl'. O.H.G. muo-ma 'mother's sister': Lith. mo-mā O.C.Sl. ma-ma 'mother'.

Russ. pele-pel-ka pere-pel (I § 251 Rem. 2 p. 224 f.) Lith. pė-pal-a (or pė-pal-a) Lat. pai-pal-a Pruss. pen-pal-o 'quail' cp. Lat. pul-pul-āre pul-p-āre 'cry, shriek' (of birds)? O.C.Sl. gla-gol-ŭ 'noise, word' for gol-gol-* (loc. cit.): Skr. gar-gar-a-s a musical instrument, Gr. γαρ-γαρ-ί-ς θόρυβος Hesych. (cod. γαργυρής). Lith. kañ-kañ-a-s 'bell' kañ-kl-ys 'guitar' O.C.Sl. kla-kol-ŭ 'bell' for kol-kol-* (loc. cit.)· Skr. kar-kar-i-ś 'sound'. Serv. vje-ver-ica Mod.Slov. vě-ver-ica Lith. vo-ver-ė vañ-ver-i-s Lett. wā-wer-i-s Pruss. we-war-e: Mod.Pers. var-var-ah Mod.Cymr. gwy-wer 'squirrel'. Mod.Slov. Mod.Bulg. pa-prat Pol. pa-proć Russ. pa-poroť and Lith. (borrowed?) pa-párti-s 'fern', cp. O.H.G. var-n 'fern'.

2. In other nouns from roots beginning in a consonant the form of the reduplication must be compared with that seen in verbal forms with Idg. e, such as Gr. δέ-δορξ-α κέ-κλ-ετο; and there is no doubt that in some cases there is a direct connexion between the verbal and nominal forms.

Skr. ba-bhr-ú-ś adj. 'brown', (when used as a subst. it means a large kind of ichneumon) Avest. ba-wr-i-š 'beaver', O.H.G. bíbar (cp. filu 'much' ground-form pelu*) Lith. bėbru-s O.C.Sl. bebrŭ 'beaver', Idg. bhe-bhr-u-*, Gall. Bibrax and Lat. fibex belong to 3 (infra), so also perhaps Corn. befer 'beaver' (which however may very possibly be a word borrowed from A.S.). Skr. ca-kr-á-m 'circle, wheel' Avest. ca-wr-e-m 'wheel', A.S. hweo-wol hweol 'wheel', Idg. qe-ql-o-*, cp. also Gr. ρί-κλ-ο-ς vol. I § 427 p. 314 and the unreduplicated O.C.Sl. kolo (stem koles-) n. 'wheel'.

Skr. va-vr-i-ś 'covering' va-vr-á-s 'hiding oneself' Avest. -vaoiri- 'husk' (for ua-ur-i-*, I § 160 p. 144), cp. the Skr. perfect stem va-vr- from var- 'cover over'. Skr. cá-kr-i-ś 'effecting' ca-kr-u-ś 'accomplisher', cp. the perfect stem ca-kr-. Skr. da-d-i-ś 'giving' dá-dh-i-ś 'bestowing', cp. the present and perfect stems da-d-, da-dh-. With these compare Ved. sā-sah-t-i-ś 'victorious', with the perfect stem sā-sah-. Skr. da-dhṛṣ-á-s 'bold, courageous'. Avest. za-zar-an- 'raging'.

Gr. τέ-ταρ-ο-ς 'tension of the limbs', from √ten-. τέ-τραξ probably 'gumehen', beside τε-τράζω cackle'. κε-κρύφ-αλο-ς and κε-κρύφ-αλο-ς 'net-headress, hood', beside κέ-ρυμφ-α. βέ-βη-λο-ς 'accessible, profanus', beside βέ-βη-γα. κε-κράγ-μιό-ς 'cry', beside κί-κράγ-α. πε-ποιθήσας 'trust' (late), beside πί-ποιθ-α. σέ-σφ-ο-ς πανούργος Hesych. πέ-πλ-ο-ς 'outside garment, cloak, covering, the peritoneum', probably to be compared with πέλλα 'skin, leather' πέλμα 'sole of the foot or shoe'.

Lat. me-mor: cp. Gr. μέμ-μεμ-ο-ς 'noteworthy, horrible' and Skr. perf. sa-smāra (Osthoff, Paul-Br. Beitr. VIII 549 f.).

fe-br-i-s, compare Skr. bhur-á-ti 'is unquiet, throbs'. səd-es for se-zd-*, ✓ sed-, cp. I § 314 Rem. p. 253.

O.H.G. zittar-oh A.S. teter 'pustular eruption', pr. Germ. te-tr-u*: Skr. da-dr-u- Lith. de-der-vinė 'pustular eruption', cp. Lat. der-b-īdus etc. formed on the type of 1, p. 95.

Lith. tē-tervina-s 'heathcock' O.C.Sl. te-trēm 'pheasant': Gr. τέ-τροις τέ-τρας τε-τράων a kind of fowl, cp. also Skr. ti-ttīri-ś ti-ttirá-s 'partridge'. O.C.Sl. pe-pelŭ (beside po-pelŭ) 'ashes', cp. Czech. pld-pol 'flame'. Lith. te-tà O.C.Sl. te-ta 'aunt, nurse': Gr. τέ-τρα 'little father, dad', cp. Skr. tā-tā-s, a word used by parents in addressing children and vice versa, Lat. ta-ta, Lith. tē-ti-s 'little father'.

3. In another group of formations from stems beginning in a consonant, the reduplication resembles that of verbal forms with Idg. ι, such as Gr. ἱ-στη-μι, and there is no doubt that sometimes they stand in direct connexion with them. On the whole, however, such forms are rare.

We have no doubt a genuine Indo-Germanic example in Skr. śi-śir-a-s 'cold, frost; cold (adj.)' (ground-form ki-kŷl-o-*), with which Bugge (Arkiv for nord. filol. II 355) connects O.Icel. hella f. 'rime' for pr. Germ. χί-χλ-ōn*, and possibly another in Skr. śi-śu-ś 'young creature, child' if it is identical with Gr. κί-κν-ς 'strength' (compared with Skr. śva 'to swell out', Gr. κνέω)?

Skr. ci-kiṭ- 'comprehending, aware', cp. pres. ci-kēṭ-ti. śi-śay-ás 'driving onwards'. śi-śnátha-s 'grasp'. ci-kur-a-s 'hair of the head', beside Lat. cirru-s?

Gr. τι-θήνη τί-τρη 'nurse' τί-τθο-ς 'mother's breast', beside θη-λή 'mother's breast'. βί-βασις a kind of dance (late), beside βί-βάζω. ί-στό-ς 'weaver's beam, mast', beside ἱ-στη-μι. ι-αγή 'cry' beside ι-άχω for fi-Faxω*. δι-δαχή 'instruction' beside δι-δάσκω (for the χ cp. δε-δίδαχα). γί-γαρ-το-ν 'grape-stone', beside Lat. grā-nu-m.

Remark. In τι-θύμαλο-ς 'wolf's-milk' (a plant), Τι-τυο-ς a giant (cp. Skr. tā-tu-má-s 'strong') and the like, it is possible that ι has come from υ, as in πι-πυ-ρό-ς, see I § 48 p. 41.

Lat. qui-squil-iae, beside Gr. ρο-σκυλ-μάτια 'shreds of leather'. ci-cer, compare no doubt Skr. kar-kar-a-s Gr. κάρο-καρο-ος (Hesych.) 'hard'. ci-cōnia, Praenest. cōnia ci-cmd-ēla, beside candeō.

O.H.G. fi-faltra (fī-faltra? cp. Mid.H.G. vī-valter) A.S. fi-foldara O.Icel fi-frildi 'butterfly'. O.H.G. wi-wint 'whirlwind', beside a present wi-wī-m*? O.H.G. wiunman 'to swarm' for wi-wiunman* (Kogel, Literaturbl. f. germ. und rom. Phil. 1887 n. 3).

4. Even nouns derived from roots beginning in a sonant stand side by side with parallel reduplicated forms in the verb.

Skr. ul-ul-i-ś 'ululabilis' or 'ululatus', Gr. ὤλ-ολ-υ-ς 'howler, womanish man' ὀλ-ολ-ῖ-γγή 'shriek, cry of mourning', Lat. ul-ul-a 'little screechowl', cp also Skr. ar-ar-ē used as a sudden call, Gr. Dor ἀλ-αλ-ᾶ 'battle-cry', Mod.Bulg. ol-el-e, an exclamation of sorrow. Skr. Ved. viy-ān-aś-i-ś 'piercing', Gr. ποδ-ην-εκ-ής 'reaching down to the feet', beside Skr. perf. an-aś-a (Gr. ἐν-εγκ-εῖν, Gr. -εκ- in words like ποδ-εν-εκ-ής no doubt stands in place of the regular form -αρ- = -ῆ- through the influence of the syllable -εγγ-.

Skr. ar-ar-i-ś ar-ar-ū-s 'leaf of a folding-door', no doubt from √ar- 'to arrive at anything, fit oneself in' Gr. ἀρ-ἀρ-ισκε 'he fitted on'. aś-iś-iṣu-ś 'hungry' beside the desiderative aś-iśati 'he wishes to eat'.

Gr. ἀκ-ακ-ία 'acacia' ἀν-ωκ-ή 'point, edge', beside ἄν-ανο-ς 'thoru' part ἀκ-αχ-μένος 'pointed'. ἀλ-άλαγξ η πλάνη Hesych, beside ἀλ-άομαι 'roam about'. ἀγ-αγύρετην ἀγύρετην Hesych., cp. παν-ήγουρι-ς 'general assembly'. ἀγ-ωγ-ός-ς 'leader' ἀγ-ωγ-ή 'guidance', beside aor. ἀγ-αγ-τιν. ἐδ-ηδ-ών φαγέδαινα Hesych, ἐδ-ωδ-ή 'food', beside perf. ἐδ-ήδ-οκα part. ἐδ-ηδ-ώς. ὀπ-ωπ-ή 'sight' παρῶθεν-οπ-τήν-ης 'ogling the maidens', beside perf. ὀπ-ωπ-α. ὀν-ωκ-ή 'support' like the Homer. part. συν-οκ-ωχ-ότε is a late formation, since the root was segh-.

Lat. up-up-a 'hoopoe': Gr ἀπ-αφ-ός-ς and ἐπ-οψ. The vocalism of these words seems to have been influenced by analogy:

ἀναπό-ς was no doubt popularly connected with animal names in -απο-ς (§ 78), ἐνοψ with adjectives in -οψ like αἰθ-οψ.

§ 53. Class II. This class is scantily represented; and although it is probable a priori that such forms should have come into use in the same period of the protoethnic language in which stem-compounds like Skr. dvi-pád- Gr. δί-πῶδ- had arisen (§ 10. 11. p. 22 ff.), yet all extant examples seem to have come from compounds consisting of repeated case-forms (Class III), which were afterwards re-modelled. This latter would be the same process as we assumed for coordinating stem-compounds such as Skr. parjanya-vāta (§ 49 p. 90), which these reduplicated forms approach very closely in usage as well as in form.

Skr. uttarōttara-s for utara-utara-s* 'always increasing' uttarōttara-m adv. 'ever higher and higher' sukha-sukhēna instr. 'very gladly' (Pāṇini). pūrva-pūrva-s 'he who from time to time is first, precedes', superl. pūrvapūrvatama-s, instead of which in the Veda we have pūrva-s-pūrva-s. ēkāka-s 'one at a time' for aṅka-aṅka-s*, comp. ēkākatara-s, instead of which in Vedic we have ēka-ēka-s = ēkō-ēka-s*, pr Ar. aṅka-s-aṅka-s* (I § 556 p. 411 f., § 647 p. 491).

Armen. mec-a-mec 'very great' çar-a-çar 'very bad', with the same -a- as e. g. dr-a-kac § 28 p. 45, which would not prevent our assuming that the first part was originally a case-form, see p. 46, under Class IV.

Gr. (late) αὐτ-αυτο-ς with the meaning of αὐτότατος and of Lat. ipsimus ipsissimus, cp. O.H.G. selb-selbo § 54.

A Keltic form which should no doubt be mentioned here is O.Ir. al-aile 'alius', from which ar-aile arose by disimilation; also Cymr. ar-all (Zeuss² 359. 402), further the form alaaili with indala n-ai in Zeuss, p. 360.

§ 54. Class III. It may be assumed that this type dates from the protoethnic period of Indo-Germanic. It is however difficult to say how far the words of this class in the separate Indo-Germanic languages were merely analogical formations modelled upon older forms already existing, and how far they arose from an actual repetition in which the repeated word was still independent (e. g. poor poor child). In all languages and at all periods such doubled forms might very naturally arise. Moreover it must be once more observed that the boundary line between a phrase consisting of a word used twice in succession (as Lat. mē mē, Vergil Aen. IX 427) and a new single word (mēmē, tētē, sēsē) cannot be regarded as constant.

Skr. tvā-tvam 'thou', a strengthening of tvām, Lat. mē-mē tē-tē sē-sē, Mid Cymr mi-vi for mi-mi*, a strengthening of mi 'I', ti-di for ti-ti*, a strengthening of ti 'thou', ni-ni a strengthening of ni 'we'. Skr. yād-yad 'whatsoever', yāthā-yathā 'howsoever', like Lat. quid-quid quā-quā quantus-quantus. Cp. also Skr. prā-pra and Gr. πρό-προς (Hom. προπρο-κλίνδομαι) 'on and on, ever forwards'¹).

In Sanskrit we frequently meet with doubled forms like dhar-ahar 'day by day', padē-padē 'step by step, at every step', dāmē-damē 'in every house', prīyā-s-prīya-s 'very dear'.

Gr. πάμ-παν 'entirely' cp. Skr. śāśvacchaśvat 'on and on, ever anew' for śāśvat-śāśvat* (I § 352 p. 274), śā-śvant = Gr. ᾗ-πανν- see I 166 p. 147, § 384 p. 289.

In Latin we find only the pronominal forms; such as mē-mē, quis-quis and the adv. jam-jam. ips-ipsus (for ips(e) ipse*) is uncertain (Wolfflin, Gemin. p. 472). In later times were developed such forms as Fr. bon-bon 'sweetmeat' jou-jou 'toy'; Ital. tututto 'entirely' stands for tuto-tuto* (tutto tutto) through syllabic dissimilation (I § 643 p. 481 ff.).

Mod.Ir. mōr-mhōr 'great, chief, principal'. Mod.Cymr. uwyr-uwyr 'more and more' gwel-wel 'better and better'.

O.H.G. selb-selbo 'idem ipse'. Mod.H.G. dial. āll-all 'complete, at an end' wē-wē (Rhine-Fr., i. e. weh-weh) n. 'small wound'.

1) The comparison of Skr. sā-sam 'together' with Mod.Bulg. sū-s Russ. so-s 'with' is certainly not warranted. I regard the latter as a contaminated formation, occasioned by the phonetic changes of pr. Slav. sū, which in certain positions became s. Similarly we have Mod.Bulg. vū-v 'in'. See the Author, Morph. Unters. III 71.

Cp. also O.H.G. sō-so, a strengthening of sō 'so' (possibly instr. of syo-*).

Lith. jī-jī jō-jō from jī 'cum' jō 'eius', and the like.

called the root-portion of a word and the formative suffixes. Some of the elements which are treated here as formative suffixes may have originally been the last sound or sounds of a root, that is, of a word which does not owe its existence to composition; and this may be true of the whole group of sounds of which the suffix consists, or it may be only its initial part which belonged to the root. I must exclude all conjecture as to which of the particular Indo-Germanic suffixes had this origin.

In the following pages only those suffixes are discussed which had already become suffixes in the strict sense at the time when the separate Indo-Germanic languages began to be developed.

§ 56. Many formative suffixes whose meaning is simple can be resolved into distinct elements, e. g. -tro- into -tr- + -o-, cp. Skr. ari-tra- m n 'oar' beside ari-tar- ari-tr- m. 'oarsman' (§ 62), -isto- into -is- + -to-, cp. Skr. nāv-iśtha- 'novissimus' beside nāv-gas- 'novior' (§ 81)

Generally speaking we find that compound suffixes of this sort in the later periods of the history of language are due to either one or other of three causes.

Works which treat of a single suffix will be cited below in the sections devoted to the separate suffixes

See also the lists of authorities on the history of case-formation.

First, a word or a group of words may have been transferred from one declension to another. The formative suffix is then amplified at the extremity nearest the ending of the word. This enlargement of the stem was usually brought about by the coincidence of two declensions in one or more forms; these similarities gave rise to new analogical formations. Thus e. g. the origin of the Avestic participial suffix -ant-u- (nom. sing. barantō, gen. barantahē) was that the accusative termination -em (barant-em cp Gr. φέρωντα) was placed on a level with that of aspe-m (stem aspa-) and similar forms, the origin of the Gothic suffix for names of kindred, -tr-u- (nom. pl. brōþrjus), was that the dative termination -trum (brōþrum; cp Skr. instr. bhrātṛ-bhiṣ) was placed on a level with that of sunu-m (stem sunu-). In this way nouns which at first had no formative suffix often came to possess one; as e. g. Goth. fōt-u- was due to such case-forms as the acc. sing. fōt-u = pōd-η* (see § 159).

Secondly: a suffix sometimes coalesces so completely with a part of some word to which it is added that the point of junction can no longer be perceived, and accordingly when it is used afterwards, the suffix appears in new words with part of this preceding word attached, as though it were a single element in the formation. Thus in High German the suffix -(i)nārja- (e. g. O.H.G. sculd-ināri 'debtor'), which is found parallel to -ārja- (e. g. O.H.G. mād-āri Mid.H.G. mādære 'mower, reaper') and has the same meaning, came from words like gartin-āri 'gardener' (garto gen. gartin 'garden') weidin-āri 'hunter' (weidinōn 'to hunt'), and in Greek the feminine formative suffix -αινα in λύκ-αινα κάπρ-αινα and so forth, came from words like γείταινα i. e. γείταν-ινα* (from γείτων), λέαινα i. e. λεFαν-ινα* (from λέων); see § 110.

Thirdly: two elements used in forming derivatives, which are nearly allied in meaning, are combined into one ('contaminated'). An accumulation of suffixes like this often arises simply from the attempt to give fuller or more distinct expression to the characteristic meaning (such as that of comparison, or a diminutival sense and so forth). Thus we have comparatives and superlatives like Skr. jyēṣṭha-tama-s from jyēṣṭha-s, Gr. ἀμεινότερος ἐλαχιστότατος, compared with ἀμεινόν ἐλάχιστος, Lat. superior extremissimus from superu-s extrēnu-s, O.H.G. hinter-ōro from hintero, Goth. hindum-ists from hinduma*, the H.G. diminutive-suffix -l-ina- in kitz-lein kind-lein and the like (O.H.G. chizz-ila and chizz-in), the (rare) Skr. abstract-suffix -tvā-tā as in puruṣa-tvā-tā 'mortality, the manner of men' (parallel forms are puruṣa-tva- and puruṣā-tā), the Lat. -u-eo- in adjectives of material, such as aēneu-s pōpulneu-s (beside these we have aēnus pōpulnus and aereu-s pōpuleu-s) with other examples.

It may be assumed without hesitation that the second and third processes gave rise to compound suffixes even in the Indo-Germanic period. In the second class should be placed e. g. -nī- beside -ī- in pot-nī-* 'lady' (Skr. pātnī Gr. πότνια), which came from such forms as tekṣn-ī-* (Skr. takṣnī- Gr. τέκταινα), the fem. of tekṣon-* 'carpenter' (Skr. tākṣan- Gr. τέκτων); see § 110. To the third class belong the superlative-suffix -t-ṛmo- (§ 73), the abstract-suffix -tā-ti- (§ 102), and others of the same sort.

§ 57. The original meaning of a suffix used in forming nouns can only be decided in instances where it became a suffix in the course of the development of the separate languages e. g. in the case of Mod.H.G. -lich, Fr. -ment. In the case of the proethnic suffixes, their etymological origin, and therefore their original meaning is altogether obscure. In order to keep within safe limits, we shall confine ourselves to determining where and how these suffixes were employed at the period when the parent language split up into its different branches, beyond this we cannot go with any hope of certainty.

If a suffix becomes fertile (see § 5), the direction in which its meaning develops is often decided not by the idea which it properly and originally contained, but by the meaning of the complete word or group of words on the analogy of which the new words are formed. Special stress must be laid on this point because it is seldom sufficiently recognised in attempts to establish the original meaning of the proethnic suffixes, and because it helps to show the great difficulty of such an undertaking.

In Latin, for example, juven-ta 'time of youth' (Goth. junda, common ground-form juun-tā*) suggested senec-ta 'time of old age', and septentrion-alis 'northern' gave rise to meridionālis 'southern'; in A.S. æf-en 'evening' was formed in imitation of morg-en, while on the other hand in Mod.H.G. we find a dialectic form morg-end like abend; in O.H.G. hieſ-altra 'hip-tree, wild dog-rose' (from hiufo), mazz-altra 'maple tree' were formed in imitation of affal-tra aphol-tra 'apple-tree'; and in Greek κάπη-αινα (fem. of κάπη-ος 'boar'), λύκ-αινα (fem. of λύκ-ος 'wolf') in imitation of λέαινα 'lioness' (for λεFav-ινα*). Here then we have examples of suffixes denoting time of life (Lat. -tā-), the points of the compass (Lat. -ionāl-), time of day (A.S. -en) and so forth in course of development. The specialising process has gone further in the case of c. g. -uo- (§ 64) in Latin and Germanic as a suffix for forming names of colours, Lat. helvo-s, gilvo-s, fulvo-s, furvo-s, flavo-s (?), O.H.G. gelo 'yellow', salo 'black, dirty', falo 'fallow, pale', A.S. baso 'purple', O.Icel. hqss 'gray', O.H.G. grāo 'gray' and others (Kluge, Nom. Stammb. 81), which perhaps arose simply from the two forms ghel-uo-* (Lat. helvo-s O.H.G. gelo) and pol-uo-* O.H.G. falo O.C.Sl. plavŭ). Cp. further the Greek -aqo- used as a suffix for names of animals, § 78. In all these instances the special meaning of the suffix is imported into it, and not a natural outgrowth of its original meaning, in the same way it is certainly due to a secondary analogical development that -en- so often recurs in words denoting parts of the body which can be traced back to the parent language, as in the words for head (Skr. śtrṣ-ān-, Gr. ἀντί-κεφαλος 'two headed', O.Icel. hjarse), for eye (Skr. akṣ-ān-, Goth. aug-an-, ep. I § 444 Rem. 3 p. 331), for ear (Goth. aus-an-, Gr. οἰατ- for οἰσ-ατ-* oys-ŷ-t-* and so forth; see § 114.

In the same way many functions of the proethnic suffixes are no doubt derived (even where it cannot be distinctly proved) from analogical extensions of their use, with which the meaning originally inherent in the suffix had nothing whatever to do.

Remark Thus I think it probable that the use of the suffix -ā- to denote female sex (e. g. Idg. ekwā-* 'mare': Skr. dśrā- Lat. equa Lith. asrā) did not spring from the original meaning of the suffix, but that some one or some few words in a, perhaps gna-* gṇā-* genā-* 'woman' (Skr. gnā- etc, see I § 428 p. 315 f. § 437 p. 325) and māmā* 'mother' (Lat. manima O.H.G. muoma Lith. momā etc) — in which the feminine gender was sufficiently implied by the root-part of the word, just as much as in māter-* 'mother' (Skr. mātā etc) — gave the suffix its special function, the expression of female sex; and that these forms were then followed by new formations like ekwā-* beside ekuo-*. Many things whose names contain an ā-suffix assumed in the popular consciousness the shape of female beings though they have nothing to do with animal sex, e. g. Gr. σελήνη 'moon'. In these words we shall generally find that the gender to begin with was purely 'grammatical', and that the ā-suffix by which the word was associated with words like ekwā-*, was the real cause of the fancy which represented the imaginary personality as a woman and not as a man conversely, for example, the Greeks imagined ἄνθρωπος as a male being, solely because of connexion of the word in form with male names in -ος, such as θεός. The notion that primitive man was endowed with so marvellous a wealth of fancy as to regard the great majority of things devoid of life and things immaterial as persons, nay more as persons belonging to one of two distinct sexes, and that the whole system of gender in nouns sprang from this source, is a one which by this time should surely have been abandoned. Cp. the Author, 'Das Nominalgeschlecht in den indogermanischen Sprachen', Zeitschr. f. allg. Sprachwiss. IV p. 100 ff.

§ 58. Following the example of the Sanskrit grammarians, scholars divide the suffixes used in noun-formation into Primary and Secondary. The former are employed in deriving words from roots or verbal stems, the latter in derivatives formed from noun-stems. Thus e. g. -tor- is a primary suffix in nom. pl. Skr. dā-tōr-as Gr. δωτορες Lat. da-tōr-ēs 'givers', Skr. jani-tār-as Gr. γενετορες Lat. geni-tōr-ēs 'begetters', Skr. bōdhay-tār-as 'awakers' Gr. ηγηγτορες 'leaders' Lat. arā-tōr-ēs 'ploughers', but -ī- is a secondary suffix in Skr. vṛk-ī Mid.H.G. wulpe 'she-wolf' (beside Skr. vṛka-s Mid.H.G. wolf 'wolf') and in Skr. vidūṣ-ī Gr. ιδεία f. 'knowing' (beside the masc. Skr. vidvān Gr. ειδώς perf.

part. from $\sqrt{\text{ueid-}}$ 'see, know'). Occasionally secondary suffixes are added even to inflected case-forms, e. g. -tero- in Skr. uccāis-tara- and so forth; see § 13 p. 29 above.

In an historical account of the developement of the Indo-Germanic languages, this difference furnishes us with no useful basis of classification. In the first place, it is to say the least very questionable whether every suffix was originally restricted to one of these two functions. In any case the distinction hardly applies at all, even in the earliest times, to many of the most widely used suffixes, e. g. -io- -no-; cp. Skr. yaj-ya-s 'venerandus' Gr. ἅγ-ιο-ς 'holy', and Skr. pitr-īya-s Gr. πάτρ-ιο-ς Lat. patr-iu-s 'fatherly, father's'. Again, we often find that suffixes which were at first restricted to the primary or the secondary use change their function in the course of their history (for other instances besides those which will be discussed below see Whitney, Skr. Gramm. § 1139 and Osthoff, Verb. in der Nominalcomposition p. 116 ff.), and this change sometimes seems to have taken place even before the separation of the languages. One example of this is -ies- -yes- -is-, the suffix of the comparative (§ 135), which, originally primary, seems to have become secondary even in protoethic Indo-Germanic, the comparatives formed by its means being regarded as derived from the corresponding 'positive' forms (cp. Skr. svād-īyan Gr. ῥδ-των beside svād-ū-ṣ ῥδ-ύ-ς). In later formations however found only in the separate languages, such as brāhm-īyan from brah-mán-, Lat. amic-ior from amicus, -ies- is undoubtedly a secondary suffix § 59. The o-suffixes uniformly show the ablaut o · e (e-series, I § 311—314)¹). o e. g. in the nom. acc. sing., -o-s,

1. Suffixes in -o and -ā.

1) As we are accustomed to cite the suffixes whose vocalism assumes the various forms of the e-series in their e-form (-es- -ter- etc.), we ought consistently to speak of the suffixes -e- -ie- -ye- instead of -o- -io- -no- and so forth, but as this point is in itself of little importance, I am unwilling to depart from the usual nomenclature. It will be enough to have drawn attention to the inconsistency.

-o-m. e in the voc. sing. -e, gen. -e-sio, instr. -ē, loc. -e-i; the last three cases also have o: -o-sio, -ō, -o-i. Parallel to these must further be assumed an 'unaccented weak-grade form', where the suffix disappears altogether, if we suppose that a case-suffix -ad is contained in the pr. Balt-Slav. gen. (abl.) vilqad* 'of a wolf' (Lith. vilko O.C.Sl. vlka), and a case-suffix -a in the nom. acc. pl. neut. jugā* (Ved. yugā) (see I § 113 Rem. p. 107, p. 108 footnote), if secondary formations like ekyo-iso* 'equinus' from ekyo-* 'equus' lost the final of the stem by some regular phonetic change (see § 63 Rem 3), and the -i- of the Lat. Cornēl-i-s Lith. mēd-i-s etc. was the weak-grade form of -ie-iso- (see the beginning of § 63) It is hardly possible from the data at our command to trace the connexion between these phases of vowel gradation and the variation of the accent But there is nothing to prevent our assuming that e stood originally in the syllable which bore the principal accent, and o in the syllable which followed it, whilst the case-suffixes -ad and -a themselves took the principal accent (cp I § 311 p. 248 f.). These phonetic relations were afterwards obscured by many different kinds of analogical development.

The a-suffixes show the ablaut a·a (a-series, I § 318): a e. g. in the nom. acc. sing., -ā, -a-m, a in the voc. sing. -a, nom. acc. du. -a-i, cp. also unstr. sing. Skr. -aya O.C.Sl. -oja. By the side of these the 'unaccented weak-grade form' perhaps occurs in such words as Gr. τίη-ος from τίηι pr. Gr. and Dor τι-α (see § 63 Rem 3) Here also the recorded accentuation shows no variation from which we can reconstruct the original connexion between Ablaut and Accent.

In protoIndo-Germanic the o-stems were all masculine or neuter, the a-stems all feminine. And the process of differentiation (technically called Motion) of Masculine stems to express the variation of gender in substantives and adjectives had come into regular use for o-stems in the same period, e. g. ekyo-s* 'horse' fem. ekya 'mare' (Skr. āśva-s āśvā Lat. equo-s equa), masc. rudhro-s* fem. rudhrā* neut. rudhro-m* 'red' (Skr.

rudhirá-s -irā -irā-m Gr. ῥουθρός -ρά -ρό-ν, Lat. ruber rubra rubru-m O.C.Sl. *rŭdrŭ rŭdra rŭdro*¹⁾.

But the original differences in gender did not always remain unchanged in the separate languages. A number of o-stems became feminine in Greek and Italic, that is, they were constructed with feminine forms in attributive or predicative combinations, as Gr. ἡ φηγός, ῥοδοδάκτυλος ἠώς, Lat. haec fagus, a change of usage which was introduced in different ways (see A. R. Lange, De Substantivis femininis Graecis secundae declinationis, Lips. 1885). On the other hand, in the classical languages and in Slavonic² a-stems became masculine, words of abstract meaning formed with a being used to denote male persons; as Gr. νεανία- 'young man' orig. 'youth', ἑτη- 'kinsman' orig. 'kinship', Lat. agri-cola 'husbandman' orig. 'husbandry', O.C.Sl. junota 'young man' orig. 'youth'. In Lithuanian, neuter substantival stems in -o assumed in the nom. and acc. the masc. form, e. g. nom. sing. ár-kla-s 'plough' beside Gr. ἄρο-τρο-ν, and so forth.

The o- and ā-stems form by far the largest of the Indo-Germanic declensions. Nowhere have these classes suffered any serious loss except in Armenian and in Germanic. In Armenian it would seem that the a-declension wholly died out, and in Germanic many o- and a-stems passed into the n-declension (§ 112 ff.).

§ 60. The Suffix -o- -ā-³⁾.

From the earliest period, the suffixes -o- and -ā- were used for many different purposes. Besides their use to denote physical sex we may notice in particular the following functions:

1. -o- is found in certain abstract root-nouns (nomina actionis)

1) See § 57 Rem. p. 106, and the Author's Essay on Gender cited there.

2) Ed. Wolter, Razyskanja po voprosu o grammatičeskom rodje, Petersburg 1882 (see the notice of it by H. Haupt, Berlin. philolog. Wochenschr. 1885 p. 312 ff.)

3) H. Zimmer, Die Nominalsuffixe a und ā in den german. Sprachen, Straßburg 1876. F. Miklosich, Das Suffix ā im Altslovenischen, Kuhn-Schleicher's Beitr. I 222 ff. 273 ff.

(the root-syllable usually bears the accent), e. g. gón-o-* 'a begetting, coming into being' Skr. jāna-m 'birth, origin' Gr. γόνος 'birth', also concrete 'offspring', Gr. χρόμι-ος 'noise, murmur, neighing' O.C.Sl. grom-ŭ 'thunder', Goth. ga-fah-s in. 'capture' (ground-form pánko-s*) dragk n. 'drink'. 2. -o- is found in certain nomina agentis (the accent falls usually on the suffix), e. g. tor-ó-* 'he who penetrates' Skr. tārā-s Gr. τορός, Lat. procu-s 'suitor' (beside precāri), Goth. þrufs, gen. þrubis, 'thief' (ground-form teupó-s*). 3. -ā- is found in certain abstract root-nouns (nomina actionis), e. g. Gr. φυγ-ή Lat. fug-a 'flight', Gr. βληχ-ή 'bleating, cry' O.H.G. chlag-a 'lament', Skr. bhid-ā 'separation', Goth. bid-a 'request, prayer'.

Differentiation of Adjectives (Motion): e. g. masc. néu-o-s* neut. néu-o-m* fem. néu-ā* Skr. náva-s náva-m návā, Gr. νέος νέο-ν νέα, Lat. novo-s novo-m nova, O.C.Sl. novŭ novo nova.

In most of the Indo-Germanic languages we find more or less frequently the transference of stems that do not end in o or ā, e. g. stems ending in explosives, into the o- or *ā-*declension, without any modification of meaning. The change in any particular case may be due to any one of a large number of causes; indeed, to any association either of sound or of sense. Analogy of form, for example, produced in Sanskrit a nom. dánta-s (cp. p. 111) beside acc. dánt-am (stem dánt- 'tooth'), and in Greek τὴν κεφαλήν (Callim.) beside nom. acc. neut. κέφα 'head' (for kapāś-a*, a neuter subst. like ἄλειψ-a). On the other hand, the change was due to an association of meaning when in Latin aurōr-a ('dawn') and flōr-a were substituted for aurōs -ōris* (§ 133) and flōs -ōris (§ 134); so in O.H.G. pl. tohter-ā 'daughters' for the older form tohter, in Lith. dukr-à 'daughter' for duktė -eřs, and in Pruss. swestr-o O.C.Sl. sestr-a 'sister' beside Lith. sesū -eřs (§ 122). Often both principles may have been at work together, e. g. when in Prākṛit māda 'mother' and duhida 'daughter' (Idg. -tē(r)) passed over to the *ā-*declension (cp. § 122 Rem. 1). The attraction to the o- or to the *ā-*declension often affects only single cases, e. g. Gr. dial. dat. pl.

πίδ-οις (like λίκ-οις) for ποσί, acc. pl. πάντ-ας (like πάνσα-ς) for πάντ-ας, and there is perhaps an example of such a transference into the o-declension even in the proethnic language, where the genitive ending -ōm, which comes from -o-om, was used with other stems than those in -o-. With regard to all these processes we must remember that the speaker had no clear consciousness of the point of junction between stem and case-ending, least of all where vowel-contraction had taken place (vol. I p. 106 ff)

Idg. Masc. u̯lq-o-s* 'wolf' (√u̯elq- 'tear'). Skr. u̯lka-s Armen. gen. sing. gaulo-y (cp I § 455 p. 336) Gr. λίκω-ς (Lat. lupu-s) Goth. dat. pl. vulfa-m Lith. u̯ilka-s O.C.Sl. instr. sing. u̯lko-mě. Neut. jug-ó-m* 'yoke' (√jeug- 'yoke, put to'). Skr. jugá-m Gr. ζυγό-ν Lat. jugu-m Goth. dat. pl. juka-m O.C.Sl. instr. sing. igo-mě Fem. gen-ā-* gyn-ā-* gn-ā-* 'woman' (√gen-): Skr. gnā- Gr. Att. γυνή Bocot. βαρά O.Ir. nom. ben gen. mnā Goth. qinō O.Icel. kona (in Germ. it has passed over to the n-declension) O.C.Sl. žena.

Aryan. Skr. ghōṣ-a- m. 'sound, noise' Avest. gaoš-a- m. 'ear' O.Pers. gauš-a- m. 'ear', nom. sing. pr. Ar. ghauš-a-s*. Skr. bhāg-a-s m. 'distributor, bestower of blessings' Avest. baγ-a- m. 'God' O.C.Sl. bog-ŭ 'God'. Skr. nīd-ā-s 'resting-place, couch, nest' Armen. nst 'position, seat, possession', Lat. nīdu-s, O.Ir. net O.H.G. nest 'nest', Idg. nī-zd-ó-s* 'settling-place'. Skr. mēh-a- n. 'urine' Avest. gao-maez-a- n. 'cow's urine'. Skr. pad-ā-m 'standing-place, place, position': Gr. πέδ-ο-ν 'ground, field', Lat. Ped-u-m, oppid-u-m. Skr. jy-ā- Avest. jy-ā- 'bowstring': Lith. giy-à 'string, cord'. Skr. janagh-ā- 'upper part of the foot': cp. Lith. pra-žang-a 'transgression' (√gheragh-). Skr. mud-ā- 'joy'. Avest. der'z-a- 'bundle, basket'

Adjectives. Skr. dīrgh-ā-s -ā-m -ā Avest. dar'γ-ō -e-m-a O.Pers. darg-a -a-m -ā 'long': Gr. δολιχ-ός -ό-ν -ή.

In Aryan, transference into the o-declension is common. In many cases no doubt this must have taken place in proethnic Aryan; cp. e. g. Skr. mās-a- Avest. mānsh-a- with Skr. mās- 'month' (cp. § 134), Skr. nār-a- Avest. nar-a- with Skr. nār-

'man' (Gr ἀνθρωπ-), Skr. pād-a- Avest. pād-a- beside Skr. pad- 'foot'. In other cases however, it belongs to the developement of the separate dialects: e. g. Skr. Ved. pūṣāṇ-a-s from pūṣān-, name of a god, Prākṛ. part. nom. carant-ō gen. carant-assa etc. instead of Skr. cārant- 'going, moving' (and so often in the popular dialects); Avest. loc. sing. viś-ē O.Pers. instr. pl. vīp-aibis from viś- vīp- 'village', Avest. gen. sing. stār-ahē from star- 'star', dat. sing. airyaman-ai from airyaman-, the personified spirit of prayer, part. nom. sing. jaidīyant-ō etc. 'beseeching'. The point of contact from which this metaplastic process sprang was the phonetic similarity of the accusative endings -am = Gr. -a and -a-m = Gr. -o-v- (p 110)

In Sanskrit there is a large group of denominative adjectives formed with -o -ā-, with the meaning 'related to, or connected with' that which is denoted by the noun from which they are derived, especially with the meaning, 'sprung from'. The first syllable of the word usually has what is called the vṛddhi grade, that is the second or 'highest' form of the strong or 'high' grade. E. g. mānas-ā-s 'related to the mind (mānas-)', savitṛ-ā-s 'sprung from the sun (savitṛ-)', sāindhav-ā-s 'sprung from the Indus (sīndhu-ṣ-)'. If the contained stem is itself an o-stem, the adjective is formed without modifying the suffix; e. g. amitrā-s 'hostile' from amitra-s 'foe'. Similar derivatives are found, though more rarely, in Iranian; as O.Pers. mārgav-a- 'inhabitant of Margiana' from margū-ṣ 'Margiana', Avest. ar'zva (or arzava) 'good works' from er'zu- 'just, right', kāvay-a- 'kingly' from kavi-ṣ 'king', temarēh-a- 'dark' (-ēh- for -s-, see I § 558 p. 414) from temah- 'darkness' (cp. Skr. tāmas-a- from tāma-s), airyav-a- 'offspring of Airyu'. Although the particular forms that furnished the type for this category of nouns in Aryan, and the origin of the vṛddhi-strengthening, which occurs also in other derivative nouns (cp. § 93), are still undiscovered, yet it is at least probable that the class took its rise in such o-stems as had undergone a modification of meaning similar to that which we find in the epithetised compounds (see § 50), and that o- was then added to other stems in imitation of these. The use of the suffix was extended by the desire to render easier the Differentiation (or modification to express gender) of adjectives; and we find an unmistakable parallel in the treatment of the final members of compound words; compare -tamas-a- from tāmas- 'darkness', -aśman-a- from āśman- 'stone', -bhruv-a- from bhrū- 'eyebrow', and especially instances like daśāṅgulā-m 'length of ten fingers' from aṅgūli- 'finger' (Whitney Skr. Gr. § 1315^b), which are on a level with formations like nāiryā- 'belonging to nīryti-'.

Remark 1. Cp. von Bradke, Über die Vṛddhi in der secundären Nominalbildung, Ztschr. der deutsch morgenländ. Gesellsch. XL, 361 ff. — The suggestion that Lat ovo-m 'egg' is related in the same way to avi-s, and means 'that which proceeds from a bird', is unsatisfactory. Rather we may compare such instances as Gr. ἡγεμόεις beside ἄνεμο-ς, ἀμφ-ἡγετο-ς beside ἡγεζω. Doublets that had arisen with different grades of ablaut in the root-syllable were in Aryan adapted to convey two distinct meanings, while in Greek they subserved a particular principle of rhythm. In either case, our endeavour must be to discover the oldest forms which gave the type for the whole series Armenian. orb, gen. orbo-y, 'orphan': Lat. orbu-s, Gr. ὀρφο-βότης 'one who brings up orphans'. gorc, gen. gorco-y, 'work': Avest. var²-a- m. 'working, action', Gr. ἔργο-ν O.H.G. werc n. 'work'. Adj. hin, gen. hn-o-y, 'old': Skr. sán-a-s Gr. én-o-s O.Ir. sen Lith. sén-a-s 'old'.

The ā-declension, as we have already remarked in § 59 p. 109, was entirely lost.

Greek. φηγ-ός 'oak': Lat. fag-u-s 'beech'. οἶκ-ος 'house': Lat. vīc-u-s. πόρ-ος 'a penetrating, passing through, passage' πορ-ός 'penetrating' (ὁδοπόρος for *ὁδοι-πορός-s, I § 676 p. 542 f.): Skr. pār-a- 'navigation, passage by sea' pār-ās 'transporting'; τόμ-ος 'cut, slice' τομ-ός 'cutting, sharp'; ἄγ-ός 'guide, leader': Skr. aj-d-s 'driver'. ζυγ-ός 'yoke': Skr. yug-d-m. πληγ-ή 'blow': Lat. plag-a. ρoή Coreyr. ρhoFá 'stream, flowing' from ρέω: Lith. srav-à 'a flowing, bleeding'. σπουδ-ή 'zeal, earnestness' from σπεύδω. φορβ-ή 'nourishment' from φέρβω.

Observe that λεώς 'people' stands for λα(f)-ός (Λάφο-κόFων is preserved by Priscian); see I § 611 p. 462.

The endings of o-cases are often transferred to other classes of stems; as οὖν in ποδ-οῦν -οῦν, -οις in πόδ-οις for ποδ, -ον in πολίτ-ον.

Transference into the o-declension is frequent, into the ā-declension more rare; e. g. nom. sing. Goth. frijōnds O.H.G. friunt 'friend' gen. sing. frijōndis friuntes and other forms with terminations of the o-declension, contrasted with the nom. pl. Goth. frijōnds O.H.G. friunt etc. which have not modified the original -nt- stem (§ 126), O.H.G. nom. pl. tohterā 'daughters' dat. pl. tohterōn beside the older pl. tohter = Gr. θυγατέρ-ες (§ 122).

Balto-Slavonic. Masc. Lith. mūs-a-s 'film (on liquids)' O.C.Sl. mŭch-ŭ 'moss' O.H.G. mos n. 'moss'. Skr. tal-a-s 'surface, ground' (√ tel-); in Lith. the masc. termination is found in the nom. acc.; e. g. jūng-a-s 'yoke', a modification of the Idg. jug-ó-m*. Fem. Lith. vaps-à 'gadfly' O.C.Sl. vos-a 'wasp' (I § 545 p. 399): O.H.G. wafs-a 'wasp'. Lith. rank-à O.C.Sl. rak-a 'hand', beside Lith. rėnkù 'I gather, collect'.

Remark 2. It may not be premature to notice here that the Lith. neuter form in -a arose from -o-d and not from -o-m, and is therefore a pronominal termination. See R. Garbe, Litau. und lett. Drucke des 16. u. 17. Jahrh., IV p. XLI.

§ 61. The Suffix -ty-o- -ty-ā- (-tuy-o- -tuy-ā-).¹⁾ This is an extension of -tu- -teu- (§ 108).

Originally it was no doubt primary, and used to form adjectives (cp. e. g. Skr. kār-tuva-s kār-tva-s 'faciendus', beside the inf. kār-tu-m) whose neuter and feminine forms were used as abstract substantives, on the analogy of which derivative abstract substantives were also formed from nouns (§ 158).

The accentuation of Sanskrit formations like dēva-tvā-m 'divinity', and the d of the Goth. þiva-dv 'servitude' (see I § 530 p. 386 f.), shew that -tyó-m* was the form assumed by the suffix in these secondary abstract substantives in Indo-Germanic.

Compare Ar. -tvana- Gr. -ovvo- § 70.

In Aryan, the suffix is frequent. In Skr. it appears in gerundives like kār-tuva-s kār-tva-s 'faciendus' ján-tuva-s jani-tva-s 'procreandus'. The neuters of these gerundives are often used substantivally, as kār-tva-m 'task, work to be done'. Compare also Avest. varš-tve-m 'work, action' (beside ver'yē-mi 'I do'), stao-þwe-m 'prayer' (beside stao-mi 'I praise, pray'). Secondary formations in -tyó-m*: Skr. dēva-tvā-m 'divinity' (dēvá-s 'god'), śatru-tvā-m 'enmity' (śátru-ś 'enemy'), rakṣas-tvā-m 'demoniacal nature' (rakṣás- 'monster, demon'), Avest. aṇhu-þwe-m 'lordship, might' (aṇhu-š 'lord'), fratema-þwem 'a being first, nobility' (fratema- 'first').

As to the interchange of -tva- and -tuva- in Sanskrit see Edgren, Journal of the American Orient. Soc., XI 82 sq.

In Latin it is rare. We can scarcely count mor-tuo-s (for my-tyo-s*): O.C.Sl. mr̃-tvŭ 'mortuus' as an example, cp. I § 170 p. 150; see § 64 Rem. 3 below. But Fa-tuo-s ('soothsayer') and mā-tuo-s no doubt belong here (with the suffix in the form -tuyo-); see I § 170 p. 151.

1) Benfey, Indog. Part. Perf. auf tua oder tva, Nachr. der Gött. Gesellsch. d. Wissensch., 1873, n. 7.

In Germanic it is not common. Goth. vaúrsto n. 'work' for pr. Germ. wurx-s-tuā-n*, whose -s- must be compared with that of -s-tro- (§ 62), -s-lo- (§ 76), -s-ti- (§ 100), -s-tu- (§ 108), -s-men- (§ 117) ¹). ahrvō f. 'morning twilight' for unax-tuō-* (transferred to the n-inflection), ground-form xq-tuā-*, compare directly Skr. aktū-ṣ 'brightness' for xq-tu-s*, and less immediately Skr. añj-t-ṣ 'ointment, adornment'. vah-tvō or vah-tva (only the dat. pl. vahtvōm is actually found) 'watch, guard', from vakan 'to watch'. A.S. læs, gen. læswe, f. 'letting blood' for lēsuō-* i. e. lēt + tuō-*, beside Goth. lētan 'to let', ræs, gen. ræswe, f. 'counsel' for rēsuō-* i. e. rēd + tuō-*, beside Goth. rēdan 'to counsel' (cp. I § 527 p. 382). As in all the instances given, so in Goth. frija-þva 'love' and fiþa-þva 'enmity' from frijōn 'to love' and fiþōn 'to hate' the suffix is to be regarded as primary; yet frija-þva (in imitation of which fiþa-þva was afterwards formed) was originally a secondary formation, from the adj. frija- ('fre')e, which in the prehistoric period had meant 'dear', cp. Skr. priya-tvā-m 'a being beloved' from priyā- 'dear, beloved'. Goth. þiva-dv n. 'servitude' from þiu-s 'servant'.

In Slavonic it is frequent. Primary: Masc.: O.C.Sl. mrŕ-tvŭ 'mortuus'? (see above), O.C.Sl. rybi-tvŭ 'fisher'; Neut. Russ. jas-tvo 'food', Russ. ši-tvo 'sewing', O.C.Sl. čuvŕ-tvo 'organ of sense'; Fem. O.C.Sl. jas-tva 'food' žet-tva 'harvest' molŕ-tva 'prayer' gonŕ-tva 'pursuit'. Secondary -(ŕ)s-tvo (cp. the suffix -iskŭ § 90): zělŕstvo 'violence' (zělŭ 'violent'), děŕŕstvo 'childhood' (děŕe 'child'); probably this form of the suffix started from stems in -i-, cp. taŕŕstvo 'theft', from taŕŕ m. 'thief', bleđŕstvo 'boasting, bluster' from bleđŕ f. 'deceit, farce' (cp. -ŕba § 78). In Lithuanian Leskien is probably right in tracing this suffix in the group of names of tools formed with -tuva-, such as kosz-tŭva-s 'strainer, filter' (kószŭ 'I filter'), rės-tŭva-s 'roller for winding yarn' (rėczŭ 'I roll, wind'), karsz-tŭva pl. 'woolcarder's comb' (karsziŭvilnas

1) Goth. gáido n. 'lack' no doubt belongs rather to √ghexdh- 'desire' (O.H.G. gŭt 'eagerness, greed') than to gei-gan, i. e. it should be analysed gáid-v, not gái-dv.

'I card wool'), min-tuwaī pl. 'a machine for breaking flax, brake' (minū linūs 'I tear flax'). Cp. also Pruss. pre-artue 'ploughshare' and ar-twes 'ship's voyage'.

§ 62. The Suffix -tr-o- -tr-ā-, -tl-o- *-tl-ā*¹⁾. This is an extension of -ter- -tor- (§ 119 ff.), cp. e. g. Skr. ari-tra- 'oar' from ari-tar- 'rower'. Perhaps l arose from r by some process or processes of assimilation or dissimilation (partly in proethnic Indo-Germanic, partly in the separate languages), cp. I § 282 p. 225 f.²⁾.

The meaning is generally that of the instrument or the place of the action.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. bharī-tra-m 'arm' (that with which one bears), Gr. φῆρε-τρον φῆρ-τρον 'litter, bier', Lat. prae-feri-culu-m 'wide sacrificial dish' (regarded as the instrument for carrying something offered) fer-culu-m 'litter, bier'. Skr. m. n. ari-tra- O.H.G. n. ruo-dar Lith. ir-kla-s 'oar', cp. also Gr. Ἐρε-τροία 'Oarstown'. Skr. mā-trā Gr. μέ-τρον 'measure' (or should we follow de Saussure, Mém de la Soc. de lingu. VI 248, in assuming this to stand for Idg. metro-* i. e. med + tro-*?).

Aryan. Skr. kṣa-trā-m Avest. xša-pre-m O.Pers. xša-ša-m 'lordship'. Skr. vás-tra-m Avest. vas-tre-m 'garment, vesture'. Skr. dhár-tra-m 'support' Avest. dar^e-pre-m 'an upholding, holding fast'. Skr. vakt-tra-m 'ship': Lat. vehi-culu-m. Skr. hō-tra Avest. zao-pra 'libation, offering': Gr. χύ-τρος 'pot' χύ-τρον 'libation'.

Armenian. arōr araur, gen. arauro-y, 'plough' for ara-tro-* (I § 360 p. 276, § 483 p. 357): Gr. ἄρο-τρον 'plough', Lat. arā-tru-m, O.Icel. ar-þr m. 'ploughing', Lith. ár-kla-s 'plough'.

alaur-i 'mill' (from alam 'I grind') was a secondary extension of a tro-stem: cp. Gr. ἀλέ-τρο-ιο-ς 'belonging to grinding' ἀλε-τρο-εύω 'I grind to powder' ἀλετριβανος for *ἀλετρο-τριβανο-ς 'pulverising by grinding, pestle'.

Greek. ῥόπ-τρο-ν 'tambourine, lever of a trap' A.S. ræf-ter m. 'beam'. ἔλν-τρο-ν 'covering, that which contains': Skr. varū-tra-m 'upper garment'. λέκ-τρο-ν 'couch, bed': O.C.Sl. lātr 'lair of wild animals' pr. Germ. laχ-tra-*. δέλε-τρο-ν 'bait, lure', compare no doubt O.H.G. quer-dar 'bait, lure' (J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 153). νίπ-τρο-ν 'water for washing'. ῥή-τροᾶ 'agreement, treaty'.

ἄν-τλο-ν ἄν-τλο-ς ἄν-τλη 'bilge-water, dead-water, baling scoop': cp. Skr. ūma-tra-m 'vessel, jug, drinking-cup' (Lat. ex-antlāre ex-anclāre is the Greek ἐξ-αντλεῖν borrowed, cp. I § 367 p. 278). ἐχέ-τλη 'plough-tail'.

Italic. Lat. cas-tru-m and fem. cas-tra; in Umbr.-Samn. the word has passed into other declensions, Osc. castrovs gen. 'fundī' castrid abl 'fundo' Umbr. kastruvuf 'fundos'. Lat. rōs-tru-m (rōdō 'I gnaw'), arā-tru-m, fulgē-tru-m fulgē-tra. Umbr. klec-tram 'lecticam'. Goth. hlei-þra 'hut, tent', √ klex.

-tlo- became -klo- in proethnic Italic, except where s preceded (I § 366 p. 278). Lat. piā-clu-m -culu-m, Umbr. piha-klu 'piaculorum'. Lat. sae-clu-m -culu-m: Lith. se-klà 'seed'. Lat. ind-ā-cula sub-ū-cula Avest. ao-þre-m 'sandal', Lett. āu-kla a kind of string (in Lith. the declension has changed, au-klė 'bandage for the feet'). Umbr. eh-vel-klu 'edictum, decretum', mantrah-klu 'mantele'. Osc. sakara-klúm 'sacrum'. -tlo- is kept after s in Osc. pes-tlú-m 'sacellum, templum': Umbr. pers-clu pes-clu 'supplicatione'. -clo- became -cro- in Latin by dissimilation where an l preceded (I § 269 p. 217): lavā-cru-m: Gr. λουε-τρον λουτρον 'bath, water for washing', Gall. lau-tro 'balneo', O.Icel. lau-ðr 'soap', lu-cru-m; in-volū-cru-m.

Rarely we find -s-tro-, as mōn-s-tru-m capi-s-tru-m (cp. the Germanic); whence also nouns in -āster -āstra -āstru-m, like formāster, oleāster oleāstru-m (see Seck, Archiv f. lat. Lexicogr. I 390 ff. Schnorr von Carolsfeld, ibid. 404 ff.).

Old Irish. lō-thor lō-thur n. 'alveus, canalis' Gall. lau-tro 'balneo': Lat. lavā-cru-m etc., see above. tara-thar n. 'boring tool, gimlet': Gr. τρε-τρο-ν 'gimlet'. criathar n. 'sieve': O.H.G. hrī-ttara 'sieve'? (see the end of the section, p. 122). ara-thar n. 'aratrum': Armen. arōr etc., see p. 118. bria-thur f. 'word'. cētal n. 'song' (cētlo- for can-tlo-*). With regard to the developement of -thar from tro-m* and from trā*, and of -tal from tlo-m*, see I § 623 Rem. 1 p. 469 and § 634 p. 475.

cenēl n. 'family, race' O.Cymr. cene-ll. scēl n. 'narration, tale' Mod.Cymr. chwedl for pr. kelt. skye-tlo-n*, √ seq 'say'. anal f. 'breath' Mod.Cymr. ana-dl. Cp. I § 110 p. 104, § 518 p. 371 f., § 620 p. 467.

Germanic. The þ of the pr. Germ. -þra- -þla- indicates that the sonant next preceding it bore the principal accent (I § 529 p. 384 f.). O.H.G. ho-dar A.S. hleō-ðor 'sound, noise', pr. Germ. hleý-þra-: Skr. śrō-tra-m 'hearing, ear'. Goth. smatr-þr n. 'grease, fat', √ smer- 'besmear'. Goth. hleī-þra 'tent'. Umbr. klo-tram 'lecticam', √ klex-. O.H.G. sta-dal m. 'shed, barn': Skr. sthā-trā-m 'standing-place, position'. O.H.G. wa-dal we-dil m. n. 'fan, tuft', √ yē- 'blow'. Goth. nē-þla and nā-dla 'needle' (cp. Bremer, Paul-Br. Beitr. XI 5. 277 f.).

O.H.G. bihal n. 'hatchet' pr. Germ. biþla-, Idg. bheþtlo- for bheþd + tlo-*, √ bheþd- 'findere' (is O.Ir. baíl, gen. bēla, 'hatchet' connected with this?); O.H.G. sedal n. m. 'seat' pr. Germ. seþla-, Idg. setlo- for sed + tlo-*, √ sed- 'sit'. I follow de Saussure, Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. VI 247. 255¹).

After spirants, t is kept (thus the original accent cannot be determined): Mid.H.G. wes-ter f. 'baptismal robe' Skr. vás-tra-m 'garment'; Goth. gilstr n. 'tribute' from gild 'tribute' √ gheldh-; O.H.G. bluostar n. 'offering' (Goth. derivative blōstreis 'offerer') beside Goth. blōtan 'offer'; O.H.G. riostar n. and riostra f. 'ploughshare' beside Mid.H.G. riuten 'root out'; O.H.G. hlahtar n. O.Icel. hlattr m. 'laughter'.

Pr. Germ. -dra- -dla- indicate that this suffix bore the accent (cp. Skr. as-trā-m dā-trā-m etc.), see I § 530 p. 386 f.; yet these pr. Germ. suffixal forms may also represent Idg. -dhro- -dhlo-, see p. 122. Idg. -tro- is probably seen e. g. in Goth. fō-dr 'scabbard' O.H.G. fuo-tar A.S. fō-ddor n. 'case, sheath': Skr. pā-tra-m 'that which contains, vessel'.

-s-tra- is fairly frequent; as O.H.G. gal-s-tar n. 'song' from galan 'sing', compare A.S. zeal-dor n. O.Icel. gal-dr m.; Goth. huli-s-tr 'covering' from huljan 'cover'. Cp. Osthoff, Über das eingedrungene s in der nominalen Suffixform -stra-, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIII 313 ff., and -s-tyo- (§ 61), -s-lo- (§ 76), -s-ti- (§ 100), -s-tu- (§ 108), -s-men- (§ 117).

Balto-Slavonic. -tro- is found only in a few uncertain examples, as Lith. vė-tra 'storm' O.C.Sl. vě-trŭ 'air, wind'. The uncertainty is caused by the possibility of a later transference into the o- or *ā-*declension, which has undoubtedly taken place in O.C.Sl. bratr-ŭ 'brother' sestr-a 'sister'.

-tlo- occurs only in Baltic, where it appears in Lith. and Lett. as -kla- (I § 377 p. 285 f.). Pruss. sen-tla-* 'token, sign' in the partic. eb-sentliuns 'having betokened, marked' Lith. žen-kla-s 'token, sign'. cp. Skr. jñā-tra-m 'ability to recognise' O.H.G. be-cnuodelen 'give a sign of recognition' ir-chnuodilen 'become perceptible'; from which we may deduce a pr. Germ. form knō-þla-*. Pruss. sper-tla-n 'cushion of the toes', beside Lith. spir-iū 'strike with the foot'. Lith. sė-klà Lett. sē-kla 'seed': Lat. sae-culu-m. Lith. bū-klà 'home' bu-kla-s (ā?) 'lair of an animal': Skr. bhāvī-tra-m 'world' (this meaning is not certain) A.S. bold (for bōdl*) O.Icel. ból 'house' pr. Germ. bu-þla-*. In Slav. -tlo- was replaced by -dhlo-, see below.

In the European branches, -dhro- -dhlo- are found side by side with -tro- -tlo-, and with the same meaning; and the former often displace the latter. Cp. e. g. Gr. γένε-θλο-ν γενέ-θλη 'origin, race, scion, birthplace': Skr. jani-tra-m 'birthplace'. ēde-θλο-ν 'seat': Lat. sedī-culu-m, Lett. sēde-kli-s 'seat' (with the addition of the suffix -jo-). Lat. tere-bra: Gr. τέρε-τρο-ν O.Ir. tara-thar n. 'borer'. Lat. sta-bulu-m: O.H.G. sta-dal 'barn'.

Pr.Germ. -dra- -āla- is ambiguous (see p. 121): is for example O.H.G. hri-ttara 'sieve' connected with O.Ir. cria-thar or with Lat. cri-bru-m? In Slav. only -dhlo- occurs, as Czech rá-dlo O.C.Sl. ra-lo ora-lo 'plough': Lat. ara-tru-m etc. (see p. 119), Czech by-dlo 'dwelling' Pol. by-dło 'cattle, means': Lith. bū-klā 'home'. Cp. § 77.

§ 63. The Suffix -io- -iā-, -iio- -*iīā-*¹).

With regard to the fluctuation between -iio- and -io- see I § 117 p. 110. § 120 p. 111 ff. A parallel form -iio- is also found (e. g. Skr. tyt-tya-s Gr. ποθύμ-ῖν), whose relation to the two other forms is obscure; it resembles the Skr. -tyas- Gr. -των (§ 135), forms of the comparative suffix.

In the nom. sing. we find in different languages -ia- or -i- instead of and parallel to -io-. Thus Goth. har-ji-s, brūks for brūk-i-s*, haiud-ei-s; Umbr. Trutit-i-s 'Trutidius' (also in the acc., Fisum 'Fisium' and neut. terti 'tertium'), Osc. Viinikiis 'Vinicius' (i), Púntiis 'Pontius' (i or -iī-), Heirennis 'Herennius' (also neut. medic-i-m 'magisterium'), O.Lat. Cornēl-i-s (and acc. Cornēl-i-m, cp. also voc. fili), Lith. mēd-i-s and *gaid-ỹ-s*²).

From the earliest period this suffix was both primary and

2) In I § 84 Remark 1 p. 80, I assumed the existence of -ia- as a form of the Idg suffix beside -io-. As my pupil Prof. W. Streitberg has recognised, it is preferable to assume -i- -i- as the original forms (-i-:

secondary, and its neuter and feminine forms are frequently used as substantives (§ 158).

Three chief functions of this suffix may be distinguished.

1. It forms verbal adjectives with the meaning of the so-called fut. pass. participles or participles of necessity, or with a simple participial meaning, active or passive. In Sanskrit, but nowhere else, these adjectives appear as a class of forms in active and extensive use. The neuter and the feminine are often used as abstract substantives (see above).

Idg. Skr. yāj-ya-s Gr. ᾱγ-ιο-ς 'venerandus', fem. yāj-ya āγ-ιά, √ īag- 'revere'. Skr. śāc-īya-s 'whom one must help, must value', Gr. ἀσσητήρ 'helper' from óssō-* which stands for sok^h-īo-*, Lat. soc-iu-s, √ seq- 'be together with, follow'.

Aryan. In Skr. -īo- appears as a living participial suffix; e. g. dṛś-ya-s dārś-īya-s 'visible, worth seeing' cēt-īya-s 'perceptible'. Examples of substantival usage are: neut. vāc-īya-m vāc-ya-m 'speech, word', fem. vid-yā 'knowledge'. For the fluctuation between -ya- and -īya- see Edgren, Journal of the Amer. Orient Soc. XI 74 ff.

Following a root ending in a short vowel the suffix assumes the form -īo- instead of -īo-, as kṛ-tya-s 'faciendus' kṛ-ty-am

-ī- = -īo- -īā-), so that this form represents the weak-grade phase of the suffix which we are discussing, in the same way as -ī- represents that of -īā- (§ 109). Streitberg is certainly right in laying especial stress on Gothic forms like brūks un-nuls. The form -ī- arose through the -ī- being added from oases which had -īo- -īā-. Just so we have in Luth. jī-s jī for i-s ī on the model of jō etc. Such forms as Luth. mō-jī-s are of the same kind as O.C.Sl. ladi-jī § 110 and Skr. svadhā-yin- § 115. Beside the Idg. stems formed with -īo- -īā-: -ī- (-īo- -īā- -ī-) there probably existed from the pr. Idg. period onwards invariable -īo- stems which never had -ī-. To these however we must not refer nominative forms like Skr. yāj-y-as Gr. ᾱγ-ιο-ς Lat. exim-iu-s, which were new formations (cp. Goth. brūks), and similarly Skr. yā-s Gr. δ- (cp. Luth. ī-s). I do not believe that the late Greek nouns ending -ας -ιν instead of -ιος -ιν should be classed here as containing an original form of their suffix. They were created on the model of personal names belonging to the classical period, such as Ἀλέξας Ζεύξας (cp. R. Wagner, Quaestiones de epigrammatis Graecis, Lips. 1883, p. 96).

'business' ky-tyd 'infliction, bewitchment', a new formation based upon such stems as -ky-t- 'faciens' (§ 123).

In Avest. -ya- is rarer, e. g. dar's-ya- 'visible', vairya- 'worth choosing or desiring', išya- 'desired, dear'.

Armenian. Here no doubt should be classed li, gen. lioy, 'full' from plē-yo*-.

Greek. στυγ-ιο-ς 'abominable, odious'. παγ-ιο-ς 'established, firm, durable'. σφάγ-ιο-ς 'slaying, killing'. Substantival usage: ἔσται-ια pl. 'ruins, debris', σφάγ-ιο-ν 'offering, victim for offering'.

Italic. Lat. exim-iu-s 'eximendus, exceptional, distinguished'. in-fer-iu-s 'presented, offered': cp. Avest. bairya- 'presenting'. Substantives: frag-iu-m 'breach, fracture', stud-iu-m 'zeal, eagerness, desire', exuv-iae pl. 'clothing, cast-off skin'.

Old Irish. Subst. fem. in-sc-e 'speech' ✓ seq-, neut. suide 'seat', ✓ sed-, frecre for frith-gaire* (I § 514 Rem. 2 p. 376) 'answering, answer' ✓ gar-.

Germanic. Adjectives with the meaning of the fut. partic. pass. are commoner than in other European languages. Goth. brūkja- (nom. brūks) O.H.G. prūchi 'useful, serviceable'. Goth. un-nutja- (nom. un-nuts) 'useless' O.H.G. nuzzi A.S. nyt 'useful'. Goth. un-qēþja- (nom. un-qēþs) 'unutterable'. O.H.G. gi-fuori 'suitable, useful'. Here perhaps should be classed Goth. havi, 'gen. haujis, O.H.G. hewi n. 'hay' pr. Germ. hay-ia* n. i. e. 'that which is to be cut'. Abstract nouns: neut. O.H.G. gi-fuori 'suitability, usefulness' compared with the adj. gi-fuori; Fem. A.S. nyt O.Icel. nytr 'use' compared with adj. A.S. nyt, Goth. brak-ja 'fight' (originally 'breach') with brikan 'to break'.

Balto-Slavonic.

In Lithuanian there are only a few adjectives; e. g. sriau-ja-s 'flowing swiftly', šala-s šale-s (Pruss. acc. saligan with g = j) 'green', properly 'being verdant', from šl-ti 'to be verdant'. The following may be adjectives used substantivally: vė-ja-s 'wind' (he who blows), gaid-ỹ-s 'cock' (he who crows), from gėd-óti 'crow', etc., all masculine. Forms formerly neuter used as substantives: šōd-i-s 'word' (cp. Skr. vāc-ya-m), kañd-i-s 'bite', kīft-i-s 'cut or blow' with a cutting instrument (Skr. kart-ya-

'to be hewn or cut off') and other such forms; feminine forms used as substantives are pradīā 'beginning' for pra-d-iā* beside pra-dē-ti 'begin' (✓ dhē-), jin-iā 'knowledge' and others.

Slavonic. Adjectives which should no doubt be classed here are lūšī 'deceitful' for lūg-iā*. O.H.G. luggi lukki O.Sax. luggi 'deceitful' pr. Germ. luz-iā-*; also vēzāī 'knowing, aware' for ved-iā* and other examples. Substantival usage: lūša 'lie' for lūg-iā*. O.H.G. lugi 'lie' which implies a form luz-iō*, jašda 'food, victuals' for ed-iā*: Lat. in-ed-ia Skr. ād-ya-s 'eatable' O.Icel. ætr 'eatable' for at-iā-z*; sta-ja 'position, standing-place, stall'; dažda 'gift' for dad-iā* from the reduplicated form da-d- 'give'.

Remark 1. There is often room for doubt whether an -jo- form should be classed here, or whether it be a secondary formation (2). Thus, for example, Gr. σπῆγ-ιος may also have been formed from σπῆγ-η 'a slaying, offering', O.H.G. luggi lukki from lug m. 'lie'. It should further be observed that the popular connotation of the meaning of a word was very liable to change; a form which was originally primary might be regarded as a derivative, and vice versa. Thus e. g. Lat. rēg-iu-s, which the Romans certainly looked upon as derived from rēx, may very well have been primary to start with. cp. Skr. rāj-iyā-s, subst. rāj-iyā-m, beside rāj- 'king' and rāj-ī rāj-a-ti 'shines forth, is conspicuous, rules, governs'; the verbal stem from which rēgiu-s was originally derived died out in Latin, and thus the form was firmly established in the popular connotation as a derivative of the noun rēx. Cp. Rem. 3 p. 132.

2. -jo- as a secondary suffix, forming adjectives which denote possession, origin, and other ways in which one thing may be connected with another. In these adjectives as well as in the former group the neuter and the feminine were often used as substantives with abstract meaning, and then -jo-m and -iā- were taken to form substantives of this kind even where there was no corresponding adjective in -jo-.

It is specially important to notice that in compounds with epithetised meaning, the so-called bahuvrīhi (§ 50), and also in adjectival compounds containing a governing preposition (§ 15 p. 30 f.), -jo- is often the sign of the adjectival character of the word; e. g. Gr. ὄμο-πάτερ-ιος beside ὄμο-πάτωρ 'from the same father', Skr. ānv-antr-ya-s 'situated in the intestines'.

Idg. pater-ijo-s* 'belonging to a father' from pater-* 'father':

Skr. pīriya-s Gr. παίριος Lat. patriu-s. When the suffix was added to o- and ā- stems, the final vowel of the stem was dropped (cp. Rem. 3 p. 132); examples are ekū-īṣo-s* 'equinus' from ekūo-* 'equus': Skr. āśviya-s Gr. ἰππιος, ag̃r-īṣo-s* 'situated in the fields' from ag̃-ro-* 'field': Skr. ajriya-s Gr. ἄγριος ('wild').

Substantives: Skr. svāpn̄ya-m Lat. somniū-m O.C.Sl. sūm̄tje sūn̄je 'dream' beside Skr. svāpn̄a-s Lat. somnu-s O.C.Sl. sūn̄ū 'sleep'. ghṇī-ṣā* 'a slaying' seems to be an Idg. fem. of this kind; Skr. hatyā 'killing' O.Sax. gūḍea 'fight' Lith. ginczà 'strife', beside the part. pass. ghṇī-tó-* (Skr. hatā-) 'struck, slain'.

In adjectival compounds. Skr. dāśa-mās-īya- Avest. dasa-māh-ya- 'lasting for ten months' (beside Gr. δεκά-μηνος), Skr. ūpa-mās-ya- 'monthly', Gr. ἐμ-μήν-ιος (beside ἐμ-μηνος) 'running its course in a month' ἐπι-μήν-ιος 'calculated for a month, lasting for a month', Gr. ὁμο-πάτερ-ιος O.Icel. sam-fedr 'from the same father' (compare O.Pers. hama-pitar- Gr. ὁμο-πάτωρ).

Aryan Skr. gāv-ya- Avest. gao-ya- 'bovinus' from gav- 'bos': Armen. kog-i 'butter' (see below). Skr. śravas-īya- 'glorious' from śrāvas- 'glory' Avest. manah-ya- 'spiritual, invisible' from manah- 'spirit': cp. Gr. τέλειος τέλειος 'complete, having reached its end' for τελειος-ιος* beside τέλος n. 'end, goal'. Skr. mārt-īya- Avest. maš-īya- O.Pers. mart-īya- 'mortal, a man' beside Skr. mārta-s 'a mortal, man': cp. Gr. ἀμβροσίος 'immortal' (I § 120 p. 112). Skr. *bhēṣaj-yā-*¹⁾ Avest. baēšaz-ya- 'containing healing power, medicinal' from bhēṣaj-ā-m baēšaz-e-m 'healing power, medicine'. Skr. grām-īyā- 'belonging to a village' from grāma-s 'village, small community', kṣātr-īya- 'holding lordship, lord' from kṣātrā-m 'lordship', sēn-īya- 'provided with missiles' from sēna 'missile'.

The group of participles in -tav-ya- was a new formation in Sanskrit, which did not become at all common until the post-

Vedic period: e. g. kar-tav-yā- 'faciendus' from the nomen actionis kār-tu-.

Substantives. Neut. Skr. kṣātr-īya-m 'lordship, sovereign might', dūt-īya-m 'message, duty of a messenger' (dūtā-s 'messenger'), Avest. sāsn-ya- 'announcement, dictate, command' (sāсна- 'word, announcement'). Fem. Skr. pād-yā 'footstep' (pād-ya- 'relating to the foot')¹⁾, śarav-īyā 'bowshot' (beside śarav-yā-m 'goal of the arrow', from śāru-ṣ 'arrow').

In adjectival compounds the suffix is rare. Skr. su-hāst-īya- (beside su-hāsta-) 'with beautiful hands' mādhū-hast-īya- 'holding sweetness in the hand' ādhi-gart-īya- 'situated on the driver's seat', Avest. dēuśmanah-ya- 'cherishing evil sentiments, evil-doer' (cp. Skr. dur-manas- Gr. δυσ-μενής).

Armenian. This suffix appears to be contained in the nouns in -i. kog-i 'butter' ('coming from the cow') with g for u (I § 162, 2 p 145) from kov 'cow': Skr. gāv-ya-. To this group no doubt belong the further examples gin-i 'wine', i. e. 'that which comes from the grape' (cp. Gr. οἶνος Lat. vīnum; for the suffix cp. Lith. ap-vy-n-ỹ-s 'hops'), orj-i 'not castrated' mi-orj-i 'μόνορχις' from orj 'male', etc.

Greek. νά-ιο-ς νή-ιο-ς 'belonging to a ship', from ναῦ-ς 'ship': Skr. nāv-īya- 'navigable'. διό-ς 'heavenly, glorious' for δι-ιο-ς* from Δι-ς. Skr. div-yā-s 'heavenly'. πεζό-ς 'going on foot' for πεδ-κο-ς* beside πούς ποδ-ός 'foot': Skr. pād-ya-s 'relating to the foot'. ἡοῖο-ς 'early, eastern' for οο-κο-ς*, from ῥῶς 'rosy dawn': Skr. uśas-ya-s 'dedicated to the dawn'. γομφ-ίο-ς 'molar tooth' (orig. an adj. joined with ὀδούς) from γόμφο-ς 'plug, peg': cp. Skr. jāmbhya-s 'molar tooth' or 'incisor tooth' from jāmbha-s 'bite'. Lesb. χέλλιοι Ion. Att. χέλλιοι (χῆλλιοι) 'thousand' for χσελ-ιοι* from χσελο-* (cp. δεκά-χῆλλιοι): Skr. sa-hasra-īya-s 'thousandfold' from sa-hāsra-m 'thousand'; parallel to this is Dor. -κατ-ιοι Arcad. -κασ-ιοι in διᾱ-κάτιοι 'two hundred' from ἑ-κατό-ν 'hundred'.

2) With this Gr. πεζα 'bottom, extremity, edge, border' is usually compared. Perhaps we should assume the existence of an original subst. ped-ikā*.

σωτήρ-ιο-ς 'saving, delivering' from σωτήρ 'saviour'. λειμών-ιο-ς 'belonging to the meadows' from λειμών 'meadow'. Ion. (and other dial.) βασιλή(F)-ιο-ς 'kingly' from βασιλεύς 'king' and the like (Att. -ειο-), whence the ending -ηιο-ς spread to other stems, e. g. ἀνδρ-ήιο-ς, πολεμ-ήιο-ς. τίμ-ιο-ς 'held in honour' from τιμή 'honour'.

Remark 2 There remain certain groups of nouns, ending in -αιο-ς -ω-ς -ειο-ς, and retaining the ι (e. g. δικαιο-ς, ἄλλοιο-ς, οἰκείο-ς), which occur in several extensive classes of formations; but their origin and development is still in many respects obscure, in spite of many attempts to investigate the subject thoroughly (see p. 122 footnote 1). They cannot be directly connected with Sanskrit forms like hiranyā-ga-s 'golden' from hiranya-m 'gold', gavyā-ga-s 'bovinus' from gavyā-m 'bovinum', nor with Lith. vasarū-gi-s 'field sown with spring-corn' from vasarā 'summer'. ἄλλοιο-ς etc. may well have been formed on the analogy of ποιο-ς τοιο-ς, which probably arose from -οι-ιο-ς -ειο- (the latter only in some words) perhaps, go back to -αι-ιο-ς -ει-ιο-ς. Have they any connexion with Skr. -ēya-?

Substantives. Θελκτήρ-ιο-ν 'delight, magic charm' from Θελκτήρ-ιο-ς 'enchanting' Θελκτήρ 'charmer' αἰδοῖο-ν 'pudendum' from αἰδοῖο-ς 'he before whom one feels shame', αἰδώς 'shame, modesty'. After the time of Homer neuter forms like these often assumed a diminutival meaning, as ὄρνιθ-ιο-ν 'little bird', ἐταίριδ-ιο-ν 'little mistress', ἀσπίδ-ιο-ν 'little shield' (hence -ιδιο-ν broke off as an independent suffix: ἀδελφ-ιδιο-ν 'little brother' ξίφ-ιδιο-ν 'little sword'); the intermediate stage between these two meanings was that of belonging to a kind; cp. the suffix -ῖνο- in Germanic (§ 68). σωτήρ-ια 'deliverance' from σωτήρ-ιο-ς ξεν-ία 'hospitality' from ξέν-ιο-ς 'hospitable'. ἡσυχ-ία 'quietude' from ἡσυχ-ιο-ς 'quiet'. The endings mentioned in Remark 2 were also used in the same way in substantives; e. g. Ion. ἀναγκαίη 'necessity' from ἀναγκαῖο-ς 'necessary' (compare ἀνάγκη 'necessity').

Adjectival compounds: ἐννεά-βο-ιο-ς 'worth nine oxen', παν-ήμερ-ιο-ς (beside παν-ήμερο-ς) 'lasting the whole day', ψευδ-όρκ-ιο-ς (and ψεύδ-ορκο-ς) 'forsworn'. Where the compound contains a preposition which, in sense, governs the latter part, -ιο- is fairly regular; e. g. ὑπ-ασπίδ-ιο-ς 'situated under a shield', παρα-θαλάσσι-ο-ς 'situated near the sea' (§ 31 p. 53).

Italic. Lat. Jov-iu-s 'belonging to Juppiter' Umbr. Jov-iu abl. 'Jovio' Osc. Iúv-ia 'Joviam'. Lat. cēnsōr-iu-s from cēnsor. praecōn-iu-s from praecō. lucr-iu-s from lucru-m. nox-iu-s from noxa.

Substantives. Lat. augur-iu-m beside augur-iu-s from augur, dēversōr-u-m beside dēversōr-iu-s from dēversor, hērēd-iu-m from hērēs (stem. hērēd-), collēg-iu-m from collēga. nox-ia beside nox-iu-s from noxa, custōd-ia from custōs (stem custōd-), famil-ia Umbr. fameř-ias nom. 'familiae' beside Lat. famulu-s; Osc. medikk-iaī loc. of medikk-iā- 'function of a medix' (cp. Lat. vindic-ia from vindex).

Adjectival compounds. Lat. acu-ped-u-s 'swiftfooted', falci-ped-u-s: cp. A.S. ān-fēte 'one-footed' (cp. below under Germanic); falsi-jūr-iu-s; centi-nōd-u-s; in-vīn-u-s. Where there was a governing preposition, other adjectival suffixes were generally employed, cp. ante-lūc-ānus-, extra-ordin-āriu-s and similar compounds.

Old Irish. Besides the adjectives in -de -te, which shew an extension of the suffix (as dāl-te 'forensis' from dāl 'forum', daur-de 'quernus' from daur 'quercus'), it can hardly be said that any derived adjectives remain which are formed simply with -iō-. But many of the substantives connected with these adjectives have been preserved; e. g. auē ḡa 'grandson' = O.C.Sl. u-jŕ Pruss. awi-s 'uncle', beside Lat. avo-s 'grandfather'. Neut. orbe 'inheritance, heritage' = Goth. arbi 'heritage', common ground-form orbh-iō-m* (I § 139 p. 124 f., § 335 p. 267, § 524 p. 380), beside Armen. orb 'orphan' Lat. orb-u-s 'set free, bereft, orphaned' (the original meaning therefore of the Irish and German word was probably 'something, i. e. property, bereft, left behind'), cenēle 'genus' from cenēl 'genus' (cp. Gr. ἐὐναῖο-ν ἐὐναῖα beside ἐὐνή 'couch', ἀναγαιή beside ἀνάγκη 'necessity', οἶκο-ν οἶκιά beside οἶκος 'house', O.C.Sl. ognište n. 'fireplace, hearth' for isk-je* beside Pol. ognisko n., and the like). Fem. lāne 'plenitudo' from lan 'plenus', ḡe 'integritas' from ḡg 'integer', galarche 'aegritudo' from galrach 'aeger'.

Cp. also Gallic proper names like Cintugnāt-iu-s beside Cintugnātū-s, Tout-iu-s beside Toutu-s (cp. Gr. Ἀντιγένης-ιο-ς, Τέλαμων-ιο-ς).

Germanic. In the adjectival use it is no longer a living suffix, its place having been taken by -īna- -za- etc.; but it is frequently retained in substantives. Goth. nīþ-jī-s 'cousin, kinsman' O.Icel. nīð-jar pl. 'descendants, offspring' A.S. niddas pl. 'men' for ne(p)t-jo-* (I § 527 p. 382) beside O.H.G. nefo 'nephew, kinsman', Idg. stem (in the weak form) nept-*: Avest. napt-īya- 'kinsman', Gr. ἀνεψιό-ς O.C.Sl. net-ijŕ 'first cousin' Goth. hairdeis O.H.G. hirti 'herdsman' ('he who belongs to the herd') pr. Germ. xirð-īja-*, beside Goth. hairda O.H.G. herta 'herd'. Goth. gufþlöstr-ei-s 'offerer' beside O.H.G. bluostar 'offering'. O.H.G. ouwa O.Icel. ey (pl. eyjar) 'marshy land, island' ('watery' f. scil. 'earth', cp. Gr. πολεμῖα 'enemy's land') for a(ɜ)u-jō* (I § 444 c p. 330), beside Goth. ahwa O.H.G. aha 'water'.

Neuter and feminine forms used as substantives. Goth. reik-i O.H.G. rihh-i n. 'realm, lordship' beside Goth. reik-s 'lord, ruler': Skr. raj-iyā-m, yet cp. Rem. 1 p. 125. Goth. andbaht-i n. 'service' from andbahts 'servant', þiub-i n. 'theft' from þiufts 'thief'. Goth. háuhiests n. 'the highest height' from háuhiests 'highest': cp. Skr. jyāṣṭh-ya-m 'highest power' from jyēṣṭha-s 'most powerful'; Goth. unhādili n. 'illness' from unhāils 'ill'. O.H.G. diub-(i)a f. 'theft' beside Goth. þiubi n. Goth. ga-riud-jō f. 'shame' (transferred to the n-decl.), beside ga-riud-i n., from ga-riups 'modest, ohaste'.

It is probable that some of the adjectival compounds of West-Germanic (and Norse) like O.H.G. heiz-muot-i 'hot-tempered, passionate' lang-līb-i 'longaevus' are old jo-stems (cp. Kluge, Nom. Stambb. p. 77. 104). We must certainly class here Goth. uf-aiþ-ei-s 'under an oath, bound by oath', and the Goth. substantival neuter forms fāura-dawri 'that which is before the door, street' anda-naht-i 'the time close on night'.

Balto-Slavonic. In Lithuanian the suffix is no longer in use to form adjectives; but it often occurs in groups of compounded suffixes, as -in-i-s (med-in-i-s 'wooden').

Masculine forms used as substantives. arkl-j-s 'horse' from árkla-s 'plough'. To this class also belong musū-ji-s 'he who is ours' from gen. mūsū 'our' (cp. O.C.Sl. naši 'our' for nās-ji* beside the gen. nasū), Prūsaičiai-ji-s 'he who belongs to the family Prūsaičiai', and the like.

Some masc. forms are derived from substantival neuters: ilg-i-s 'length' from ilga-s 'long', šalt-i-s 'coldness' from šalta-s 'cold' etc. (cp. the Slavonic below).

This -jo- appears in adjectival and indeed in most other compounds; e. g. tri-rāš-i-s 'three-pronged' from rāša-s 'prong', minksz-gaiv-i-s 'soft-headed' i. e. 'weak-headed' from gaivà 'head', apj-vakar-i-s 'the time towards evening' (an adj. used as a subst.). The general practice of forming compounds with -jo- may have sprung from this group of words.

In Slavonic it is still living as an adjectival formative suffix (-je- = orig. -xo- and -ije- -je- = orig. -jo-, I § 36 p. 37), forming adjectives from the names of living beings, e. g. materi 'motherly' from mati, člověči 'human' from člověku, ovčji and ovčiji 'ovium' from ovčica, synovli 'filii' (for the l see I § 147 p. 132) from synū (synov-, cp. Skr. iṣav-yā- 'relating to an arrow' from iṣu-, Gr. ἀσπεῖο-ς for faoref-io-ς* 'town-like' from ἄστυ), bož-ij bož-ij 'divine' from bogu, děvjji děvjji 'maidenly' from děva.

Neuter forms used as substantives: ostrije 'sharpness' from ostrū 'sharp', lakomije 'greediness' from lakomū 'covetous, greedy' (cp. Lith. ilgi-s and the like), požnje 'usefulness, use' from požea 'useful', znamenije 'designation, mark, token' from zname 'mark, token' and (with collective meaning) kamenije 'stone-work, stones' from kamy 'stone', dražije 'timber-work, beams' from dragū 'beam', and so forth. Feminine forms: susa 'dryness' from suchū 'dry', qrošda 'folly' from qrodū 'foolish', bratřija bratřija 'brotherhood, brothers' (cp. Gr. φρατερία). In all these instances the adjectives from which the substantives came have fallen out of use.

Only isolated examples of adjectival compounds have this suffix; e. g. bez-očči 'without a father, fatherless' (očči 'father') bez-umli 'without sense, unintelligent' (umū 'sense') like Lith be-tėvis be-prōti-s.

Remark 3. The fact that in many cases we cannot tell whether -ṣo- is primary or secondary (see Rem. 1) naturally suggests the question, whether its use as a secondary suffix may not be wholly due to a relation accidentally established between ṣo-formations which originally were primary, and nouns containing the same root, as for instance between rēṣ-ṣo-* and rēṣ-* 'ruler, king'. In this case it would be questionable whether the disappearance of the -o- and -ā- of the stem was a real phonetic process, or whether, which is far more probable, some originally primary formation, e. g. jug-ṣo-* (✓jeuṣ- 'yoke to, unite') was brought into connexion with a noun like jugó-in* 'yoke', and that this alone caused the apparent loss of the stem-final wherever it takes place. Such instances as Skr. bhuran-yá-ti 'he is active' derived from bhurana- 'active', Gr. μελίσσω for μελιṣ-ṣo-* from μελιṣo- must also, no doubt, be taken into account. I must content myself here with directing attention to these questions, which are still unsettled. — On these points the student may now be referred also to Windisch, Über die Verbalformen mit dem Character R, p. 55 f

3. There are some adjectives in which -ṣo- appears to have had a comparative meaning (cp. superl. medh-ṣmo-s* § 72 beside medh-ṣo-s* 'medius'), so that -ṣes- -is- (e. g. in Skr. compar. náv-yas- superl. náv-iś-ṣha-, § 81. 135) may be regarded as an extension of -ṣo- by an s-suffix.

al-ṣo-s* 'alius': Armen. al, Gr. ἄλλο-ς Lat. alnu-s O.Ir. aile Goth. alji-s, cp. Ar. an-ṣa-* 'alius' (Skr. anyá- Avest. anya- O.Pers. aniya-), which is derived from another root but is similarly formed. medh-ṣo-s* 'medius': Skr. mádhya-s 'medius', Armen. mēṣ, gen. mifoy, 'midst', Gr. μέσσο-ς μέσο-ς, Lat. mediu-s, Gall. Medio-matrici, O.C.Sl. fem. used substantivally mežda 'boundary' for medṣa* (cp. O.Sax. middea O.Icel. miðja — a weak fem. — 'midst'). ney-ṣo-* beside ney-o-s* 'new, young' (cp. Skr. nú, Gr. ν etc.): Skr. návya-s, O.Ir. nūe (Gall. Novio-dānu-m), Goth. niurj-i-s, Lith. naūja-s. Skr. sav-yá-s O.C.Sl. šu-jǐ 'left' (cp. I § 185 p. 161). Gr. δεξιό-ς 'right'.

Certain possessive pronouns with -ṣo- should be placed in this group; e. g. Lat. meu-s for me-ṣo-s* (I § 184 p. 121) Pruss. mais (stem ma-ia-) O.C.Sl. mo-jǎ 'my', Osc. tiium 'tu' Umbr. tiu tiom 'te', properly 'tuum', Pruss. tuais (stem twa-ia-) O.C.Sl. tvo-jǫ 'thy', and further Skr. mad-īya-s 'my' tad-īya-s 'his, eius'. Then e. g. me-īo-* would be related to mo-* (Avest. ma- Gr. ἐμός-) as Gr. ὑμέτερος to ἐμός-.

We should also include certain ordinal numerals with -īo-. Skr. pūrv-iyā- pūrv-īya- 'previous, first', Avest. pavīrya- 'first', Gr. πρῶην 'lately' for πρω-īā-v* (I § 306 p. 242). Skr. dvit-īya- Avest. bit-ya- 'second'. Skr. trī-īya- Avest. prī-ya- Lat. tert-iu-s Goth. prīd-ja-n- Lith. trėczia-s for tret-īa-s* O.C.Sl. tret-jǫ 'third' beside Gr. τρίτος. Skr. tūr-ya- tur-īya- Avest. tūīrya- 'fourth' for ktur-* (I § 471 p. 343).

This third function of the suffix -yo- appears also in active use in some of the separate Indo-Germanic languages. E. g. Goth. fairneis O.H.G. firm 'old' and Goth. alpeis 'old' may have been formed on the model of nuji-s

§ 64. The Suffix -yo- -yā-, -uyo- -uyā-. This is both primary and secondary, it is found in substantives and adjectives, but no special meaning can be assigned to it. In Latin and German we must notice its frequent use in forming adjectives to denote colour, a function it acquired simply by analogical extension. In these and in some other languages -yo- appears still as a living suffix.

Idg. ek-yo-s* 'horse', fem. ek-yā* (often referred to Skr. āś-ū-ś Gr. ὤκ-ύς 'swift' Lat. acu-pediu-s, but it is difficult to reconcile the vocalism): Skr. āśva-s āśvā, Gr. ἵππος (the fem. perhaps survives in ἱππη-μολγοί 'milkers of mares'), Lat. equo-s equa, O.Ir. ech, Goth. athva- seen in athva-tundi 'βάτος', Lith. asvā. gē-yó-* 'living' (✓ ge- 'to be astir, to live'): Skr. jivā- Lat. vīvo-s Mod.Cymr. byw Goth. giu-s (stem giva-) Lith. gyva-s O.C.Sl. živū. udheyo-* -yā- beside Skr. vidh- 'become empty, lack': Skr. vidhāva-s 'unmarried' vidhāva 'widow', Gr. ἡίθσο-ς 'unmarried' (the explanation of the ἡ- is doubtful; see Wheeler, Der griech. Nominalacc. 110), Lat. viduo-s vidua, O.Ir. fedb Mod.Cymr. gweddw (I § 174 p. 154) Goth. viduō (n-stem) O.C.Sl. vidova 'widow'; the word should no doubt be analysed vidhe-yo-* and compared with words like Skr. yaj-a-tā-s darś-

-a-tā-s Gr. ἔπν-τ-ρὺν λᾱχ-ε-σι-ς, containing the -e- of thematic verbal stems (§ 79. 100), cp. Lat. vac-uo-s etc. below.

-uo- occurs as a secondary suffix in patr-uo-* patr-uo-* and patr-u-ia-* (a derivative form with -ia-) 'father's brother, uncle': Skr. pātrvya- Gr. (Ion. Cret.) pātrōs for pātrō-fo-s* (fo- = f-, I § 306 p. 241 f.) Lat. patruo-s O.H.G. fetiro and futureo (fathuryā-n-*); for the Avest. tūirya- see Bartholomae, Bezzenberger's Beitr. X 271 f.

In the form -uuo-. Skr. dhr-uvā- 'firm' beside O.C.Sl. sū-dravū zdravū 'sound, healthy' for *-dor-vū.

Aryan. Skr. viś-va- Avest. O.Pers. viśpa- (I § 159 [p. 142] 'all' (in Skr. it also means 'containing or pervading all'), beside Skr. viś- 'enter, penetrate, take possession of' (orig. 'completely filled' or 'filling', cp. Skr. śa-śvant- Gr. nās § 126). Skr. ṛk-vā- 'praising'. Skr. pak-vā- 'ripe' (from pac- 'to cook'). We have already noticed that Skr. dhruvā- 'firm' should be classed here, i. e. dhr-uvā- with the dissyllabic form of the suffix, cp. O.C.Sl. sū-dravū- 'sound, healthy' for *-*dor-vū*¹).

The suffix is also denominative in some instances; e. g. Skr. kēśa-vā-s 'long-haired' from kēśa-s 'hair', rāsna-vā-s 'provided with a girdle' from rāsna- 'girdle', añji-vā-s 'slippery, smooth' from añji-ś 'unguent', rajī-vā-s 'striped' from rajī- 'stripe'.

In some cases it is doubtful whether the suffix is primary or denominative: Skr. pūr-va-s 'former, earlier' Avest. pourva- O.Pers. parāva- (read parva-) 'earlier': Gr. ṛpō-fo-* seen in Dor. ṛpān 'formerly' for ṛpō-fā-v* and in ṛpūro-ς Dor. ṛpūro-ς 'first' for ṛpō-f-aro-ς* (I § 306 p. 242), O.C.Sl. pri-vy-jī 'first'. Similarly Avest. aē-va- O.Pers. ai-va- 'unus': Gr. ol-fo-ς olō-ς 'alone', cp. oi-no-* in Lat. oino-s anu-s etc.

Armenian. kea-, seen in kea-nē (gen. ken-aç) 'life' and other words, seems to have been developed from kiva-* and accordingly to belong to the stem gī-uo-* (see above). Compare Hübschmann, Armen. St. I 35.

1) Elsewhere -uva- for -va- in the Rig-Veda is 'a sporadic and doubtful exception'. See Edgren, Journ. of the Amer. Orient. Soc. XI 82.

Greek. ὀρθός 'upright' for *ὀρθ-fo-ς: Skr. ardhva-s 'upright', Lat. arduo-s, O.Ir. ard (ardd art) 'high, great, noble'; with which we may compare Arduenna silva, Idg. ṛd̥h-mó-s*. κόρη-φα (in Thessal. ? inscr.), Ion. κούρη Dor. κόρα Att. κόρη 'girl' (I § 168 p. 146 f.). λαί(φ)ός 'left': Lat. laevo-s O.C.Sl. lěvŭ 'left'; compare no doubt Germ. slai-ma-s* 'weary, weak, dull, slow' (O.H.G. slēo A.S. slāw O.Icel. sljör), so that this word for 'left' would represent the opposite of the universal Indo-Germanic word for 'right', Skr. dákṣiṇa- Gr. δεξιός etc., in as much as the original meaning of the latter involved the notion of strength, ability, or cleverness, as is shewn by the Skr. dákṣa- 'strong, able, skilful'. κεν-φό*-ς 'empty' Lesb. κένρος Ion. κεινό-ς Att. *κενός*¹); the by-form κενε-φό-ς, represented by Cypr. κενευφόν Ion. κενεός-, is parallel to ιε-ρός beside ἱ-ρός-, and similar pairs of forms.

-fo- as a secondary suffix is no doubt to be traced in verbal adjectives ending in -τίο-ς, which stands for *-τε-fo-ς, as διωκτίο-ς 'to be pursued', and in adjectives in -αλέο-ς, standing for -αλε-fo-ς, as ῥωγαλέο-ς 'fragmentary, torn': these are based on stems in -το- and -αλο-.

Remark 1 Hesiod's πατειός either represents an extended stem formed with -ιο-, *-τε-fo-ιο-ς, or (which seems to me less likely) is a later corruption of a true Hesiodic form πατεινός.

The Skr. accent in kēḍa-vā etc. (see above) suggests the conjecture that -τίο-ς in dactylic words came from *-τεός- (cp. I § 676 p. 542 f.), and that -αλέο-ς afterwards conformed to the same type.

-fo- as a secondary suffix is perhaps also to be recognised in ἴσο-ς Cret. ἴσφο-ς 'equal', since the word may be referred to mit-s-, a weak form of the stem of meid-es sl̥d-os (cp. § 132); the pr. Gr. form will then have been fitto-fo*-ς, cp. Umbr. mersuva from med-(e)s*- cited below. ἴσος has already been connected with εἶδομαι by Bechtel, Philolog. Anzeiger 1886 p. 15, who also gives the pr. Gr. form as fidsofos, but suggests no satisfactory explanation of the σ.

1) In the Att. κενότερος κενότετος the use of ο instead of ω (contrast σφωότερος) is a reminiscence of the older form κενφο*-ς. Cp. § 75.

Here too we should no doubt class ξένφο-ς 'strange, foreign' Ion. ξένο-ς Att. ξένο-ς (I § 166 p. 146); yet it is not clear whether -φο- is primary or secondary.

Italic. Lat. ar-vo-m, Umbr. arvam-en 'in arvum': Mod.Cymr. er-w 'cultivated land' Bret. er-v 'furrow'. Lat. sal-vo-s, Umbr. salvom saluom 'salvum' salvam 'salvam': compare Skr. sár-va-s Gr. οὔλο-ς ὅλο-ς (*όλ-φο-ς) 'all, whole'. Lat. vī-vo-s Osc. bivus nom. 'vivi': Skr. jī-vá-s etc., see p. 133 above Lat. cal-vo-s: Skr. kul-va-s 'bald'. Lat. scae-vo-s: Gr. σκαι-(φ)ά-ς 'left', and add O Icel. skeika 'go awry, go wrong' (skaikō-* for skaymā-*, see S. Bugge, Paul-Br. Beitr. XIII 515). In words denoting colours: hel-vo-s. O.H.G. gelo 'yellow', common ground-form ghel-μο-s*; gil-vo-s, ful-vo-s, fla-vo-s (for bhl̥f-μο-s*, compare O.H.G. blāo 'blue?'), ra-vo-s, fur-vo-s (I § 569 p. 426). Such forms as vacuo-s, nocuo-s, perspicuo-s, assiduo-s may be of the same kind as viduo-s; vacuo-s, for instance, will then have come from vace-μο-s*, the intermediate stage being vacomo-s* (I § 65 p. 52).

The suffix is secondary in Minerva for menes-μα* beside Skr. mānas- Gr. μένεσ- n. 'mind, sense' (cp. Skr. manas-vin- 'having sense, intelligent'); Umbr. mersuva abl. 'solita' for meřs-uā(d), i. e. med(e)s-μο- from meř-s 'ius'. Also in Lat. annuo-s from annu-s, strēnuo-s beside Gr. στρεῖνο-ς 'strength', cernuo-s from cerno-* (or cernā-) for cers-no- 'head', cp. Gr. κράννα κρήνη (ἀμφι-κρήνο-ς) for κράσ-νā*; here too we should probably place the examples of -uo-s from e-μο-s*, cp. Skr. kṛṣā-vá-s Gr. διακρέ-(φ)ο-ς.

Remark 2. Do the adjectives in -ivo-s, as captivo-s furtivo-s sēmentivo-s nocivo-s cadivo-s, come from feminine forms in -i- (cp. Skr. rāji-vá-s), or from derivative verbs in -ire (nocire*), like Lath. daly-va-s from daly-ti, Slav. chodi-vā from choditi (see below)? In either case there must have been a change of usage, from the primary to the denominative or vice versa.

Old Irish. tar-b Gall. tar-vo-s Mod.Cymr. tar-w 'ox', usually compared with Gr. ταῦρο-ς, which is said to stand for taφ-Fo-ς* (I § 639 p. 479). mar-b Mod.Cymr. mar-w 'dead', compared with √mer- 'die' (cp. Rem. 3).

Remark 3. Osthoff regards marb as modelled on the form of its opposite gr̥-yo-s*, O.Ir. bīu deo Mod.Cymr. byw, whilst Bréal (Mém de la Soc. de lingu. VI 127) holds that even the Lat.-Slav. myto-* 'dead' (Lat. mortuo-s O.C.Sl. mr̥ivŭ) was originally myto-* and that it was altered on the same analogy. This seems to me not unlikely; and I would also suggest that possibly the Kelt.-Germ. deks-yo-* 'dexter' (O Ir dess O.Cymr. dehou, Goth. taihva) may owe its suffix to one of the two words for the opposite idea, lax-yo-* skax-yo-* (see pp. 185, 186) (cp. Gr. δεξιτερός- on the analogy of ἀριστερός-, late Lat. senexter instead of sinister on the analogy of dexter, and many similar examples, Ber. der sächs Gesellsch der Wiss., 1883, p. 191 f)

Germanic. Goth. hlái-v n. O.H.G. hlēo, gen. hlēwes, 'grave-mound' ground-form klox-yo-*: Lat. cli-vo-s, ✓ klej- 'lean, incline'. A.S. earo O.Icel. qrr 'swift' from which Finn. arvas is borrowed: cp. Skr. ár-vaṇ- 'hasting, swift'. O.H.G. rāwa ruowa 'quietude, rest' pr. Germ rē-yō-* rū-yō-*: Gr. ἔλω-(f)ῆ 'letting loose, cessation, rest'. Words denoting colour; O.H.G. gelo: Lat. helvo-s, O.H.G. salō 'black, dirty', O.H.G. blāo 'blue' (compare Lat. flavo-s?), A.S. baso 'purple' etc. (Kluge, Nom. Stammb. 81).

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. pỹ-va-s 'beer' O.C.Sl. pi-vo 'draught, intoxicating drink', compared with pi- 'to drink' (O.C.Sl. pi-ti 'to drink' Skr. pi-ti-ṣ 'draught' Gr. πι-vo 'I drink' etc.); and since this is no doubt identical with pi- 'swell, be fat' (Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 41. 167), the word must be closely related to Skr. pī-va-s Gr. πι-(f)ο-ς 'fat'. Lith. paļ-va-s O.C.Sl. pla-vŭ 'yellowish white, tawny' (it is possible that the Lith. word was borrowed from the Slav.): O.H.G. falo 'fallow, tawny'. Pruss. sy-va- O.C.Sl. si-vŭ 'gray': related to Skr. śyā-va- 'dark brown'. Pruss. pel-wo O.C.Sl. plě-va 'chaff', beside Lith. pelaĩ pl. 'chaff'. Lith. piļ-va-s 'belly'; kaļ-và 'hillock' (from kėl-ti 'to lift'). O.C.Sl. krava 'cow' for kor-va* (Lith. kárvė, containing a further suffix), compare Lat. cer-vo-s; gri-va 'mane'. Skr. grī-vā 'nape, neck'.

In Lithuanian it occurs in adjectives in -y-va-s, connected with verbs in -y-ti, as daly-vn-s 'sharing in' (dalyvu būti 'be a sharer in') from daly-ti 'to divide', aký-va-s 'provided with eyes, inquisitive' from akýti 'to get eyes, become porous' (cp. akýla-s 'observant'). In Slavonic there are adjectives in -i-vŭ -a-vŭ, connected with verbs in -i-ti -a-ti, as chodī-vū 'moving' from chodī-ti 'to go', ljubi-vū 'loving' from ljubi-ti 'to love', laska-vū 'coaxing, flattering' from laska-ti 'to flatter', dēla-vū 'effective, active' from dēla-ti 'to effect, work'. These adjectives in -y-va-s -i-vū are parallel to the Latin adjectives in -ivo-s; see Rem. 2.

§ 65. The Suffixes -no- -nā-, -yno- -ynā- and -eno- -enā-, -ono- -onā-¹⁾.

With regard to the relation of -yno- to -no-, see I § 227 p. 193 f.

It is often maintained that the first vowels of -eno -ono- are the same as the verbal thematic vowels e and o, so that e. g. the stem of Skr. bhāraṇa-m 'act of bearing' is to be divided into bhāra-ṇa-, and compared with the bhāra- of the 3. sing. bhāra-ti; and that of Goth. batran 'to bear', into batra-na-, and compared with the batra- of the 1. pl. batra-m. This analysis cannot be justified by reference to forms like dōno-m* 'act of giving' (Skr. dāna-m, Lat. dōnu-m) beside bher-eno-m* bherono-m* 'act of bearing', or to such as part. pass. dhēno-s* seen in O.H.G. gi-tān 'done' O.C.Sl. o-dēnū 'done round with, set round with, clothed' beside O.H.G. gi-zog-an 'drawn' (-ono-) O.C.Sl. nes-enū 'borne' (-eno-). In these forms it is very far from certain that the suffix is -no- (stem dōno-* = $\sqrt{dō}$ + suffix -no-, and so forth), since there is good reason for believing that the initial vowel of the suffix was contracted with the vowel of the root in protoethnic Indo-Germanic, in just the same way as, for instance, the 3. sing. conj. dōti* (Skr. dāti) from dō-e-ti* (see I § 115 p. 107). Now if we consider that it is just in tenses which have no thematic vowel that -eno- -ono- has firmly established itself as a participial suffix (Skr. bibhid-anā-s Goth. bīt-an-s from \sqrt{bheid} 'split, bite', Goth. fulg-in-s 'hidden', O.C.Sl. nes-enū 'borne', Skr. dviṣ-anā-s beside the indic. dviṣ-ṣē, dviṣ- 'hate', Avest. yn-āna- beside the indic. yn-ē, jan- 'slay') it will be seen that for our purpose it is absolutely necessary to regard -eno- -ono- as a simple indivisible suffix. From its usage it is clear that this suffix is very closely related to -no- -yno-; and there is nothing to prevent our assuming that -no- -yno- are the weak-grade forms corresponding to -eno- -ono-, just as we have side -mno- (-myno-?), -meno- -mono- (§ 71) and -tro- -tyro-, -tero- -toro- (§ 75). The assumption of this ablaut-relation, i. e. that -no- arose from -eno- (-ono-), would still hold good even though we regarded -eno- as ultimately divisible into two elements (-e-, -o- + -no-), cp. *rudpt- the weak-grade form beside *rudo-nt- (§ 125).

1) Schnorr von Carolsfeld, Das lat. Suffix ānus, Archiv f. lat. Lexicogr. I 177 ff.

This n-suffix formed chiefly verbal nouns, partly adjectives and partly substantives; the latter especially in the neuter and feminine, with abstract meaning (see § 158).

The suffix -(e)no- is characterised by its fertility as a participial and infinitival suffix in several languages, and some of the groups of adjectives and participles which it formed were very extensive.

As a secondary suffix it did not spread far until the Indo-Germanic languages had begun their separate developement, and then only in a few branches.

Remark. Sometimes it is not easy to distinguish whether in any particular word we have the suffix -(e)no- or an en-stem extended by the suffix -o-, i. e. an example of transference into the o-declension. The latter is undoubtedly the case e g. in Skr. āśn-a-s beside āśan-m. 'stone', pūṣān-a-s beside pūṣān- name of a deity (§ 60 p. 112), Gr. ἰλλό- 'young stag' for ilv-o-*; beside O.C.Sl. jelen- 'stag', šmóv-η 'whetstone' beside Skr. āśan-, Lat. pullu-s for puln-o-s* beside Goth. fulin- 'foal', Lith. ješn-os pl. 'liver' beside Skr. yakn-. On the other hand it is doubtful whether Lat. rēgnu-m contains the suffix -no-, or is an en-stem which has passed over to the o-declension, and is therefore identical with Skr. rājān- 'government, regimen'. Cp. § 71 Rem., § 94 Rem.

§ 66. 1. The Suffix in the form -no- -yno-. The form -no- is found especially in verbal adjectives, which, like those in -to- (§ 79), were made from the verbal stem (not from a particular tense-stem). In Sanskrit these adjectives formed a fairly large class of participles by the side of the to- participles and of similar character. They are chiefly passive in meaning.

Besides these there are numerous substantives, many of which can be shown to have existed in the proethnic language, of different genders and generally abstract in meaning.

The form -yno- has on the whole the same value as -no-. Yet it must be observed that not -no-, but only -yno- appears to occur as the medial participial suffix of non-thematic present forms.

The nouns formed with -no- -yno-, when used as adjectives (participles), have almost always the weak grade of ablaut in the root-syllable (the suffix bearing the accent, e. g. pġ-nó-* 'filled' \checkmark pel-, Skr. pūr-ṇá-), but as substantives more commonly the strong grade form (c. g. qoġ-nā* 'requital', \checkmark qeġ-, Gr. ποι-νή). Differences like sup-no-* suep-no-* suop-no-* 'sleep' are indications that the strength of the root-syllable varied within the case-system of the same word.

Idg. pġ-nó-* pġ-nó-* 'filled, full', from \checkmark pel- 'fill': Skr. parṇá-s Avest. per'na- Gr. perhaps πολλοί 'many' (see I § 306 p. 242), O.Ir. lān, Goth. fulls pr. Germ. fulna-z*, Lith. pilna-s O.C.Sl. pġnŭ; cp. Skr. pūr-tá-s Lith. pil-ta-s 'filled'. plē-nó-* 'filled' from plē- 'to fill': Skr. prāṇá-s Lat. plēnu-s; cp. Skr. prā-tá-s Lat. im-plē-tus 'filled'. Skr. ánna-m 'food' for ad-na-* (I § 477, p. 352) Gr. ἔδ-αρό-ς 'catable' ἔδ-αρό-ν 'food' (with -yno-, see below), \checkmark ed- 'eat'. Avest. per'nā- f. Goth. fullō f. (which has passed over to the n-declension) 'fullness'. qoġ-nā-* f. 'requital' from \checkmark qeġ- (Skr. cay- Gr. τιμ-): Avest. kaēnā- 'punishment', Gr. ποινή 'requital, punishment, reward', O.C.Sl. cěna 'price'. sup-no-* suep-no-* suop-no- m. 'sleep, dream': Skr. svāpna-s, Arm. ġun (suop-no-*, I § 162 p. 145, § 201 p. 169) Gr. ὑπνο-ς, Lat. somnu-s (probably suep-no-*, I § 172 p. 152) O.Ir. suan O.Cymr. hun (cp. I § 339 Rem. p. 269), O.Icel. svefn, Lith. sāpna-s O.C.Sl. sŭnŭ.

leuqsno-* or louqsno-* 'shining': Avest. raoxšna- 'shining', Lat. lūna O.Lat. inscr. losna for loucsnā*, O.Ir. luan 'moon', Pruss. lauxnos pl. 'stars', compared with leuq-s- in Skr. rukṣā- 'shining', Lat. illūstri-s for in-loucs-tri-s*, A.S. līxan lŷxan 'give light' for liuhs-jan*, from \checkmark leuq-; on the other hand, without -s-, O.Sax. log-na (o probably short) 'flame'. Words of this kind with -s- gave rise to a form -sno-, regarded as a single suffix, which occurs in a few words; see below. Cp. -s-mi- § 94.

Pres. medio-pass. part. with -ḡno- (beside this is found -ono-, cp. § 67). keḡ-ḡno-* 'lying' beside the indic. Skr. śē-tē Gr. κεῖ-ται: Avest. say-ana- 'lying' (Skr. upari-śayanā-m 'resting-place'), Gr. Ὠ-κεαρός 'he who surrounds' (cp. Skr. d-śete; von Fierlinger, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 477). Gr. ἐδ-αρός 'eatable' beside the indic. Skr. ād-mi; ῖαρός 'dress, cloak' for Fes-avo-* beside the indic. Skr. vās-tē.

Remark This view of Ar -ana- and of Gr. -avo-, so far as they have the same meaning as -māna- -mna- and -μενο-, cannot be called certain. As my pupil Herr H. Hirt reminds me, they may be regarded as having arisen from -ḡno-*, just as the participial Ar -āna- can be referred to -ḡno-; see § 67, b. Rem. p. 152.

The meaning of -no- is not clear in oḡ-no-s* 'unus': Gr. οἰρός οἰρή 'ace on a die', Lat oīno-s oenu-s unu-s O.Ir. oen Goth. dins Lith. vėna-s O.C.Sl. mŭ.

Aryan. Skr. ū-nā- 'where something is lacking, defective' Avest. ūna- 'empty' from √em- (Gr. ἐν-νι-s 'needing, bereft'). Skr. kṣī-nā- 'diminished, vanished, waning': compare perhaps Gr. φθι-νός-καρπος 'with fruit vanishing or vanished' (cp. Fick, Wörterb. I³ 236, Osthoff Morph. Unt. IV 115). Skr. ḍṛnā- 'torn to pieces, scattered, beheaded' Avest. dar^e-nā- f. 'cleft, ravine': O.H.G. zorn A.S. torn n. 'indignation, anger', properly 'a torn or rent condition of the temper' (ground-form dṛ-no-m*). Skr. dh-nā- 'bound' (dh- 'bind'), bhug-nā- 'bent' (bhuj- 'bend'), bhinmā- 'split' for bhid-na-* (bhid- 'split'), thus it frequently appears as a living participial suffix. Skr. uṣ-ṇā- 'hot', also subst. m. and n. as well as f. (uṣ-ṇā-) 'heat'. Skr. bradh-nā-s 'pale', O.C.Sl. bronŭ 'whitish' for brod-nŭ*. Skr. tūṇa-s 'sheath, quiver', ground-form tū-no-s*, √tel- (Gr. τελαμών etc.) Skr. yaj-nā- Avest. yas-na- in 'worship, sacrifice', √ṛiag- 'to honour' (for the -s- of the Avest. form see I § 403 Rem. p. 298): Gr. ἀγ-νός 'revered, hallowed, pure'. Skr. praś-nā- Avest. fraś-na- m. 'question', √prek-. Skr. sthāṇā- 'post, pillar' for sthūr-ṇa-*, Avest. stūnā- in hazanrō-stana- 'with 1000 pillars', ground-form stī-ṇā-*: Gr. στηλη, see p. 143.

With -s- between root and suffix: Skr. tik-śná- 'sharp' (cp. tig-má- 'sharp'), kṛt-sná- 'whole, complete', and other examples.

The existence of Aryan -ana- = -ṇna- is hard to verify, because of its coincidence in form with orig. -eno-. Besides examples like Ved. yaj-aná- beside yaj-ná- (I § 227 p. 193 ff.) and the above mentioned medio-pass. pres. part. (cp. also Avest. aoj-ana- beside impf. indic. aox-ta, hu-nv-ana- beside pres. indic. hu-nū-itē and others), we should perhaps add here Sanskrit oxytone adjectives like krōś-andá- 'screaming', rōc-andá- 'shining' jar-aṇá- 'perishable', with the abstract substantives śvēt-andá- 'the dawning' jaranā- 'old age' (cp. Gr. στυγανός and στυγάρη); the palatal sound instead of the guttural in rōcaná-sacaná- and other words was taken from such forms as rōcatē (see I § 448 Rem. p. 333). Cp. -ani- = -ṇni- § 95, and -anu- = -ṇnu- § 106.

It is only occasionally used as a secondary suffix. Skr. strāt-ṇa- 'female' from strī- 'woman', pāṇs-ná- 'male' from pāṇs- 'man', purā-ṇá- 'former, old' from purā adv. 'formerly' Here also come vadhasná-m 'deadly weapon' beside vadhá-s and vádhar, of similar meaning, and karásna-s 'forearm' (cp. kará-s 'hand'), if they contain -as-stems, cp. Goth. hláivasnōs pl. f. 'grave' beside neut. hláiv with similar meaning; the Sanskrit ending is in most cases explained as -a-sna-.

Armenian. ḥun 'sleep' from syop-no-*, see p. 140 above. gi-n, gen. g-no-y, 'cost' from yes-no-* or ṃēs-no-*: Skr. vas-ná-s Gr. ῶνο-ς ῶνῆ 'sale-price, value' for Fwo-ro-* -ná-, Lat. vēnu-m for ves-no-* or vēs-no-*. Perhaps we should add vasn 'on account of' (beside O.Pers. vaš-na- and Avest. vas-na- 'will, favour', √ ṃeṣ-; the Avest. form is for vašna-* through the influence of the pres. vas'mi), and the derivative un-ain 'empty' (beside Skr. a-na-; Armen. u- for Idg. eu-, cp. Gr. εὔ-νι-ς).

Greek. στυγ-νό-ς 'hated'. σπαρ-νό-ς 'scattered, rare, thin', beside σπειρω. σεμνό-ς 'revered' for σεβ-νό-ς*, √ tjeg- (I § 492 p. 362). στυγ-νό-ς 'covered, covering'. σμερδ-νό-ς 'terrible'. νεφκ-νό-ς 'sprinkled, motley, dark': O.H.G. forhana f. 'trout', ground-form prē-nā*. δά-νο-ς n. 'loan' is no doubt based upon a form də-no-* from $\sqrt{dō}$ 'give' (cp. § 132). λάγ-νο-ς 'lewd, wanton': cp. Lat. lena for lēx-nā* (beside laxu-s). λίχ-νο-ς 'dainty, greedy': cp. O.H.G. leccōn 'lick', for pr. Germ. likkōna-n* from stem liž-na-* I § 538 p. 394. φρῦ-νο-ς φρῦ-νῃ 'toad': O.H.G. brū-n 'brown'. θῦ-νο-ς 'throng, battle': Skr. dhū-na-s 'violently moved'. οἶ-νο-ς 'wine' οἶ-νῃ 'vine' οἶ-νο-ν 'vine-leaf, vine-branch': Lat. vī-nu-s vī-nu-m and the derivative Armen. gi-n-i 'wine' (§ 63 p. 127), from \sqrt{wei} 'to wind', and hence we should place in the same group Russ. věn 'wreath' and the derivative O.C.Sl. věn-icti Lith. vain-ika-s 'wreath'. πύρ-αυνο-ς -αυνο-ν 'that with which fire is held, fire-tongs, coal-pan' for αυσ-νο-* (see Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 488), to which add possibly κερ-αυνό-ς 'lightning flash'. τέκ-νο-ν 'child' ('that which is begotten', from τεκεῖν): O.H.G. degan m. 'boy, servant' pr. Germ. bez-nā-s*. στέρ-νο-ν 'breast': Skr. stīr-nā- 'outspread', cp. also O.H.G. stirna f. 'star' ground-form ster-n-ja*, \sqrt{ster} 'spread'. δεμ-νο-*, whence δέμνιο-ν 'bedstead', as being a 'place built' for a bed, from $\sqrt{dem-}$. κλῆ-νῃ 'couch, bed': O.H.G. li-na le-na 'support', \sqrt{klex} 'accolinare'. στήλῃ Lesb. στάλλᾱ 'sepulchral pillar' for στάλ-νᾱ* ground-form stl-nā-* (by-form στήλλῃ = σταλ-χ-α*?) : Skr. sthūnā 'post, pillar' see above p. 141. ζώνῃ 'girdle' for ζωσ-νᾱ*, $\sqrt{jōs-}$. φερ-νῇ 'dowry' πόρ-νῃ 'whore' beside πέρονῃ 'I sell', ground-form por-nā-* or př-nā-*.

-avo- = -yno-. There are a considerable number of participial words besides those given above on p. 140. στεγ-αρό-ς beside στεγ-νό-ς. πειθ-αρό-ς 'easily persuaded, persuasive'. στέφ-ανο-ς -άνῃ 'wreathing, wreath'. χόδ-ανο-ς 'buttocks' (from χέζ-ω). δρέπ-ανο-ν -άνῃ 'sickle'. όχ-ανο-ν -άνῃ 'shield handle' (from έχω). θῆγ-ανο-ν -άνῃ 'whetstone'. σκέπ-ανο-ν 'covering' (beside ουσπ-ανό-ς). κόπ-ανο-ν 'pestle, hatchet'. έρκ-άνῃ όρκ-άσῃ 'enclosure'.

As a secondary suffix it is not uncommon:

First should be mentioned the words in -εσ-νο- (Lesb. -ευνο-, Ion. Att. -εινο-, Dor. -ηνο-) and -ασ-νο- (Lesb. -αυνο-, Ion. Att. -ηνο-, Dor. -αινο-). ἀλγαινό-ς 'paining, painful' from ἀλγος n. 'pain'. φαιινό-ς 'shining' from φάος n. 'light', etc. Homeric (Lesb.) ἐραρνό-ς 'lovely' beside έρως (see Solmsen, Kuhn's Ztschr.

XXIX 70. 109). σελήνη 'moon' (Lesb. σελάννα) from σέλας n. 'brightness'. In the oldest adjectives of this sort, which were participles of denominative verbs, -no- may have been primary; compare ποθινό-ς κοτεινό-ς with ποθέσαι κοτέσαι (ποθεσ-σαι* κοτεσ-σαι*) and ἐρασ-τό-ς beside ἐρανό-ς.

Further, under this head come adjectives of time like ἐαρινό-ς ἡαρινό-ς (misspelt εἰαρινό-ς) 'vernus', ἡμερινό-ς 'daily' νυκτερινό-ς 'nocturnus' περυσινό-ς 'from last year, a year old'. These appear to have been formed from locatives, ἔαρι, πέρυσι (cp. also ἡμαρ, νύκτωρ). Then -ino- broke off and became an independent suffix, hence δειλ-ινό-ς 'of the evening', and the like. For analogous adjectives in Italic, see below.

With -ano- as a secondary suffix: κόπρ-ανο-ν 'stool' (κόπρος), ἔδρ-ανο-ν 'seat' (ἔδρα) and others. Was the suffix -dano- taken from οὐτιδανό-ς 'useless' = οὐ-τιδ-ανό-ς (τιδ* = Lat. quid)? Cp. -δ-απο-ς, taken from ποδ-από-ς and the like (§ 16 p. 32).

Italic Lat. plē-nu-s Umbr. plener 'plenis': Skr. prā-ṇa-s, see p. 140 above Lat. cānu-s for cas-no-s*, Osc. Pelign. casnar 'senex' (extended by an r-suffix). Lat. vī-nu-s -nu-m, Umbr. vinu 'vinum' Volsc. vinu abl. 'vino'. Lat. urna for urc-nā*, Umbr. urnasier 'urnarius, feriis'. Lat. fānu-m for fas-no-m*, Umbr. fesnaf-e fem. pl. ul-na*: Skr. ūr-na 'wool' Gr. οὔλο-ς 'curly' for Feλ-vo-ς, Goth. vulla 'wool' pr. Germ. ul-nō*, Lith. vīl-na 'fibre of wool' O.C.Sl. vīl-na 'wool'. The same suffix appears to be contained, though less obviously, in fundu-s: Skr. budh-nā-s 'ground' (I § 221 p. 189).

With -s-: Lat. annu-s for at-sno-s*: cp. Goth. apn; penna .O.Lat. pesna for pet-snā*, (✓ pet- 'fly'), and other examples.

Lat. -ino- unaccented = -yno-. It is of course hard to say what forms are to be classed here, since unaccented -ino- may equally well represent Idg. -yno-, -eno- or -ono-. The words we have to deal with are such as dom-inu-s pag-ina sarc-ina, probably also verna for ves-inā* (✓ ves- 'live').

As a secondary suffix it is not uncommon.

Lat. aēnu-s for aes-no-*, Umbr. ahe-s-nes 'aenis', beside Lat. aes, aeris, Skr. āyas- n. 'metal, iron'. Lat. ilīgnu-s for ilec-no- from ilex, salignu-s from salix (the ending was referred by popular etymology to ✓ gen-, cp. abiēgnu-s, fabāginu-s and so forth), acer-nu-s from acer, ebur-nu-s from ebur; the final vowel of the stem has been lost in pōpulu-nu-s from pōpulu-s, quernu-s for querc-nu-s* from quercu-s etc. Besides these we have pater-nu-s, māter-nu-s; alter-nu-s, infer-nu-s, exter-nu-s. Stems in -a seem to have given rise to -ānu-s: silvānu-s (silva) insulānu-s (insula) Capuānu-s (Capua); hence in other local adjectives, urbānu-s, cismontānu-s Rhēnānu-s etc.

vērnu-s, nocturnu-s, hībernus, vesperna and the like are parallel to Gr. ἐαρινός, νυκτερινός, χειμερινός, ἐσπερινός (see p. 144), and perhaps in Latin also -no- was added to the locative in -i, and this vowel afterwards lost¹).

1) Penna must be distinguished from pinna. The latter, with pannus Gr. πῆνο-ς (common ground-form pñ-no-*, see I § 253 p. 206 f.) belongs to A.S. finn Mod.H.G. finne 'fin', a Germanic word which Müllenhoff (Altertumskunde II 54) connects in an interesting way with the name of the Fenni, although he is certainly wrong in taking a ground-form pet-nā* as his starting-point. The words most nearly akin to it are O.H.G. spannan 'to stretch', Goth. fana 'cloth, rag' (Mod.H.G. fahne), O.C.Sl. pīnq 'I stretch, hang' o-pona 'ourtain'. On ✓ spen- and pen-, see I § 589 p. 445 f. The bird's wing and the fin therefore received their name as being something 'out-stretched'.

Umbr.-Osc. kom-no-m* 'rò κοινόν' from kom 'cum', Umbr. kumne loc. 'in comitio' Osc. comenei loc. 'in comitio' comono pl. 'comitia' (for the Oscan anaptyxis cp. I § 627, p. 471). Osc. amnod 'circuitu' from am- 'amb-'. Lat. prōnu-s no doubt for prōd-no-*, compare prō(d).

Lastly, there are the distributive numerals derived from adverbs, like Lat. hīnī from bis-no-*, trīnī from tris-no-*, ter-nī, quater-nī.

Old Irish. la-n 'full'. Skr. pūr-ṇa-s etc., see p. 140. slan 'whole, sound, complete, full' may be for sl̥-no-*, as Lat. sal-vo-s for sl̥-yo-*. cloe-n 'awry, unjust, bad'. cp. Goth. hlái-n-s 'hill', √ klei- 'to lean', whence also Gr. κλί-νη O.H.G. li-na (p. 143). suan O.Cymr. hun sleep: Skr. sváp-na-s etc., see p. 140. uan Mod.Cymr. oen 'lamb': Gr. ἀμνό-ς etc., see p. 144. domun m. 'world', Gallic Dubno-rīx 'world-king', with this should probably be compared fu-domain 'deep' Mod Cymr. dwfn 'deep' (I § 520 p. 378) O.C.Sl. dūno n. 'ground' for dūb-no-*, Lith. dūgna-s 'ground' (with g for b, I § 346 p. 271) ēn m. 'bird' (I § 518 p. 377 f.), O.Bret. etn 'bird': cp. Lat. penna for pet-sna* p. 145, √ pet- 'fly'. fēn m. 'waggon' (I § 526 p. 381): O.Icel. vagnu m. 'waggon', √ uegh- 'vehere'. dū-n n. 'walled stronghold', Gall. -dūnū-m in place-names like Novio-danu-m 'New-castle, Newtown': O.Icel. tū-n n. O.H.G. zū-n m. 'fence, hedge'. rū-n f. 'secret': Goth. O.H.G. rū-na f. 'secret', with which, in a different grade of Ablaut, cp. O.Icel. rau-n f. 'attempt, proof, test, experience'. This suffix, though less clearly discernible, appears to be contained in bond bonn 'solea': Skr. budh-ná-s 'ground' (I § 221 p. 189).

Pr.Kelt. -ano- = -yno-. Since this, if unaccented, became in Irish identical with orig. -ono-, it is hard to say which of the examples should be classed here. Perhaps lethan O.Cymr.

1) Does hibernu-s stand for hībryno-s*, as in-certu-s for in-rrito-s* (I § 33 p. 33 f)? The word is undoubtedly connected with hiems, but the b has never been explained litan 'broad': cp. Gr. πλάτανο-ς 'plane' (named after its broad leaves, compare πλατύ-ς). Infinitive nouns like blegon m. 'milking' may also perhaps be referred to -yno-.

As a secondary suffix it is found in Gall. Arebrig-nu-s (pagus) 'lying on a hill' compared with Arebrigiū-m, beside O.Ir. bri, gen. breg, 'hill'. Also no doubt in Keltic words in -er-no-ar-no- (Zeuss-Ebel G.C. 774), as Gall. Tigerno-, isarno- 'iron', O.Ir. iarn O.Bret. hearn (I § 576 p. 431), whence perhaps were borrowed Goth. eisarn O.H.G. isarn 'iron' (the suffix in O.H.G. diorna 'wench' Goth. viduvairna 'one bereaved' etc. cannot be held to prove that this is a real Germanic word.)

Germanic. Goth. fulls O.H.G. vol (gen. volles) 'full', pr. Germ. ful-na-z*: Skr. pūr-ná-s etc. see above p. 140. Goth. alls O.H.G. al (gen. alles) 'whole, all' (beside ala-) ground-form al-no-s*, beside alan 'to grow up, increase' (cp. Gr. πᾶς 'whole, all' compared with Skr. śvā- 'swell out', § 126, and Lat. omni-s for op-m-s* beside ops, § 95); Osc. allo is the same word if it is to be translated 'tota' and not 'alia' (Fick, Bezzenberger's Beitr. I 170; Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 177 f.). Goth. ib-n-s O.H.G. eban 'flat, even'. O.H.G. scī-n 'visible, shining', as subst. m. 'visibility, brightness, sheen'. Goth. us-lūk-n-s 'opened, open'. Goth. faihu-gair-n-s 'avaricious' O.Icel. gjarn 'greedy'. O.H.G. mei-n 'false, treacherous', as subst. 'falseness, wickedness'; Lith. maĩ-na-s 'barter' O.C.Sl. mě-na 'change, exchange', common ground-form moĩ-no- nā-, cp. moĩ-ni- § 95. O.H.G. loc (pl. loccha) O.Icel. lokkr m. 'lock' pr. Germ. lug-ná-s* (I § 534 p. 391): Lith. lug-na-s 'bent'. O.H.G. sker-n m. n. 'jest'. Goth. aþ-n n. 'year': cp. Lat. annu-s for at-sno-* p. 145. Goth. haur-n O.H.G. horn pr. Norse horna n. 'horn': Gall. κάρνο-ν acc. 'trumpet' (Hesych.) beside Lat. cornu (also corno-, § 106). Goth. bar-n 'child' ('that which is born'): Lith. bėr-na-s 'servant', dimin. bernėli-s 'little boy' (cp. a similar change of meaning in Gr. τέκνο-ν: O.H.G. degan). Goth. láu-n O.H.G. lō-n n. 'wages', beside Gr. ἀπο-λαύω 'enjoy' O.C.Sl. lovŭ 'prey, booty'. O.H.G. zeihhan O.Sax. tēkan n. 'token' pr. Germ. taik-na-* (compare Goth. táikns f., stem táik-ni-, 'token'), from ✓ deik-deig- (Goth. ga-teihan 'point out'). O.H.G. feihhan O.Sax. fekan n. 'deceit' pr. Germ. faik-na-*, from ✓ peik-peig- (Goth. faih n. 'deceit'). O.H.G. loug-na O.Icel. lau-n f., in O.H.G. also lougan (subst. m.) 'giving the lie, denying': the root has a different grade of ablaut in Goth. lug-n n. 'lie'. O.Sax. log-na (o probably short) 'flame': cp. Lat. lūna for loucsnā* etc. p. 140.

Germ. -uno- = -yno- cannot be identified with certainty.

In secondary use the suffix only occurs in Goth. jái-n-s 'that, yonder' from loc. ioz* (beside it stands a pr. Germ. xi-na-* from the locative form ze* in A.S. bē-zen m. 'both' according to Holt-hausen, Paul Braune's Beitr. XIII 372. 590), unless Goth. hlái-vasnōs pl. f. 'grave' from hláv n. 'grave' and arhvazna f. 'arrow' beside A.S. earh n. 'arrow' are to be classed here, as derivatives from es-stems, cp. Skr. vadhasná- p. 142.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. pil-na-s O.C.Sl. plū-nū 'full': Skr. pūr-ṇá-s etc., see p. 140 above. A few other adjectives of this kind occur in Baltic, as Lith. kil-na-s 'lofty' beside kėl ti 'to raise' (kálna-s 'hill' should perhaps be divided kal-n-a, see the Author in Morph. Unt. II 173), silp-na-s 'weak, powerless' beside silp-ti 'to grow weak', lūd-na-s 'sad' beside lūsti 'to grow sad', Lett. wif-n-s 'glimmering' beside wif-ēt 'to glimmer', Lett. tās-n-s 'straight, right' beside Lith. taisýti 'to direct'. Lith. de-na f. adj. of cows 'in calf'. Skr. dhí-nā 'milk cow', from ✓ dhēl-sucklo (I § 150 p. 136).

Lith. peļ-na-s 'merit' O.C.Sl. plě-nū 'booty': Skr. pana-s 'wager, stipulated wage' for par-ṇa* (I § 259 p. 211 f.). Lith. vař-na-s 'raven' vár-na 'crow' O.C.Sl. vra-nū 'black, raven' vra-na 'crow', possibly to be compared with Skr. vár-na-s 'colour'. There seems to be some connexion between the roots of Lith. szē-na-s O.C.Sl. sě-no 'hay' (the Lith. word was no doubt originally neuter) and Skr. śya-na-s 'grown dry' śī-na-s 'curdled'. Lith. szał-nā O.C.Sl. sla-na 'rime', beside Lith. szál-ta-s Skr. śī-śīr-a-s adj. 'cold'. Pruss. spoay-no f. 'foam' or 'scum' O.C.Sl. pě-na 'foam': Skr. phē-na-s 'foam', cp. also Lat. spūma for spoī-mā* (for the initial, see I § 599 p. 445 f.)

With -s-; Lith. lėp-s-nà 'flame', varsnà 'length of a furrow' for vart-snà* (cp. varsma-s 'length of a furrow' for vart-sma-*).

Lith. spař-na-s 'wing': Skr. par-ná-m 'wing', $\sqrt{sper-}$ 'strike away, push off, jerk'. skut-nà 'shaved place'. žar-nà 'intestine': O.Icel. garnar pl. 'intestinae'. dai-nà 'folk-song': Avest. dae-nā-f. 'law, teaching, faith'.

O.C.Sl. trī nū 'thorn'. Skr. tī-na-m 'grass-stalk', Germ. with -nu- Goth. þaur-nu-s 'thorn'. synū sunū 'tower' no doubt stands for pr. Slav. sūp-no- soup-no- 'that which is piled up', cp. sūpq 'I pile' sūpū 'heap'. člěnū 'limb' for čel-no-*. trēs-nū 'fimbria' for trěsk-nū*, beside trěskū 'noise' trěsnati 'to strike'. stīg-no 'shank'. ru-no 'fleece', beside rūv-q 'cvello'. sukno 'woollen garment', beside sukati 'to twist'. věno 'dowry' for věl-no-*: Gr. ἱδ-να ἱδ-να 'bridal gifts', $\sqrt{uedh-}$ ued- 'lead, lead home' (I § 469, 8 p. 346 f.). vlū-na 'wave': O.H.G. wella 'wave' ground-form uel-nā*, with -ni- Lith. vil-ni-s 'wave'. sli-na 'spittle', beside Mid.H.G. A.S. slīm 'slime'. strana 'side, region' for pr. Slav. stor-nā*, 1. e. Idg. stř-nā* (Skr. stir-nā- 'outspread') or Idg. stor-nā*, $\sqrt{ster-}$ 'spread out'. stě-na 'wall'. Goth. stān-n-s O.H.G. stei-n m. 'stone'.

Lith. -ina- Slav. -ino- = -yno- may perhaps be traced in Lith. kūp-ina-s 'heaped up', tėk-ina-s 'running', O.C.Sl. do-kos-īnū 'that can be touched or held' do-stiž-īnū 'that can be reached', etc.

-no- in secondary use. Lith. jáu-na-s O.C.Sl. ju-nū 'young' from jau ju 'already', just like Skr. nāva-s Gr. véfo-ς beside Skr. nū nū etc. 'now': from the same adverb come also O.C.Sl. ju-tro u-tro 'morning', see § 75. It is doubtful how far, if at all, the common secondary suffix Lith. -ina- Slav. -ino- represents Idg. -yno-.

§ 67. 2. In the form -eno- -ono-. This is almost entirely primary, and it occurs chiefly in participles and abstract nouns. It is used to form classes of words with special meanings, most commonly in Aryan, Germanic and Slavonic. -eno- is in active use as a participial suffix in A.S., Norse (O.Icel) and Slavonic, as an abstract nominal suffix in Aryan; -ono- is a participial suffix in Aryan, Gothic and High German, and an abstract nominal suffix (infin.) in Germanic.

The suffix bears the accent where the root-syllable has the weak grade of ablaut; e. g. Skr. vuvṛt-and-s O.H.G. gi-wort-an (I § 530 p. 387).

a. -eno- added to stems ending in a consonant:

Indo-Germanic. uegh-eno-*, √ uegh- 'vehere': Skr. vah-ana-s 'carrying' vāh-ana-m 'act of carrying', O.C.Sl. vez-enū 'carried' ed-eno-*, √ ed- 'eat': Skr. ād-ana-m 'food, fodder', O.Icel. et-enn 'eaten'. uert-eno-*, √ uert- 'vertere': Skr. vart-ana-s 'setting in motion' vārt-ana-m 'a turning', O.C.Sl. vrēt-eno n. 'spindle'.

Aryan. cēt-ana-s 'visible', jān-ana-s 'begetter', tāp-ana-s 'afflicting'; O.Pers. drauj-ana- 'lying'. Skr. cēt-ana-m 'an appearing, appearance', jān-ana-m 'a begetting' and other substantives of the same kind. Avest. hav-ane-m 'pressing, pressure': Skr. sāv-ana-m; O.Pers. ham-ar-ana-m 'encounter, fight', Ar. √ ar- 'go'. In Avestic we find the masc. zuv-ana- 'call, summons'; contrast Skr. neut. hāv-ana-m.

Armenian. jaune-m 'I offer, dedicate' from the noun stem jauno-, which must stand for jay-eno- (Skr. hāv-ana-m 'offering'), or for jay-ono-*.

Greek. Here perhaps should be classed Aeol. φῆρῆνᾱ 'dowry' (φῆρενα, if it be the more correct reading, would at all events imply a form φῆρῆνᾱ*) beside φῆρ-νῆ: cp. Skr. bhār-ana-.

Remark. -eno- may perhaps be traced also in ἐκεῖνο- (with spurious diphthong) Dor. ἐκῆνο-; 'that' for *(ē)κεῖ-eno- from ἐκεῖ 'there'. Similarly Dor. ἐκῆνο-, 'is iste, ille' would stand for τεῖ-eno-* from τεῖ; or it might be analysed ἐκῆ-νο- and derived from the instr. ἐκ* (cp. Goth. jái-n-s § 66 p. 148). It must be admitted that -eno- is not elsewhere used in this way as a secondary suffix.

Italic. beno- (in bene, benignu-s, bellu-s for ben-lo-*), the by-form of bono-, duono-, should be classed here, if it stands for du-eno-* and belongs to the root seen in Skr. dūo-as n. 'reverence, honour' and other words, so that the original meaning would be 'that which is held in honour, enjoys recognition'

(see Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 370 ff.). dom-inu-s (cp. Skr. dām-ana-s 'horse-tamer') and the like are ambiguous; see § 66 p. 145.

Old Irish. I know of no noun-formations which fall under this head.

Germanic. Goth. fulg-in-s 'hidden' (beside filhan 'to hide'), with the accent on the suffix in pr. Germ. (I § 530 p. 386). O.Icel. tig-enn 'distinguished' (✓ deik- 'show'). O.H.G. sceff-in 'sheriff', also sceffino, which has passed over to the n-declension; its original sense was no doubt 'arranger, orderer', compare O.H.G. scaffen 'to shape, set in order'. Add such participles as A.S. bund-en O.Icel. bund-enn 'bound'; cp. below, under -ono-. Goth. áig-in O.H.G. eig-in n. 'property', the original sense being no doubt 'the having for one's own'. Skr. īś-ana-m 'rule, control'. Goth. rag-in n. 'counsel, decrec'; if it belongs to Skr. rac-ana-m 'an arranging, regulating', we must assume, as in the case of Goth. fulg-ins, that the suffix originally bore the accent. O.H.G. lug-ina f. 'lie', O.Sax. drug-ina f. 'treachery' stul-ina f. 'theft' thec-ina f. 'covering, roof'.

Balto-Slavonic. Here should be classed certain Lettic adjectives like glud-en-s 'smooth', (compare glöd-en-s 'blind-worm') beside glaud-ét 'to stroke'; slidd-en-s 'smooth, where one slips', beside slidd-ét 'to slip'; slepp-en-s 'secret' beside slép-t 'to hide'. Were the Lithuanian verbs in -enù, like gab-enù 'I bring', developed from noun-stems of this kind, in the same way as kruv-inù 'I make bloody' from kriuv-ina-s 'bloody'?

In Slavonic we have the common past part. pass. in -enù, as nes-enù 'carried' (from nes-ti 'to carry'), za-bŭv-enù 'forgotten' (from za-byti; cp. Skr. bhŭv-ana-m 'being, thing, world'). The neut. vrét-eno: Skr. vārt-ana-m has been already mentioned on p. 150.

b. -ono- added to stems ending in a consonant.

1dg. Pres. or aor. part.: gr-ono-* from ger- 'make', beside indic. Skr. ā-kar: Skr. kr-āṇā-s 'working, eager, busy' (frequent epithet of deities), Gr. Κρ-όνο-ς; gus-ono-* from geus- 'taste', beside the indic. Skr. ā-juṣ-ran (3. pl. med.): Skr. juṣāṇā-s Goth.

kusan-s. Part. perf. bhe-bhid-onó-s* from bheid- 'split, bite' beside indic. Skr. bibhéd-a Goth. bát: Skr. bibhid-áná-s (Goth. bit-an-s).

Remark. This view of the Aryan forms with -āna- cannot be called certain. As a participial suffix of the middle we may (with Hirt) refer -āna- to -hno-*, as the analogous -ana- to -hmo-* (see § 66 Rem. p. 141). The same -hno- may also be concealed in Gr. πιδρό-s πιδρό-s 'fledged' (cp. Osthoff, zur Gesch. des Perf. 409) and the adjective ιδρό-s (or is this for ιδρό-s*?). In the Ar. -āna- it is possible that -hno- and -ono- have coalesced. The considerations urged by Frohde (Bezenberger's Beitr. VII 322 ff.) against my comparison of Kóno-s with krāna-s are not sound. The different accent of Kóno-s is explained by the fact of its being a proper name. See what is said below in the Greek section on κλόνο-s etc.

Aryan. Pres. aor. med. pass. part. Skr. duh-āná-s dūh-āna-s, also dūgh-āna-s, the gh being phonetically regular (I § 445 p. 331, § 452. 453 p. 335), beside dōgdhi 'he milks', jūhv-āna-s beside ju-hō-ti 'he offers', su-nv-āná-s beside su-nō-ti 'he presses out', and so forth. Similarly Avest. yn-āna- beside jān-ti 'he slays', and the like. Skr. īś-āná-s īś-āna-s 'having for one's own, possessing, ruler' Avest. is-āna- 'ruling, mighty' beside Skr. īśē īś-tē 'he possesses, rules': O.H.G. eig-an 'own', beside Goth. áh 'he has', cp. Skr. īś-āna-m Goth. áig-m p. 151). Perf. med. pass. part. Skr. riric-āná-s beside riréc-a 'he let loose, removed, abandoned'. O.H.G. gi-lw-an, ✓ leg-; Avest. vāver^e-z-āna- beside indic. med. Gāthie vāver^e-z-ōi from var^e-z- (uerġ-) 'work'.

It is an open question whether the denominative Skr. -āna-, as in vásav-āna-s 'possessing goods' from vásu n. 'goods', falls under this head (cp. Goth. þiud-an-s).

Armenian. Perhaps jaune-m, see above p. 150.

Greek. Besides Kq-óvo-s (see above) we should probably class here κλόνο-s 'stir, turmoil', beside ρέλομαι, θρο-όνο-s 'seat, throne' from dher- 'hold, support', χρο-όνο-s 'time' orig. 'a limit of time which contains, span', beside χρό-; for the meaning cp. ἐμερο-s 'a vomiting' beside ἐμερό-s 'vomited' and the like, § 158.1) Of

1) The accent may have been assimilated to that of γόν-ο-s λόχ-ο-s τεόν-ο-s and similar words. Frohde's assumption (in the article cited in the Remark above) that θρόνο-s χρονο-s stand for θρονο-s* χρονο-s*, cannot be justified on phonetic grounds, in spite of Cret. θόγραξ.

feminine forms we should perhaps class here ῥῆδ-ονῆ 'joy', but in περόνη 'clasp, buckle' σπευδ-όνῃ 'sling' and others we must recognise -on-a, an extension of -on- by -a-, cp. ἀκόν-η 'whetstone' beside Skr. āśan- 'stone'.

Italic. Lat. b-ono- must ultimately be classed here; as to beno-, see p. 150. dom-inu-s and the like are ambiguous, see § 66 p. 145.

Old Irish. On account of the coincidence of -yno- and -ono- in Irish there are no examples that can be assigned with certainty to this section.

Germanic. O.H.G. eig-an, see above, p. 152. Goth. v-an-s O.H.G. w-an 'wanting, lacking', √ ey- (Gr. ἐν-ν-ε-, Skr. ū-ná-s). O.H.G. offan A.S. opan 'open'. O.H.G. wes-an 'decayed'. O.Sax. fag-an 'glad', the accent being on the suffix in pr Germ., cp. Goth. fah-ēps f. 'joy'. Participles like Goth. vairþ-an-s (the regular phonetic form would be vairdāns*, 1 § 530 p. 387), O.H.G. gi-wort-an 'having become'. Skr. vavrt-ānā-s; Goth. gum-an-s O.H.G. gi-kom-an 'having come': Skr. jagm-ānā-s; Goth. fra-vitan-s 'avenged': Skr. vid-ānā-s; Goth. ana-budan-s 'commanded, enjoined' O.H.G. gi-botan: Skr. budh-ānā-s. Instead of this we find in other dialects -ma- = 1dg. -eno-. We may conjecture that in Germanic -eno- and -ono- were originally distinguished as in Sanskrit. When the reduplicating syllable in the perfect fell off, the two types were no longer clearly separated, and -eno- drove out -ono- in one part of the Germanic area. We have -ana- in secondary use in Goth. þiud-an-s 'king', from þiuda 'people' (cp. Skr. vāsuv-āna-s?).

-ono- occurs as an abstract suffix in the Germanic infinitives formed with pr. Germ. -ana-m*, as Goth. aihan O.H.G. eig-an 'possess, have', Goth. vit-an O.H.G. wizz-an 'know', Goth. batr-an O.H.G. ber-an 'bear, bring, forth'.

Balto-Slavonic.

Lith. alk-ana-s (fem. alk-and) 'rather hungry, fasting' from alk-ti 'to hunger', uk-ana-s 'gloomy, overclouded' (ūkanos dēnos 'gloomy days') beside uk-styti-s 'to become gloomy, cloud over', Lett. plakk-an-s 'flat' from plak-t 'to grow flat' etc. Lith.

dov-anà Lett. dāv-ana 'gift' beside dā'-ti dā-t 'to give', Lith. ūk-ana 'mass of cloud, cloudy sky'.

Whether Slavonic forms like Mod. Sloven. jah-on 'fortis equitator', beside jahati 'vchi' (Miklosich, Vergl. Gr. II 140) should also be classed here, is doubtful. We cannot analyse O.C.Sl. zvontū 'sound' as zv-onū (cp. zov-a zv-ati 'to call') and compare it with Skr. kr-ānā-s etc. (cp. Fick, Wtb. I³ 84, Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 373), unless we allow that the whole verbal base zven- in Slavonic (O.C.Sl. svīnēti 'to sound') has been developed out of a noun formed with -eno- -ono-.

c. -eno- -ono- added to stems ending in a vowel. It has been already remarked on p 138, that the contraction was complete even in prethnic Indo-Germanic.

Skr. sōma-dhāna-s 'containing soma' vasu-dāna-s 'giving good' vi-māna-s 'traversing', like cēt-ana-s. dāna-m 'a giving' (Lat. dōnu-m), sthāna-m 'a standing, standing-place' (Avest stāna- m. 'position', Gr. δίστηρος 'in a bad position, unhappy', Lith. stōna-s O.C.Sl. stanū 'position'), yāna-m 'a going, moving' like cēt-ana-m. Pres. med. pass part yāna-s beside indic. yāti 'he goes', like dūgh-āna-s Perf. med. pass part. jajñānā-s beside indic. jajñāu 'he knew' (Slav part. po-znanū 'known'), like rīric-ānā-s.

Gr. δίστηρος, see above. εὖ-στήρος* 'in good position whence εὖ-στήριος 'am in good position'. add also El. συν-στήριαι pl. 'compact' (Collitz' Samml. d. gr. Dial.-Inscr. no. 1168).

Ital. Lat. dōnu-m, Umbr. ṛunu Osc. dúnú-m Mars. duno-m 'donum', see above.

Ir. Perhaps bán 'white, pale', from $\sqrt{bha-}$, Skr. bhā-ti 'he appears, shines' bhāna-m 'an appearing or growing visible'.

German. O.H.G. perf. part. gi-tān 'done' (O.C.Sl. o-dēntū part. of o-dēti, 'to put round, clothe'), like gi-wort-an. O.H.G. inf. tōn tuon 'do' gān 'go', like ber-an.

Balt.-Slav. Lith. stōna-s O.C.Sl. stanū, see above. Lith. klōna-s 'space behind the barn' beside klō-ti 'to spread out'. O.C.Sl. perf. part. po-znanū (see above), danū 'given' beside dati, sēnū 'sown' beside sēti, like nes-enū.

In some of these vowel-stems we may conjecture that forms with -no- and forms with -eno- -ono- once existed side by side. It is no longer possible to ascertain exactly how far this was the case.

§ 68. The Suffixes -ino- -ina-, -ino- -ina-, and -a^oino- -a^oina-. These suffixes are found side by side with practically the same meaning. They are used especially to form secondary adjectives, with such meanings as 'made or consisting of', 'springing from', 'belonging to the same kind as' that which is denoted by the noun from which they are derived. They are used very much in the same way as the secondary suffix -jo- (§ 63, 2), compare c. g. Lith. av-ýna-s with Pruss. aw-i-s O.C.Sl. u-jŭ 'uncle' beside Lat. avo-s 'grandfather', the meaning of these words being 'he who is descended from the grandfather'. Whether it bears any very close relation to the termination of Gr. ἐαρινός Lat. věrnus and the like (§ 66 p. 144), and what etymological relation subsists between the initial sounds of the three forms -ino- -ino- -a^oino- (cp. Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 357) I cannot here decide. The connexion in sense (compare e. g. Gr. δρύ-ινο- 'of oak' — Goth. triv-ein-s 'wooden' — Avest. drv-aen-i- 'wooden'), combined with their connexion in point of sound, justifies us in discussing the three suffixes together.

1. -ino-.

Idg. deks-ino-* 'dexter': Skr. dákṣina-s Avest. dašina- O.C.Sl. destnŭ, in Lith. extended by a further suffix deszin-ẽ 'the right hand': cp. Gr. δεξιός Lat. dex-ter O.Ir. dess Goth. taihs-va 'dexter'; the word is closely allied to Skr. dákṣ-a-s 'able, strong'. Skr. aj-ina-m 'skin' O.C.Sl. az-ino beside Skr. ajā-s 'he-goat' ajā 'she-goat', Lith. ožỹ-s 'he-goat', cp. also Lith. ož-ini-s 'belonging to a he-goat'.

In Aryan -ino- was not fertile. Forms like Skr. malinā- 'spotted' (mala-m 'dirt') Avest. nom. raocah-inō 'shining' (raocah- 'light') can scarcely be classed here: it is most probable that they only arose in later times through a transference of -in- stems to the o-declension (cp. § 60 p. 111 f).

In Greek we have many adjectives, denoting material, origin or kind. φηγ-ινο-ς 'beechen' from φηγός (: Lat. fag-inu-s), βύβλ-ινο-ς 'made of papyrus' from βύβλος, ἄνθ-ινο-ς 'consisting of flowers' from ἄθος, λίθ-ινο-ς 'of stone' from λίθος, χύτε-ινο-ς 'of clay, earthen like a pot' from χύτερος, γῆ-ινο-ς 'earthen, earthly' from γῆ, ἀήρ-ινο-ς 'consisting of air, airy' from ἀήρ, ἰχθυ-ινο-ς 'derived from fish' (e. g. ελαιον) from ἰχθύς, ἀνθρώπ-ινο-ς 'human' from ἄνθρωπος, ἐκείν-ινο-ς 'of that kind, of the same kind as that' from ἐκεῖνος, πεδ-ινο-ς 'found in the level country' beside πεδίο-ν, ἀληθ-ινο-ς 'true' beside ἀληθής.

In Latin Idg. -ino- can hardly be distinguished from Idg. -yno- -eno- -ono- (§ 66. 67) Here should be placed adjectives like fag-inu-s (see above), laur-inu-s, junc-inu-s, lentisc-inu-s, which are not very numerous.

Keltic Perhaps Gall. Mor-mā pl. name of a seaboard tribe (cp. Lat. mar-inu-s), and others to be found in Zeuss-Ebel G. C 772.

In Germanic the suffix cannot be traced.

Balto-Slavonic

In Lithuanian adjectives of material, origin, kind, are only rarely formed with -ma-s, usually with -ini-s, which shows the further suffix -io-: auks-ina-s 'golden' from auksa-s 'gold', sidabr-inu-s 'silvern' from sidābra-s 'silver', med-inu-s 'wooden' from mēdi-s 'tree, wood', žem-inė bielis 'humble-bee' from žemė 'earth', rūksztinis obūlas 'a sour kind of apple' from rūksztas obūlas 'sour apple'.

Slavonic -inū. želež-inū 'of iron' from želězo 'iron' (Lith. gelež-ini-s 'of iron'), medv-inū medov-inū 'of honey, like honey' from medū 'honey', zem-inū 'earthly' from zemlja 'earth'. Further, some of the adjectives in -inī may belong to this section.

2. -ino-. The accentuation of the suffix was original, as shewn by the Sanskrit accent and by O.H.G. magat-in beside magad.

Indo-Germanic. Cp. Lat. filr-inu-s, O.H.G. bibir-in 'of beaver' beside Avest. bawr-aēni-š Lith. bebr-ini-s 'of beaver'. Lat. su-inu-s, Goth. sw-ein n. 'swine', O.C.Sl. sw-inū 'suius'. Lat. haed-inu-s, Goth. gáit-ein-s 'of goats, relating to goats'. Skr. nav-īna-s 'new', O.C.Sl. nov-ina f. 'newly ploughed land, fallow'.

Aryan. In Sanskrit it forms adjectives whose meaning implies relation to something, without specifying the nature of the relation. savatsar-īna-s 'yearlong, yearly' from savatsarrá-s 'year'. prāvṛṣ-īna-s 'belonging to the rainy season, rainy'. viśvajān-īna-s 'containing all sorts of people, ruling over all people, blessing all the world' from viśva-janā- 'all the world'. sat-īnā-s 'genuine' from sánt- 'true' (cp. ἀληθινός and O.H.G. wār-in). kan-īna-s 'young' from kand f. 'young girl, maiden' (cp. O.H.G. jung-in). nav-īna-s 'new' from náva- 'new'. añjas-īna-s 'leading straight on' from añjasa- 'direct, immediate'. Extended formations with -īna- from adjectives of direction in -añc- are especially common; e. g. apāc-īna-s 'leaning back' from ápāñc-, pratīc-īna-s and pratic-īnā-s 'turned towards' from pratyāñc-.

Greek. Here we have adjectives and substantives derived from adjectives, implying more or less clearly the meaning 'possessing the character or attributes denoted by the original noun'. ἀγχιστῖνος 'very near together' from ἄγχιστος. ἐρυθρίνος 'red mullet' (cp. Mod.H.Germ. rötlings 'rudd'). κορακίνο-ς 'a sea fish black as a raven', also 'young raven', from κόραξ 'raven'. κεστρίνο-ς a kind of fish, from κέστρον a kind of hammer, 'pick'. τυφλίνο-ς a kind of snake, from τυφλός 'blind'. γέλασῖνος 'laughter' from γέλασις; ἐλεγξῖνος 'blamer' from ἐλεγξις (cp. Goth. ga-láub-ein-s 'believing' O.H.G. huor-in 'libidinosus'). πολυποδίνη a small kind of polypus. βολβίνη a kind of bulb. δελφακίνη from δέλφαξ 'swine, sucking pig' (cp. O.H.G. sw-in beside sw). χοιρίνη, a kind of sea mussel, from χοίρειος 'sucking pig'.

Italic. The suffix is frequently used to indicate material, origin, kind, that to which anything belongs. Lat. capr-inu-s from caper capra, Umbr. cabriner gen. 'caprini'. Lat. equ-inu-s from equo-s, Umbr. ekvine loc. 'equini' (borrowed from the Lat.? I § 431 p. 320). Lat. bov-inu-s, can-inu-s, vulp-inu-s, columb-īnu-s, noctu-īnu-s; div-īnu-s, fūr-īnu-s, sūtr-īnu-s, sobr-īnu-s for sosr-īno-* from soror (I § 570 p. 428); mar-īnu-s, vīc-īnu-s (cp. Lith. kaim-yna-s 'neighbour'), cisalp-īnu-s, peregr-īnu-s, Lat-īnu-s, Umbr. Ikuvinus pl. 'Iguvini', Osc. Nuvkirinum 'Nucerinorum'. A few neuter substantives occur like terg-īnu-m 'whip of leather'. Feminine substantives are more numerous, as capr-īna 'goat's-flesh' haed-īna 'kid's flesh', su-īna 'pig's flesh' (cp. O.C.Sl. būrov-ma 'flesh of beaver', Lith. ož-ėnà 'goat's flesh'); sal-īna 'salt works, salt mine', molet-īna 'mill', pisc-īna 'fishpond', cēp-īna 'onion field', rāp-īna 'turnip field' (cp. Lith. aviž-ėnà 'oat-field' and Skr. āum-īna-m 'flax-field' from ūmā flax); cp. § 154.

Keltic. Here perhaps may be classed Gall. Tīc-īnu-s name of a river, ground-form tīq-īno-*, √ teq- 'run, flee, flow' (O.Ir. techim 'flee', Iath. tek-mē 'small river', O.C.Sl. tokū 'stream').

In Germanic it forms numerous adjectives denoting material, origin, and quality. Goth. gulþ-eins O.H.G. guld-in 'golden' from gulþ gold n. 'gold'. Goth. stāin-eins O.H.G. stein-in 'of stone' from stāms stein m. 'stone'. Goth. airþ-eins O.H.G. ird-in 'earthen, earthly' from airþa erda 'earth'. Goth. bariz-eins 'of barley', þáurn-eins 'of thorn'; riqiz-eins 'dark'. O.H.G. rindir-in 'of cattle'; swīn-in 'suillus'. Goth. sunj-eins 'truthful' from sunji-s 'true'. O.H.G. wār-in 'truthful' from wār 'true' (cp. Skr. sat-īnd-s). O.H.G. huor-in 'wanton, dissolute'. Goth. aiw-eins O.H.G. ew-in 'everlasting'.

-īno- was added to adjectives formed with an l-suffix, e. g. luzzil-in from luzzil 'hittle', whence there arose in O.H.G. an independent suffix -ilīn -alīn, as in huor-ilīn 'wanton' (beside huor-in), luog-alīn 'spying, lurking'.

The neuters of adjectives of material, used substantivally, gave rise to diminutives in Germanic; from the meaning 'belonging to another thing in respect of kind' it is only a short step to that of 'subordination', of 'having its attributes only to a limited extent' (cp. Gr. -iota § 63 p. 128). So Goth. gāt-ein O.H.G. geiz-in 'kid' from gāt-eins geiz-in 'haedinus', Goth. gum-ern 'mannikin' qin-ein 'little woman' from guma 'man' qinō

'woman', O.H.G. magat-in A.S. mægd-en 'little maid, girl' from O.H.G. magad 'maid, girl'. It is doubtful whether the diminutive sense ever existed in Goth. sv-ein O.H.G. sw-in 'swine', which strictly belongs to this class of neuters: it would seem that it was isolated in form by the accentuation of the suffix (which in a monosyllable could not but be regarded as part of the root), and so separated from the others in point of meaning.

Balto-Slavonic.

Lith. kaim-ýna-s 'neighbour' from kěma-s 'precinct, court' (I § 84 Rem. 2 p. 81), cp. Lat. vīc-īnu-s. Old neuter forms appear to be represented by saldum-ýnai pl. 'sweetmeats' from salduma-s 'sweetness', kartum-ýnai pl. 'bitter things' (kartū-s 'bitter'), and also by collectives like aužūl-ýna-s 'a number of oaks standing together, oak grove' from aužūla-s 'oak', krūm-ýna-s 'thick shrubbery' from krūma-s 'bush', akmen-ýna-s 'heap of stones' from akmū 'stone', ang-ýna-s 'nest of adders' from angi-s 'adder'. In these latter cases, the special meaning seems to have been developed through the contrast of the idea of the species with that of the individual thing.

In Slavonic we find adjectives of kind and connexion, like mater-inū 'motherly, of the mother', neprijazn-inū 'devilish, of the devil', zvěr-inū 'bestial'. Also feminine substantives like zvěr-ina 'flesh of wild beasts', běbrov-ina 'beaver-flesh' (cp. Lat. capr-ina, Lith. ož-enà); vlūč-ina 'wolfskin', ovč-ina 'sheepskin'; medov-ina 'an intoxicating drink' from medū; měsēc-ina 'moonlight' from měsēcī (cp. Lith. mėnės-enà), and others of the same sort, cp. § 154.

3. -a²ino- can be traced with certainty only in Aryan and Baltic.

In Sanskrit we find only sāmidh-ēnd-s 'relating to fire-wood' from samidh- 'firewood'; no doubt, however, it is contained in the suffix -ēnya- (an extension of it by -īo-): vīr-ēnya-s 'manly, heroic' from vīrā-s 'man, hero', prāvṛṣ-ēnya-s 'raining' beside prāvṛṣ-īna-s (see above, p. 157).

-aena- is common in Avestic to denote material, origin and the like, as ayanh-aena- 'of metal, iron' from ayah-, zaran-

-aena- 'golden' from zarana-* = Skr. hirana- n. 'gold', er'zat-
-aena- 'silvern' from er'zata- (cp. Lat. Argent-īnu-s), temarsh-
-aena- 'dark, murky' from temah- 'darkness'; neut. fravāxš-aēne-m 'woodwork, pieces of wood, beams' from fravāxša- m. 'branch, twig'. Transferred to the 1-declension it becomes -aēni-, as zaran-aēni-š.

Lithuanian. -ena- is common in names of inhabitants, to denote their belonging to or springing from a place, as Tilž-ēna-s
'a man from Tilzit (Tilžė)'. Subst fem.: ož-ėnà 'goatsflesh', jaut-
-ėnà 'beef', žqs-ėnà 'gooseflesh' (cp. Lat. capr-īna, O.C.Sl. zvě- -īna), aviž-ėnà 'oat-field', rug-ėnà 'rye-field', mėž-ėnà 'barley-field' (cp. Lat. cēp-īna), menes-ėnà 'moonlight' from mėnà 'moon' (cp.
O.C.Sl. měsēc-īna), and other examples.

Remark It is a point for further investigation whether Lat. aliēnu-s, teri ēnu-s belong to this group. The Slavonic adjectives of material in
-ēnū like drēv-ēnū 'wooden' olov-ēnū 'leaden' must in any case be left out of consideration, since the change of -ġē- to -ġā-, as in drožd-ġanū 'of yeast' for drožd-ġenū* proves that their -ē- represents Idg -ē-, see I § 76
p. 66.

§ 69. The Suffix -tno- -tnā- -tyno- -tyñā-.

1. This appears in Sanskrit, Latin, Lithuanian, (and Greek?) in adjectives formed from adverbs of time, and in Sanskrit also in some cases from stems with similar meaning.

Sanskrit. From adverbs: pra-tnā-s 'former, old' from prā
'before', nā-tna-s nā-tana-s 'present' from nā 'now', sanā-tāna-s 'not transient, constant, lasting' from sānā 'from the beginning', prātas-tāna- 'in the morning, early' from prātāh 'early', divā-
-tana-s divā-tāna-s 'diurnus' from divā 'by day', cirān-tana-s ciran-tāna-s 'coming from olden time' from cirā-m 'long ago', śvas-tana-s 'of to-morrow' hyas-tana-s 'of yesterday'. Formed from stems: sanā-tna-s beside sanā-tāna-s, cira-tnā-s beside cirān-tana-s.

Greek. ἐπε-ταρό-ς 'lasting for ever'? The etymology of the word has not been satisfactorily explained.

Latin. diū-tinu-s, prīs-tinu-s, crās-tinu-s, sērō-tinu-s, prīmō- tinu-s.

Lithuanian. dabar-tina-s 'present' from dabar 'now'.

2. Further, it is a primary suffix in Aryan, Latin and Balto-Slavonic, in participles and infinitives, being probably an extension of -to- (§ 79) by a secondary suffix -no- (cp. O.C.Sl. -enīnū beside -tīnū).

Old Persian shows infinitives in -tanaīy, as car-tanaīy from kar- 'do, make', katanaiy (read kantanaīy, see I § 197 Rem. p. 166) from kan- 'dig'; with these Persian infinitives Bartholomae connects Avest. aiwi-šōiṇē 'for dwelling in'. To these should no doubt be added Skr. cyāu-tnā-m 'preparation, undertaking' Avest. šyao-ṇa- m. 'deed, work' beside Skr. cyāv-a-tē 'bestirs itself, moves', perhaps also Skr. pāt-tana-m 'city', orig. 'stronghold', compare pad- in pi-bd-anā- 'standing fast, firm', cp. also Lat. *op-pid-u-m*¹⁾

In Italic tno- appears in the form -ndo- after vowels,²⁾ in the gerund and gerundive, as piṇā-tno-*, Lat. piando-, Umbr. pihaner 'piandi' Osc. úpsannam 'operandam' (for the assimilation of -nd- to -nn- -n- in Umbr.-Osc. see I § 506 p. 371). Lat. dando- for da-tno-*, im-plendo- for plē-tno-*. So -bundo- in vagābundus tremebundus etc. for fā-tno-* = Lith. bū-tma-s, cp. vagā-bor. secundo- for secū-tno-, cp. secū-tu-s (J. Schmidt, apud Bersu, Die Gutturalen und ihre Verbindung mit v im Lat. p. 134), rotundus for rotō-tno-* from a verbal stem rotō- 'to rotate'. Further, we have the group of forms in -cundu-s, as rubī-cundu-s, irā-cundu-s, fā-cundu-s, fē-cundu-s for cō-tno-*, derived from adjectives in -co-, such as rubico-* (whence rubicāre, Rubicō) etc. With the forms in -ō-tno- compare aegrō-tu-s from aegro-, Gr. κωρω-τό-ς and the like. The change to -ndo- was impossible in forms coming from verbal stems which ended in a consonant (e. g.

1) In Greek only a few uncertain examples have survived, e. g. ἔντρονος ἄντρομος (Hesych.), which may perhaps be identified with Lith. dēktina-s (✓ dhegh-).

2) Cp. Lat. patnō for patnō*, beside pateō, and tendō, Umbr. ostendū 'ostendito', for te-in-ō*, ✓ ten-. That the d of tendō is not the 'root-determinative' d (dh), as in fren-dō cū-dō clau-dō, is shown by ten-tu-s contrasted with fre(s)su-s, in-cūsū-s clausu-s. This 'determinative' was in fact used to form not present stems but verbal stems. tēnsu-s was formed later by analogy.

vectno-* or vecteno-* = Lith. vėsztinu-s, beside vehō Lith. vešū), and this gave rise to a variation in form, which was removed by a process of levelling; on the analogy of the relation of piando- to pāns pantis, of dando- to dāns dantis, of im-plendo- to im-plēns -plentis etc., ferēns produced a gerund-stem ferendo-, faciens the stem faciendo- and so on. The Umbr. an-ferener 'circumferendi' makes it probable that this development was complete in proetlunc Italic. The Latin by-forms with -o- (-u-) like ferundo- facundo- eundo- must be explained as imitations of the variation -ent- -ont- in the present participle, as c. g. in iēns euntis, flexuntēs and the like (§ 126).

Lith. Participia necessitatis in -tina-s. sūk-tina-s 'torquendus' beside inf. sūk-ti. jėškó-tina-s 'quaerendus' beside jėšzkó-ti. minė-tina-s 'memorandus' from minė-ti. vėry-tina-s 'credendus' from vėry-ti. Without the implied meaning of necessity we have bū-tina-s 'being, remaining, actual' from būti 'to be': Lat. -bundus. In Slavonic we have -tĭno-, an adjectival suffix, e. g. pri-jěstĭnĭ 'pleasant' (we also find -enĭno-, as ne-iz-d-rečĕnĭnĭ 'inexpressible').

There was therefore in Indo-Germanic a verbal adjective in -tno- -tyno-, whose neuter was used as an abstract substantive (nomen actionis). The adjectival meaning appears in Latin and Lithuanian, the substantival in Old Persian and Latin. Cp. § 158.

Remark Compare the Author, 'Der Ursprung der lat. Gerundia und Gerundiva', American Journal of Philology VIII (1887) p. 441 ff. In his recently published dissertation 'Die Etymologie der sogen. Gerundivformen' (Königsberg 1888), A. Döhring connects the Latin -ndo- forms with the Gr. nouns in -ando-; -irō-; -orō-; -orō- as ἀκρωτο- ἀγυρο-, and accordingly argues for an original Idg. -ndho-. But besides the fact that these Gr. words show no connexion in meaning with the Lat. gerund and gerundive, the Umbr.-Osc. forms with -nn- (-n-) can hardly be reconciled with this theory. By the phonetic laws hitherto discovered in the Italic dialects the forms in -nno- can be referred only to pr. Ital. -ndo-, not to -npo-. The most recent theory is that of L. Havet (Mém. de la Soc. de lingu., VI 6 ff.) who identifies ferundu-s with Gr. φερόμενο-, from feromeno-* by dissimilation he would derive a supposed form feromēdo-* (what of fermini?), from this feromdo-* ferondo ferundo-*; which is simply incredible.

§ 70. The Suffix -tvānā- in Sanskrit and -συνο- -συνά- in Greek¹).

These suffixes are no doubt rightly regarded as very closely connected.

Skr. -tvānā- (neut.) is a secondary suffix having the same meaning as -tvā- (§ 61); as vasu-tvānā-m beside vasu-tvā-m 'riches', pati-tvānā-m 'married state', martya-tvānā-m 'the manner of men'. In Avestic -pṛwana- is primary in ā-stao-pṛwane-m 'praise, guerdon'.

Gr. -συνο- is secondary in adjectives like δουλό-συνο-ς 'serving', γῆθό-συνο-ς 'glad, joyful', θάροσυνο-ς 'confident' for θαρσο-συνο-ς* (I § 643 p. 482), and in substantives like δουλο-σύνη 'service', κλεπτο-σύνη 'thievery', μνημο-σύνη 'memory' (op. § 158). The ending -ο-συνο- became general, whence we have μαντοσύνη from μάντι-ς, θεμιστ-οσύνη from θέμις, ἱερτώσυνα (neut. pl.) and ἱερεωσύνη for ἱερη(f)-ο-* from ἱερίτις (Wackernagel, Philol. Anzeiger 1886 p. 73 f.).

Remark It must be confessed that the phonetic relations of the Greek and Sanskrit suffixes are not clear, since -συνο- cannot be regularly derived from τενω-* (which would be related to Skr. -tvāna- as ὑπνο-ς: Skr. svāpna-s, an Indo-Germanic variation of ablaut) Should we suppose a doublet in Greek, -τφενο-* beside -τενω-*, and that the σ-sound which was regularly developed in -τφενο- (I § 186 p. 147, § 489 p. 361) afterwards invaded -τενω-*? Cp. Att. σύ for τέ because of σέ, Hom πίτνυες beside New-Ion. τίτνυες (Lith. ketveri), G. Meyer Gr. Gr.² p. 258, Osthoff Paul-Br. Beitr. XIII 425 Or may we assume for Skr. -tvāna- and Gr. -συνο- a common ground-form -tu-ḡno-? Cp. Gr. Ion. οὐρανός for fogfano-ς* and Skr. rāṇuna-, for which von Fierlinger (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 475) assumes μορχḡno-* as the common ground-form (here, indeed, the relation of the Greek and Sanskrit forms would be exactly the reverse); add Skr. catur-thā- and Lith. ketviṛta-s for qetvḡ-to-* (I § 155 p. 140).

In protoethnic Indo-Germanic, this suffix formed middle (passive) participles from tense-stems containing the thematic

1) Th. Aufrecht, Das Affix συνος, συνη, Kuhn's Ztschr. I 481 ff.

2) Bechstein, De nominibus suffixo mīno (mno-) instructis, Curtius' Stud. VIII 378 ff.

vowel, cp. pres. Skr. bōdha-māna-s Gr. πενθό-μενο-ς, fut. Skr. bhōtsyā-māna-s Gr. πενσό-μενο-ς, from bheyadh-, 'be awake, aware'. We find it in Aryan occasionally, but in Greek universally extended to non-thematic stems, which originally had -ṇno- -eno- -ono-; see § 65—67 and observe the Remarks on pp. 141 and 152.

It is now impossible to trace the original distribution of the forms which differ in their grade of Ablaut.

In the Umbro-Oscan dialects, and in Balto-Slavonic, -mo- appears with a similar function: we are hardly justified in regarding this as a regular phonetic variant of -mno- (§ 72, I p. 166).

Remark. Sometimes it is difficult to decide whether a particular form contains this suffix or a later extension of -men- by means of -o- -ā-, as must certainly be assumed in e g Avest. airya-mana- beside airya-man-, Gr. νῆις-μο-ς beside ἄομα (§ 117), ποτ-μῆ 'herd' beside ποι-μῆν 'herdsman', ἡγε-μῶν 'leader' (f) beside ἡγε-μῶν, Lat colu-mna beside colu-men, Goth na-mna- (dat pl namna-m) beside namō Cp. § 65 Rem p 139.

Aryan.

In Sanskrit only -māna- occurs. Pres. bhāra-māna-s beside indic. mid. bhāratē (bhar- 'bear'), juṣā-māna-s beside indic. mid. juṣā-tē (juṣ- 'taste, enjoy'), kriyā-māna-s beside indic. pass. kriyā-tē (kar- 'make'). Fut. yakṣyā-māna-s beside indic. mid. pass. yakṣyā-tē (yaj- 'revere'). The Ved. perf. part. sasr-mānā-s beside sasr-ānā-s, from indic. med. pass. sasr-ē (sar- 'flow') is unique.

In Avestic we find -mna- and -mana-; the latter should no doubt be referred rather to -mṇno- than to -meno-, since the forms vary merely in accordance with the requirements of the metre. Pres. yaza-mna- beside indic. mid. yazatē (yaz- 'revere, praise'), bar'ze-mna- bar'ze-mana- 'being great or high', añha-mana- beside indic. mid. añhetē = Skr. āśya-tē I § 558 p. 415 (ah- 'throw'), vaēdaya-mna- beside indic. mid. (caus.) vaēdayētē (vid- 'know', causal 'make to know, show'). Fut. var'šya-mna- beside indic. mid. pass. var'šyētē ground-form uerk-sje-taḥ* I § 401 p. 296 f. (var'z- 'work'). Sometimes also in non-thematic stems, as saya-mna beside say-ana-, from indic. mid. saē-tē (say- 'lie').

Greek. As a living participial suffix only -μενο- occurs. Pres. φερό-μενο-ς beside indic. mid. pass. φέρε-ται (φερ- 'bear'), φιλέο-μενο-ς φιλούμενο-ς beside indic. mid. pass. φιλέε-ται φιλεῖ-ται (φιλέω 'I love'); side by side with these we find Delph. Locr. καλείμενο-ς Arcad. ἀδικήμενο-ς, and similar forms elsewhere, whose ending presupposes a form -ε-χε-μενο-ς*. Fut. δωσό-μενο-ς beside indic. mid. δώσε-ται (δω- 'give'). -μενο- also established itself in all non-thematic tenses; contrast e g. pres. τίθη-μενο-ς beside indic. mid. pass. τίθη-ται with Skr. dádāh-āna-s (√ dhē- 'set, lay'), perf. γεγευμένο-ς for γεγευσ-μενο-ς* beside indic. mid. pass. 1. s. γέγευ-μαι with Skr. gūjūṣ-ānā-s O.H.G. partic. -koran (√ gēms- 'taste'). The accentuation in the perfect (Att. -μένος) was no doubt originally -μενός, see I § 676 p. 542 f.

The form -μνο- (cp. the last Remark) perhaps occurs in certain formations no longer felt to be participial, as βέλε-μνο-ν 'missile' (τὸ βαλλόμενον) beside βέλος, στά-μνο-ς 'crock' beside ἵστημι 'I place'.

Italic In Latin we must refer to this suffix the ending of the 2. pl. -minī, as legi-minī (sc. estis) = λεγόμενοι. The omission of estis, which a priori would be somewhat remarkable, is easily explained if (with Wackernagel, Verhandl. der 39. Philologenversammlung p. 281 f) we compare the imperative form legimini with the Greek infinitive λεγέμεν-αι (§ 117); the indic. legimini representing both λεγόμενοι and λεγόμεναι, caused the imperat. legimini to be used only as plural and as mid.-pass.; so conversely, when legimini representing λεγόμεναι had been so established in the imperative system it caused the omission of the copula in the indicative, -minī being regarded as the ending of the 2nd. pers. The suffix occurs also in fē-mina, i. e. 'she who suckles' (cp. Gr. θή-λυ-ς 'giving suck, female'). clēmēns according to Osthoff (Wolfflin's Archiv IV 463) came from clēmēnos* for clei-e-meno-s*, cp. -ctinō: Skr. śrāya-māna-s. It is doubtful whether this old Lat. -meno- was originally -μνο-, -meno-, or -mono-.

-mno- is seen perhaps in Lat. alumni-s, Vertumnu-s, Volumnu-s and similar forms (cp. the last Remark).

§ 72. The Suffix -mo- -mā-, -ṃmo- -ṃmā-.

There are three classes of forms:

1. -mo- occurs as a participial suffix in Umbro-Samnitic and in Balto-Slavonic, with the same meaning as -meno- (§ 71). It may be related to the -mo- in adjectives like Avest. tū-ma- 'strong', Gr. θερμός Lat. for-mu-s 'warm' (see below, 3). At the same time it is perhaps a possible alternative to refer it to -mno- (cp. I § 219 p. 187).

In the above-named Italic dialects, the suffix is found in imperative forms like Umbr. persnih-mn 'precamino, supplicato' Osc. censa-mu-r 'censemno'.

In Balt.-Slav. -mo- is a living suffix in the pres. part. pass., in Lith. in the fut. part. pass. also, though this is now obsolete. In Pruss. we have -mana- instead, see § 71

Lith. pres. vėžu-ma-s 'being or capable of being carried', beside the indic. vežu 'veho', jója-ma-s beside jó-jū 'I ride', jėszko-ma-s beside jėszkau 'I seek' (1. pl. jėszko-me). Fut. vėszī-ma-s jósi-ma-s jėszkósi-ma-s beside indic. vėszīu (ground-form uegh + sjo*) jó-siu jėszkó-siu.

O.C.Sl. vezo-mŭ beside indic. veza 'veho', znaje-mŭ beside znaję 'I know', chvali-mŭ beside chvalja 'I praise' (1. pl. chvali-mŭ).

2. -mo- -ṃmo- is a superlative suffix in words denoting number, rank, order in space and time, and the like. This suffix is the second element in -tṃmo- (§ 73). The corresponding comparative suffix is generally -ero-, as -tero- beside the superl. -tṃmo- (§ 75). A possible derivation is suggested in the Remark on p. 167.

Indo-Germanic. septmó-* (sepmó-* sebdmó-*? see I § 469 p. 345) sept-ṃmó- 'septimus': Skr. saptamā-s Gr. ἑβδομο-ς (see under Greek) Lat. septimu-s O.Ir. sechtm-ad Lith. sėkma-s Pruss. septma-s O.C.Sl. sedmy-jŭ; similarly dėkmó-* 'decimus' (see under Aryan) and oktmó-* oktṃmó-* 'octavus' (see under Balto-Slavonic). up-mó-* up-ṃmó-* 'uppermost, highest': Skr. upaup-s, Lat. summu-s for s-up-mo-s* (for the s- see I § 568 p. 425), A.S. ufem-est, cp. comparative Skr. ūpara- Lat. s-upero-. medh-ḡmó-* 'midmost' beside medh-ḡo-s* 'medius' (§ 63, 3 p. 132): Avest. maðema- 'midmost', Goth. miduma subst. f. 'middle' (cp. § 158) O.H.G. metāmo metemo 'mediocris'; beside these are forms which have been readjusted to suit the parallel medhḡo-*, Skr. madh-yamā-s 'midmost' and Goth. midjuma- or midjuman- in midjungards 'the globe' for midjum(a)-gards* (cp. § 40 p. 69), O.H.G. mittamo m. 'middle' (cp. O.H.G. mittil A.S. middel beside the more archaic O.H.G. metil 'medius' and Gr. velato-ς beside véato-ς, 'novissimus, extremus' from veFḡo* veFo-*).

Remark septḡmó-* may be related to the cardinal sepḡm* as the Gr. πταρό-, to πταρ, udrób-* (Skr. udrá-s etc.) to ἔδωρ (§ 74). The ordinal numeral appears to have been formed by the addition of -ó-, cp. Lat. nōnu-s from neḡḡnó-* from neḡḡ* (I § 232 p. 197, § 233 p. 198, § 249 p. 205). It is possible therefore that the superlative suffix -mo- was taken bodily from the ending of the numerals. Cp. the suffix -to-, which serves in the same way to form both ordinal numerals and superlatives, § 81.

Aryan. Skr. daśamā- Avest. dasema- 'decimus': Lat. decimu-s O.Ir. dechm-ad, common ground-form dekḡmó-*. Skr. ap-amā- Avest. ap-ema- 'most distant, last' beside Skr. āpa 'from, away'. Skr. av-amā- 'lowest, next' from āva 'off, down'. adh-amā- 'undermost' (ground-form ydhḡmó-*) beside adhás 'below': the relation of this word to Lat. infimu-s and inferu-s is not clear; see Ascoli, Sprachwissensch. Briefe 83, and above I § 389 Rem. p. 292¹). par-amā- 'furthest, last, best' from pāra- 'further'.

In Greek it is rare. ἑβδόμο-ς 'septimus' and Heracl. Delph. ἑβδεμῆκοντα for ἑβδμ-* with anaptyctic -o- and -ε- (see I § 626 p. 470): O.C.Sl. sedmy-jī etc., see p. 166 above. πρό-μο-ς 'foremost' from πρό 'before': cp. Umbr. promom, Goth. fra-m. Perhaps also πίμ-ατο-ς 'last' (cp. ἑβδόμ-ατο-ς beside ἑβδομο-ς, τετρί-ατο-ς beside τετρίο-ς), although its base is certainly obscure (in J. Schmidt's derivation from ἄπο, as though it came from (α)πυ-μο-* (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 24) the υ presents some difficulty).

1) In this Remark there is an error in the translation. The second sentence should read: "we might regard the f as regular in in-fundō confundō and thence substituted for h in the uncompounded verb, if there were more evidence for the suggestion that the word infumus infimus arose from an old phrase in fumo* 'in humo', etc." [i.e. if we could prove that pr. Ital. x in Latin passed through the stage f on its way to h initially, and that the compounds infundo confundo infimus were formed just at that period.]

Italic. Lat. decimu-s Osc. dekmaniois 'decumanis': Skr. daśamā- and similar ordinals (see p. 167 above). Lat. summu-s Umbr. somo 'summum' pr. Ital. s-up-mo-s*: Skr. upamā-s 'uppermost, highest'. Lat. prīmu-s Pelign. pris-mu 'primo' or 'primum' beside prius. Lat. īmu-s Osc. imad abl. 'ima'; the word no doubt belongs to O.Ir. is 'below' īchtar 'the lower part'¹). Lat. min-imu-s, plūr-imu-s, brūma (beside brevi-s); formed from adverbs in nē, extrē-mu-s postrē-mu-s suprē-mu-s. Osc. pos-mo-m 'postremum', cp. Lat. pōne for pos-ne*. Umbr. prumum promom 'primum' Gr. πρό-μο-ς Goth. fra-m; šimu šimo 'ad cituna, retro' Umbr. nuvime adv. 'nonum', a later formation like Skr. navanā-s and O.Ir. nōma-d 'nonus'. Umbr.-Osc. nesimo- 'proximus' for necsimo-*, no doubt connected with Lat. nectō nexus: O.Ir. nessam 'next' beside the comparative nessa.

-ḡmo- is probably also to be traced in Lat. superlatives like pulcerrimu-s celerrimu-s facillimu-s simillimu-s (Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 153). pulcr-is-emo-* faci-is-emo-* (-is is the weakest form of the comparative suffix, cp. pulcr-ior facil-ior) became pulcr-semo-* pulcersimo-* and faci-semo-* facil-simo-* (I § 633 p 473 f) and then pulcerrimo- facillimo- (I § 571 p. 429).

Old Irish. The ordinals in -ḡmo- appear to be extended by -eto-, as sechtmad 'septimus' for septḡmeto-s*, dechmad 'decimus' for dekḡmeto-s*, undoubtedly through the influence of cōiced 'quintus' sessed 'sextus' (§ 81); similarly in the other Keltic languages, e. g. Mid.Cymr. seithuet 'septimus'. Cp. Gr. ἑβδόματο-ς on the analogy of δέρατο-ς, etc. rem- 'ante, prae', which has lost an initial p (I § 339 p. 268). Goth. fruma Lith. pirma-s 'primus', common ground-form pḡ-mo-*.

1) See Loth, Mém. de la Soc. de lingu V, 231 f. and d'Arbois de Jubainville, ib. VI 55 f. It is better to refer it to ik-mo-* or ig-mo-, than to iks-mo-, from which we should expect in Osc. ismo-.

In Keltic this suffix was regularly used to form the superlative. In O.Ir. nessam 'next', and some other forms, -am corresponds to Lat. -imo-; see above. On the other hand, -em cannot be identified with -ḡmo- in e. g. dilem 'pleasantest' (comp. diliu pos. dil) coemem 'fairest' (comp. coimiu pos. coem) toisigem 'first, most excellent' (comp. toisigiú pos. toisech) lugem 'smallest' (comp. laigiú) dam for ō-em* 'youngest' (comp. ōa) mām for mā-em* 'greatest' (comp. māo). Probably Thurneysen is right in comparing these forms with Latin superlatives like pulcerrimu-s (see above); dilis-ḡmo-* became dilhsamo-* dilhhum(o)-*, finally *dilem*¹). To such superlative forms the same -em was sometimes added a second time, as uaislimem 'highest' beside the comp. uaisliu pos. uasal, cp. Gr. -τ-αρο-ς § 81.

Germanic. In protothnic Germanic this suffix passed over into the n-declension in adjectives; the Gothic feminine ended in ei gen. -eins, as in the comparatives in -iz-a (see §§ 110, 135). In Gothic the forms in -uma also acquired a comparative meaning, so that e. g. inn-uma was sometimes equivalent to the O.H.G. inn-ero (cp. de Saussure, Mélanges Renier 383 ff.). Goth fru-ma 'prior, primus' (whence frum-ists 'primus'), O.H.G. fruma f. 'use, advantage' O.Ir. rem- Lith. pir-ma-s common ground-form ḡ-mo-*, contrast with these Goth. O.H.G. fra-m adv. 'forwards, further': Gr. πρό-μω-ς. Goth. aúh-uma 'higher, highest', compare aúh-m-ists and aúh-um-ists 'highest', A.S. ȝmest = Goth. aúhmists Goth. inn-uma 'inner, innermost' A.S. inn-em-est 'innermost'. Goth. spēd-um-ists 'latest, last' beside spēd-ists. Goth. hleud-uma 'left, ἀριστερός', compare no doubt O.H.G. (h)li-ta 'slope, declivity' Gr. κλί-τῆ-ς 'hill'. A.S. sīð-em-est 'latest' beside sīð-est, laet-em-est 'latest'; nord-m-est 'northernmost' sūð-m-est 'southernmost'.

1) "The loss of an s is indicated both by the medial h of O.British hinhām 'eldest' for senisam-, and later henuham- (= Ir. sinem*), and by the retention of the older tenuis before this suffix in Cymric, as in the superlative rhataf for rat-ham* beside the pos. rhad 'cheap' Whether Gall. Behsama (a goddess) and Trigisamo- (the river 'Treisam') belong to this group is doubtful." Thurneysen

In Balto-Slavonic the suffix is rare. Lith. āsma-s Pruss. acc. asma-n O.C.Sl. osmy-jŕ 'octavus' pr. Balt.Slav. oš(t)-mo-*: Skr. aṣṭamā- Avest. aṣtema- O.Ir. ochtm-ad: this word, in spite of the agreement of several languages, can scarcely have been formed until after the separation of the Indo-Germanic families, as was Skr. navamā- Umbr. nuvime. Lith. pir-ma-s Lett. pir-mā-is Pruss. pir-mois 'primus'. O.Ir. rem- Goth. fruma.

3. -mo- with other functions. It forms substantives, and adjectives. There are only a few groups of words which by their parallelism in form and meaning constitute a special class, as e.g. the Greek abstract substantives in -μός. The substantives are generally masculine, more rarely feminine, and the neuter very seldom appears.

-mo- is used as a denominative suffix in several languages, but this use is on the whole rare and no doubt a secondary development.

Where the suffix is primary, the root syllable, from the very earliest period, varies between the weak and the strong grade of ablaut; in the latter case, in roots of the e-series, the o-form seems to have been regular in the protoethnic and later periods. It is common to find forms of the strong and weak grade in the same word, e.g. Gr. λί-μός: λοι-μός, Skr. dhā-mā-s: O.H.G. tou-m, Gr. χρῖ-μός: Skr. hṛ-ma-s, Skr. idh-mā-s: Avest. aēs-ma- (I § 94 p. 88); this indicates an original variation of ablaut within the same paradigm (cp. Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 127 f.).

In a large number of cases -mo- is closely connected with -men- (§ 117). In e-roots, where both suffixes are found side by side and the root-syllable has e, as in Gr. κενθ-μός beside κενθ-μῖον 'hiding-place', O.C.Sl. zi-ma 'winter' beside Gr. χει-μῖον 'storm, winter', the presumption is in favour of the greater antiquity of the men-formation. In many instances there has obviously been a confusion of the two. In compound words, the mo-form was substituted for men- both in the Indo-Germanic period and later (§ 12 p. 27)¹⁾.

1) For this process of substitution in the use of the suffixes a reference may now be added to J. Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 296 ff.

Idg. dhū-mó-* 'ebullition, smoke': Skr. dhūmā-s, Gr. θῦμός ('spirit, passion'), Lat. fūmu-s, Lith. pl. dūmai, O.C.Sl. dymū, add O.H.G. tū-mōn 'to turn one's self in a circle'; beside this we have dhou-mo-* in O.H.G. toum 'vapour, fume'. tu-mo-* tū-mo-* from ✓tey- 'swell, grow strong': Skr. redupl. tū-tumā- Avest. tūma- 'strong', Mod.Cymr. twf 'vigor' (a borrowed word?), O.C.Sl. tūma f. 'thumb'), with these compare toy-mo-* in O.H.G. thauum doum 'vapour', which was confused with toum. ǵ-mó-* 'arm, something bowed or bent' Skr. īrmā-s Avest. ar'ma- Armen. arm-ukn Lat. armu-s O.H.G. aram O.C.Sl. ramo. ghī-mo-* ghī-mā-*. Skr. hūmā-s 'cold' hī-mā 'winter' Avest. zima- m. 'winter', Armen. jm-ern (gen jm-eran) 'winter' for jim-er-* (for the suffix compare amarn 'summer'), Gr. δῖω-χίμος 'exposed to dangerous storms, fearful', Lat. bīmu-s for bi-himu-s* (I § 510 p. 374 § 604 p. 458); the vocalism of Idg. gheī-men-* (Gr. χιμῶν) appears in Lith. žemà O.C.Sl. zima 'winter', and we can trace the form ghēm-* ghim-* in Avest zydā, gen. zim-ō 'winter's frost' Gr. χίωρ 'snow' Lat. hiēms (§ 160, 2) stē-mó-* (cp. Skr. styā- 'curdle, thicken', also connected with Goth. stái-n-s): Skr. stīmā- 'lazy, creeping' pra-stīma- 'pressed, heaped', Mid.H.G. stīm m. 'bustle, confused mass' O.Icel. stīm n. 'wrestling, trouble' (Lith. stymas and styma 'shoal of moving fish' are no doubt borrowed from Scandinavian, cp. Swed. stīm 'tumult, shoal of tumbling fish'); Mid.H.G. stei-m 'turmoil' shows a stronger form of the root. ghor-mó-s* (✓gher-): Skr. gharmā-s 'heat' Avest. gar'ma- 'warm' gar'me-m 'warmth' (see especially I § 78 p. 69, § 445 p. 331), Lat. formu-s, O.H.G. warm 'warm', Pruss. gorm-e 'heat'; beside these, with e, Armen. jerm 'warm', Gr. θερμός 'warm' θερμήν 'warmth'. oi-mo-* 'way' (✓eī-): Skr. ē-ma-s 'way, path' Gr. οἶμος οἶμην 'path, tract'.

For its use as a secondary suffix there seems to be only one example which we can regard as proethnic: Skr. dru-ma-s 'tree' Gr. δρυ-υά pl. 'wood' δρυμός 'woodland', beside Skr. dru- Gr. δρῦ- 'wood'.

Aryan. In Sanskrit it is nearly always masculine. Skr. sā-mā-m 'milk, water', sōma-s Avest. hao-ma- 'sap, soma-drink', from su- 'press'. Skr. iś-mā-s īś-mā-s 'god of love' Avest. aēš-ma-m. 'chiding, wrath'. cp. Gr. ἱμερο-ς 'longing, desire'. Skr. bhā-ma-s 'light, sheen' Mod.Pers. bām 'light' Avest. bāmya- 'shining, clear'. Skr. tōk-ma-s 'green stalk of corn' O Pers. taumā- 'family' for tauxmā-*, cp. Skr. tōk-man- n 'green stalk of corn' (older than tōk-ma-s) Avest. taox-man- n 'seed, kernel, offspring'; the O.Pers. tau-mā- however should perhaps be explained otherwise, see § 117 under Aryan. Skr. āj-ma-s 'path, course' (beside āj-man- j-mān-, which mean the same) Gr. ὄγ-υο-ς 'path' (with prothetic ó-?). Skr. ū-ma-s ō-ma-s 'helper, companion' beside ō-mān- 'help, support', compared with áva-ti 'he helps'. bhī-mā-s 'terrible', cp. Lith. bái-m-c 'fear'. tiḡ-mā-s 'sharp'. ruk-mā-s 'shining, ornament'. yudh-mā-s 'fighter' cp. Gr. ὑσμίνη 'fight, battle' from ύθ+αμ-* (cp. p. 173). yuḡ-mā- 'even, forming a pair' neut. subst. 'pair'. dar-mā-s (beside dar-mān-) 'he who shatters'. dhār-ma-s (beside older dhār-man- n.) 'order, law, institution'.

It is secondary only in Skr dru-ma- (see above p. 171) and dyu-mā- 'clear, shining' from dyu- div- 'brightness, day'.

Armenian. arm-ukn 'elbow', jm-ern 'winter', jerm 'warm', see above under Idg, p. 171

Greek. λι-μός-ς 'hunger' λοι-μός-ς 'plague, pestilence': cp. Skr. srī-ma-s 'nightly spectre' from √sleḡ- 'hurt'. Substantives with the strong-grade of the root-syllable are not uncommon: ὄρ-μῆ 'onset': Skr. sār-ma-s 'flow, flowing' perhaps also O.H.G. stur-m 'storm, fight' (stur- for sr-, cp. I § 580 p. 433 f.); ρόρ-μο-ς 'what is bored, a hole'. O.H.G. dar-m O.Icel. þar-m-r 'intestine' (i. e. 'that which goes right through the body', or 'the channel through which the food passes'); φλογ-μός-ς 'brand' (φλέγω); πλοχ-μός-ς 'lock of hair' (πλέκω); ὀλ-μο-ς 'cylindrical body, mortar' (ἔλλύω); ὄρ-μο-ς 'cord, necklace' (cp. ἐρμα); λόχ-μη 'thicket, bushes' (λέχος). Further we have examples with weak vocalism: κρυ-μός-ς 'frost' (for κρυσο-μο-*, beside κρυσο-ταίνω), ἀρδ-μός-ς 'drink, drinking-place', πταρ-μός-ς 'sneeze'. In forming abstract verbal nouns -μός- was very fertile,

e. g. μυγ-μός μυχ-μός 'groan' (beside μύζω μέμικα), ιῦγ-μός 'shriek' (beside ιύζω), ὀδύρ-μός 'lamentation' (beside ὀδύρομαι), ἀρπαγ-μός 'plundering' (beside ἀρπάζω), κηρύγ-μός 'calling out' (beside κηρύσσω — for the γ see I § 486 Rem. p. 359), μερισμός 'division' (beside μερίζω — for the -σ- see below). Feminines of the same kind are πυγ-μή 'fight with fists', τιμ-μή 'estimation, honour', χαρ-μη 'joy of battle, battle', ἀκ-μή 'edge, sharpness', γνώ-μη 'intent, opinion', μνή-μη 'memory', ἐπιστή-μη 'science'.

Sometimes we find -τ-μο- (cp. -τ-μεν- § 117): ἑρε-τμός 'oar' beside ἑρέσσω ἑρέ-της, ἐφε-τμή 'injunction' beside ἐφ-έ-τη-ς ἐφ-έ-τημι, etc., cp. O.S. brahtum and the like, p. 175. More frequently -θ-μο- (cp. -θ-μεν- § 117): ἀρι-θμός 'number' (no doubt connected with O.H.G. rī-m 'orderly succession, number'), ἀρ-θμός 'tie', στα-θμός 'standing-place, stall, posts' στά-θμη 'plumb-line', ῥυθ-θμός 'rhythmical motion', κλαυ-θμός 'crying' κηλη-θμός 'bewitching', μηνι-θμός 'wrath' etc., cp. -θ-ρο- -θ-λο- (§ 77).

-s-mo- according to Morph. Unt. I 81. occurs in δασμός 'division' beside δατέσμαι, ὠσιμός 'push' beside ὠθίω, ἀφλοισμός 'foam' beside πέφλοισθα, ὀσμή beside older ὀδ-μή 'smell', σχισμός 'split' beside σχίζω, and in substantives in -ισμός and -ασμός connected with derivative verbs in -ίζω άζω, as μερισμός ἀκοντισμός ἐνθουσιασμός. Yet it may also be assumed (cp. Solmsen Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 123) that in such forms there was originally only -mo- (which would give us δατμός* ὠθμός* ὀδμή); that then, where perfect forms in -σμαι -σμεθα -σμενος (the σ came from -σται, δέδασμαι being formed on the model of δέδασται) occurred in the paradigm of the verb, the σ from these forms took the place of the explosive; and that afterwards, on the analogy of such words, the explosive was replaced by σ in other instances (e. g. ὀδμή). The occurrence of -μο- and -σμο- side by side in derivatives of these dental stems led to the substitution of -σ- for θ in several of the forms in -θ-μο- mentioned above, as ῥυσμός instead of ῥυθ-μός, δυσμή instead of δυ-θμή, θασμός for (Lacon. and other dial.) θε-θμός. Cp. -σμεν- § 117.

-mo- is secondary in δοῦ-μό- (p. 171), and also in the adjectives in -μο-, which were derived from i-stems; as φύξιμο- 'protecting, whither one can flee' (from φύξι- 'flight'), βάσιμο- 'that can be traversed, safe' (from βάσι- 'a going'), λύσιμο- 'that can be ransomed' (from λύσι- 'ransom'); on the model of these were formed ἄλξιμο- 'strong', νόστιμο- 'relating to one's return', νόμιμο- 'lawful' and others. It occurs also in ἔτυ-μο- ἐτήτυ-μο- 'true, genuine' (cp. ἐτός for ἐτεφο-*).

Italic Lat. lī-mu-s 'crooked' lī-mut- 'crossway, dividing line, boundary', Osc. līmítú[m] 'limitum': the Oscan word cannot have arisen from līxmo-* (cp. lixula) which would have become lismo-* in Oscan, and if this derivation is correct, it must have been borrowed from Latin. Osc. eg-mo 'res', stem eg-mā-.

Lat. lī-mu-s 'grease, slime, mud'. O.H.G. lī-m 'gluc' lei-m 'loam'. fi-mu-s fi-mu-m: no doubt connected with Gr. θύ-μο- 'scented plant' (see I § 49 p. 41 f.). ani-mu-s ani-ma: Gr. ἄνε-μο- 'wind', cp. also O.Ir. anim, dat. anman, 'soul'. fā-ma: Gr. φή-μη 'news, rumour'. for-ma: cp. Skr. dhari-mán 'figure'. spūma for spoi-mā*: O.H.G. fei-m m. 'foam' (cp. § 66 p. 148).

Lat. dūmu-s (dusmo in loco Paul. Fest.), rāmu-s no doubt for rād-mo-* ground-form uḡd-mo-*, beside rādix, with other examples. The neuter is rare: pō-mu-m, ar-ma. There are a fairly large number of feminines: lī-ma, rā-ma (beside rū-men), rī-ma, gem-ma etc.

-mā- is secondary in lacru-ma lacri-ma: cp. Gr. δάκρυ 'tear'.

Old Irish. le-m m. 'elm' ground-form l-mo-*: Lat. ul-mu-s, O.H.G. el-m O.Icel. al-m-r 'elm'. lā-m f. 'hand': Gr. παλά-μη Lat. pal-ma O.H.G. fol-ma 'hand, flat hand'. rī-m f. 'number', ar-am f. 'number, counting' for ad-rīma* (cp. I § 623 Rem. 1 p. 469, § 634 p. 474 f.): cp. O.H.G. rī-m Gr. ἀρι-θμός p. 173. O.Ir. gor-m 'blue' Mod.Cymr. gwr-m 'dusky': Skr. ghṛ-ṇḍ-mi 'I shine'? (see Curtius Grdz.⁵ 494). O.Ir. lua-m 'celox': cp. Lith. plau-s-ma-s 'raft'.

Infinitival nomina actionis are formed with -mā-; as cretem 'faith, believing', sechem 'a following'.

Germanic. O.H.G. bodam m. 'bottom': cp. Gr. πυθ-μήν

'ground, bottom', (cp. Kauffmann, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XII 537). Goth. hái-mōs pl. fem. 'villages, market-towns', O.H.G. hei-m 'dwelling': Lith. kė-ma-s 'village, farm' kaun-yna-s 'neighbour'. O.Icel. strau-m-r O.H.G. strō-m 'stream': we should doubtless add (with orig. ou) Lett. strāu-m-e f. 'stream', and (with au) Thrac. Στρώ-μη a town on the Lissos; compare with these srey-men-* (§ 117). A.S. far-m 'a going, pressing forward' O.H.G. far-m 'boat': cp. Gr. πορ-θ-μὸς 'ferry'. O.H.G. halm 'stalk' O.Icel. hal-m-r 'straw': Gr. κάλα-μο-ς 'reed, stalk', Lat. cul-mu-s, Lett. sal-m-s O.C.Sl. sla-ma f 'stalk', pr. Germ. χalmo-* may represent either kol-mo-* or kľ-mo-* (I § 306 p. 242 f). O.H.G. fadam m. 'fathom, ulna' A.S. fathmōs pl. 'both outstretched arms' O.Icel. faðmr 'cord, fathom, embrace': cp. O.Cymr. etem 'fathom'. Goth. dō-m-s O.H.G. tuo-m 'sentence, trial, standing, worth': Gr. θω-μὸ-ς 'stack', from √dhē- 'set, place'; beside it we have dhē-men-* (§ 117).

Goth. rū-m-s 'room, roomy' O.H.G. rū-m m. 'room': cp. Avest. rav-ah- 'road, free way'. O.H.G. scū-m m. O.Icel. skū-m n. 'foam'. Forms with the 'high' grade of ablaut (o-grade in -e- roots) are far commoner. We may add O.H.G. bar-m O.Icel. bar-m-r 'womb' ('that which bears', √bher-); O.H.G. zou-m O.Icel. tau-m-r 'bridle, rein' pr. Germ. tauzu-mā-* 'that which pulls or is pulled', √deyk- 'ducere').

A smaller number of forms have e in the root syllable; von Bahder (Verbalabstr. 136 f.) assumes that these were originally men- stems, as O.H.G. melm m. 'dust' beside O.Icel. malmr 'metal' and Lith. melmũ, gen. melmeñs, 'nephritic stone'. Cp. further O.H.G. atum A.S. athom 'breath' pr. Germ. ēþ-ma-* (for the history of the original tenuis in Germanic see Kögel, Literaturbl. f. germ. u. rom. Phil. 1887 no. 3) beside O.Fris. ēhma 'breath', Skr. āt-mān- 'breath, soul'.

Several instances of -t-mo- occur (cp. Gr. -τ-μο p. 173), as Goth. mái-þm-s A.S. mē-thom 'present, jewel' beside Gr. μοῖ-το-ς 'thanks, payment', Lat. mū-tuo-s, Lith. maĩ-na-s 'barter'; O.Sax. brah-tum 'noise' beside O.Sax. O.H.G. braht 'noise'; O.H.G. brā-dam 'vapour, steam, exhalation' beside A.S. bræð

f. 'vapour' (cp. Bremer, Paul-Br. Beitr. XI 279); O.H.G. kra-dam 'shriek' beside O.H.G. hano-krāt 'cock-crow' (cp. Bremer loc. cit.); Mid.H.G. bladen 'wind' beside O.H.G. blat 'breath, fulness'.

Remark. The different explanation of the latter forms given by von Bahder, Verbalabstr. 144 does not convince me.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. pl. dū-mai O.C.Sl. dy-mū 'smoke': Skr. dhū-mā-s etc., see p. 170 above. Pruss. irmo 'arm' (perhaps nom. sing. of an n-stem, like Lith. -mā) O.C.Sl. ramo beside ramē 'shoulder'. Skr. īr-mā-s etc., see p. 171 above. Lith. szāl-ma-s 'helmet' (Pruss. salmi-s): Goth. hulm-s O.H.G. helm 'helmet', Skr. śār-man- n. 'shelter, protection, armour'; may we therefore assume Idg. kol-mo-* and fel-men-*? O.C.Sl. sramū 'shame'. O.H.G. karam O.S. harm 'insult, outrage'.

Lithuanian. Masculines are rare, szār-ma-s 'potash', at-szalai-ma-s 'fore-court' (✓lilek 'clinare'). Feminines are more common, as tar-mā (also tarmē) 'statement', szar-mā 'rime, frozen dew', važ-mā 'payment of fare'. On the other hand, there are many masculines formed with -s-ma-, as garsma-s 'call' from gard* + sma- beside gařsa-s 'noise' from gard* + sa-s (gird-mi gird-žiū 'I hear'), varsmu-s 'the length of a furrow' for vart-sma-*, lañk-sma-s 'bending', vaļk-sma-s 'pull, draught', kaūk-sma-s 'howl', rēk-sma-s 'roar', cp. also -s-mē in drausmē 'training', Lett. drausma 'threat' beside Lith. draudžiū 'I protect, forbid', bausmē 'punishment' beside baudžiū 'I punish', gēsmē Lett. džisma 'song' beside Lith. gėd-mi 'I sing', etc. Adj. szir-ma-s Lett. si'r-m-s 'grey'.

-ima-s -yma-s form abstract verbal substantives from any given verb, as sukima-s 'a turning' from suk-ti 'to turn', sakyma-s 'saying' from saký-ti 'to say'. How (i. e. from what model) this group of forms took its rise is doubtful; cp. also jaunima-s 'the dance of youth, company of young folks' from jauna-s 'young', minksztima-s 'soft part of bread' from minkszta-s 'soft'.

Secondary: tól-ma-s 'distant' from tolī adv. 'afar', arty-ma-s 'near' from arti adv. 'near'.

The secondary suffix -ūma-s forms abstract substantives.

This arose in forms like grašū-ma-s 'beauty' from grašū-s 'beautiful', on the model of which were formed such words as sausūma-s 'dryness' from sausā-s 'dry'. By the side of this we find -umā used to denote some part of the land, as lygu-mā 'a level place' (beside lygū-ma-s 'levelness, the being level') from lygu-s 'even, level', sausumā 'dry place'.

O.C.Sl. kos-mū and kos-ma 'hair'. u-mū 'thought, understanding', no doubt connected with Skr. av- Lat. avēre and therefore similar in formation to Skr. ō-ma-s 'helper' (p. 172). glu-mū 'sport, scena' glu-ma 'licentiousness'. -s-mo- is the suffix in usmū usma 'indumentum, corium', if the word is connected with ob-u-ti 'to cover the feet'.

§ 73. The Suffix -tymo- -tymā-, forming superlatives. We may analyse it as -t-tymo-, and the second element -tymo- is itself a superlative suffix (§ 72, 2 p. 166 ff.). As a single indivisible suffix, -tymo- must have been rare in the Indo-Germanic period.

-t-tymo- is linked with the comparative -tero- (§ 75) in the same way as -tymo- with -ero-, cp. Goth. af-tuma: O.H.G. afstro aftero and Skr. ap-amā-s. Skr. áp-ara-s Goth. afar, further Skr. ut-tamā-s: Skr. ūt-tara-s Gr. ὕψιστος and A.S. ūt-em-est (an extension of an original at-ema*): Skr. ud-arā- ūd-ara- ('belly') O.H.G. ūz-ro. -tero- however had become an independent suffix earlier than -t-tymo- and it appears from the evidence of the different languages that it was widely used even in the proethnic period.

Indo-Germanic. trīkmt²-tymo-* or trīkmt²-tymā-* 'tricesimus': Skr. trīṣat-tamā-s (ṛ for ī is hystero-genous) Lat. trīcēsimu-s trīcēsīmu-s (-s- for -ss-, see I § 501 p. 367 f.): compare (and contrast) Gr. τριάκοστός i. e. τριάκοστ+ρο-. Similarly Avest. vīsqstema- (Skr. vīṣati-tamā-s) 'vicesimus' Lat. vīcēsīmu-s vīcēsīmu-s: compare and contrast Gr. Att. εἰκοστός Boeot. ἑκαστός: (I § 238 p. 199 f., § 501 p. 367 f.).

Skr. án-tama-s 'innermost, nearest, intimate', Lat. in-tīmu-s: cp. the comparative Skr. án-tara-s 'inner' Gr. ἐν-τερόν 'entrails', Lat. inter-ior, beside Gr. ἐν and Lat. in; beside these we have Gr. ἐν-ρός Lat. in-tus, so that we may fairly compare the relations of Skr. adh-amá-s : ádha-ara-s : adh-ás and pṛ-mo-* (Lith. pārma-s Goth. fruma) : pṛ-ós* (Skr. purás Avest. parō Gr. πάρος). Avest. ni-tema- 'lowest, smallest', A.S. neo-ðem-est 'lowest, undermost': cp. the compar. Skr. ni-tarām A.S. ni-ðer-ra.

Skr. ka-tamá-s 'which (of several)?', Lat. quo-tumu-s beside quo-tu-s: cp. compar. Skr. ka-tará-s Gr. πό-τερο-ς.

Aryan. Skr. pra-thamá-s Avest. fra-tema- O.Pers. fra-tama- 'primus' (the th of the Skr. form follows cathur-thá and the like) beside the compar. Skr. pra-tará-m Avest. fra-tara-, Gr. πρό-μο-ς Umbr. pro-mo-m Goth. fra-m § 72, 2 p. 167 show a more ancient formation. Skr. sahasra-tamá-s Avest. hazaxrō-tema- 'millesimus', Skr. śata-tamá-s 'centesimus', aṣṭi-tamá-s 'octogesimus' etc. The feminines of these numerals have in Sanskrit -tam-ī instead of -tamā.

Skr. ut-tamá-s 'highest, uppermost, best' Avest. us-tema- 'outermost', beside Skr. úd 'up, out' compar. úttara- cp. Gr. ὑστ-ερο-ς 'latest' compar. ὑστ-ερο-ς.

Even in proethnic Aryan -tama- was the regular superlative ending for adjectives whose comparative was formed with -tara-. Where it was added to a-stems, their final -a- was in Avestic almost entirely replaced by -ō-; cp. the same phenomenon in compounds, as daēvō-dāta-, § 25 p. 42. Skr. yajñya-tama- Avest. yesnyō-tema- 'most honourable', Skr. ugra-tama- Avest. uyrō-tema- 'strongest, mightiest'. Some words however have -a- in Avestic, e. g. auvyāma-tema- 'most helpful'. Skr. vāhni-tama- 'carrying best', Avest. hubaoidā-tema- 'with sweetest scent or perfume'. Skr. ama-vat-tama- Avest. ama-vas-tema- 'most violent, strongest, mightiest'. Skr. mīdh-úṣ-tama- 'most gracious', Avest. jaymuš-tema- 'most helpful'. Skr. vṛṣan-tama- 'manliest, strongest'.

-tama- is sometimes added as an intensive suffix to superlative forms in (Ar.) -iṣṭha-, as Skr. śrēṣṭha-tama- from śrēṣṭha- 'brightest, most glorious', Avest. vahiṣtō-tema- from vahiṣta- 'best'.

It was affixed to substantival stems, as Skr. mātṛ-tama- 'most motherly', Avest. daēvō-tema- 'most devilish'.

Skr. ka-tamā- 'which (of several)' beside kā-tara- 'which (of two)', interrogative. ya-tamā- 'which (of many)' beside ya-tarāf 'which (of two)', relative.

Italic. vīcēsīmu-s tricēsīmu-s, see p. 177 above. Later analogical forms are cent-ēsīmu-s mill-ēsīmu-s mult-ēsīmu-s.

in-tīmu-s, ex-tīmu-s, ci-tīmu-s, ul-tīmu-s. dex-tīmu-s, sinis-tīmu-s. mari-tīmu-s, fini-tīmu-s, lēgi-tīmu-s, originally meaning 'most closely connected with the sea, with a boundary, with law'. op-tīmu-s, in inscr. also opi-tūmu-s (differently regarded by von Fierlinger in Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXVII 478, who derives it from a verbal stem ō-pet- 'strive after, wish'). sollis-tīmu-s. Umbr. hon-domu 'infirmo' beside compar. hon-dra 'infra' Osc. hu[n]truis 'inferis', beside Lat. humu-s, see I § 207 p. 174.

-simo- occurs as well as -tīmo-, but its -s- cannot be derived from -t- merely by phonetic change. maxīmu-s, archaic ōxīmē (beside ōcissīmē), mediocrīmu-s (cp. mediocr-is). The most common ending is -is-sīmu-s (cp. sollis-tīmu-s), which no doubt drove out an older -is-to-s (§ 81), as pot-issīmu-s, alt-issīmu-s. -issīmo- was also added to superlatives with intensive force, especially in later times, e. g. postrēm-issīmu-s, minim-issīmu-s. It is added to the stems of substantives in the language of the comedians, as patru-issīmu-s. But it is doubtful whether the formation with -simo- -issīmo- is in any way connected with tymo-.

Remark. In Morph. Unt. III 135 I explained these forms as modelled upon the -ens(s)imo- of the numerals. We might also with Osthoff (Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 542) regard pessimu-s beside pējor as another form that served as a type for the new development in -issīmo-, since the ss in this word as well as in the numerals arose by a regular phonetic process, whether we accept Corssen's or W. Schulze's derivation (see Osthoff loc. cit., Schulze, Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXVII 426, Stolz Lat. Gr. p. 220). On the other hand, Stolz (loc. cit.) holds that -simo- was taken from plūsīmo-* (plūrīmo-) before the law of rhotacism came into operation. According to § 72 p. 168 we could also regard forms like pulcr-is-emo* pulcr-semo-* as prototypes of the formation. Danielsson on the other hand (Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 153. 192) starts from the two words maximus, oxīme, which he analyses macs-imo- ōcs-īmē, regarding the first elements as comparative stems for mahis-, ōcis- (cp. plor-umē plūr-īmu-s and the like § 72 p. 168), and supposing that it was these forms which led to the analogical change of -istimo- to -issimo-. Danielsson compares with these forms Umbr. Osc. nesimo- O.Ir. nessam 'next' (beside the compar. O.Ir. nessaq). But the assumption of syncope, which is required by the supposed forms in -is-imo- (mah-is-imo-, ōc-is-imo-) cannot be allowed without considerable hesitation (see p. 168), hence it is very doubtful whether Danielsson's explanation of maximu-s etc. can be allowed. Can neks-* and Lat. max-* contain the weak form of an old *es-*stem (cp. Skr. māhas- 'greatness' māhās- 'great')? The whole question needs further investigation.

Germanic. What was said of -uma- (§ 72, 2 p. 169) also applies to the inflexion of -tuma- and its meaning in Gothic. Goth. af-tuma 'hinder, hindmost, latter, last', A.S. æf-tem-est 'hindmost'. Goth. hin-dum-ists 'outermost' A.S. hin-dema 'hindmost, last'. Goth. if-tuma 'next': Gr. ἐπι 'on, to'. A.S. neodēm-est, see p. 178 above.

On the variation between -pro- and -ro- see I § 287 p. 229.

This suffix was both primary and secondary from the earliest period; but the latter use is comparatively rare.

In its primary use the root syllable has generally the weak grade of ablaut; as we should therefore expect, the accent falls on the suffix, e. g. spə-ró-*. Sometimes we have a variation of ablaut in the root, as Skr. chid-rá-s 'perforated': Lith. sked-rà 'splinter'; Gr. ἰθ-ρό-ς 'clear, bright': αἶθ-ρᾱ 'bright weather'; Gr. ἰδ-ρό-ς: Lett. svid-ri pl. 'sweat', O.H.G. bitt-ar: Goth. báit-r-s 'bitter'; O.H.G. munt-ar 'cheerful': O.C Sl. mqd-rŭ 'wise'.

In some words -ro- seems to be connected with the -r̥ -ř ending of the nom. acc. neut. (§ 118), cp. e. g. Idg. ud-ro-*: Gr. ῥῶ-ωρ O.H.G. wagg-ar; Gr. πῆ-ρῶ-ς πᾶ-ρῶ-ς 'fat': πᾶρ 'fat' (subst.); ἡμέ-ρᾱ. ἡμᾶρ 'day' (cp. also Armen. aur, gen. avur, 'day'); Gr. ῶ-ρῶ-ς Goth. jē-ra- 'year': Avest. yā-r 'year' (for further examples see Morph. Unt. II 232). It is also connected with -er- (§ 119), cp. e. g. Idg. us-ro-*: Skr. uṣ-ár- 'early light' Gr. ἡρ- 'in the early time' from āus-er-*; Gr. αἶθ-ρᾱ: αἶθ-ῆρ

1) H. Osthoff, Über -ra- -la- als instrumentales suffix der indogerm. Sprachen, Forschungen I 157 ff. G. Curtius, De adjectivis Graecis et Latinis l litterae ope formati, Leipz. 1870.

'the pure light of heaven'; further with the comparative -(t)ero- (§ 75).

This suffix formed adjectives and substantives both in the proethnic and in later periods of Indo-Germanic, the substantives were chiefly concrete. In the separate languages -ro- was rarely fertile to any great extent; Gr. -η-ρο- in πονηρός etc. is an exception.

Indo-Germanic. rudh-ró-* (in Skr. -gró-) 'red': Skr. rudh-irá-s, Gr. ῥυθ-ρός, Lat. ruber rub-ra, O.Icel. roð-ra f. 'blood', O.C.Sl. rūd-rū. sk(h)id-ró-* and -gró- Skr. chid-rá-s 'perforated' chid-rá-m 'hole, interruption, break' chid-urá-s 'axe, sword', Gr. συνδ-αρός 'thin, weak, breakable', O.H.G. scet-ar 'thin, defective', Lith. (with a different grade of ablaut) sked-rà 'splinter'. spa-ró-* from $\sqrt{\text{spē}}$ 'to expand' (Lat. spēs spatium &c.): Skr. sphi-rá- 'fat, great, rich', Lat. pro-sper -spera (for -spa-ro-*, like réd-dere: dáre, see I § 97 p. 91), O.C.Sl. spo-rū 'rich'. Skr. iṣ-irá-s 'quick, lively, fresh', Gr. Hom. ἰρός Lesb. ἶρο-ς for ἶσ-ρο-* (Lesb ἶρο-ς beside ἶρρο-ς, like gen. μῆν-ος beside μῆνν-ος and the like) and Corcyr. ἰαρός Boeot. ιαρός for ἶσ-αρο-* 'lively, fresh, strong, healthy'; for Att. ἰερός, see below. Skr. us-rá-s 'belonging to the morning' beside us-r-ityā 'brightness', Gr. ἄγχ-αυρο-ς 'near morning' (adj.) αὔριον 'on the morrow' for αῦσ-ρο-* (aus-* or āus-*); cp. also Lith. ausz-rà 'red of the morning', whose sz no doubt was borrowed from aũszo 'it dawned' (cp. I § 414 Rem. p 303 f.). ud-ro-* (in Gr. also -gro-) beside Skr. ud-án- 'water': Skr. an-udrá-s 'waterless' sam-udrá-s 'billowy, the sea', Gr. ὑδ-αρός 'watery' ἄν-υδρο-ς 'waterless'; and meaning a 'water-creature', Skr. ud-rá-s 'a creature that lives in water', Gr. ἰδ-ρο-ς ἰδ-ρά 'watersnake' O.H.G. ott-ar O.Icel. ot-r 'otter', Lith. úd-ra O.C.Sl. vyd-ra 'otter'. Skr. vī-rá-s 'man, hero', Lat. vi-r, O.Ir. fe-r Goth. vat-r Lith. vý-ra-s 'man'. ag-ro-s* 'pasture, level meadow, field' from $\sqrt{\text{ag-}}$ 'drive': Skr. áj-ra-s Gr. ἀγ-ρός Lat. ag-er (gen. ag-rī) Goth. ak-r-s.

-ro- in secondary use. temas-ro-* 'dark' (the neut. or fem. can be used as an abstract subst., see § 158) beside Skr. tám-as- n. Lith. tam-s-à f. 'darkness': Skr. tamis-ra-m támis-rā 'darkness, dark night' Avest. taṇ-ra- for tams-ra-* tansra-* 'dark'¹), Lat. teneb-rae pl. (cp. I § 570 p. 429), Mid.Dutch deemster (-es-ro) O.H.G. dinstar (-s-ro-) 'dark' with parasitic -t- (I § 580 p. 433 f.), Lith. tims-ra-s 'light bay coloured' of a horse (the root has the weak grade of ablaut).

Beside Skr. pī-van- Gr. πί-(f)ων 'fat' (adj.) and Skr. pī-vas- n. 'fat' (noun) we must recognise Idg. pī-ue-ro-* 'fat' (adj.): Skr. pīva-rā- Gr. πίε-ρός (fem. pīva-rē, πίσιρα for πίφερ-ια*), cp. also Gr. πίο-της πίο-τερος; for πιαρός see below. Similarly Gr. ἡ-μέ-ρα 'day' compared with the stem ἡ-μεν- implied in the pl. ἡ-μα-τα. For the -e- of these compound suffixes -ue-ro-me-ro- cp. Gr. φοβε-ρός 'fearful', from φόβο-, etc. (Skr. phēna-la-s 'foamy' from phēna-s 'foam'). But -ro- can hardly be secondary in Gr. πι-ε-ρός 'feather, wing' Skr. pat-a-rā- 'flying' Avest. pat-a-ra-, which is implied in *hu-patar*ta-* 'well winged', (contrast petrā* 'feather' in O.Icel. fjǫðr O.H.G. fedara); it is far more likely that here, as in Skr. pāt-a-tra-m 'wing', -e- is the 'thematic vowel' (cp. Gr. πι-έ-σθαι, πέτ-ε-σθαι); cp. also Gr. σχε-ρός 'continuous' beside σχ-ι-ρός σχ-έ-σις σχ-έ-ς. It is quite possible that originally -e-ro- was always a primary suffix, and only became secondary when it was popularly connected with nominal e-: o-stems.

Aryan. Since Idg. r and l are indistinguishable in the Aryan languages (I § 254 p. 207 f.), it is often difficult to separate -ro- and -lo-. In some cases the meaning vouches for -lo-, e. g. vr̥ṣa-lá-s 'maannikin, small man' (see § 76). Often the other languages give us a criterion, since in them Idg. l and r remained distinct.

Skr. śū-ra- Avest. sū-ra- 'strong, grand': Gr. ἄ-κῦρο- 'weak, ineffective'. Skr. jī-rā- 'lively, quick, active' Avest. pouru-jīra- 'very active' daēma-jīra- 'quick of eye, with quick eyes': Lat. vi-reō 'be fresh, strong, green', O.C.Sl. ži-rū 'pasture', Lett. dī-ras pl. f. 'banquet'. Skr. ud-rā- Avest. ud-ra- m. a water animal: Gr. ῥο-ς etc., see p. 181 above. Skr. cit-rā- 'shining, glorious, wonderful' Avest. ciṣ-ra- 'wonderful': O.H.G. heit-ar 'shining, clear, bright'. Skr. śubh-rā- 'shining, fine': Armen. surb 'pure'; no doubt the suffix is the same in Skr. śuk-rā śuk-lā- 'clear, pure' Avest. sux-ra- 'flaming, red' O.Pers. pux-ra- proper name. Skr. vāj-ra-s Indra's thunderbolt, Avest. vaz-ra- 'club' O.Pers. vazra-ka- 'great, mighty', beside Skr. vāja- Avest. vāza- m. 'strength': cp. O.H.G. wahh-ar O.Icel. vak-r 'lively, quick, fresh, alert' and Goth. vōk-r-s 'profit' O.H.G. wuohh-ar 'increase, gain, profit'. Skr. am-lā- and ambla- (I § 199 p. 167 f.) 'sour': Dutch amper 'sharp, bitter' O.Icel. apr 'sharp' O.H.G. ampfaro 'sorrel' (adj. used as subst.) no doubt for pre-Germ. am(b)-ro-*, cp. also Lat. am-āru-s.

1) If this explanation of the Avestic word is correct, we might compare the p̥ with the same sound in aiwi-pūra- from sūra-, (see Bartholomae Hdb. § 144). No other example of -mer- -ner- appears to occur, and thus there can be little serious objection to our assuming that it was just in this group of consonants that p̥ was regularly developed.

Skr. śith-irā- śith-ilā- 'loose, unsteady': Gr. καθ-αρός 'open, free, pure'. Skr. mand-irā-m 'lodging, dwelling, room, house' Gr. μάνδ-ρᾱ 'fold, pen, stall'; Skr. mand-urā 'stable' either has -urā- for -rā- (cp. however I § 290 p. 231 f.) or may be an extension of a stem mandu-*.

With Skr. pata-rā- 'flying' (see p. 182) compare drava-rā- 'running', ny-ōca-rā- 'suited to, belonging to a place'.

-ro- in secondary use: Skr. tamis-ra-, pīvarā-, see above, p. 181 f. vy-ad-varā- 'gnawing, rodent' beside ad-van- 'eating': cp. Hom. ἔδφαρ (ēd̥ap), gen. ἔδφαρος, 'food'.

Examples of Aryan words with -ra- -la-, which, so far as we can tell, may represent either -ro- or -lo-, are given in § 76 Rem. 1.

Armenian. surb, gen. srboy, 'pure' for sub-ro-s* (I § 263 p. 214): Skr. śubh-rā-s. Kirtn, gen. Ḳrtan 'sweat' for Ḳitr-an-*: Gr. ἰδ-ρός Lett. swīd-ri pl. 'sweat'. tu-r 'gift': Gr. δῶ-ρο-v O.C.Sl. da-rū 'gift'.

The -aro- of adjectives in -ar, which no doubt comes from -ro-, appears to be sometimes primary, sometimes secondary. It is primary e. g. in dal-ar 'green, fresh' (cp. Gr. θαλε-ρός), and secondary e. g. in ard-ar 'just' (cp. Skr. ṛ-tā-). mecar-em

'I exalt, praise' a denominative verb like Gr. μεγαίρω 'I rate highly, admire' (from μεγαρο-*, cp. μέγαρο-ν 'large space, chamber').

Greek. ἐλαφ-ρός 'light, brisk' · O H.G. lung-ar 'quick, active', common ground-form lŋgh-ró-s* ἀκ-ρός 'pointed' ἄκ-ρο-ν ἄκ-ρα 'point, peak': Skr. catur-aśra- 'four-cornered', O.C.Sl. os-t-rŭ 'sharp'. ζω-ρός 'unmixed' (of wine), ἐνεργής, ταχύς (Hesych.): no doubt to be compared with O.C.Sl. ja-rŭ 'amarus, iratus' Serv. jara 'heat of a stove'. ἀφ-ρός 'foam': Skr. abh-rā-m 'cloud' (cp. also Lat imber gen imbris in the i-declension), common ground-form mbh-ró-*; beside this ὄμβ-ρο-ς 'rain' with Idg b like Skr. āmb-u- 'water', see I § 469, 8 p. 346 f. κᾶπ-ρο-ς 'boar': Lat. cap-er cap-ra, O.Icel. haf-r 'he-goat'. νεφ-ρός 'kidney, testicle'. Ital. Praenest nefr-ōn-es, Lanuv. nehr-undin-es 'kidneys testicles', O H.G. mor-o 'kidney, testicle' O Icel. nŷr-a n. 'kidney' (I § 443 p. 329), common ground-form negh-ró-*. ἴδ-ρα 'seat': O.Icel. set-r n. 'seat'. λαμπ-ρός 'shining'. σαπ-ρός 'rotten'. φαιδ-ρός 'beaming, happy'. νεκ-ρός 'corpse'. τάφ-ρο-ς 'ditch, trench'. κόπ-ρο-ς 'dung'. τέφ-ρα 'ashes'.

Adjectives were formed in proethnic Greek in -η-ρός (a fertile suffix) from verbs in -έω, as πονη-ρός 'toilsome' from πονέομαι, ὀκνη-ρός 'slack' from ὀκνέω, ὀλισθη-ρός 'slippery' from the fut. ὀλισθήσω (pres. ὀλισθάνω).

-pro-. ἰαρός beside ἱρός see p. 181 above. λιπ-αρός 'fat': cp. Skr. rip-rā-m 'smear, stain, impurity' σιν-αρός beside σιν-δ-ρός (for the δ, see I § 204 p. 170) 'harmful', and other examples

-ro- is secondary in Att. (Aristoph) οἰζυ-ρός 'woeful' from οἰζύς, gen. οἰζύος 'woe, and similarly in λιγυ-ρός beside λγνύς 'clear, ringing' and μωλν-ρός beside μῶλν-ς 'enfeebled', unless these are derived from λιγυλο-ς* μωλυλο-ς* (cp. παχν-λός § 76) by dissimilation (I § 266 p. 215). Further, in many adjectives in -ε-ρός; e. g. φοβε-ρός 'terrible' from φόβος, δροσε-ρός 'dewy' from δρόσος, whose termination -ερός was regarded as an independent suffix, and added to other than o-stems, as σμερό-ς 'shady' from σμεῖν, κρατερός 'strong' from κράτος n.; cp. p. 182.

-ro- can be considered either a secondary or a primary suffix in adjectives in -α-ρο-, as ὀδυνηρός Dor. ὀδυνᾶρός 'painful' beside ὀδύνη Dor. ὀδύνᾱ and ὀδυνάω, ἀσηρό-ς Lesb. ἄσᾱρο-ς 'causing disgust, disagreeable' beside ἄση Lesb. ἄσᾱ and ἀσάω, and in those in -ῶ-ρο-, as Hom. ὀιζῦρό-ς 'woeful' beside ὀιζύς and ὀιζύω (Att. ὀιζύρο-ς, see p. 184 above), ισχυρό-ς 'strong' beside ισχύ-ς and ισχύω.

Remark. The relations of -ρο- and -ρο- are not quite clear in such instances as ιερό-ς ιερό-ς (Skr. īh-irā-s); σμερό-ς (from σμεῖν): σμερό-ς; πιερό-ς (Skr. pīvard-): πιερό-ς (see Morph. Unt. II 241 ff.) I should compare πιαρό-ς (and also πιάλο-ς) with πιάλω for πῖμῃ-χῶ*, exactly as μιαρό-ς 'defiled' is to be derived from μιάλω, so that the relation is the same as that of θουμμο-τό-ς (1 e θουμμο-το-ς*).¹ θουμμάτω. Then new formations arose, ιερό-ς (modelled upon πιερό-ς σμερό-ς) on the one hand, σμερό-ς (modelled upon μιαρό-ς πιερό-ς) on the other

At the same time in words where an l occurs before the suffix -ro-, it must be remembered that the latter may have come from -lo-, cp. lu-crum for lu-clum* I § 269 p. 217. Sabin. cuprum 'bonum' Cupra 'bona dea', Umbr. Cubrar gen. 'Bonae deae', beside Lat. cup-iō.

No certain examples of -pro- can be found; perhaps it may be traced in Lat. camur camura, cp. Gr. καμάρα 'vault'.

-e-ro- occurs in Lat. liber libera O.Lat. loeber-tātem, which is usually compared with Gr. ἐλευθ-ερος (see I § 49 p. 42, § 65 p. 52), puer gen. puerī, gener gen. generī.

The relation of Lat. amā-ru-s: Skr. am-lā- 'sour' is obscure.

'stack, piled up heap of corn', √ skeyp- skeyb- 'shove, push': Lith. skub-rū-s 'hasty'. Goth. skū-ra f. 'shower, storm' O.H.G. scū-r m. 'shower'. O.H.G. zunt-ra zunt-ara f. -tro- pr. Germ. -ura- occurs perhaps in O.H.G. ebur A.S. eofor O.Icel. joforr (pl. jofrar) 'boar': cp. Lat. ap-er gen. ap-rī, O.C.Sl. vep-rī (stem vep-r-je-) 'boar'. -e-ro- is even more difficult to identify in Germanic.

-ro- is secondary in O.H.G. dinstar Mid.Dutch deemster 'dark': Skr. tamis-ra- etc., see above, p. 181 f.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. asz-t-rū-s asz-ru-s, instead of -ra-s*, O.C.Sl. os-t-rū 'sharp' (for the -t- see I § 544 p. 398 f., § 545 p. 400): Gr. ᾠ-ρο-ς etc., see p. 183 f. above. Lith. pū-rai pl. 'wheat' O.C.Sl. py-ro n. 'spelt': Gr. πῦ-ρῶ-ς 'wheat'. Lith. denomin. sėvit-r-inėti

O.C.Sl. da-rū 'gift': Armen. tu-r Gr. δῶ-ρο-ν 'gift'.

Lith. bud-rū-s instead of -ra-s* O.C.Sl. būd-rū 'watchful'. -ra-s is seldom kept in adjectives in Lithuanian (e. g. tik-ra-s 'suitable'); they generally passed over into the u-declension; cp. § 107. In O.C.Sl. we have only a few adjectives, cp. besides those quoted above, pīstrū 'gay' for pīs-rū* (like os-t-rū) from ✓peik-.

Lith. stuñb-ra-s 'aurochs'. stamb-ra-s and stemb-r-ỹ-s 'stalk'. gais-ra-s gaus-rà 'distant gleam on the horizon', beside gis-tu 'extinguor' (cp. Leskien, Der Ablaut der Wurzelsilben im Lit. 65). O.C.Sl. pi-rū 'convivium'. ra-rū 'sonitus'. mě-ra 'measure'. reb-ro 'rib' (beside O.H.G. rippa n. 'rib', pr Germ. rib-za-*).

-ro- in secondary use: Lith. tims-ra-s 'light bay coloured' (of a horse). Skr. tamis-ra- etc., see p 181 f. above. Lith. vidurỹ-s 'middle', no doubt = vidu-r-za- a derivative of vidù-s 'the inside', similarly duburỹ-s 'depth' from dubù-s 'deep and hollow'. It seems to me doubtful whether we should compare with these the -ro- of Lith. nas-raĩ pl. 'throat' O.C.Sl. noz-dri pl. 'nostrils' (beside Low Germ. nuster 'nostril' and Idg. nas-* 'nose'), and of O.C.Sl. mez-dra 'fine skin on a recent wound, the fleshy part of anything' (beside měso 'flesh'), cp. I § 585 p. 439.

§ 75. The Suffixes -ero- -erā- and -tero- -terā-, forming Comparatives.

These are closely parallel to the superlative -mo- -ymo- (§ 72, 2 p. 166 ff.) and -tymo- (§ 73 p. 177 ff.).

-(t)ero- shows a close etymological relation to the adverbs in -(t)er and (loc.) -(t)er-i, e. g. upero-* beside Gr. ὑπὲρ Skr. upári, en-tero-* beside Lat. in-ter Skr. antári-kṣa-. On the other hand -(t)ero- is often connected with -ro- (see § 74). Per Persson's suggestions for its etymology (Studia Etymologica, Upsala 1886,

p. 94 ff.) are more extensive, but for the most part exceedingly bold.

Beside -(t)ero- is found -(t)oro-, e. g. Avest. ka-tara- Goth. hva-þar O.C.Sl. ko-tory-jŕi, -(t)ro-, e. g. Skr. an-trā-m Gr. ἀλλό--τρο-ς Lat. in-trō O.C.Sl. ję-tro, and -(t)ro-, e. g. Gr. ρε(F)-αρό-ς A.S. *eafora*¹⁾ The original distribution of these different grades of ablaut can no longer be traced; the difference of accent however should be noticed, e. g. Skr. án-tara- an-trā-an-tári-kṣa-.

-tero- shows the greatest fertility in Aryan and Greek, where it was a regular comparative suffix for adjectives.

Indo-Germanic. upero-*, beside Skr. upāri 'above' Gr. ὑπέρ, ὑπεῖρ (i. e. ὑπερκ*, see I § 645, 2 p. 489) Lat. s-uper O.H.G. ubir 'over' (compare further Skr. úpa 'towards' Gr. ὑπό 'under' etc.): Skr. úpara- 'nearer, behind, under' Avest. upara- 'upper', Gr. ὑπερό-ς ὑπερό-ν 'pestle' ὑπέροα 'upper rope', Lat. s-uperu-s s-uprā s-uprē-mu-s, A.S. ufer-ra 'upper' (-ra = Goth. -iza); cp. superl. Skr. upamá-s Lat. s-ummu-s. q̌dhero-* 'lower' beside Avest. adauri 'under' and Skr. adhás 'below': Skr. ádharma- 'lower', Goth. undarō adv. 'underneath' O.H.G. undaro undero 'lower'; cp. superl. Skr. adhamá-s.

en-tero-* 'inner', subst. n. 'intestines', beside Lat. in-ter Skr. antári-kṣa- 'that which lies in between heaven and earth, sky': Skr. ántara-s 'inner, dearer, more intimate' antrā-m antrá-m 'intestine', Armen. ęnder-k pl. 'intestines' (possibly borrowed from the Greek), Gr. ἐντέρο-ν 'intestine', Lat. inter-ior intrā intrō, O.Ir. eter etir 'between', O.C.Sl. ję-tro n. 'liver', cp. superl. Skr. ántama-s Lat. intimu-s. ni-tero-* 'lower': Skr. ni-tardm 'downwards, down', O.H.G. nidaro adj. 'lower'; cp. superl. Avest. nutema- A.S. neodēn-est. Avest fra-tara- Gr. πρό-τερο-ς 'former, earlier', beside Osc. pruter-pan 'πρότερον ἤ, priusquam'; compare further Avest. fra Gr. πρό 'before'; cp. superl. Avest. fra-tema-.

1) -tŕ (op. -ter beside -tero-) seems to occur in Skr. sani-tár 'beside, except, without' Gr. ἀ-τάε 'sed' O.H.G. sun-tar 'by itself, especially, but, however' beside Skr. sanu-tár 'away, aside' Gr. ἀ-τεε 'without' (is the irregular spiritus lenis in ἀτάε and ἀτεε due to the influence of ἀντάε and ἀνυ?) A.S. sun-dir 'except, without'; cp also Goth. sun-drō 'separated, alone'. The root-syllable of the Greek and Germanic words is sy-*. Cp. Bugge, Beizenberger's Beitr. III 120 f.

go-tero-* from the stem go-* 'who?': Skr. ka-tarā- Avest. *ka-tāra-*¹⁾ Gr. πότερο-ς 'which of two?' Umbr. podruh-pei 'utroque', Goth. hwa-þar 'which of two?' Lith. ka-trā-s 'which of two? which? who?' O.C.Sl. ko-teri-jŕ ko-tori-jŕ 'who?'; cp. superl. Skr. ka-tamā-s, Lat. quo-tumu-s.

It can hardly be an accidental coincidence that several Indo-Germanic languages have a word for 'left' which shows the suffix -tero- added to a stem formed with the comparative suffix -jes -is- (§ 135), and contains the idea of 'goodness' (cp. Gr. ἐπίωμιο-ς 'left'). Avest. vairyas-tāra-, beside vara- 'desirable, excellent' compar. Skr. vārīyas-. Gr. ἄρισ-τερό-ς, beside ἄρισ-το-ς 'best' ἀρείων 'better' (not connected with Ar. vara-). O.H.G. winis-tar, beside wini 'beloved' wunsc 'wish, desire'; cp. also, from the same root, Skr. vāma-s 'left', identical with vāmā-s 'worthy, dear, good', from a ground-form uṇ-mo-s*, √ uṇ-. Lat. sinis-ter, which should surely be compared with Skr. sān-īyas- 'gaining more' √ sen- 'to reach a goal (which is striven after or longed for), to succeed' (see Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXIV 271 f.), and not with senior senu-m (when the intermediate stage of meaning would be 'weak, incapable'); for the i of the first syllable cp. simili-s. One at least therefore of these formations must date from protoethnic Indo-Germanic, and at the time of the separation of the peoples must have still retained its original meaning as well as the secondary one of 'left', and so become the model for the rest. Cp. the Author, Rhein. Mus. XLIII p. 399 ff.

Aryan. Skr. ādḥ-ara- Avest. aḍ-ara- 'lower', see p. 189 above. Skr. āp-ara- 'more distant, later, smaller, other', ap-arā-m adv. 'later' Avest. ap-ara- 'the other' O.Pers. ap-ara-m adv. 'afterwards', beside Skr. āpa 'from, away': A.S. af-era eafora O.Sax. aþaro m. 'successor, offspring' (Goth. afar 'after' O.H.G. abur avar 'again, anew; on the other hand, however'); with which compare O.Pers. apa-tara-m 'further' and Goth. af-tarō adv. 'backwards' aftra adv. 'back, anew, further' O.H.G. aftaro m. 'hinder part' A.S. æftra adj. 'hinder'. Skr. āv-ara-s 'lower' Avest. aora adv. 'down, off' (cp. Avest. naotara- = Skr. navatara- compar. from Skr. nāva- 'new'), cp. Skr. āva 'off, downwards'.

1) The quantity of the ā in the syllable ka-, if the law given in I § 78 p. 69 is correct, might be explained by reference to a by-form katra-* in protoethnic Aryan (cp. the Ital. and Lith. forms).

Skr. ān-tara- Avest. an-tara- 'inner' Skr. an-trā-m an-trā-m 'intestine': Gr. ἐν-τερο-ν etc., see p. 189 above. Skr. ūt-tara- 'higher, upper' from úd 'up, out': Gr. ὑπερ-ος 'later' ὑστρο-ς 'belly'; beside this we have Skr. ud-arā- ūd-ara- 'belly, swelling' Gr. ὄδ-ερο-ς 'belly' Hesych. (probably Cyprian, with o = u as in μοχοῖ = μυχοῖ and other words), O.H.G. ūzro 'outer'. -tara-m is especially frequent in Aryan as an adverbial termination. Skr. vi-tará-m Avest. vī-tare-m 'further' (in Avestic also an adj.) beside Skr. vi 'away, apart': Goth. vi-þra adv. 'against, with-' (in composition); compare also Lat. vi-tr-icu-s 'stepfather', the termination being like that of O.H.G. ent(i)rig 'strange' = antrizá-s* from ander 'other'. Skr. parā-tará-m paras-tará-m 'further away' from pārā parás 'away, forth'. Instead of this later Sanskrit has generally -tarā-m, as uccāś-tarām 'higher' from uccāś 'high', śānāś-tarām 'more softly, more gradually', from śānāś 'softly, gradually'.

Skr. ka-tará- Avest. ka-tāra- 'which of two?': Gr. νό-τερο-ς etc., see p. 190 above. Skr. ya-tará- Avest. ya-tāra- 'which (of two)' (rel.), beside Skr. yá-s 'qui'. Avest. a-tāra- from the stem a- 'that'.

-tara- was also the regular comparative ending of adjectives in Aryan where -tama- formed the superlative. The same rules of formation hold as for -tama-, see § 73 p. 178. Skr. amā-tara-s 'more raw' from amā-s: Gr. ἀμώ-τερο-ς 'more raw, more rude'; Skr. yajñiya-tara- 'more deserving of reverence'; Avest. aka-tara- 'worse' from aka-, srīrō-tara- 'nobler' from srīra-. Skr. śrēṣṭha-tara- 'more excellent' from superl. śrēṣṭha-, garīyas-tara- 'heavier, weightier' beside compar. garīyas-, Avest. vairiyas-tara- 'left' see p. 190 above; cp. also Avest. fratarō-tara- from fratara- 'more prominent'. Skr. duḥkha-tara- 'more painful, more unpleasant', and as subst. n. 'greater pain', from duḥkhā-m 'pain'. Avest. ušas-tara- 'easterly' from ušah- 'red of the morning', daoša-tara- 'westerly' from daoša- 'evening'.

Armenian. nor, gen. noroy, 'new': cp. Gr. νεαρός 'young, youthful' ground-form neμ-rró-s*, see p. 189 above; it is doubtful whether neμ-rró-* was also the ground-form of the Armenian word. Gen. mer 'our' jer 'your' (nom. mē-ē 'we' du-ē 'ye'): cp. O.Ir. possess. ar n- 'our' far n- 'your', Goth. unsar 'our' izvar 'your'; and further Gr. ἡμέ-τερο-ς ὑμέ-τερο-ς, Lat. nos-ter ves-ter.

ἐντερ-ē pl. 'intestines' cannot be quoted without suspicion, as it may perhaps have been borrowed from the Greek (ἐν-τερα), cp. p. 189.

Greek. ὑπ-ερο-ς 'pestle'. Skr. ūpara- etc., see p. 189 above. ὀδ-ερο-ς 'belly': Skr. udarā- etc., see p. 191 above. ἐν-εροι 'inferi' (properly those within, those dwelling within the earth) from ἐν 'in', cp. also ἐνέρ-τερο-ς νέρ-τερο-ς 'deeper' beside ἐνερ-θε 'apud inferos' and ἐν-τερο-ν 'intestine'. νεαρός 'young, youthful'. cp. Armen. nor (see above) and Lat. noverca meaning ἡ νεαρικῇ*.

ἐν-τερο-ν 'intestine', see p. 189 above. ὑστερο-ς 'later'. ῥστρο-ς 'belly': Skr. uttara-, see p. 191 above. πρό-τερο-ς 'earlier': Avest. fra-tara-, see p. 190 above. Greek has many new formations modelled upon old comparatives derived, like these, from adverbs. ὑπέρ-τερο-ς 'higher' from ὑπέρ. κατώ-τερο-ς 'lower' from κάτω. ὑψί-τερο-ς 'higher' from ὑψι. παροι-τερο-ς 'more prominent' beside πάραι-θε 'before'. μυχοί-τερο-ς 'further back in the corner' (only μυχοί-τατο-ς is actually found) from μυχοῖ 'in the corner, inside'. παλαι-τερο-ς 'older' from πάλαι παλαι-τερο-ς was referred to παλαιός and hence arose the forms γεραι-τερο-ς 'older' from γεραῖος, σχολαί-τερο-ς 'more idle' from σχοლაῖος, and when -αιτερο-ς further came to be regarded as an independent suffix, it produced the forms ἡσυχ-αίτερο-ς 'quieter' from ἡσυχος, ιδι-αίτερο-ς 'more especially one's own' from ἴδιος, and many more. With the adverbial termination -τέρω: ἀνω-τέρω from ἀνω 'up', προσω-τέρω from πρόσω 'forwards', ἐγγυ-τέρω from ἐγγύς 'near', and many more.

πί-τερο- 'which of two?': Skr. ka-tarā-s etc., see p. 191 above. Dor. Boeot. etc. ἄτερο- 'one of two, the other' ground-form sem-tero-* from sem-* Gr. εἷς 'unus' (cp. ἄ-παξ etc.); the Attic form ἕτερο- no doubt arose through an assimilation to the vowel of έν-, just as ἐκατόν 'a hundred' replaced ἄκατον* for the same reason.¹⁾ ἐκά-τερο- 'each of two' beside ἐκάς, cp. Wackernagel in Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 150 f.

ἡμέ-τερο- 'our' ὑμέ-τερο- 'your': cp. Lat. nos-ter ves-ter.

The form -tro- occurs in ἄλλό-τρο-ιο- 'belonging to another, strange'; tis extension by the suffix -ιο- is no doubt due to the form of its antithesis ἰδιο-.

-τερο- was also the regular comparative termination in adjectives whose superlative was formed in -τατο- (§ 81). ἰμώ-τερο- 'more raw, more rude' from ἰμός: Skr. amā-tara-s. κουφό-τερο- 'lighter' from κούφος. γλυκύ-τερο- 'sweeter' from γλυκύ-. πίω-τερο- 'fatter' from πίων -ονος, ἐπιλήσμο-τερο- 'more forgetful' from ἐπιλήσμων -ονος, cp. πίω-της and ἰμώ-θετο-ν (cp. § 12 p. 27, § 29 p. 49). μυλάν-τερο- 'blacker', from μέλας -ανος. χαριέστερο- 'more charming, more gracious', i. e. χαρι-φετ + τερο-*, from χαρίεις -εντος, -φετ- took the place of the regular phonetic -φατ- = Idg. -myt- (§ 127). ἀχαρίστερο- 'more ungraceful' i. e. ἀχαριτ + τερο-*, from ἄχαρις -ιτος. ἀληθέστερο- 'truer' from ἀληθής neut. -ές.

Comparatives with ω like σοφιώ-τερο- 'wiser', from σοφός, were formed from adverbs in -ω (cp. the Germanic comparatives in -ðz-en formed from the instr. sing. in -ð § 81, and the Slavonic comparatives in -ě-jъ which came from the instr. sing. in -ě § 135), and their use became gradually restricted to words in which the ω followed a short syllable. A few remaining examples of the freer use occur in literature, as οἰζυρώτερος (Hom.), δυσποιμώτερος (Eur.) and several others. The -ο- of κυνώτερος στινότηρος in later Attic is a reminiscence of the early Attic forms κυνφό-* στινφό-*, see p. 135 footnote.

1) A different explanation of ἄτερο- ἕτερο- is given by Per Persson, Studia etymol. p. 103; but his arguments do not convince me.

-ωτερο-ς was sometimes grafted upon other classes of stems, e. g. ἐπιχαριτ-ώτερο-ς 'more charming' from ἐπίχαρις.

The termination -εστερο-ς (ἀληθ-έσ-τερο-ς) was very largely extended in use as an independent suffix, e. g. εὐδαιμον-έστερο-ς 'happier' from εὐδαιμων, ἄκρᾱτ-έσ-τερο-ς 'more unmixed' from ἄκρᾱτος, ἐρρωμεν-ίσ-τερο-ς 'stronger' from ἐρρωμένος.

Comparative suffixes were often combined. Parallel to ἀρ-ω-τερό-ς (see p. 190) arose λαλ-ίσ-τερο-ς 'more talkative' from λάλο-ς, κλεπτ-ίσ-τερο-ς 'more thievish' from κλέπτη-ς, βλᾶκ-ίσ-τερο-ς 'lazier', from βλάξ, etc., the spread of these double suffixes was furthered by the similar sound of the termination of ἀχαρίστερο-ς = ἀγαμτ+τερο-ς*. ἀμεινó-τερο-ς from ἀμείνων 'better', ἀρειό-τερο-ς from ἀρείων 'better' etc. κυντερώ-τερο-ς from κύν-τερο-ς 'more like a dog, more impudent', ὑπερτερώ-τερο-ς from ὑπέρ-τερο-ς 'upper', προτεροί-τερο-ς from προ-τερο-ς 'earlier' (cp. Avest. fratarō-tara- p. 191), with other examples.

Comparatives are frequently formed from substantives. κύν-τερο-ς from κύν 'dog'. βασιλέν-τερο-ς 'more royal' from βασιλέν-ς 'king'. δημό-τερο-ς 'belonging to the people' from δημό-ς 'people', ὄρέσ-τερο-ς 'of the mountains' from ὄρος 'mountain' and the like, where the comparative suffix, just as in ἡμί-τερο-ς Avest. ušas-tara O.H.G. ni-daro, only served to contrast the words with their opposites (cp. § 139).

Italic. Lat. s-uperu-s s-uprā s-uprē-mu-s Umbr. subra 'supra' Osc. supruis 'supern', beside Lat. s-uper, with the by-form s-up-ter (written subter), like O.H.G. afar beside Goth. afar (for the s- of s-ub s-uper see I § 568 p. 425): Skr. úpara-s etc., see p. 189 above. For Lat. inferu-s infra, which are usually connected with Skr. ádharma- Goth. undarō, see § 72 p. 167, under Aryan.

'posteriores' Osc. pústiris 'posterius', from Ital. pos post-t; it is perhaps better to analyse the word post-eru-s. Lat. con-trā contrō-versia Osc. contrud 'contra', beside Lat. cum Osc. con. Umbr. hon-dra 'infra' Osc. hu[n]-truis 'inferis', cp. Lat. humu-s, and Umbr. superl. hon-domu § 73 p. 179. Lat. nos-ter nostra, ves-ter vestra, Umbr. vestra abl. 'vestra', (Osc. nistrus 'nostros' (according to Bugge; 'propiores' according to Bücheler) cp. Gr. ἡμέ-τερο-ς ὑμέ-τερο-ς.

Lat. dex-ter dextera and dextra, Umbr. destram-e 'in dextram': cp. O.Ir. Dechter a woman's name (Zimmer, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 214) and Gr. δεξι-τερό-ς 'dexter' (formed like ἐπι-τερό-ς). Umbr. nertru abl. 'sinistro': Gr. νέρι-τερό-ς ἐνέρι-τερό-ς 'deeper' beside ἐνερ-θς (cp. p. 192); as to the meaning 'left', see Bucheler Umbrica p. 76 f.

Here perhaps should also be classed palūs-ter, from palūd-, Nemes-tr-īnu-s, from nemus, Volsc. Veles-trom 'Veliternorum', beside Gr. ἐλός 'low ground'; so also Lat. campester terrester silvester and the like, which are to be compared with the Gr. ἐνδαμνον-έστερος (p. 194).

Combinations of comparative suffixes. -is-tero-: Lat. sin-is-ter -tra see p. 190, Lat. magister magistrī Umbr. mestru fem. 'maior', beside Lat. magis Osc. mais 'magis'; Lat. minister ministrī Osc. minstreis 'minoris', beside Lat. minus; cp. § 135. Lat. inter-ior dexter-ior and the like, Osc. pústir-is. Lat. suprē-mu-s extrē-mu-s and the like (cp. § 72 p. 168) and postrē-m-issimu-s (cp. § 73 p. 179).

Old Irish. ar n- far n- poss. 'our, your', orig. gen. pl.

in-a-thar Corn. enederen 'intestines' O.Ir. eter etir 'between': cp. Skr. an-trā-m etc., see above p. 189. ōchtar uachtar n. cech-tar 'each of two' from cech adj. 'each'. nech-tar 'one of two' from nech 'one'.

-ther is also found side by side with -iu (§ 135) in adjectival comparative forms, yet it is comparatively much rarer than in Aryan and Greek: luathi-ther from luath 'quick', libri-ther from lebor 'long' and so forth. It occurs also in comparatives formed from substantives: Mid.Ir. mētither 'larger' from mēt f. 'size'.

-is-tero-. sinser 'older, oldest', ground-form sen-is-tero-*, cp. sin-uu 'older' Lat. sen-ior. ōser 'younger, youngest' ground-form ia'u-is-tero-*, cp. ōa 'younger' Skr. yāv-īyas- yāv-iṣ-ṭha-.

Germanic. Goth. uf-arō 'over' A.S. uf-er-ra 'upper': Skr. ūp-ara- etc., see p. 189 above. Goth. uns-ar 'our' fem. unsara, izv-ar 'your' fem. izvara, O.H.G. unsēr uwēr; unsro (nom. pl. fem.) unsrēm (dat. pl.) and the like, show the West-Germanic syncope. cp. Armen. mer jer, O.Ir. ar n-, far n-.

Goth. vi-pra O.H.G. wi-dar 'against, with-' (in composition):

1) "ar n- and far n- no doubt stand for (s)arom* (s)arom*, since s disappears before a vowel which precedes the accent (cp. ut = sentī*). We find in Mid.Ir. sar, accented, in Ps. 2, but nar in Ps. 1. I suppose sarom* sarom* to have arisen in proclitic positions, from forms like the Goth. unsar izar, by loss of the initial sonant (uns- for us-), just as Romance lo came from illum, loro from illorum." Thurneysen.

 superl. hin-dema. Goth. af-tarō 'from behind' aftra 'back' O.H.G.
aftro aftaro aftero 'hinder part' beside Goth. afar. Several ad-verbal terminations derived from -tero- show considerable fertility,
 e. g. Goth. hi-drē 'hither' (Lat. ci-trō ci-trā) jáin-drē 'thither', jáin-prō 'thence', alja-prō 'from some other place' dala-prō 'from beneath'. With regard to several adverbs in -ar, like Goth.
af-ar hin-dar, we cannot tell whether they are acc. sing. neut.
 (cp. Skr. prataram Gr. πρότερον Lat. iterum) or are parallel to forms like Gr. ὕπερ Skr. upári.

Goth. hva-þar O.H.G. hwedar wedar (wederemo wederan) syncope) 'other': Lith. añ-tra-s 'other'.
 'which of two?': Skr. ka-tará-s etc., see p. 190 above. Goth.

Combination of comparative suffixes. O.H.G. win-is-tar beside unt-aro, for-drōro beside for-dro and the like, A.S. ūt-

-er-ra beside ūt-ra, æfter-ra beside æft-ra, etc. O.H.G. superl.
unt-arōsto from unt-aro, for-darōsto from for-dro fordaro, af-tristo from af-tro and the like.

Remark O.Icel. aus-tr 'east' O.H.G. ūs-ta ūs-tara f 'Easter' ōstar
 'eastwards' (ōstar. ūstana = hintar : hantana), A.S. eāstra eāsterra 'more easterly', also Goth. ōstro-gotha cp. Lat. aus-ter aust-āli-s, and further Avest. ušus-tara- 'easterly'. Should we consider the Germanic and the Latin word as the extension of a noun-stem aus-to-* by -ero-, or as derivatives in -tero- from an adverb aus-, or as the regular phonetic representatives of a form aus-(e)s-t(e)ro-? In Germanic the names for the other quarters of the heavens are exactly parallel to the word for east, so far as their inflexional part is concerned, cp. e. g. O.Icel. vestr norðr sudr, A.S. compar. westerra norderra suderra. norðr appears to be connected with Gr. νέτερος Umbr. nestro-. In proper names we find also Ausi- Auri- beside Austro- Austar-, and Wese- Wisi- (Wese-gothae Wisi- gothae) beside Westar-.

Balto-Slavonic. -ero- cannot be identified with certainty.
 Perhaps in O.C.Sl. sěv-erŭ Lith. sziau-r-ỹ-s 'north wind'?

O.C.Sl. je-tro 'liver' from Idg. en* 'in', and beside it a-tro-ba

f. 'intestines, belly' a-tr-ī adv. 'inside' beside O.C.Sl. vū for on*, cp. p. 189. O.C.Sl. ju-tro u-tro 'morning' loc. jutrě utrě 'tomorrow', from ju u Lith. jaũ 'iam' (whence also O.C.Sl. junũ Lith. jáuna-s 'young', see § 66 p. 149).

Lith. ka-trà-s 'which of two, which, who?' O.C.Sl. ko-tery-jĩ ko-tory-jĩ 'who?': Skr. ka-tará- etc., see p. 190 above. Lith. añ-tra-s 'other, second' fem. antrà: Goth. an-þar; in O.C.Sl. vũ-torũ, which corresponds in meaning, the form of the root is unexplained. O.C.Sl. je-terũ 'any one', from the pronominal stem je-: Skr. ya-tará-, relat. 'which of two'.

§ 76. The Suffix -lo- -lā-, -llo- -llā-.¹⁾

For the variation between -llo- and -lo- see I § 287 p. 229).

In the proethmic and later periods it is both primary and secondary, forming adjectives and substantives. In its primary use -lo- serves especially to form nouns of the agent and instrument, as a secondary suffix it is used especially to form diminutives. In the latter use -lo- was exceedingly fertile in Latin, Germanic and Lithuanian.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. tu-rá- 'mighty, strong' tū-la-m 'panicle, tuft, reed, cotton' tū-lā 'cotton plant', Gr. τῦ-λο-ς τῦ-λη (also τῖ-λη) 'swelling, lump', Lith. tū-la-s 'so many', i. e. 'a good number of' O.C.Sl. ty-lũ 'neck', ✓tey- 'tumere'. Skr. ci-rá- 'long', ci-rá-m 'delay, delaying', Goth. hvei-la 'while, time'. Armen. da-l da-l 'beestings', Gr. θῆ-λη 'mother's breast', Lat. fēlare, O.Ir. de-l 'teat', O.H.G. ti-la 'woman's breast', Lett. dē-l-s (stem dē-la-) 'son' Lith. pirm-dē-l-ẽ 'one that has borne a child for the first time', ✓dhē(i)- 'neck', cp. also Gr. θῆ-λο-ς 'suckling, female' Skr. dha-rũ-ṣ 'sucking' with -lu- (§ 107). Gr. Lac. ἐλλᾶ 'seat' for ēd-lā* (I § 364 p. 277), Lat. sella for sed-lā* (I § 369

p. 280), Goth. sit-l-s 'seat', O.C.Sl. selo 'fundus' (Lower Sorb. sedlo 'seat' Upper Sorb. sydlo 'abode' Czech sed-l-ák 'peasant') for sed-lo-* (I § 548 p. 402). Idg. ghes-lo-* ghes-l-ijo-*: Skr. sa-hāsra-m 'thousand' sa-hasrīya-s 'thousandfold', Gr. δεκά-χίλοι 'ten thousand' Lesb. χέλλιοι Dor. χήλιοι Att. χίλιοι 'thousand' from χες-lo-* (I § 565 p. 423); for the ι of δεκά-χίλοι and χίλιοι I can now refer to Thurneysen, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 353.

Gr. Hom. ομίχ-λη Lith. mig-lā myg-lā (also myg-lā with the suffix -iā-) O.C.Sl. mīg-la 'mist'. Skr. aj-irā- 'mobile, quick', compare Lat. ag-ili-s (transferred from the o- to the i- declension), which may represent either aġ-llo-* or aġ-lo-*.

In Italic, Germanic and Balto-Slavonic we frequently find -s-lo-, which was taken from forms where -s- was the so-called root-determinative, like Lat. āla for axlā* (cp. axilla) O.Sax. ahsla O.H.G. ahsala 'shoulder' beside Skr. ākṣa-s O.H.G. ahsa Lat. axi-s Lith. aszi-s 'axle' for aġ + s-* from aġ-* 'drive, set in motion'; O.H.G. dehsala O.C.Sl. tesla 'axe' beside Avest. taša 'axe' Gr. τόξον 'bow' O.H.G. dehsa 'hatchet, trowel' from teġ + s-*.

In the same way were formed e. g. Lat. vēlu-m 'sail' (cp. vexillum-m) O.C.Sl. veslo 'oar' from ueġh + slo-* ('means of moving'), √ ueġh- 'vehere'

-lo- as a secondary suffix. Skr. nābhīla-m 'puddenda, navel', Gr. ομφαλό-ς 'navel, boss of a shield', Lat. umbil-ēcu-s, O.Ir. imbl-iu 'navel', O.H.G. nabolo O.Icel. nafla m. 'navel', beside Skr. nābhi-ṣ 'nave, navel', Lat. umbō 'boss of a shield', O.H.G. naba 'nave', Pruss. nabi-s 'nave, navel' Lett. nabba 'navel'. Skr. tūm-ra- 'swelling, fat, strong', Lat. tumulu-s, O.Icel. pumall m. 'thumb', beside Skr. tū-tu-mā- Avest. tū-ma- 'strong, powerful' etc., see § 72 p. 171. Skr. bahu-lā- 'thick' Gr. παχυν-λό-ς 'rather thick', beside Skr. bahú-ṣ Gr. παχύ-ς 'thick'. Skr. anaku-rā-s 'a swelling, tumour', Gr. ογκύ-λο-ς 'swollen, proud' (whence ογκύλλομαι) ἀγκύ-λο-ς 'crooked' (older accentuation ōγκυλό-ς* āγκυλό-ς*, see I § 676, 4 p. 542 f.); we should perhaps also compare O.H.G. angul O.Icel. engull m. 'fishhook, angle', pr. Germ. anogulā-*, cp. Skr. anaku-śā-s 'hook'. The diminutival sense is clearly marked e. g. in Lat. porculu-s porcul-ia O.H.G. farhel-i n. Lith.

paršēl-i-s 'little pig, sucking pig' compared with porcu-s farah pařsa-s 'pig', Lat. rotula Lith. ratēl-i-s 'little wheel' beside rota rāta-s 'wheel' (the diminutival sense of the l-derivative in Lithuanian is certainly older than the addition of the further suffix -iō-, although the latter is also a diminutive suffix, see § 63, 2). Here belong also pet-names like Skr. bhānu-la- Gr. Θρασύ-λο-ς O Ir. Tuath-al Goth. Vulfi-la Pruss. Butil, for which see below.

The termination -e-lo- is exceedingly common and certainly dates from the proethnic period of Indo-Germanic, but in many cases we cannot tell whether the stem to which it is added is verbal or nominal.

Aryan. Skr. sthū-rā- sthū-lā- 'massive, strong, rough, stupid': Gr. στῦ-λο-ς 'pillar'. Skr. has-rā- 'laughing', with which Windisch would compare Gr. χεῖλο-ς n. 'lip' for χῑσ-λ-ος*. Avest. tiγ-ra- 'point' Goth. stik-l-s, see below. Avest. stax-ra- 'strong, firm': O.H.G. stah-al, see below. Skr. sa-hāśra-m Avest. ha-zanəre-m 'thousand': Gr. Lesb. χέλλ-ιοι, see p. 199 above. Skr. gō-la-s 'ball', gō-la-m gō-lā 'spherical water-vessel': Gr. γαν-λό-ς 'pail, vessel' γαῦ-λο-ς 'trading ship' (O.H.G. chīol and O.Icel. kjöll 'ship' can hardly be compared with this group of words; their vocalism seems to shew that they come from a different root). Avest. zaf-ra- n. (beside zafar) 'mouth, throat': O.Sax. kaf-l A.S. ceaf-l m. 'jaw' (of animals).

-lō-. Skr. ajirā-s; see above. suš-irā-s śuṣ-irā-s (see I § 557, 4 p. 413) 'hollow, a reed', n. 'hole, wind instrument': Gr. αὐλ-ός 'reed, pipe, flute' for αυασ-λο-ς*. Skr. āṅgira-, name of divine beings who were regarded as mediators between men and gods: Gr. ἄγγελος 'messenger': the g of the Skr. form implies that the original form was not āṅga-lo-* (cp. Skr. āni-la-s 'wind' Gr. ἄνε-μος for anə-*, beside Skr. āni-mi), but āṅg-lō-*, see I § 445 p. 331, § 450 p. 333 f. We should no doubt add tum-ura- tum-ula- 'loud, noisy' beside tum-ala-, with the same meaning (cp. tyṛpā-la beside tyṛp-rā- 'restless, anxious'): Lat. tumul-tu-s: the word is usually connected, and perhaps rightly, with Skr. tām-ra- 'swelling puffed up' (see p. 198 above.)

-lo in secondary use. Skr. nabhīla-m, tūm-ra (ultimately also tum-ura), bahu-lā, anaku-rā-s; see above. Further, with diminutive sense, vṛṣa-lā-s 'mannikin, small man' (vṛṣan- 'man'), śiśu-la-s 'little child' (śiśu-ś 'child'), śalaka-lā 'small splinter' (śalika 'splinter'). Add pet names like bhānu-la cp. bhānu-datta, pitṛ-la cp. pitṛ-datta, dēvila cp. dēva-datta.

Remark 1. We may add here a number of forms from Aryan, in which it is doubtful whether the suffix is Idg. -ro- or -lo-, cp. § 74 p. 182.

Skr. dū-rā Avest. O.Pers dū-ru 'distant'. Skr. krū-rā 'bloody, wounded, cruel, gruesome', Avest. arū-ra 'wounding, horrible'. Skr. śrī-lā 'beautiful' a-śrī-rā a-śhī-lā 'not beautiful, ugly' Avest. srī-ra 'beautiful', cp. compar. Skr. śrē-yas Skr. uy-rā Avest. uy-ra 'strong, mighty'. Skr. āg-ra-m Avest. ay-i-e-m 'beginning' Skr. kṣip-rā 'quick', mīk-rā 'mixed' āmī-lā 'intermingling', vāk-rā-s 'crooked', pāl-lā-s 'protector, herdsman', rāndh-ra-m 'opening' Avest hix-re-m 'fluid, impurity'.

-pro -llo Skr. divas-irā (beside divas-rā) 'scattering', mad-irā 'gladdening', sar-irā sal-ild 'flowing, undulating', n 'wave, flood', tṛd-ild 'perforated, porous'. In Iranian the regular phonetic development reduced -pro -llo and -e-ro -e-lo to one form -ara-, and they are thus indistinguishable.

-ro -lo in secondary use; Skr. ānu-ra Avest ahu-ra O.Pers un-ra (in aura-mazdāh) meaning perhaps 'lord', epithet of divinities, compared with Skr. ānu 'vital spirit'; for the etymology of the word see von Bradke, Ztschr. der deutsch. morg. Ges. XI. 347 ff. Skr. pānu-rā 'dusty' (pānu-ś 'dust'), madhu-ra madhu-lā 'sweet' (mādhu 'sweetness, honey'), muśka-rā 'having testicles' (muśka-s 'testicle'), phēna-lā 'foamy' (phēna-s 'foam'). In the following words the primary stem has no final -a: dhūm-rā 'gray' (dhūmā-s 'smoke'), rath-irā 'travelling in a chariot' (rātha-s 'chariot'), phēn-lā beside phēna-lā 'foamy'.

The addition of -ra -lā to stems in -ran- is particularly common. The combination -vara -vala (cp. p. 182 for Skr. pīvara Gr. πισφός = Idg. pi-ye-ró-*) was taken into common use as an independent suffix. Skr. adhvarā-s 'festal gathering' (ādhan- 'way') it-varā 'going' (itvan- 'going'), and further vid-valā 'olever' (vid- 'know'), kṛṣi-valā 'husbandman' (kṛṣi-ś 'husbandry') and other words. -varī is a common fem. termination from adjectives in -van-; e. g. yāj-varī from yāj-ran 'pious', ṛtāvurī Avest. aśāvurī from ṛtāvan aśāvan 'pious'. In Avestic, certain nom.-acc. neut. end in -varē, e. g. mīp-varē from mīp-ran n. 'pair', karš-varē from karš-ran n, the name for the seven divisions of the earth' cp. Gr. πῖ-(F)αῖ 'fat' beside πισφός πισφός.

Compare with this -vara -vala Skr. admad- 'ravenous' from ad-man n. 'food', sidmalā 'leprous' from sid-man sid-mā 'leprosy'; further, O.H.G. O.Sax. himil beside Goth himin-s 'heaven', A.S. ðymel 'thumb-stall, finger-guard' beside ðūma m. (acc. ðūman) 'thumb'.

Greek. στῦ-λος 'pillar': Skr. sthū-rā- sthū-lā-, see above p. 200. πῖ-λος 'felt'. Lat. pi-lu-s 'hair' and the derivative pīleu-s 'felt' (also written pilleus, see I § 612 p. 463¹) καυ-λό-ς 'stalk': Lat. cau-lae pl. 'cavities' (cp. also Lat. cau-li-s 'stalk'), Lith. káu-la-s 'bone'. ζεύγ-λη 'yoke-ring, thong': cp. Lat. jug-ulae pl. 'Orion's girdle of stars'. τυφ-λό-ς 'blind'. στρεβ-λό-ς 'twisted'. ἐκ-παγλο-ς 'awful, terrible' for ἐκ-πλαγ-λο-ς*, from ἐκ-πλαγ-ῆναι, see I § 266 p. 215. φῦ-λο-ν 'stem, race' φῦ-λή 'community' ἀγ-λο-ς ἀθ-λο-ς 'contest' ἀγ-λο-ν ἀθ-λο-ν 'prize'. στρέβ-λη 'roll, roller'.

By the side of the adjectives in pr. Gr. -η-ρος (§ 74 p. 184) there were others in -η-λο-ς, like Hom. κατα-ρῑγγλό-ς 'making one shudder, terrible' (κατα-ρῑγγέω), μιμηλό-ς 'imitative, imitated' (μιμήομαι), including such substantival nomina agentis as ράπηλο-ς 'huckster', Jac δείκηλο-ς (and the extended form δειακηλικτά-ς) 'actor'. Cp. Lat. cicindēla (below, Remark 2) and Lith. tekč-la-s beside tekč-ti (see below)

πῑλο-ς 'fat', like πῑρό-ς, from πῑαίνω (see § 74 Rem. p. 185), extended πῑαλό-ς 'fat' (see § 64 p. 135); like the latter are formed ιμαλέο-ς 'damp', from ιμαίνω, ροῖμαλέο-ς 'frosty', from ροῖμαίνω, δειμαλέο-ς 'timid, terrible' from δειμαίνω, and many other similar words

-λλο-. κερ-αλή beside νέβ-λη 'head' Goth. gib-la m. 'spire' (O.H.G. gehal m. 'skull, head', ✓ ghebbh-, πέτ-υλο-ς 'outspread' πέτ-αλο-ν 'leaf'. αῖθ-αλο-ς 'soot'. ροῖμβ-αλο-ν 'rattle'.

-λο- -λλο- in secondary use. παχν-λό-ς, ὀγκύ-λο-ς, see p. 199. ῥδι-λο-ς 'sweetish' (ῥδύ-ς 'sweet'), δρῑμύ-λο-ς 'somewhat sharp' (δρῑμύ-ς 'sharp'), both with shifted accent like ὀγυ-λό-ς (see I § 676, 4, p. 542 f.). δανλό-ς 'thickly overgrown' for δασυ-λο-ς*, from δασύ-ς 'thickly grown', τραυλό-ς 'hissing, snarling, stuttering' for *τρασν-λο-ς beside Skr. trṣú- 'brisk, impetuous' (Wheeler, Der griech. Nominalaccent 63). όμ-αλό-ς 'smooth, even', from όμός: Lat. *simili-s, for older sem-lo- or sem-lo-*. χαμ-αλό-ς 'low', beside χθον- 'earth' for χθομ-* (I § 204 p. 172, II § 160, 2): Lat. *hum-ili-*s. Words like παχν-λό-ς, where -λο- acts as a diminutive suffix, gave rise to a number of new formations, most of which however appear only in later Greek; as μικ-ύλο-ς 'small', from μικρό-ς, ἀρκτ-ύλο-ς 'young bear', from ἄρκτος; and to extended formations with -λο- like καθαρο-ύλλο-ς 'cleanly' (καθαρός 'clean'), to which again a further diminutive suffix was added, e. g. ἀνθ-ύλλ-ιο-ν 'floweret' (ἄνθος), ἐπ-ύλλ-ιο-ν 'small poem' (ἐπος). Pet names with -λο- are common. Ὀνηοί-λο-ς cp. Ὀνησι-νράτης, Ταξι-λο-ς cp. Ταξι-κλῆς; hence -ιλο-ς became an independent ending, e. g. Σω-ίλο-ς cp. Σω-νράτης. Further, we have names of this kind extended by -λο- as Τίρω-λλο-ς, cp. Τερψι-κλῆς; then -ιλλο-ς also became an independent ending, as Δόρ-ιλλο-ς cp. Δορὴ-λᾶος Θρασύ-λο-ς cp. Θρασύ-μαχος, Βαθύ-λο-ς cp. Βαθύ-λᾶος, hence such forms as Ἰγ-ύλο-ς Ἠγ-ύλο-ς cp. Ἀγέ-στρωτο-ς Ἠγέ-στρωτο-ς; with the -λο- extension we have e. g. Βάθν-λλο-ς beside Βαθύ-λο-ς, hence forms like Νίκ-υλλο-ς cp. Νίκο-μῆδης.

We may regard either as primary or as denominative formations adjectives in -α-λο-, such as σιγηλό-ς (Pind. σιγᾶλό-ς) 'silent, quiet' beside σιγάω 'I am silent' and σιγή 'silence', ἀπατηλό-ς 'deceitful' beside ἀπατάω 'I deceive' and ἀπάτη 'deceit', cp. -ᾱ-ρο- § 74 p. 184 f. The same is generally true of forms in -ε-λο- = Idg. -e-lo-, e. g. τραπ-ε-λό-ς* 'turning' in εὐ-τράπελο-ς 'turning easily': Lat. *torculu-s for torcu-lo- (I § 431 c p. 320 f.); στενγ-ε-λό-ς beside στενγ-λό-ς 'solid, compact, firm, hard', εἰκ-ε-λο-ς 'like, similar'; μῶ-ε-λό-ς 'marrow'; σκόπ-ε-λο-ς 'rock'; νεφ-έ-λη 'cloud'. Lat. nebula, O.Ir. nēl 'cloud' for neb-lo-*, O.H.G. neb-ul m. 'cloud'; ἀγ-έ-λη 'herd' cp. O.Lat. agolo- n. 'pastorale baculum, quo pecudes aguntur' (Paul. Fest). The -λο- of -ε-λο- can be more certainly identified as a secondary suffix in πῆ-με-λή 'fat' and θν-μέ-λη 'place of offering', to be compared with ή-μῆ-ρα and similar words, but in no other examples.

Italic. Ital. fē-lo-* in Lat. fēl-āre fīl-iu-s, Umbr. feliuf filiu acc. 'lactantes' fēl. (abbreviation) 'filius': Gr. ῥη-λή 'mother's breast', Lett. dē-l-s 'son' etc., see above p. 198. Lat. sella for sed-lā*: Gr. ἑλλά etc., see above, p. 198 f. grallae 'stilts', compared with gradior. rallu-m (ā?) 'ploughshare' beside rādula 'scraper' (is this for orig. rād-llā*, or a new formation of later date?) from rādō; also rallu-s (ā?) 'close shorn'. caelu-m 'chisel' from caedō. pīlu-m 'pestle' for pīns-lo-m* (I § 208 p. 175 f.). exem-p-lu-m (from eximō, 'something taken out', hence) 'specimen, type', tem-p-lu-m (cp Gr. τέμνω, 'something cut off', hence) 'holy precinct, temple', with -p- as a glide sound (I § 208 p. 175). assecla, from asseguor.

-ulo- ulā- are very frequent in Latin. In the forms assecula beside assecla, vinculu-m beside vinclu-m, torculu-s (torqueō), coculu-m (coquō), as in trāgula (trahō), -ulo- -ulā- were developed from -lo- -lā- during the Latin period, see I § 269 p. 218, § 431 c p. 320 f., § 509 p. 373. Elsewhere it is doubtful, whether ldg. -lo- or -llo- or -e-lo- was the original suffix; e. g. in the nomina instrumenti, like capulu-s capulu-m ex-cipulu-m (cp. O.H.G. hev-ilo 'yeast', the means of making something rise), cingulu-m cingula, tēgulu-m tēgula, cōpula, rēgula. Further, in substantival nomina agentis, as figulu-s 'potter' legulu-s 'gatherer', and adjectival nomina agentis, which usually imply a culpable tendency to some action, as bibulu-s, crēdulu-s, gemulu-s, tremulu-s, pendulu-s: cp. Goth. sakul-s 'quarrelsome' and the like; see below. In a few cases also it is conceivable that the suffix may represent ldg. -u-lo-. Where there has been a transference from the o- to the i- declension, -ili- appears, instead of -ulo-. Thus we have agili-s: Skr. ajirā-s, see above, p. 199. Similarly bibili-s, fragili-s, facili-s, docili-s, habili-s etc., and by an extension to the to- participle cuctili-s, fissili-s, flexili-s, versatili-s, volatili-s etc.

-s-lo- is of common occurrence. ālā, vēlu-m, see p. 199 above. alu-m 'wild garlic' for an-s-lo-m*, cp. O.C.Sl. ach-ati 'to give forth smell' for on-s-ati*, beside Skr. āni-ti. prēlu-m for prem-s-lo-m*, from premō. pālu-s pālu-m for pac-slo-* or pāc-slo-*, from pac-īsior, √ pak- 'fasten': cp. Gr. πάσσαλο-ς 'peg, nail' as though from a present πάσσω*, for πακω* (cp. πήσσω), and hence to be compared in point of formation with O.H.G. deckel from decken = O.Icel. þekja. scāla for scantslā*, from scandō. For the phonetic changes in these words see I § 208 p. 175 f., § 570 p. 428.

Remark 2. Osthoff (Paul-Braune's Beitr. III 346) would also derive from -s-lo- -s-lā- the feminine substantives like fugēla sequēla querēla, and candēla mīēla, referring, -ēla in the former group to -e-slā* (cp. fuge-re), in the latter to -ē-slā* (cp. candē-re), and he compares such Germ. forms as O.H.G. ruomi-sala f. hruomi-sal n. 'boasting' (see below). This is possible. Still there is nothing to prevent our deriving them from Idg. -ē-lā-, and I rather prefer this explanation on account of cicindēla 'glow-worm'. This was the feminine of an adjective cicindēlo-*, which may be compared with Gr. μυμ-λό-ς. Accordingly we should regard candēla and the other parallel forms as having been originally adjectival.

-lo- -llo- is secondary in simili-s, humili-s (with change of declension, see p. 203 above); similarly parili-s from pār, pestili-s from pesti-s, herbili-s from herba. nūbīlu-s from nūbēs. angulus, Umbr. anglom-e 'in angulum' for anc-lo-*, compared with Lat. ancu-s; similarly O.Lat. ungulu-s compared with uncu-s; see I § 499 p. 366. Whether -lo- is also secondary in Lat. famul famulus Osc. famel 'servus' famelo f. 'familia' (compare Lat. famil-ia Umb. famer-ias pl. 'familiae') may be left an open question; see Danielsson in Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 178.

This suffix was very fertile in forming diminutives. Lat. catulu-s Umb. katel 'catulus' katlu 'catulum'. Lat. porculu-s porcil-ia beside porcus: O.H.G. farhel-i n. Lith. parszēl-i-s 'sucking pig'. rotula beside rota: Lith. ratēl-i-s. Other substantives are: rēgulu-s, adulēscētulu-s, vīculu-s, scūtulu-m, glandula, nūtrīcula, animula, mēnsula; servolu-s, clāvola; fīoliu-s, glōriola, kīneo-la. Adjectives: loquāculu-s, valentulu-s, frīgidulu-s, barbatulu-s; helvolu-s; ēbriolu-s, aureolu-s. Umbr. fondlo 'fonticulus' (fondlir-e 'in fonticulis') for font-lo-*, cp. adro- I § 499 p. 366. Osc. Nūvlā- 'Nola' in Nūvlanūs pl. 'Nolani' corresponds to a Lat. form novola* (beside novo-s). We should notice also as examples of different phonetic changes; Lat. stella for ster-lā* (Gr. ἀστὴρ 'star'), puella for puer-lā*, agellus for ager-lo-s*, nigellu-s for niger-lo-s*, satullu-s for satur-lo-s*, pauļu-s paulu-s for paur-lo-s* (Gr. παῦρος 'small, little'), see I § 269 p. 216, § 633 p. 473 f.; further asellu-s for asen-lo-s*, fēmella for fēmen-lā*, bellu-s for ben-lo-s* (bene), gemellu-s for gemen-lo-s*, suillu-s for suin-lo-s*, corōlla for corōn-lā*, see I § 208 p. 175; lastly lapillu-s for lapid-lo-s*, see I § 369 p. 280.

In Latin -lo- was often added to these diminutives as a further diminutive suffix, e. g. catellu-s from catulu-s, cistella from cistula, (catello-. orig. cat-lo-* = ager-lo-* agello-: agro-), agellulu-s from agellu-s, puellu-la, pauļu-lu-s, tenellulu-s, bellulu-s.

Another suffix in which the diminutive sense was doubly expressed, but which in the historical period of Latin was regarded merely as a single diminutive suffix, arose in protoethnic Italic through the addition of -lo- to the suffix -ko- (§ 88)¹⁾: Lat. diŕ-cula, Osc. zi-colois 'diebus' zi-culud 'die' (see I § 73 p. 63 f., § 135 p. 123). Other examples from Latin are: mūs-culu-s 'little mouse, muscle' (cp. Skr. muś-kā- 'testicle' mūs-aka-s mūś-akā 'rat, mouse', Armen. mukn 'mouse, muscle'), jūs-culu-m, corculu-m i. e. cord*+culu-m, māter-cula, latrānculu-s, corpus-culu-m, melius-culu-s, igni-culu-s, resti-cula, levi-culu-s.

Old Irish O.Ir. de-l 'teat'. O.H.G. ti-lu etc., see above p. 198. cē-l O.Cymr. coi-l 'augurium': Goth. hái-l-s 'sound, healthy', O.H.G. hei-l 'sound, whole', A.S. hæl O.Icel. heill n. (for hailiz-*) 'luck, favourable omen', Pruss. karl-üstika-n acc. 'health' O.C.Sl. cě-lŭ 'whole, complete'. něl 'cloud' for neb-lo-*, Cymr. niwl 'cloud': Gr. νεφέλη etc., see p. 203 above. coll m. 'hazel' for cos-lo-*. Lat. cor-ulu-s (corylu-s) for cos-*, O.H.G. hasal O.Icel. hasl 'hazel'. temel 'darkness': Skr. tam-rā- 'darkening'. sī-l n. 'seed', √ sē-. gabul gobul Mod. Cymr. gafl 'forked branch or twig, fork of the thighs'.

-s + lo-. uall f. 'exaltation, haughtiness' uasal 'high, exalted, noble' Mod. Cymr. uchel 'high' Gall. Ūxello-dānu-m 'High-town', compared with O.Ir. ōs uas Mod. Cymr. uch 'above' for aug-s* (cp. Lith. duksz-ta-s 'high') from √ aug- 'increase'; uall therefore = auq-s-lā*, on the other hand uasal must be compared with Lat. auxiliu-m, which represents a form auxulo-*, cp. famil-ia: famulu-s, Caecil-uu-s: Caeculu-s. ciall Mod. Cymr. pwyl 'wit understanding' orig. qeī-slā*, cp. Skr. ci-kē-ti ci-nō-ti 'observes, finds out'. Perhaps we should add giall 'hostage' pr. Kelt. gēslo-*: O.H.G. gisal O.Icel. gisl m. 'prisoner of war, prisoner held as a surety', common ground-form gheislo-*; the etymology of the word has not been explained; the vocalism of the Keltic word is against its connexion with Lat. haereō, which Osthoff considered certain (Z. Gesch. d. Perf. 630).

-lo- occurs with diminutival force in pet names, such as Tuathal cp. Tuath-char; cp also Gall. Teutalu-s, Camulu-s, Toutillu-s, Catullu-s.

Germanic. Goth. fū-l-s O.H.G. fū-l 'foul': Lith. pū-lei pl. 'pus, matter', stem pū-l-ja-. O.H.G. su-la f. 'awl, punch': Lith. siū-la-s 'thread for stitching' sū-l-ė 'seam', perhaps also Gr. ῥ-λ-λαί pl. 'pieces of leather for shoe soles' (Hesych). O.H.G. O.Icel. sei-l n. 'rope' O.H.G. si-lo m. 'straps for draught cattle, harness': Lith. āt-sei-l-i-s 'the iron which joins the connecting rod to the axle, the crank', āt-sai-l-e 'connecting pole between the splinter-bar and the axle'. Goth. stō-l-s O.H.G. stuo-l 'stool, seat': Lith. pa-stō-la-s 'stand', pl. 'carpenter's scaffolding', Goth. stik-l-s O.H.G. stechal m. 'drinking vessel, goblet' (properly used of drinking horns that run to a point, then of other drinking vessels): Avest. ty-ra- 'point'. O.H.G. hag-al m. O.Icel. hag-l n. 'hail' is presumably to be compared with Gr. μάχλ-ηξ 'small stone, pebble'. O.H.G. stah-al m. O.Icel. stal n. 'steel'. Avest. stac-ra- 'strong, firm', Pruss. punu-stacla-n acc. 'steel for kindling fire'.

Goth. ag-l-s 'terrible', beside ōg 'I am afraid'. Mid.H.G. krol, gen. krolles 'in ringlets, curled' pr. Germ. kruz-lā-*, see I § 582 p. 436. O.H.G. zī-la 'line, row', beside zī-t pr. Germ. tī-dī-* 'time'. Goth. fug-l-s O.H.G. fog-al m. 'bird', for flug-la-*?, see I § 277 p. 221. Goth. þvahl n. 'bath'. Goth. fafr-vest-l n. 'stage play'. O.H.G. scūv-ala A.S. sceof-l f. Dutch schoff-l 'shovel', beside O.H.G. scioban 'shove, push'.

O.Icel. hokull m. 'mantle' beside O.Icel. hek-la 'mantle'. O.Icel. sqðull O.H.G. satul m. 'saddle'. O.H.G. snabul m. 'snout'. Adjectival nomina agentis generally imply an inclination to something; Goth. sakul-s 'quarrelsome', slahul-s (beside slahal-s) 'apt to strike', O.Icel. hugull (beside hugall) 'careful, thoughtful', O.Sax. slapol 'lethargic' fluzol 'fleeing' (in O.H.G. -al, as ezzal 'ravenous', sprungal 'saliens'); forms like A.S. hlaȝ-ol 'inclined to laughing' (beside hliehhan 'to laugh') indicate that the suffix was originally accented. Also in secondary use, as Goth. vein-ul-s 'bibulous' from vein n. 'wine' (O.H.G. wort-al 'talkative' from wort n. 'word').

-s-lo- is frequent; it is nowhere so fertile as in Germanic. O.H.G. ahsala, dehsala, see p. 199. Goth. þreihsl n. 'distress', from þreiha 'I press' for pr. Germ. þreǝχō* (I § 214 p. 181). Goth. skōh-sl n. 'evil spirit'. Goth. huns A.S. hūsel O.Icel. hūsl n. 'offering' for χyunt-sla-*, compared with Avest. spent-a- O.C.Sl. svetū 'holy', cp. I § 180 p. 158 (where χyunt-sla-m* should be read for χyunt+lla-m*) and § 413 p. 303. O.H.G. wehsal m. O.Icel. vīxl n 'change', compared with O.H.G. wīhhan. O.H.G. knuosal A.S. cnōsl n. 'family', cp. Gr. γνω-ρό-ς 'a relative'. O.Icel. beisl n. 'bit, curb' ground-form bhoǵd + slo-*, beside Goth. beita 'I bite'. In particular many nouns were formed in -isla- in connexion with verbs in -jan, as Goth. svartizl n. 'blackness, ink' beside svartjan* O.Icel. sverta 'to blacken', O.H.G. irrisal 'error' beside irren, truobisal 'affliction' beside truoben 'to trouble', ruomisal and hruomisala 'ostentation, boasting' beside hruomen 'to boast'. Later the suffix was added to noun stems, as in Mid.H.G. twanc-sal 'restriction' from twanc 'force', fluht-sal 'a fleeing, escape' from fluht 'flight'. From the Middle High German period onwards it was regarded as a distinct word in composition. Cp. -s-tyo- § 61, -s-tro- § 62, -s-ti- § 100, -s-tu- § 108, -s-men- § 117.

Pr. Germ. -ila- is very frequent, and difficult to explain with certainty. If Paul (in his Beitr. IV 235) is right in holding that pre-Germanic -llo- in the protoethnic Germanic period passed sometimes into -ula-, sometimes into -ela- later -ila-, according to the varying intensity of the accent, then some of the forms in -la- must be added to the examples given above of Idg. -flo- (with pr. Germ. -ula-), and we could derive Goth. mikul-s A.S. mikil O.H.G. mihhil O.Icel. mikell 'great', with Gr. μέγало-, from a ground-form meg-flo-*. But this law does not seem to me clearly established. In any case some of the forms with pr. Germ. -ila- are to be referred to Idg. -e-lo-. A certain number may represent an Idg. -i-lo-. If we exclude more or less isolated formations, like the already mentioned mikul-s, Goth. ubil-s O.H.G. ubil 'evil, bad' (perhaps the meaning is 'going beyond bounds, transgressing rules', so that we should compare O.H.G. ubir 'over' Gr. ὑπὲρ), and Goth. in-ilo f. 'excuse, motive' (beside fair-ina f. 'charge, ground of complaint'), pr. Germ. -ila- is found especially in substantival nomina agentis and in diminutives. Hence these two classes may be placed here:

Substantival nomina agentis. O.H.G. brūt-pitil 'wooer, suitor's advocate' O.Icel. būdell 'one who asks'. O.Sax. crupel O.Icel. krypell 'cripple' ('creeper'), beside O.Icel. krjupa 'to creep'. O.H.G. trpfil 'charioteer' ('driver'), putil 'beadle' ('summoner'), tregil 'carrier', drahsil 'turner'. Names of creatures like O.H.G. wibil O.Icel. vifell 'chafer, beetle' (Mid.H.G. webelen weberen, wabelen waberen 'move hither and thither'): cp. Lith. vāb-ała-s 'chafer', O.H.G. tūhhil 'mergus'. Further, names of tools (cp. § 150), like O.H.G. meizil O.Icel. meutell 'chisel' ('cutter'), beside Goth. māstan 'to cut', O.H.G. sluzzil O.Sax. slutil 'key' ('shutter'), O.H.G. slegil 'mallet', stōzil 'pestle, beetle', driscil, also fem. driscila, 'flail', spinnila 'spindle'. -ila- occurs also as a secondary suffix: O.H.G. reitol wagan-reitol 'charioteer' from reita 'car, carriage'. We have also examples of nomina agentis without an i preceding the l-suffix: O.H.G. tūhhil beside tūhhil, staphul 'grasshopper', scūvala 'shovel'.

Diminutives. O.H.G. bendil O.Icel. bendell m. 'small band, redimicula' Mod.H.G. dial. (Rh.-Frank.) bendel, which has lost its diminutive meaning. O.H.G. stengil 'stalk' (no longer regarded as a diminutive), from stanga 'pole'. The forms have for the most part passed over to the n-declension: O.H.G. scalchilo m. 'servulus' from scalch m. 'servus', lihhamilo m. 'corpusculum' from lāhhamo m. 'corpus'; Goth. mavilō O.Icel. meyla f. 'little maiden' beside Goth. mavi f. 'maid, damsel', O.H.G. niftila f. 'niece' from nift f. 'niece', turila f. 'small door' from turi f. 'door'; Goth. barnilō n. 'little child' from barn n. 'child'. Add pet names like Goth. Vulfila O.H.G. Wolfilo cp. O.H.G. Wolf-hart, O.H.G. Gundilo cp. Gund-hart. Examples of diminutives without an i before the l-suffix. Goth. magu-la m. 'little boy' from magu-s m. 'boy', O.H.G. morhala f. 'moril, edible mushroom' from moraha f. 'carrot', O.H.G. Bodulo Bodalo by the side of Bodilo, O.Icel. Sinfjotli by the side of O.H.G. Sintarfizzilo.

The diminutival l-suffix was extended by other diminutival elements. O.H.G. turilī (turilīm) Mid.H.G. turlīm from turila, chindilī (chindilīm) 'little child'; for the origin of this extension see Kluge, Stammbild. p. 29. O.H.G. jungal-ing O.Icel. ungl-ingr 'a youth', O.Icel. mýslingr from mýsla 'little mouse', which itself is derived from mūs 'mouse'.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. gai-la-s (and with changed declension gai-lū-s) 'ill-tempered, liable to bite (of dogs)' O.C.Sl. (džě-lū 'violent': O.H.G. ger-l 'ungovernable, petulant, wanton'. Lith. mig-là myg-là O.C.Sl. mǫg-la 'mist': Gr. Hom. ὀμίχ-λη 'mist'. Lith. āk-la-s 'blind'. Lat. agulu-s. O.C.Sl. strě-la f. 'arrow': O.H.G. strā-la f. 'arrow, flash of lightning'. O.C.Sl. si-la 'might, strength' Sloven. si-la 'haste', cp. Pruss. sei-li- 'earnestness, endeavour, diligence' seuliska- 'devotion': it is not clear whether we should compare Skr. śī-la-m 'custom, character' or Lett. si-t 'to bind'. Lith. aũ-la-s 'leg of a boot' beside aũ-ti 'to cover the feet'. Lett. ē-la 'road', beside i-t 'to go', cp. Lith. ei-l-ė f. Lett. at-l-i-s m. 'series, row'. O.C.Sl. qz-lū vqz-lū 'knot'.

-llo- may perhaps be traced in the following instances. Pruss. sirs-ul-i-s O.C.Sl. strěš-lū beside Lith. szirsz-l-ỹ-s 'hornet': Dutch horzel. Lith. sprāg-ila-s 'hail', beside sprag-ėti 'to rustle'. O.C.Sl. koz-lū (kozlū) 'he-goat', from koza 'goat'. orilū 'eagle', beside Lith. erėl-i-s O.H.G. aro m. 'eagle'. O.C.Sl. sedlo n. 'saddle' for sedlō* (arc O.H.G. satul A.S. sadol 'saddle' borrowed from some Slavonic language?). světlū 'luminous' for světlū*, from světlū 'light'. In considering the last two words it should be noted that pr. Slav. sedlo*, světlŭ* would necessarily have appeared in O.C.Sl. as selo*, svělŭ* (I § 545 p. 399, § 548 p. 402). Cp. also Pruss. names like Butil (buta- 'house'), Cantil (canta- 'endurance').

-s-lo- is not uncommon (cp. -s-li- § 98). O.C.Sl. tesla veslo, see p. 199 above. Pruss. san-insl-e f. 'girdle' O.C.Sl. sŭ-vešlo n. 'band, fetter' u-vešlo n. 'diadem' for ŕgh+s-lo-*, $\sqrt{a\tilde{n}gh}$ - 'tie, press tight', cp. O.C.Sl. qz-lŭ 'knot'. Lith. mók-sla-s 'teaching', krišla-s Lett. krišl-s 'refuse, fragment' for krit-sla-*; mészla-s Lett. mészl-s, both usually in pl., 'dung, sweepings' beside Lith. mėž-iu Lett. mėšchu 'I cleanse out' (I § 414 p. 303); gy-sla 'vein, sinew', cp. O.C.Sl. ži-la 'vein'; ŕsl-ŕs 'one who scents out' ŕsl-ě 'nostril' for ŕtsl-* beside ŕ'džiu 'I smell': m-sl-ě 'riddle'. O.C.Sl. čislo 'number' for čit-slo* (cp. čisnę § 117), prešlo 'gradus' for prentslo* from Slav. prend- or prent- (see Miklosich, Etym. Wörth. 262), maslo 'oil, salve' beside maz-ati 'to smear' (I loc. cit.).

-e-lo-. In Baltic this is preserved in -e-l-jo-, as Lith. dīd-el-s 'great' (beside dīd-s 'great' like Gr. μεγάλο- beside μέγας), er-ėli-s 'eagle' (cp. O.C.Sl. orŕlŭ); usually with diminutive meaning, as in Lith. parszėli-s 'little pig' galvėle 'little head'. Cp. also Pruss. names like Dargelo Dargels (darga- 'dear'). In Slavonic the simple -elo- also occurs, though rarely: e. g. dręselŭ (beside dręsŭkŭ) 'sorrowful, peevish', cvěteliŭ 'flower', plěvelŭ 'weed' beside plěva Pruss. pelwo 'chaff'.

-o-lo-, -a-lo- or -ə-lo-. In Baltic -ala- is fairly common, as in Lith. mįžalaī pl. Lett. mīšals 'urine', Lith. ūž-valkaša-s 'bed-cover' (cp. O.C.Sl. oblěklo 'clothing' for ob-velk-lo*), āvala-s 'foot-covering' (cp. aŭla-s p. 210), veikaša-s 'business', snaigala 'snowflake'. In Slavonic it is rarer; O.C.Sl. sokolŭ 'falcon'.

Remark 3. For the combinations -o-lo-, -a-lo-, -ə-lo- I can find no sufficiently certain parallels in the other languages to prove that they are genuine pre-Slavonic suffixes. In the case of -o-lo-, Gr. μανώλης and the like must be disregarded; on the other hand Skr. karmāra- 'smith' vācāla- 'talkative' and Goth. slahal-s might be regarded as positive evidence. -ə-lo- appears in Skr. am-la-s 'wind' (beside āmi-mi).

Balt. -ē-la- -ē-lja-. This is derived from a verb in -ē-ti in Lith. tekėla-s tekė-l-i-s 'grindstone, running on an axle' (Lett. tezzel-i-s, usually fem. tezzelē), from tekėti 'to run'; and is also found in the numerous nomina agentis, which often imply contempt, e. g. paklįdeli-s 'rover, gad-about' from klydėti 'to wander about', netikeli-s 'no'er-do-weel' (tikti 'to suit'), padūkelis 'raving madman' (pa-dūkti 'to go mad') nudėgeli-s 'one ruined by a fire' (nu-dėges 'burnt out'). Cp. O.C.Sl. part. žėlē-lū beside želti 'to wish', vidē-lū beside vidėti 'to see'; see below. Examples of -ē-l-/ja- as a secondary suffix are kirmėlē 'worm' from O.Lith. kirmi-s, gen. kirmio 'worm', muselē 'fly' from musē 'fly', further, diminutives formed from words of more than two syllables, like avinėli-s 'little ram' from avina-s 'ram', kepurėlē 'little hat' from kepurė 'hat', kirmelėlē 'little worm' from kirmėlē. The origin of this secondary -lja- is not clear.

-i-lo-. Lith. akį-la-s 'observant' (beside akį-ta-s 'furnished with eyes' and aky-va-s 'furnished with eyes, inquisitive'), beside akį-ti 'to get eyes, become porous'. Cp. O.C.Sl. part. chvali-lū beside chvali-ti 'to praise'.

In Slavonic the suffix -lo-, which formed nomina agentis, was used very freely, and hence was developed the so-called part. praet. act II, as bi-lū beside bi-ti 'to strike', with jesmī practically equivalent to a perfect, 'I have struck'. Other examples are nes-lū beside nes-ti 'to carry', by-lū beside by-ti 'to be' (cp. Gr. q̄v-λο-ν, q̄t-λῆ), zna-lū beside zna-ti 'to know', dēla-lū beside dēla-ti 'to do, make', žėlē-lū beside žėlē-ti 'to wish', chvali-lū beside chvali-ti 'to praise'. Cp. Lat. legulu-s 'one who picks (fruit)' O.H.G. ezzul 'ravenous' (O.C.Sl. jalū for ēd-lū*), tregil 'bearer', Gr. σιγῆλος 'silent', μιμηλός 'imitative', Lith. tekėla-s (runner) 'grindstone', akįla-s 'observant'.

Diminutives. Lith. -e-l-i-s and -e-l-i-s have been mentioned; with parszėli-s compare Lat. porculu-s porcul-ia O.H.G. farhel-i n. 'sucking pig', with ratėli-s, Lat. rotula. ragėli-s 'little horn' may be directly connected with O.C.Sl. rog-l-i Mod.Sloven. rogelj beside rogū 'horn', though in the Slavonic languages the diminutival sense is lost. The pet names, however, in Slavonic belong to this class; e. g. Serv. Božilo beside Božo Bogo-ljub, Bratilo Brajilo beside Brato Brato-ljub; cp. Pruss. Butil Dargelo p. 211.

§ 77. The European suffixes -dh-ro- -dh-rā- and -dh-lo- *-dh-lā-*¹⁾.

In Greek, Italic, Slavonic, and perhaps also in Germanic, these suffixes are found beside -tro- -tlo- (§ 61) and -ro- -lo- (§ 74. 76) with similar meaning. They are used in substantives mainly to denote the means, or a tool, or a locality. They sprang from the coalescence of the so-called 'determinative' dh (Skr. rā-dh-āmi, Gr. πλή-θ-ω, Lat. pū-b-ēs, O.C.Sl. i-d-a, cp. § 8 Rem. 2 p. 20) with a following -ro- -lo-, and are therefore parallel to such combined forms as Gr. -θ-μο- (§ 72) and to -s-lo- (§ 76), and others. Cp. Gr. ἄρ-θ-ρο-ν 'joint, limb': ἄρ-θ-μός-ς 'joining, connexion'; βά-θ-ρο-ν 'step, threshold, seat, foundation': βα-θ-μός-ς 'step'; σν-ε-θ-ρός-ς 'exact, precise, careful': σχ-ε-θ-έ-μειν 'to hold, have' (σχ-ε-θ- for the normal σν-ε-θ- is due to association with ἔ-σχ-ο-ν and similar forms, cp. I § 496 p. 364 f.); κῆλη-θ-ρο-ν 'magic drug': νηλη-θ-μός-ς 'enchantment'; νίη-θ-ρο-ν 'winnowing fan': κίνη-θ-μός-ς 'movement'; Lat. sta-b-ulu-m, Czech. stá-dlo Lower Sorb. sta-dlo 'herd, drove': Gr. στα-θ-μός-ς 'standing place', O.C.Sl. Pol. sta-d-o Czech stádo 'herd'; Lat. fa-b-er: Gr. τε-θ-μός-ς θε-θ-μός-ς 'statute' (for the initial τ- θ- cp. σκεθρός-ς σκεθέμεν); Italian (Tusc.) pevera 'a wooden funnel' = Lat. plē-b-ra* (beside Lat. plē-tia* implied in Milanese pidria 'wooden funnel' and other forms, cp. Lat. palpe-bra beside palpe-tra): Gr. πλή-θ-ω 'I am full'²⁾ and many similar examples. With the forms having ε, a Lat. e after the root syllable, as Gr. σν-ε-θ-ρός-ς, ἔδ-ε-θλο-ν, μίλ-α-θρο-ν, κρεμ-ά-θρα, Lat. illec-e-bra mand-i-bulu-m condūc-i-bili-s should be compared (besides σχ-ε-θ-έ-μειν mentioned above) γηθίω for γαF-ε-θίω* = Lat. gaudeō for gāu-e-deō*, φλεγ-ί-θω, νεμ-ί-θομαι, ἐργ-ά-θω, διωκ-ά-θω etc.

1) Cp. Ascoli's essay cited in footnote 1 on p. 118; and Fr. Hansen, Die Aktivbedeutung der Adjektiva auf -ilis im archaischen Latein, Philologus N. F. I 274 ff.

2) Add here Gr. πλή-θρο-ν εἶδος μέτρον in Hesychius, if the reading is right.

The great majority of the nouns that belong to this class are certainly later formations which arose independently in the course of the separate growth of the various families of language. Isolated examples may date from older times, cp. Lat. sā-bula, in-sūbulu-m, Czech št-dlo Pol. szy-dlo O.C.Sl. ši-lo 'punch, awl', common ground-form sīū-dhlo-* -dhla-; Gr. Hom. λύ-θρο- 'contamination', Lat. dē-lū-bru-m pol-lū-bru-m, common ground-form lū-dhro-*; Lat. sta-bulu-m (stā-*), Czech stá-dlo (stā-*).

In consequence of their equivalent functions and similar sound -dhro-, -dhlo- were in many cases confused with -tro-, -tlo-. On this point see § 62 p. 121 f. In Slavonic the older t-suffix was completely ousted by the dh-suffix; the substitution of the dh for t is especially clear in the word for 'plough' O.C.Sl. ralo oralo Czech. rádlo Pol. radło, where all the other languages, even Lithuanian, show -tro- -tlo-.

Remark. Some have wished to derive this suffix from -thro-, -thlo-. To this hypothesis, it must be confessed, no phonetic objections can be raised (I p. 407 footnote). But its only object is to re-establish the theory of the original identity of this suffix with -tro-, -tlo-, and I do not see how any probable ground can be given for assuming that the latter had split into double forms at so early a period. In other forms the aspirated tenuis appears for the tenuis in Aryan only (cp. I § 475 p. 350 f., § 553 p. 405 ff), and hence we may at least demand evidence for the existence of an Aryan suffix -thra- = -tra-.

To the examples given above a few may be added from the separate groups of languages.

Greek. ὄλε-θρο-ς 'destruction', λάλη-θρο-ς 'talkative', μυλω-θρο-ς 'miller', τέρ-θρο-ν 'end, point', πλ-ί-θρο-ν πέλ-ε-θρο-ν 'acre, hide of land' (cp. πτε-ε-ρό-ν: Skr. pat-a-rā- p. 182), ῥέ(F)-θρο-ν ῥεῖθρο-ν 'stream', μίλη-θρο-ν 'delight', κόρη-θρο-ν 'besom', ἐπι-βά-θρᾱ 'means of climbing, ladder', κοιμή-θρᾱ 'sleeping-place', ἀλινδῆ-θρᾱ 'place to roll in, place of exercise (for horses)' ῥ-θλο-ς 'cant, empty talk' (from ῥεῖ 'it rains'), ἐσ-θλό-ς 'excellent', θεμέ-θλο-ν 'foundation', γένε-θλο-ν and γενέ-θλη 'descent, family, offspring'. Where λ precedes, the form -θρο- may sometimes have arisen from -θλο- by dissimilation, cp. I § 266 p. 215.

Italic. In proethnic Italic -dhro- -dhlo- became -fro-, -flo-. These remained in Umbro-Samnitic, while in Latin they passed into -bro-, -blo-. See I § 370 p. 281. For the anaptyxis in Lat. -bulo-, -bili- see I § 269 p. 218. Pr. Ital. sta-flo-*: Lat. sta-bulu-m sta-bili-s, Umbr. sta-flarem 'stabularem' Pelign. pri-stafalacirix 'antistita for stafla-crix* = Lat. prae-stabula-trix*.

Lat. crī-bru-m, flā-bru-m, ventilā-bru-m. dolā-bra, verte-bra, tere-bra and ē-lece-bra ('enticer', fem.). crē-ber (from crē-scō), candēla-ber (beside candēla-bru-m), Mulci-ber (gen. -berti, a new formation instead of -brī*); occasionally the forms have been transferred to the i-declension, as ancla-bri-s, ale-bri-s (beside ali-bili-s). trī-bulu-m, pā-bulu-m, vocā-bulu-m, medicā-bulu-m, lati-bulu-m, mandi-bulu-m and mandi-bula, fā-bula. Once or twice we find -i-bulu-m as a secondary suffix; for example sessibulu-m (sessu-s sessili-s), tūribulum (tūs). From this suffix are formed a large number of adjectives which have passed into the i-declension, as sta-bili-s, nō-bili-s, mō-bili-s, flē-bili-s, dē-lē-bili-s, sand-bili-s, ad-mitrā-bili-s, sepeli-bili-s, vola-bili-s, intel-ligi-bili-s, in-vendi-bili-s. In a few cases -i-bili-s is a secondary suffix; e. g. odībili-s (odru-m), illātībili-s (il-lātu-s), flexībili-s (flexu-s), persuasībili-s (per-suāsu-m).

Just as -clo- became -cro- by dissimilation in lucru-m (for lu-clo-m*) and in other words (I § 269 p. 217), so it may sometimes have happened that after a preceding l, -blo-, -bli- became -bro-, -bri-.

Germanic. The proethnic Germanic forms -āra-, -āla-, e. g. in O.H.G. hri-ttara f. 'riddle, sieve', may represent Idg. -tro-, -tlo- quite as well as Idg. -dhro- -dhlo-; cp. § 62 p. 121. O.H.G. hri-ttara may be compared equally well with Lat. crī-bru-m 'sieve' (which contains Idg. -dhro-) or with O.Ir. criathar 'sieve' (Idg. -tro-). I know of no case where the dh-suffix could be identified with any degree of certainty.

Slavonic. O.C.Sl. želo 'point, sting' Pol. żq-dło. Czech by-dlo Upper Sorb. by-dło 'dwelling' Pol. by-dło 'cattle, property, means'. O.C.Sl. črǫpalo 'scoop' Pol. czerpa-dło. O.C.Sl. klepalo

'sounding-board (of an instrument), bell' Pol. klepa-dlo. O.C.Sl. čédilo 'strainer, filter' Pol. cedzi-dlo. O.C.Sl. bělilo 'means for whitening, white paint'.

§ 78. The Suffix -bho- -bhā-.

This suffix was confined to a small area, and it is only in Balto-Slavonic (and possibly Germanic) that it shows any degree of fertility. As a secondary suffix it was no doubt used even in the proethnic period of Indo-Germanic, to form names of animals. To judge from Sanskrit, in this usage it was generally or always accented.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. ṛṣā-bhā-s 'bull' points to an Idg. ṛsṇ-bhó-s* (ersṇ-bhó-s*) 'bull' beside Avest. aršan- 'male, man' Gr. ἄρσην ἄρσην 'male'), and we could at once accept the form as really proethnic, if the suggested connexion of Gr. Εἰραφ-ιότης Lesb. Ἐρραφειότης, a title of Dionysus, with Skr. ṛṣabhá-s is correct. It does not seem to me, however, that Wackernagel (followed by Solmsen, see Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 126 ff. 352 ff.) has satisfactorily removed the difficulty of assuming an assimilation of rs to ρρ in proethnic Greek.

Aryan. Here the suffix is almost confined to names of animals. In Sanskrit besides ṛṣā-bhā-s we have with similar meaning वृषा-bhā-s, beside वृषान- 'male, man, bull'. śarabhá-s a fabulous creature with eight legs, enemy of the lion and elephant, suggests Gr. νίραφος 'fox', κόραφος a bird, in Hesych. (compare no doubt κορώνη, so that the bird must have belonged to the raven family), κάλαφος ἀσκάλαφος a kind of owl. śērabha- name of a snake. rāsabha-s 'ass' (the only Skr. form with the accent upon the root), from ras- 'shriek, roar, bray'.

Greek. Εἰραφιότης, νίραφος, κάλαφος, ἀσκάλαφος, see above. ἔλαφος 'stag' ground-form elṇ-bho-s*, beside ἐλλός for ἐλνός*, O.C.Sl. jelen- (gen. jelen-e) 'stag', Lith. ėln-i-s 'stag, elk' (cp. § 114). Thus κόραφος too (see above) no doubt stands for kory-bho-*, cp. Lat. corn-ix. κιδάφη κιδάφη 'fox'. ἐριφος 'kid', with which Stokes would connect O.Ir. heirp erb (pl. herbind) 'capra, damma'; this word however cannot have lost a vowel beetwen r and b (p) (for the p cp. I § 524 p. 380).

κόσσυφο-ς Att. κόττυφο-ς 'thrush'.

κόλαφο-ς 'blow with the fist, box on the ear'. κρόταφο-ς 'temple' (of the forehead) beside κρότος ροστίω, (named from the pulsation?). Denomin. ψηλαφάω 'I grope'. νέραφο-ς σκέραφο-ς 'abuse, calumny'. φλήναφο-ς 'chattering', subst. 'chatter'. ἔδαφος n. 'base upon which a thing rests', no doubt transferred to the es-stems by assimilation to ἔδος n. ρορυφή 'peak', cp. κόρυθ- 'helmet' κόρυθο-ς 'tufted lark'. ἀργυρο-ς 'gleaming like silver'.

Other examples of this kind are given in Lobbeck Proleg. p. 291 ff.

Italic. Perhaps we should class here Lat. mor-bu-s, beside mor-ior, cp Lith. dār-ba-s and the like (see below).

Old Irish. Perhaps heirp erb 'capra, damma'; see above.

Germanic. From this suffix are no doubt derived the Gothic adverbs in -ba, as ubilaba 'badly, wickedly' báutraba 'bitterly', agluha 'hardly, scarcely', ana-láugmha 'secretly'.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. anksztý-ba-s 'of an early kind, appearing early', beside anksztì adv. 'early', and, modelled on this word, velýba-s 'of a late kind' beside velaĩ adv. 'late'. Further, numerous abstract substantives in -y-b-e, derived from adjectives, as auksztýbė 'height, highness' from áuksztu-s 'high', jaunỹbe 'youth' from jáu-na-s 'young', bailỹbė 'timorousness' from bailũ-s 'timorous', kantrỹbe 'patience' from kantrũ-s 'patient'; Lettish has preserved the older unextended -ība, as āugstība, jāunība. Again we have primary nomina actionis in -yba -ybe, as dalybos pl. 'division of an inheritance' beside dalyti, 'to divide', tikyba tikỹbė 'faith' beside tikēti 'to believe'; cp. Lett. tizzība 'faith', māzība 'teaching, instruction' (māzīt 'to teach'). Lastly there are a few substantives in which we have the suffix added immediately to the root: dār-ba-s 'work', hence darbũ-s 'diligent' and dirbu 'I work', beside daryti 'to do'; gar-ba (Szyrwid) and garbė 'honour', hence garbũ-s 'honourable' and gerbiũ 'I honour', beside grrũ 'I praise'; similarly Lett. schķir-ba 'a split, rift', beside schķir-t (Lith. skĩr-ti) 'to split, part, divide'.

In Slavonic the suffix appears in substantives in -ba. O.C.Sl. qtro-ba 'intestines, belly' beside je-tro 'liver', see § 75 p. 189. 197 f. zūlo-ba 'wickedness' from zūlū 'wicked'. Serv. ruġo-ba 'disgraceful character' beside rug O.C.Sl. raqū 'disgrace', grdo-ba 'indecenty' beside O.C.Sl. grīdū 'proud, arrogant'. O.C.Sl. tatī-ba 'thievery, theft' from t atī 'thief', gostī-ba 'entertainment, cheer' from gostī 'guest'. Starting from forms like these -ība became an independent ending, e. g. družība 'companionship, friendship', from drugū 'companion, friend', sūlība 'embassy' from sūlū 'ambassador'. Cp. tatī-stvo, giving rise to sūl-istvo § 61 p. 117. The use of -ība was extended by the fact that the form became associated with verbs in -i-ti (like gosti-ti družī-ti); after this connexion had been established, abstract substantives in -ība were made directly from these verbs (cp. Miklosisch, Vergl. Gr. II 213 ff.). A few nouns in -ība were formed from the participle in -tū (-to-), as ženit-ība 'wooing, marriage, wedding' (also ženit-istvo), gostit-ība 'hospitality', orat-ība 'tillage', sēt-ība 'sowing'; this group of forms arose during the time when the part. pass. was still formed with -to- in these verbs.

§ 79. The Suffix -to- -tā-.

This suffix was both primary and secondary in the proethnic and later periods. We may classify its usage under four headings.

1. -to- -tā- as a primary suffix in participial adjectives and substantives connected with them¹).

The suffix was used to form a participial noun immediately from the root, e. g. klū-tō-* 'heard' from kleu- 'hear'. This formation must have been very common in the Indo-Germanic period.

The root (in the strict sense, cp. § 8 Rem. 1 p. 20) might, generally speaking, be replaced by any element or combination of elements which acted as a verbal stem; hence forms like yemā-to* 'vomited' Skr. vami-tā- Gr. ἐμι-τό-ς (ἐμε-το-ς) Lat.

1) Bordellé, De linguae Latinae adjectivis suffixo to a nominibus derivatis, Düsseldorf 1878 Birt, De participis Latini quae dicuntur perfecti passivi, Index lect. Marburg. 1883—84 (cp. with this treatise Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 550 ff.).

vomi-tu-s, or like dorki-to-* 'brought to sight', Skr. darśi-tā- Goth. ga-tarhi-p-s, partic. of dorkeiō*, causal of √derk- 'see', and those developed in the separate languages like ἀγανητός (āganaios) Lat. piscā-tu-s (piscari) Goth. fiskō-p-s (fiskō-n).

The addition of -to- to thematic present stems was no doubt a later process, even though it may have begun in the proethnic period; cp. e. g. Skr. darś-a-tā-s 'visible, worth seeing' Gr. ἐρπ-ε-τό-ν 'creeping thing', Gall. nem-e-to-n O.Ir. nemed n. 'sanctuary' (properly 'what is revered'). Cp. -e-ti- § 100. -o-to- also may be a proethnic form: Gr. βίο-το-ς βιοτή 'life, livelihood', O.Ir. biad n. 'livelihood', Lith. gyva-tā 'life, livelihood' O.C.Sl. živo-tū 'life, living thing'.

The meaning of these participial forms was generally passive, and with the exception of the last group (darśa-tā-s etc.), that of a perfect participle passive. But the passive sense can hardly have been originally attached to the suffix itself. Numerous forms occur with an active-intransitive sense which dates from the earliest period, such as bhū-tó-* 'become, grown', stā-tó-* 'having a position, standing', sru-tó-* 'having a flow, flowing'. The idea of completion or being complete, and hence of being in a particular condition seems to have been the essential element in the meaning of the forms derived from the verbal stem. Hence we have also active to-participles from active verbs, such as O.H.G. wīs 'skilful, wise' Gr. ἄ-ιστο-ς 'unskilful', Gr. τλήτο-ς 'enduring' ὑπ-οπτο-ς 'entertaining suspicion', Lat. cōn-sīderātū-s 'considerate, thoughtful' cēnātū-s 'who has dined' (cp. Mod.H.G. ein gelernter schlosser 'a trained locksmith' lit. 'who has learnt', ein erfahrener mann 'an experienced man', ein ehrvergessener mensch 'a dishonourable fellow', lit. 'one who has forgotten honour' etc.¹⁾

1) It need hardly be assumed that this sense was first introduced into the participles when they were compounded with other words and the meaning of the compound was epithetised (mutatum, § 50); e. g. Gr. ἄ-ιστο-ς 'being without anything known, without knowledge', Lat. in-cōsiderātū-s 'being without anything considered, without consideration'; and that it was only on the model of this group of words that the signification was extended to some of the participles when uncompounded.

At the same time, I do not suppose that the use of the to-participles is original in Latin deponents, where they share all the constructions of the present nt- participle and the finite verb, e. g. omnia cōfessus like omnia cōfiteñs and omnia cōnfiteor. This usage arose only after compound tenses like cōfessus sum had become part of the system of the finite verb.

The idea of completion and of being brought to an end is often replaced by one of capacity or possibility, as in Gr. λυ-τό-ς 'capable of being freed'. This change of meaning is no doubt proethnic in Idg. mor-to-s* 'mortal' (Skr mārta- Gr. βροτό-ς). But we find that in the separate languages this usage is seldom or never found except in participles compounded with the privative particle, or in some other form of negative expression. Compare, for examples of the first kind, Skr á-marta-s a-mṛta-s Gr. ἄμβροτο-ς 'immortal', Skr a-táta-s 'unsurpassable', á-jñta-s 'unfading', á-dadbha-s 'invulnerable, infallible', á-parīta-s 'unconquerable', Gr. ἄ-λυτο-ς 'indissoluble', ἄ-μεμπτο-ς 'blameless', ἀν-έκπληκτο-ς 'not to be confounded, or terrified', Lat. in-victu-s 'invincible' in-fectu-s 'not to be done, impossible', in-numerātu-s 'innumerable', Goth un-saht-s 'incontestable', un-atgāht-s 'unapproachable', cp. also O.Ir. dī-brúthe 'unportabilis'; and of the second, οἷκ ἀνετό-ς 'not to be borne', οἷκ ὀνομαστό-ς 'not to be named' in Homer. Hence we may infer that this meaning first arose in negative expressions. It spread most widely in Greek, further examples are νοητό-ς 'comprehensible', θαυμαστό-ς 'wonderful', πατό-ς 'passable, practicable (of roads)'.

In every language we meet with a number of forms in -to- which stand in no actual connexion with any verbal system, and are therefore simply adjectives, as Skr. śī-tá- 'cold', Lat. al-tu-s 'high', Goth. raiht-s 'right'. Some of these may date from a period of the proethnic language in which the adjectives formed with -to- had not yet been associated with the verb, and thus may never have been participles at all.

Even in the Indo-Germanic period these to-formations were often used as substantives, partly to denote living beings (masc., fem.) and concrete material things (neut.), partly as abstract substantives (§ 158). In the latter usage this suffix, like -o-, is often found in the masculine. The feminine -tā-, forming abstract substantives, had even then become secondary. This point will be further discussed in the next section.

The to-stems formed immediately from the root usually have the weak grade of ablaut in the root-syllable, e. g. klu-tó-* klū-tó-. Beside this, however, we often find the forms of the strong grade, especially in substantival uses. With this is generally united a difference of accent. Cp. e. g. klēu-to-m 'hearing' beside klū-tó-s* 'heard', mór-to-s 'mortal' beside mr-tó-s* 'dead'¹). Here too it is not clear how the different grades were originally distributed. Compare the relations of the different grades in ti-stems, § 99.

Remark 1. Analogy often gave rise to mixed forms. For example, Germ. mīn-þa-n* n. 'murder' beside Skr. mr-tó-m has the accent of mer-to-* or mōr-to-* (Skr. mār-ta-), Germ. gūl-þa-n* n. 'gold' that of ghél-to-* (Lett. fe'l-t-s) or ghól-to-* (O.C Sl. zlato), and vice versa, Gr μορ-τό-ς (Hesych, — if the word is rightly accented) beside Skr. mār-ta-s has the accent of mr-tó- (Skr. mr-tá-s), Gr βερό-ς is a confusion of βερό-ς* (= mī-tó-s*) and μόρ-το-ς*. There are many other instances.

So far as I can see, we are not warranted in referring forms like Gr. μορτό-ς φάρο-ς, O.H G. hal-d = pr. Germ. xāl-þa-z*, O.C Sl. zlato = pr. Slav. zol-to*, to ground-forms with f, f (mī-to-s* etc.), though it would be phonetically possible (see I § 308 p. 241 ff.). Cp. Gr κοι-το-ς κοί-τη beside κί-ται, οἰ-το-ς beside εἰ-μι, νόσ-το-ς beside νόσμαι, βρον-τή beside βρέμω Lith. bras-tà beside brėdū, and so forth.

Where participles of this kind have strong-grade vocalism, we can hardly help suspecting in many cases that it is due to the analogy of other forms of the verbal system; e. g. Gr. δεκ-τό-ς beside δέξα etc. contrasted with Skr. diṣ-tá-s (from √ dekḥ-).

Indo-Germanic. klū-tó-* 'heard, famous', √ kleu-: Skr. śrutá-s (Avest. srūta-), Gr. κλυτό-ς, Lat. in-clutu-s, O.Ir. cloth (O.Bret. clot 'glory'; perhaps f.), O.H.G. Hlot-hari Lothair (Kλυτόστρατος* would have the same meaning) hlūt ('loud'); γενε-της 'birth, origin', made masculine γενε-της 'begetter, offspring' (cp. under Greek p. 229). With respect to the vowel-gradation of the stem these forms stand on a level with such others as Gr. φερ-τός, while such forms as Gr. κη-τός (beside κύμα-τος) no doubt correspond to the Skr. bhṛ-tā.

1) The use of strong-grade forms as substantives no doubt indicates that originally the Noun had but one set of forms for both its adjectival and its substantival meaning. Isolation from the adjective in use brought with it isolation in form. Cp. § 158.

Causative and Denominative formations: dorki-tó-* from dorkéō* 'I bring to sight, show', √ derk- 'see': Skr. darśi-tā 'shown' (darśayāmi), Goth. ga-tarhi-þ-s 'blameworthy, notorious' (ga-tarhja 'I point out, blame'). uosi-tó-, from uoséō 'to make put on, clothe', √ ues 'put on something': Skr. vāsi-tā 'clothed' (vāśayāmi), Goth. vasi-þ-s 'clothed' (vasja). moni-tó-, from monéō, √ men- 'think, intend': Skr. mānitā 'honoured' (mānāyāmi), Lat. moni-tu-s 'made aware, reminded, taught' (moneō); Skr. mānita-m 'a showing honour to'. The character of the formations in the several languages is so different, that it is somewhat doubtful whether to-participles were formed from true denominatives in Indo-Germanic; cp. c. g. Skr. mantri-ta- 'advised, discussed' (mantrāyāmi, māntra-s), Gr. δορη-τός 'presented with, given' (δορέω, δωρο-ν).

In the separate languages these participles served as the model for a number of adjectives in -to- derived immediately from substantives or adjectives, and meaning 'furnished with, made into' and the like; e. g. Skr. anukuritā- 'with young shoots' from anakra- 'young shoot', arunita- 'reddened' from arunī- 'red', Gr. θυσσarovτός 'tasselled' from θύσarovς 'tassel', Lat. cordātu-s from cor (cord-), ātrātu-s from ater, Goth. un-gēniþ-s 'unmarried', from gēn-s 'woman', Lith. kalnāta-s 'mountainous' from kálna-s 'mountain', bradatū 'bearded' from brada 'beard'.

In Aryan, Greek and Italic -to- is used also as a secondary suffix, and added immediately to the noun-stem, just as if this were a verb-stem. In Aryan this only occurs in compounds, so that here -to- has the same function as -to- in adjectival compounds (see § 63 p. 126); e. g. Skr. án-ap-ta- 'not watery' from ap- 'water' Avest. hu-patar-ta- 'well-winged' from a form patara-* 'wing' (§ 74 p. 182); cp. Lat. auro-clāvātu-s, Eng. hare-hearted, lily-livered, and the like (see under Germ. p. 234). Similarly Gr. ἀ-γέρας-το-ς 'unhonoured by gifts, unrewarded' from γέρας 'gift of honour', ἀ-χείμαν-το-ς 'without storms, without cold' from χείμα χειμῶν 'storm, winter's cold'; but along with these we have γέλασ-τό-ς from γέλαω, a denom. verb from γελας-* 'laugh' (Solmsen, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 109), ἀκισ-τό-ς from ἀκίομαι, denom. from ἄκος n. 'remedy', and the like. Lat. liber-tu-s (Falisc. lofer-ta 'liberta'), from Lat. liber, sceles-tu-s from scelus -er-is. We may conjecture that the participial -to- was added immediately to noun-stems in the class of Indo-Germanic substantives in -mṛ-to- and -mṛ-to-, which will be discussed separately in § 82 p. 249. This group of words undoubtedly belongs to the protoethnic period.

Examples of -e-to- -o-to- are given above, p. 219, and under the separate languages below.

In Sanskrit the use of -to- was restricted by that of the parallel suffix -no-, which had a similar meaning; see § 66, 1 p. 139 ff.

Skr. -i-ta- = -a-to- occurs not only in vami-ta- (p 223) but also e. g. in vani-ta- 'loved' (aor. vani-ṣiṣ-ṭa-), dhāmi-tā- 'kindled' (fut. dhāmi-ṣya-ti), cari-tā-m 'course' (inf. cāri-tum).

-i-ta- in Causatives and Denominatives. Skr. vēditā- 'informed', beside vēdāyati 'gives to understand, informs'. Avest. raoḍitā- 'great', from rud- 'grow'. Formed directly from the noun: Skr. aṅkuṣita- 'stung' from aṅkuṣā- 'sting, hook', karnakītā- 'having side-branches' from kārnaka-s 'side-branch', karbūrta- 'speckled' from karburā- 'speckled', Avest. masita- 'great' from mas-ah- mas-an- n. Like Skr. ān-ap-ta- (see above p. 224) we have also ā-manyu-ta- 'harbouring no enmity', from manyū-ṣ 'enmity'.

Idg. -e-to-. Skr. darś-a-tā- Avest. dar's-a-ta- 'worth seeing', $\sqrt{derk-}$ 'see'. Skr. yaj-a-tā- Avest. yaz-a-ta- 'worthy of honour', $\sqrt{yaj-}$ 'honour'. Many -to- participles have quite the character of adjectives. A few examples may be given. Skr. dyāhāt- 'firm' (Lat. fortis fortis, transferred to the i-decl., √ dhergh-), śyē-tā- 'white', śīt-tā- 'cold', sār-ta- 'clear', tṛṣ-tā- 'rough', tig-itā- 'sharp', redupl. īā-vā-ta- 'dear'. Avest. sar-ta- 'cold, cool': Lith. szāl-ta-s 'cold'.

Further examples of the substantival value in these forms are: Skr. dū-tā- Avest. dū-ta- m. 'messenger' (one gone into the distance), Skr. su-tā-s 'soma-juice' (that which has been pressed out): Skr. ghāta-s 'blow, killing'; Skr. gār-ta-s 'high chair'; Avest. ka-ta- m. 'grave'. Greek. Here the to- participles were less closely connected with the other forms of the verbal system than in Aryan, Italic and elsewhere. They were restricted to the attributive use.

ἀγαπη-τό-ς Dor. ἀγαπᾶ-τό-ς 'beloved' from ἀγαπάω. κοσμη-τό-ς 'set in order' κοσμή-τη-ς 'orderer' from κοσμέω. χολω-τό-ς

'enraged' from χολόω. μηνί-της 'wrathful man' from μηνίω. ἀρτυ-τός 'prepared, seasoned' (of meats) from ἀρτύνω. πορευ-τός 'wandering' from πορεύω. ἀκεσ-τός 'curable' from ἀκέομαι for ἀκεσ-ιο-μαι*. ἱμερ-τός 'longed after, lovely' from ἱμείρω. ὑφαν-τός 'woven' ὑφάν-της 'weaver' from ὑφαίνω. ληιστός 'captured' from ληΐζομαι. ὀνομαστός 'that can be named' from ὀνομάζω. Examples of words formed directly from nouns are: κοντωτός 'furnished with punting poles' (κοντός) καρνωτός 'shaped like a nut (κάρυον)', words like these gave the type from which σαλπιγγωτός 'shaped like a trumpet' (σάλπιγγ-) and others of the same kind were formed; further, ἀ-γέραςτος 'without gifts of honour' (γέρας), ἀτριβαστος 'not worn, unharmed' (beside ἀτριβής), and other words.

Idg. -e-to- (ep. -e-ti- § 100). ἔλε-τός 'that can be grasped'. εὔρε-τός 'to be found', εὔρε-τής 'inventor'. Denominative forms: νοιε-τάω 'dwell', ἀρι-δείκετος 'worth seeing, remarkable'. δακε-τόν 'biting creature'. Cp. also ἀν-ήνυτος 'that cannot be completed'. beside ἀνύ-ω (Skr. sa-nō-mi), πινυ-τός 'wise' for πνυ-νυ-το-* I § 48 p. 41 (cp. Skr. pu-nū-mi 'I purify, clear up'); these words therefore contain the -νεμ- -νου- which is used in forming the present stem With -o-to-. βίο-τος βιο-τή 'life, livelihood': O.Ir. biad etc., see above, p. 219.

Further examples of substantives formed with this suffix are: νόσ-τος 'return home'. Skr. ās-ta-m Avest. as-te-m 'home' for us-to-m* (Bartholomae, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 483), O.H.G. nes-t n. Abstract tā- stems were employed to denote persons of the masculine gender (§ 149. 157); hence came the large class of masculines in -τάς, like γενέ-της act. 'begetter', pass. 'he that is begotten' beside γενε-τή 'origin, birth', and κριτής 'judge', δέκτης 'receiver', προφητής 'interpreter of oracles, soothsayer', ποιητής 'maker, poet', ἐδνωτής 'bride's father', ἐκτής 'suppliant'; cp. § 80 p. 239 f.

Italic. In this group of languages the to- participles filled a larger and more important place than in any other.

Remark 2. The ending -so-s, which had a regular phonetic origin in scissu-s visu-s esu-s morsu-s per-culsu-s and similar forms, spread beyond its proper sphere, e. g. lapsu-s, fixu-s, sparsu-s, mulsu-s (beside multu-s), cēnu-s, hausu-s (beside haustu-s). This was furthered by the analogy of the s-perfect. The parallelism of con-cussu-s: con-cussi, laesu-s: laesi, sen-su-s: sēsi gave rise to fixu-s beside fixi, sparsu-s beside sparsi, etc. On the analogy of pendō: pēnsu-s, we find in-tēnsu-s formed beside ten-tu-s (pres. tendō), cp. p. 161 footnote 2. Conversely we have com-estu-s instead of com-esu-s on the analogy of haus-tu-s ges-tu-s.

In Latin the terminations -a-to- -i-to- -e-to- became indistinguishable. molī-tu-s (molere), ali-tu-s beside al-tu-s (alere), pī(n)si-tu-s beside pī(n)su-s (pīnsere), O Lat. ad-gretu-s for -gred(i)-to-s* (I § 501 Rem. 2 p. 368) beside ad-grcssu-s (ad-gredi); moni-tu-s (monēre); habi-tu-s (habēre); domi-tu-s (domāre), veti-tu-s beside vetā-tu-s (vetāre), im-plicitu-s beside im-plicātu-s (im-plicare). Cp. the abstract nouns in -itiō § 100.

prīvā-tu-sa mā-tu-s etc. olētū-m 'ordure', monē-ta. vesti-tu-s, fini-tu-s etc. statū-tu-s, tribū-tu-s etc. Participles were formed directly from nouns more frequently in Italic than in the other groups of languages: ānsā-tu-s from ānsa, barbā-tu-s from barba, ātrā-tu-s from āter, aurī-tu-s from auri-s, cīnctū-tu-s from cinctu-s (gen. cīnctūs) and, by a further transference of ending, e. g. gradātu-s from gradu-s (gen. gradūs), arcuātu-s from arcu-s (gen. arcūs), dentātu-s from dēns (gen. dent-is), galēritu-s from galēru-s, patrītu-s from pater, nāsūtu-s from nāsu-s. An isolated example has -ōtu-s: aegrōtu-s from aeger (stem aegro-). -to- is also added immediately to the stem as a secondary suffix; e. g. liber-tu-s Falisc. loferta 'liberta', jas-tu-s, sceles-tu-s, Umbr. mersto 'iustum' = mers-(e)s-to* med-(e)s-to* from mei-s mers 'ius', Lat. onūs-tu-s, vetus-tu-s, ūber-tu-s, senec-tu-s; often to denote places which contain anything, as arbus-tu-m, cārec-tu-m, virgūl-tu-m. Hence come also the adjectives in -ōnsu-s -ōsu-s, as formō(n)su-s vīrōsu-s, for -ouensso- i. e. -o-upt + to- (see I § 238 p. 199 f., § 501 p. 368, II § 127): cp. Avest. ašavasta- 'pure, upright' (n. 'purity, uprightness' from aša-vant- 'possessed of purity, pure, upright').

Adjectives. Lat. sanctu-s Umbr. sahta Osc. saah túm, see p. 230 above. Lat. citu-s, catu-s, curtus, stlātu-s latu-s 'outspread, wide' (for stf-to-*, cp. O.C.Sl. stelja 'sterno'), ex-celsu-s, pēnsu-s, at-tentu-s, altu-s, beātu-s argātu-s, and other examples.

Substantives. Lat. lēgātu-s Osc. ligatúis 'legatis'; Lat. hortu-s Osc. húrtúm. Gr. χόρ-το-ς 'grass, place for grazing, courtyard', O.Ir. gor-t 'seges' lub-gort 'vegetable garden' (cp. I § 389 p. 291); Lat. lectu-s lectu-m 'lying-place', lutu-s lutu-m, cubitu-s, palatu-s palatu-m. Lat. dictu-m, jussu-m, strātu-m, tērtu-m, in-cestu-m, olētu-m. Lat. multa Umb. motar Osc. moltam, see p. 230 above, Lat. Vesta, of-fēnsa, in-pēnsa, re-pulsa, sub-sessa, secta, fossa; Umbr. totam 'civitatem'. Osc. toivto τωfro 'civitas' pr. Ital. toytā-*: O.Ir. tuath f. 'people', Goth. þiuda 'people', ground-form teytā-*, $\sqrt{tey-}$ 'tumere'

Old Irish. The participial -to- still survives as a verbal suffix, in the preterite passive, a periphrastic formation which is only found in the 3. sing. and 3 pl. (the verb substantive has been dropped). ro alt 'educatus est' (alim 'educō'): Lat. al-tu-s. ro chēt 'cantus est' (cunim 'cano'): Lat. can-tu-s. do-breth Mid.Ir. 'datum est' (do-biur 'I bring, give'): Skr. bhṛ-tā etc. ro fess 'scitum est': Skr. vittā etc. ro both 'one was': Gr. φύ-ρό-ν 'growth' Lith. bū-ta-s 'dwelling, house' Skr. bhū-tā 'become'. ro chloss 'auditum est', $\sqrt{kley-}$. ro erbad 'commisum, creditum est' beside pres. 3. sing. erbad 'credit'. This group of forms no doubt sprang from the impersonal use of the neuter.

In some words the old participial form has a purely adjectival value. necht 'pure': Skr. nik-tā 'washed', Gr. ἄ-ντρο-ς 'unwashed'. cloth 'famed': Skr. śru-tā etc., see p. 221 nocht 'naked': Goth. nuqaþ-s. gnāth 'known, accustomed': Skr. jñā-tā etc., see p. 221. Generally the participles which were used as adjectives were not also used as the pret. pass., cp. cloth beside ro chloss.

The participial meaning still survives in -the, an extension of the suffix by -jo- (cp. Gr. ἀμβροσίω-ς: ἄμβροτο-ς, Skr. mārtiya-: mārta-, O.H.G. wīsi 'wise' Mid.H.G. sihte 'shallow'). bruthe brethe 'brought': Skr. bhy-tā-. cēte 'cantus'. er-ite 'susceptus' beside 3.sing. pres. conj. -air-ema 'suscipiat': Lat. ēm-p-tu-s. tuicse 'electus' beside to-gu 'choice', from -gus-t-iō-: Skr. jūṣ-tā- jūṣ-ta- 'beloved, desired', Gr. γ+υσ-τό-ς 'tasted, to be tasted', A.S. ge-cost 'valuable' ✓ geys-. Sometimes the idea of capacity, possibility is implied, as in rithe 'vendible' (also 'sold, given up') beside re-nim 'I give up, sell', di-brithe 'importabilis'. There is certainly a connexion between the use of -the-forms as participles, and the conversion of the predicative -to-participle into a preterite passive. Preference was given to the existing -tīo-forms in order to make a distinction in form answering to the distinction in sense; and then new -tīo-forms were made at will and used as participles. The same thing happened in Cymric, only the suffix employed there for the participles was not -t-īo-, but -(e)tic which came from -t-īco- (Zeuss-Ebel, Gr. C. p. 532).

On the other hand, we have the simple -to- -tā- in partic. used as substantives. gor-t m. 'seges': Gr. χόρ-το-ς, see p. 232 above. mlicht blicht m. (Mid.Ir.) 'milk': Lat. mulcto etc., see above p. 222. der-met n. 'a forgetting': Skr. ma-tā-m, see p. 222 above. nemed (Gall. neme-to-n) n. 'sacred thing' ('something honoured'), ✓ nem-. dliged n. 'law'. biad n. 'means of livelihood': Gr. βίω-το-ς βίω-τή 'life, livelihood' etc., see p. 219 above. both f. 'dwelling-place, hut'; cp. above ro both. loth f. 'filth'. Lat. lu-tu-s lu-tu-m. breth f. 'judgement, sentence'. im-thecht f. 'going round, change'. ed-bart ed-part f. 'oblatio'.

Cp. Gall. amb-actu-s 'bondman, servant' orig. 'one sent about, messenger' (see p. 228), Celtu-s Crestu-s Ate-gnatu-s Ate-gnata, Taiocaru pl. ('pilati'), Sematu-s Cirata, and many similar forms.

Germanic. -to- was a living participial suffix in derivative verbs (Causative and Denominative), e. g. Goth. nasīþ-s O.H.G. gi-nerit 'saved' from nasjan nerien 'to save'; Goth. ga-tarhiþ-s 'blame-worthy, notorious' from ga-tarhjan 'to mark out, blame': Skr. darśitā- 'shown'; pāursīþ-s 'thirsty' from pāurseiþ mik 'I am thirsty', lit. 'it thirsts me': Skr. trṣitā- 'thirsty'; Goth. salbōþ-s O.H.G. gi-salbōt 'anointed' from salbōn 'to anoint'; Goth. habáiþ-s O.H.G. gi-habēt 'had' from haban habēn 'to have'. Further in Gothic, we have such partic. attached to the preterite-presents, e. g. mund-s 'meant, thought' beside man 'I think, mean': Skr. matā- etc., skuld-s 'owed' beside skal 'I ought, maht-s 'able, possible', beside may 'I can'. Lastly they occur in certain strong verbs which have preterites in -ta, e. g. Goth. vaurht-s O.H.G. gi-worht -worht beside Goth. vaurkjan O.H.G. wurthen 'work': Avest. varštu- 'worked, done' Gr. ἄρρητο-ς 'undone' ✓ uer-g-, Goth. þūht-s* O.H.G. gi-daht (pr. Germ þurəχ-ta-*, I § 214 p 181) beside þungjan dunken 'to seem', Goth. braht-s* O.H.G. braht (pr. Germ. brany-ta-*) beside briggan bringan 'to bring'. In all other cases -eno- -ono- was the participial suffix in use (§ 67 p 149 ff), and in O.H.G. it appears also in preterite-presents (gi-wizzan from wēiz 'I know', gi-torran from gi-tar 'I dare', and occasionally in the strong verbs with t-preterites (brungan, side by side with braht).

The suffix also formed participles directly from nouns. Goth. un-gēniþ-s 'not having a wife', from gēn-s 'woman'. O.H.G. gestirnūt 'having a brow or front' from gustirn gestirne n. 'brow', Mid H.G. ge-jāret 'aged' lit. 'be-yearred'. O.Icel. hærd-r 'covered with hair'. In the development of Anglo-Saxon and Norse there appears a special group of adjectival compounds derived in this way, e. g. Engl. hare-hearted, hare-lipped, bare-footed, bare-headed, O.Icel. bjart-litað-r 'bright-coloured', sex-hofðað-r 'six-headed', gull-billað-r 'with golden bridle': cp. Skr. án-aptā- 'not watery' Lat. auro-clāvātu-s p. 224.

Idg. -e-to- is no doubt to be traced in O.H.G. hulid n. 'velamentum', egida f. 'harrow' (: Mod.Cymr. oged O.Corn. ocet 'harrow') and other words. -o-to- in Goth. naqaþ-s beside O.Icel. nökkveð-r nökkvið-r O.Ir. nocht 'naked' (cp. Skr. nag-na- with the participial suffix -no-), Goth. liuhaþ n., side by side with O.H.G. hoht n. 'light'.

It is common in adjectives. Further examples are: Goth. vun-d-s O.H.G. wunt 'wounded': Gr. Fato- in Φατάλαι. οὐλαί

(Hesych.). Goth. bi-ūht-s 'accustomed': Lith. j-ūnkta-s 'accustomed' (cp. Osthoff, Paul-Br. Beitr. VIII 269). O.H.G. zorah-t O.Sax. torht toroht 'clear, bright': Skr. dyṣṣā-s 'seen', common ground-form dyṣ-tó-* Goth. faúrh-t-s O.Sax. forht 'timid'. Balto-Slavonic

In Lithuanian the to-participle is still in regular use with a passive sense in verbs of all classes. gīr-ta-s 'famed': Skr. gūr-ta-s 'approved, welcome, pleasant', ground-form gṛ-to-* and gṛ-to-*. pil-ta-s 'poured, shed': Skr. pūr-tā- 'filled', ground-form pṛ-to-* and pṛ-to-*. kušta-s 'hewn' (pres. kert-ù): Skr. kytta-s 'cut off, split', ground-form qṛt-to-*, √ qert-. sūk-ta-s 'turned' (pres. suk-ù). at-sėkta-s 'traced out, found out': Lat. sec-ta sectārī. dė-ta-s 'laid' (pres. dedù) Skr. -dhi-ta- etc., see p. 223 above. jėszkó-ta-s 'sought' (pres. jėszkau). pa-veizdėta-s 'examined, revised' (pres. pa-vėizdmi). tėkų-ta-s ('properly united' (pres. tėikau). duksin-ta-s 'gilded' (pres. duksinu). bušnų-ta-s 'saddled' (pres. bašnųju). Also act.-intrans, but only rarely, as bū-ta neutr. 'been', e. g. czuón yrà būtu 'people have been here' ¹⁾. Skr. bhū-tā- 'become'. važių-ta-s 'riding (in a carriage)' (pres. važiųju 'I ride').

Partec. in -ė-ta-s and -ū-ta-s are often formed directly from nouns. dūlkėta-s 'dusty' from dūlkes pl. 'dust'. skylėta-s 'perforated' from skylė 'hole'. kalmū-ta-s 'mountainous, full of mountains' from kálna-s 'mountain', gaurū-ta-s 'with delicate hair' from gaurai pl. 'delicate hair'. qasū-ta-s 'with a handle' from qasà 'handle', lūpūta-s 'lipped' from lūpa 'lip'.

In Old Church Slavonic -to- was but little used as a participial suffix. It occurs regularly in forms from roots ending in a nasal, e. g. žę-tū 'hewn, mown': Lith. gīn-ta-s 'hunted, driven' (used of cattle), Skr. hā-ta-s etc., see p. 225 above; pę-tū 'stretched, hung': Lith. pīn-ta-s 'twisted'; ję-tū 'taken':

1) Jis rādo svėtimo būta 'he found that there was a stranger' properly 'the existing of a stranger', with the same nominal construction as the passive participles have.

Lith. iñ-ta-s 'taken'. Besides these, it occurs in certain roots with rĭ, i, ē before the suffix, e. g. pro-strĭtū 'outstretched': Skr. stṛ-tā-s etc., see p. 222 above; vi-tū 'wounded': Lith. vġ-ta-s 'twisted' (of cords), pĕ-tū 'sung'. Elsewhere -eno- (-no-) was the usual form, see § 67 p. 151 and p. 154 f.

Partec. in -a-tū, from nouns, are common. bradatū 'bearded' from brada 'beard': Lat. barbātu-s, cp. also Lith. barzdāta-s. rogatū 'horned' from rogū 'horn': cp. Lith. ragūta-s. ženatū 'having a wife' from žena 'woman'. mažata 'maritata' from mažĭ 'man'.

-e-to- -o-to- in Balto-Slavonic The former is sometimes found in Slavonic, as O.C.Sl. trep-etū 'tremor' Little-Russ. trep-eta 'aspen'; O.C.Sl. kreč-etū 'cicala'. -o-to-: Lith. gyvatā 'life, livelihood'. O.C.Sl. životū 'life, living being': Gr. βίo-ρο-ς etc., see p. 219 above; Lett. luppata-s 'patch, shred' (lup-t Lith. lūp-ti 'to pare, flay'); Lith. sūkata 'giddy sickness (of sheep)' sūk-ti 'to turn'), adatū Lett. addata 'needle' (Lith. ad-ýti 'to stitch'); O.C.Sl. klokotū 'bubbling' (subst.), klopotū 'noise' Pol. kłopot 'unrest', Czech blekot 'yelping' (subst.) (O.C.Sl. blekotati 'to bleat' Russ. blekotat 'to stammer'), dušot 'roar', sišot 'hiss', lakota 'eager desire'.

In Adjectives it is common. Lith. spīsta-s 'pressed, thick' (beside spintū spīsti 'to fly out in swarms', of bees) Lat. spissu-s. Lith. skŷs-ta-s 'with a thin stream', dialectically also 'pure, clear' of liquids, skāis-ta-s 'clear, shining', O.C.Sl. čis-tū 'pure, holy', beside Lith. skédžiu 'I part, separate, rarefy'. § 80. 2. -tā- as a secondary suffix, forming abstract substantives¹⁾.

The suffix -tā- which, as we have seen, formed primary abstract substantives in the protoethnic and later periods, as Avest. cis-tā- 'wisdom', Gr. ἀρε-τή 'virtue', Lat. multa 'punishment', O.Ir. ed-bart f. 'oblatus', Goth. skun-da 'shame', Lith. gel-ta 'yellowness', O.C.Sl. vrīs-ta 'position, stage', (see § 79), had also begun to be used in the proethnic period as a secondary suffix, and formed abstract substantives from substantives and adjectives alike. It seems to have been even then extended to -tat- -tati- (§ 102), and in some languages it was partly or wholly superseded by this suffix or by -tūt-(i)- (see loc. cit.).

-tā- was fertile in Aryan, Greek, Germanic, and Slavonic.

Indo-Germanic. Lat. juven-tā, Goth. junda 'youth' pr. Germ. juun-dō*, ground-form juun-tā*, beside Skr. yuvan- 'young, young man' Lat. juven-; cp. juun-ti-s*, § 101. Before -tā-, o-stems had either -o- or -e-; the difference was doubtless connected with a difference in accent (cp. especially Germ. -é-bō- and -e-āō-). Skr. pūrṇa-tā 'a being full, fullness', O.I.I.G. fulli-da O.Sax. fulli-tha O.C.Sl. plūno-ta 'fulness', beside Skr. pūrṇá-s Goth. full-s O.C.Sl. plūnū 'full'; Skr. ghōra-tā 'awfulness', Goth. gáuri-tha 'trouble, beside ghōrá-s 'awful' gáur-s 'troubled'; Skr. kṛṣṇa-tā O.C.Sl. črĭno-ta 'blackness', beside kṛṣṇá-s, črĭnū 'black', Skr. dīrgha-tā O.C.Sl. dlūgo-ta 'length', beside dīrghá-s, dlūgū 'long'.

Aryan. Skr. dēvā-tā 'divinity' from dēvā-s 'god'. nagnā-tā 'nakedness' from nagná-s 'naked', cp. O.C.Sl. nago-ta 'nakedness'. avīra-tā 'want of sons, or children' from a-vīra-s 'without sons, or children'. Avest. yešnya-tā 'adorableness' from yešnya- 'adorable'. Skr. bandhū-tā 'relationship' from bāndhu-ś 'relative, relationship'. agō-tā 'want of cattle' from á-gō- 'without cattle', cp. Gr. πολυβούτης 'one rich in cattle'. aprajās-tā 'want of offspring' from á-pra-jas- 'without offspring'.

Greek. Here these abstract substantives were used of persons (cp. Skr. dēvā-tā 'divinity' then 'deity, god', O.C.Sl. juno-ta 'young man', orig. 'youthfulness'); and they were altered to look like masculines by a change of form in the nom. and gen. sing., just as γενετή became γενετή-ς (see § 79 p. 229 f.). It is now impossible to distinguish the forms in which this change first took place and which then served as models for the rest. The feminines in -tā in their abstract meaning fell out of use in prehistoric times, replaced no doubt by forms in -tat-; compare e. g. βαρυ-της -της-ος 'weight' with Skr. guru-tā-

'weight', Goth. kaúriþa 'burden', βραδύ-της -τητος (also -της τῆτος) 'slowness' with Skr. mṛdu-tā- 'softness'. The following are examples of this change to the masculine gender: — ἀγρό-της 'dweller in the country' from ἀγρός, δημό-της 'fellow demesman' from δήμος, ἵππό-τα 'charioteer' (-τα is the vocative form, which was also used as nominative, see the Author Morph. Unt. II 199 f Fleckeisen's Jahrbh. 1880 p. 660, G. Meyer Gr. Gr.² 318) from ἵππος. οἰκέ-της 'member of one's household' from οἶκος, which served as the type for ἐνέ-της 'sharer of one's bed, husband', beside ἐννή and the like. πολύ-βούτης 'one rich in cattle' from βούς. ναύ-της 'sailor' from ναῦς.

The primary and secondary formations had two points of contact. First, e. g. οἰκέ-της and γενέ-της had the same ending -έτης; and secondly certain of them could be regarded equally well as denominative or as participial formations, e. g. κορυσ-τής 'helmed, armed man, warrior' κεράσ-της 'horned creature, ram' αἰχμη-τής 'javelin-thrower'.

Italic Examples are rare juven-ta (see above, p. 239) and its opposite senec-ta, Majes-ta Vulcan's consort. It is clear that -tat(i)- and -tūt(i)- have spread at the expense of -tā-.

Latin perhaps, as well as Greek, may have had masculines in -tā-: eques equitis like ἵππό-τα and the like. See on this point § 123 Rem. 1.

Germanic. All the forms excepting Goth. jun-da (see above, p. 239) had -iþō- or -idō-. (the latter is rare, e. g. Goth. áupida 'wilderness' from áup-s 'waste, desolate'). -i- represents the Idg. -e- of the o-stems; but here and there Idg. -i- may have been the original sound, as in O.H.G. gi-meini-da 'community' beside Goth. ga-máini- 'common, communis'. Even in proethnic Germanic -iþō- (-idō-) was transferred to other classes of stems, e. g. to those in -u-; the word jun-da escaped this change merely because the stem from which it was derived (= Skr. yúvan-) had fallen out of independent use.

These abstract substantives were far more frequently derived from adjectives than from substantives.

Goth. vargiþa 'damnation' from varga-* m. O.H.G. warg m. 'outlawed criminal, banished evildoer'. Goth. veitvōdiþa 'evidence' from veitvōþ-s 'witness'. A.S. ðyftā O.Icel. þýftā 'theft' from ðeof þýft-r 'thief'. Goth. hauhþa O.H.G. hōhida 'height' from hauh-s hōh 'high'. O.H.G. heilida O.Icel. heilā 'health' from O.H.G. heil O.Icel. heill 'healthy'. Goth. niujiþa 'newness' from niuji-s 'new'. fairniþa 'age' from fairnei-s 'old'. tulgiþa 'safety, fortification', from tulgu-s 'firm'.

In West-Germanic and Norse -iþō- was associated with the verbs in -jan, since verbs of this kind were often connected with the nouns from which the -iþō- forms were derived and -i- was a characteristic mark of their conjugation, cp. e. g. O.H.G. hōhida beside hōhen (Goth. hauhjan) 'to exalt'. Hence arose analogical primary formations, which were most common in High German, as O.H.G. gi-hōrida 'hearing' formed from gi-hōren (Goth. ga-hausjan) 'to hear', ir-lōsida 'release' (subst.) from ir-lōsen (Goth. us-lausjan) 'to release'. Later on these were formed from other verbs than those in -jan; as O.H.G. far-manida 'contempt' from far-manōn, gi-habida 'bearing, behaviour' from gi-habēn, ant-findida 'feeling' from ant-findan.

Balto-Slavonic.

In Lithuanian -tā- is quite rare in this use, e. g. sveika-tā 'health' from sveika-s 'healthy'. Possibly -tā was not pure Lithuanian, but borrowed from Slavonic; cp. nogatā (nūgatā) 'nakedness' from Pol. nagota, siratā 'orphan' from Pol. sierota Little-Russ. syrota.

Old Church Slavonic. rabota 'servitude' from rabū 'servant', gnusota 'dirtiness' from gnusū 'dirt', eramota 'shame' from sramū 'shame'. dobrota 'goodness' from dobrū 'good', pīstrotā 'motley colouring' from pīstrū 'motley', bēlota 'whiteness' from bēlū 'white', žestota 'hardness' from žestū 'hard'. Some have become 'concrete: sirota f. 'orphan', orig. 'bereavement', from sirū 'bereaved, orbus' and junota m. 'young man', orig. 'youth' from junū 'young'. Cp. above, p. 289, Gr. ἀγρό-της etc., and § 157.

§ 81. 3. -to- as a Suffix of Comparison. This class includes the -to- of the ordinal numerals, and the superlative -is-to- which is an extension of the primary comparative-suffix -ies- (§ 135).

An extension of -to- by -mo- forms the superlative-suffix -tymo-, which was discussed in § 73 p. 177 ff.

Indo-Germanic. The numerals in this period had sometimes -mo- (§ 72, 2 p. 166 ff.), sometimes -to-, sometimes perhaps both forms, e. g. dekmō-* and dekmtō-* 'tenth'. The latter form was the original of Gr. δέκα-το-ς, Goth. taihun-da, Lith. dėszim-ta-s O.C.Sl. desę-tū. Skr. cathur-thā-s, Gr. τέταρ-το-ς τέτρα-ρο-ς, Lat. quar-tu-s for ctvar-to-s*, O.H.G. fior-do (n-stem), Lith. ketviř-ta-s O.C.Sl. četrŕ-tū 'fourth'. Skr. ṣaṣ-thā-s, Gr. ἕξ-ρο-ς, Lat. sex-tu-s, Goth. saihs-ta (n-stem), Lith. šėš-ta-s O.C.Sl. šes-tū 'sixth', cp. I § 589 Rem. 2 p. 446. Gr. εἰκοσ-τό-ς Boeot. ἑἰκασ-τό-ς 'twentieth' contrasted with Avest. vīśas-tema- Lat. vicensimu-s, see above, p. 177.

Remark 1. dēkm* 'ten' has the parallel form dekmt* (Skr. daśāt-ī 'decade', Goth. taihun, Lith. dėszimt, pl dėszimi-s, O.C.Sl. pl. desę-t-e, see I § 244 p. 202, § 664, 2 p. 522, II § 123); this naturally suggests the comparison, dekmtō-s*:dekmt* = dekmō-s*:dekmp. Cp. p. 167 Rem. And it can hardly be denied that this -to- and the -to- of the cardinal numeral kmtō-m* 'hundred' (Skr. śatā-m etc.) are identical. I should have more confidence in suggesting this view of dekmtō-*, but that the -to- of the ordinal numerals may also be the participial suffix; the tenth might be, so to speak, the be-ten-ed (cp. Skr. án-ap-ta- etc. p. 224), i. e. 'he to whom the number ten has been assigned in an enumeration'.

With the numerals proper is connected Skr. kati-thā-s 'which (in a series)?' beside kāti Avest. caiti 'how many?', Lat. cotti-die for cuet(ī)-teī-* (loc.) 'on a day of whatsoever number, on which day soever, every day' beside quo-t for quo-ti* (I § 655, 1 p. 501). Cp. I § 501 Rem. 2 p. 368 § 633 p. 474. It is formed in the same way as Skr. vīśati-tamā-s 'twentieth'.

-is-to-, in the proethnic language, was the usual superlative ending where the comparative was formed in -ies-. hēghisto-s*: Skr. lāghīṣṭha-s 'nimblest, smallest', Gr. ελάχισ-το-ς 'smallest'. Skr. śodd-īṣṭha-s Gr. ῥῑδ-ιστο-ς, Goth. sut-ist-s 'suavissimus'. plēisto-s* 'plurimus' i. e. plē+isto-*: Gr. πλεῖστο-ς; as regards Avest. fraṣṭa-

O.Icel. flæstr see p. 244. 247 f. The root-syllable had originally the weak form of Ablaut, and -to- was accented; this is shewn on the one hand by Gr. κράτ-ιστο-ς beside κρείσων κρείσσων, ὀλίγ-ιστο-ς beside ὀλιῖζων and the like, on the other hand by Skr. jyēṣṭhā-s kamīṣṭhā-s and O.Fries. lērest, with r for pr. Germ. z, beside lēssa and the like (see Kluge, Paul-Braune's Beitr. VIII 519 ff., Wheeler, Der griech. Nominalacc. 40 f.); cp. also the accentuation of -to- in numerals like Skr. catur-thā-s Gr. εἰκοσ-ρό-ς O.H.G. sibun-to (pr. Germ. *-dō). In the separate branches of language, both the vocalism and the accentuation of these superlatives were influenced more or less strongly by the comparative forms, themselves at the same time reacting upon the latter.

The new suffix -isto- was primary to start with, like the comparative -ies-. But in all the different branches in which it was fertile, i. e. in Aryan, Greek and Germanic, it was very soon used along with -ies- as a denominative (cp. § 58 p. 106 f.).

Aryan. In Sanskrit we find -tha- and -ta-, and (always with the aspirate) -iṣṭha-. In Avest. -tha- is represented by pux-ḍa- 'fifth' (cp. Skr. pañca-thā-) and hapta-ḥa- 'seventh' (Skr. saptā-thā-). -tha- therefore certainly dates from proethnic Aryan. Cp. I § 475 p. 350 f.

Remark 2. I cannot follow those who would infer from this another proethnic suffix -tho-, so long as no undoubted example of the aspirate has been found in the European branch. Whence comes the aspirate in Gr. λοῖστο-ς 'last'? — The question of the Indo-Germanic Tenuis Aspiratae is not decided even by Moulton's essay, ingenious as it is, in the American Journal of Philology VIII 207 ff., since he is only concerned with the evidence in Greek. What, for instance, do we gain by deriving Gr. τέταρτο-ς from τεταρ-τό-ς* and thus reconciling it with Skr. catur-thā-s, if all the while Lat. quart-us is left out of consideration? (Moulton p. 208.) Why is not the Latin word quarbus*, with b for pr. Ital. p?

-ta- occurs e. g. in Skr. ṭṛ-t-īya- Avest. pri-t-ya- O.Pers. ši-t-īya- 'third'; beside which we have also Skr. tri-tā-s (on which ṭṛ-t-īya- is based), the name of a divinity to which another, dvidā-s, was created as a contrast (cp. the Italic forms), Skr. ṣaṣ-ṭā- 'sixtieth', sapta-tā- 'seventieth' and the like; cp. also Skr. pañcāt- f. 'a group of five' daśāt- f. 'a group of ten'.

 -isto-. Skr. māh-iṣṭha- Avest. maz-išta- 'greatest': Gr. μέγιστος. Skr. ḍś-iṣṭha- Avest. ās-išta- 'quickest': Gr. ᾠκιστος. O.Pers. maṣ-išta- 'greatest', beside Avest. mas-yah- 'greater': Gr. μήκιστος 'longest, greatest'. Skr. vās-iṣṭha- Avest. vah-išta- 'best'. Skr. yāv-iṣṭha- 'youngest', compar. yāv-īyas-, pos. yúvan-gar-iṣṭha- 'heaviest', compar. gár-īyas-, pos. guru-. sthēṣṭha- 'most constant', beside sthi-rá- (O.H.G. stara-blint 'stone-blind'), for pr. Ar. sthaṣṭha-* Idg. sta-is-to-* (just as the optative stem Skr. sthē- is for sta-i-*, see I § 116 p. 108); similarly sphēṣṭha 'richest, fattest' beside sphi-rá- (O.C.Sl. sporŭ 'rich'), for spā-isto*; the ē spread to the comparative, and sthēyas- and sphēyas- took the place of sthā-yas-* and sphā-yas-* (we can hardly assume a form sthā-īyas-* or sthā-īyas-*). On the other hand the analogy of śrē-yas- and prē-yas- gave rise to the superlative forms śrēṣṭha- 'fairest' prēṣṭha- 'dearest' (which Avest. sraēšta- shows to be as old as protoethnic Aryan): in the Veda occur the regular śray-iṣṭha- or śriy-iṣṭha- (pos. śrī-rá- Avest. sri-ra-) and pray-iṣṭha- or priy-iṣṭha- (pos. priy-á-).¹ It is also possible that Skr. jyēṣṭha- 'mightiest' (comp. jyā-yas-) and Avest. fraēšta- 'plurimus' (comp. fra-yah- Skr. prā-yas-) was formed on the analogy of sthēṣṭha-; for the Gr. πλεῖστος points to an Idg. plē-isto-*, and the character of these stems, as we know it, in other words, justifies us in restoring this form.² It cannot be shewn that pr. Ar. ā (jāṣṭha-* prāṣṭha-*) became ai by any regular phonetic change. The words dhēṣṭha- 'most generous' and yēṣṭha- 'swiftest', to be read in Veda as trisyllables, I should perhaps regard as written for dhāy-iṣṭha yāy-iṣṭha- (or perhaps dhēy-iṣṭha- yēy-iṣṭha-, the original ā being replaced by ē), cp. bhūy-iṣṭha-.

1) One of the two forms must be inferred for metrical reasons. In the passages of the R̥gveda which concern us the forms of the later language, śrēṣṭha- and prēṣṭha-, are the traditional reading.

2) Osthoff now takes a different view (Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 443); however, he supposes an Idg. plā-istós-*. On O.Icel. flastr see below, p. 247 f.

A few noun stems form superlatives in the same way, with -iṣṭha- in place of -tama-. Skr. brāhm-iṣṭha- 'a Brahman in the highest degree' from brāh-man- (similarly compar. brāhm-tyas-). drādh-iṣṭha- 'firmest' (instead of dārhiṣṭha-) from drdhā- ground-form dhygh+to-* (similarly compar. drādh-tyas-); this formation was modelled on such forms as kraśiṣṭha-. kṛśā- 'lean', bhraśiṣṭha-: bhṛśa- 'strong, violent'.

Greek. ἔνν-το-ς 'ninth' for ἐννα-το-ς*: Goth. niun-da, Lith. deviñ-ta-s O.C.Sl. devę-tŭ- (cp. I § 152 p. 138). The analogy of εικοσ-τό-ς 'twentieth', τριακοσ-τό-ς 'thirtieth' gave rise to such forms as ἐνατοστό-ς 'hundredth', διακοσιοστό-ς 'two-hundredth', χίλιοστό-ς 'thousandth'; and also, πόστο-ς 'which (in a series)?', πολλοστό-ς 'one of many, multesimus' ὀλιγοστό-ς 'one of few'.

The -ato-ς of ἐνατο-ς δένατο-ς spread considerably by analogy: πρωf-ato-ς* (Att. etc. πριῶτο-ς Dor. πρᾶτο-ς) 'first' instead of πρω-φο-ς* (I § 306 p. 242 II § 64 p. 134), τρίτ-ato-ς 'third', ἑβδόμ-ato-ς 'seventh', ὀγδό-ato-ς 'eighth'; ὑπ-ato-ς 'uppermost', ἔσχ-ato-ς 'outermost', μέσση-ato-ς 'midmost', νι-ato-ς 'novissimus'; βέλτ-ato-ς 'best' (for its etymology see Wackernagel Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 301 f.), φίρτ-ato-ς 'most eminent'. The -tato- of τρίτατο-ς βέλτατο-ς etc. was regarded as a simple suffix and taken into general use as the common superlative suffix for stems whose comparative was formed in -τερο- (cp. § 75 p. 193); e. g. ὠμό-τατο-ς, σοφίό-τατο-ς, παλαιό-τατο-ς, εἰδαιμονέστατο-ς, κύν-τατο-ς. A further accumulation of superlative elements is seen e. g. in ἑσχατατώ-τατο-ς, κυντότατο-ς, which looks like an attempt at κυν-τατώ-τατο-ς* (cp. κυν-τενιώ-τερο-ς) γαλλιστό-τατο-ς, ἐγγ-ιστό-τατα, and conversely πρώτ-ιστο-ς. Cp. Ascoli Curtius' Stud. IX 339 ff.

Remark 3. Bezenberger (Beitr. V 94 ff.) attempts a different explanation of -tato-; but I am convinced that it is untenable (see Morph. Unt. III 68 f.).

-isto-. ὠκ-ιστο-ς 'quickest': Skr. āś-iṣṭha-s. βάρυ-ιστο-ς βραδύ-ιστο-ς 'slowest': Skr. mrad-iṣṭha-s (a later formation for mṛd-iṣṭha-s*). τάχ-ιστο-ς 'quickest'. μάλ-ιστα 'most' (adv.) πλείστο-ς ground-form plē-isto-s*; see pp. 242, 244 above. Later on, analogical formations were made from noun stems: κἀλλ-ιστο-ς 'fairest' from τὸ κἀλλος, ἀλπν-ιστο-ς 'loveliest, most agreeable' beside ἐπ-αλπνο-ς, τέρπν-ιστο-ς 'most delightful' from τερπ-νό-ς, πρόσβ-ιστο-ς 'oldest, most honourable' from πρόσβν-ς. Here -ιστο- took the place of -τατο-, as was also the case in ἐγγ-ιστα beside ἐγγ-ύ-τατα 'nearest', πόρσ-ιστα beside πορρω-τάτω πορρώ-τατα 'furthest forward'.

Italic. Lat. sex-tu-s, Umbr. sestentasiaru sextentariarum Osc. Σέσσετες 'sextius': Skr. ṣaṣ-ṭhā-s etc., see p. 242 above. Lat. quīntu-s Quīnctiu-s, Osc. Πομπτιες 'Quinctius': Avest. pux-ḍa- (the u is remarkable), Gr. πέμπ-το-ς Goth. fimfta- (in our records found only in composition), Lith. peñk-ta-s O.C.Sl. pe-tŭ. Lat. ter-tiū-s, Umbr. tertiām-a 'ad tertiam', by the side of which stands Lat. trit-avo-s (if this and not strit-avo-s was the true form of the word), for the first part of which either trito-s* or tritio-s* may be assumed as the earliest form (see § 34 p. 59): Skr. tri-tā-s tyt-īya-s (p. 243), Gr. τρι-το-ς Lesb. τέτ-το-ς, Goth. þri-dja Lith. trėczia-s O.C.Sl. trętiŕi. In any case the forms ter-to-* ty-to-, which are connected by ablaut are older than tr-i-to-, which was derived directly from the cardinal (tr-i-tr-ei-), though there would be nothing in the least irregular in its formation, if the -to- of the ordinals is really the participial suffix, as was suggested in Rem. 1 (p. 242). We have it extended by -to- in ter-tiū-s etc. as in Skr. dvi-t-īya- 'second' and tūr-ya- tur-īya- 'fourth' (§ 63 p. 133). Side by side with cottē-diē (see above, p. 242), we have quo-tu-s to-tu-s quo-tumu-s (§ 73 p. 178). In Latin the superlative suffix -isto- gave place to the new formation -issimo-; contrast e. g. oc-issimu-s (comp. oc-ior) with Skr. āś-iṣṭha- (āś-īyas-) Gr. ὠκ-ιστο-ς (ὠκ-ίτωρ). It is not clear in what way this substitution took place, see § 73 Rem. p. 179.

Remark 4. It must be left an open question whether -isto- is still preserved in proper names, whether e. g. Nostiū-s stands for Nooist-iū-s* and is to be compared with Skr. ndr-iṣṭha-s, as Pauli (Altital. Stud. II 140 f.) assumes.

Old Irish. cōiced O.Cymr. pimphet 'fifth': cp. Skr. pañca-thā-s. Similarly sedded Mod.Cymr. chweched 'sixth'; as to the cause of this new formation see Zimmer, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 214. We frequently find the termination -mad, which arose from an extension of older forms in -mmo-; as sechtmad Mod.-Cymr. seithuet 'seventh' (cp. Lat. septimu-s), dechmad Mod.Cymr. decuet 'tenth' (cp. Lat. decimu-s), cētmad Bret. kandved 'hundredth', see § 72, 2 p. 168. In protoethnic Celtic -eto-s was the termination of all these words, and the difference of vocalism between O.Ir. cōiced (with e) and sechtmad* (with a) depends upon the kind of sound in the preceding syllable: sechtmad is due to the older form sechtamet(os)*. tress- 'third' in comp. no doubt stands for tris-to-, i. e. tris (= Skr. tri-ś Gr. τρί-ς) + -to- (beside it in Mod.Cymr. we find the form trydydd from tri-tiŷo-s*) cp. Lat. trīni for tris-no-* § 66 p. 146 and O.H.G. driſ-ki 'ternus' zwiſ-ki 'twofold'.

-isto- in Keltic gave place to -mo- (-is-mmo), see § 72, 2 p. 169, cp. e. g. O.Ir. lugem 'smallest' (compar. laigiū) as contrasted with Skr. lāgh-iŷtha-s Gr. ἐλάχ-ιστο-ς.

Germanic. The numerals passed into the n-declension. Goth. saihta O.H.G. sehsto O.Icel. sette setti 'sixth': Skr. ṣaṣ-ṭhā-cto-, see p. 242 above. Goth. niunda O.H.G. niunto O.Icel. njunde njundi 'ninth', pr. Germ. niŷun-dā-n-* (I § 179 p. 156): cp. Gr. ἐνατο-ς. In Goth. ahtu-da O.H.G. ahtodo 'eighth', we have a formation peculiar to Germanic, cp. Gr. ὀγδο(F)ή-κοντα Vulgar Lat. octuā-ginta.

-isto-. In the oldest West-Germanic the inflexion of the superlative was almost exclusively weak (n-declension); in Gothic and Norse it was both strong and weak. Goth. sut-ist-s O.H.G. suaz-isto 'sweetest': Skr. svād-iŷtha-. Goth. hauh-ist-s O.H.G. hōh-isto 'highest'. Goth. māist-s O.H.G. meisto 'most' (compar., māiza mēro), cp. Umbr. mestru fem. 'maior', common ground-form mā-isto-* beside the pos. O.Ir. mā-r Goth. -mēr-s 'great'. The O.Icel. flest-r 'plurimus', together with the compar. fleire, which cannot be referred to plēis-* (Osthoff, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 444), I suppose to have been altered on the analogy of mest-r meire; cp. pp. 242 f. 244 and § 135. We often find new formations from noun-stems: Goth. jūh-ist-s* (inferred from jūhiza) O.H.G. jung-isto O.Icel. erst-r (for äst-r*, r being inserted from the compar. öre) and yngst-r 'youngest', from Goth. jugg-s etc. = pr. Germ. iunus-gá-s* Skr. yuva-śá-s; this new form took the place of another which answered to the Skr. yáv-iṣṭha-s; this must have been before Verner's law came into operation, as the word has -h- instead of -g-, which shews that in the noun from which it was formed (iunǵá-) the breathed spirant had not yet become voiced (I § 530 p. 386 f.). Goth. alp-ist-s (inferred from alpiza) O.H.G. altsto 'oldest' beside Goth. al-þei-s O.H.G. al-t 'old'. Accumulated endings of comparison are seen in e. g. Goth. af-tum-ist-s A.S. aef-tem-est 'hindmost, last' beside Goth. af-tuma, O.H.G. af-tr-isto 'last' beside af-tro- af-tero.

Since -ista- and -iz-en- became denominative so early in proethnic Germanic, it is not surprising that before that period ended they were added to -ō-, the adverbial termination of the o-stems, just as was the Gr. -taro- -τερο- in συνώ-τερο-ς άνω-τερο- etc. (§ 75). Thus arose forms like Goth. sniumundōs 'more-hastily', from sniumundō 'hastily', frōdōza 'more shrewd' frōdōst-s 'most shrewd', from frōþ-s 'prudent', O.H.G. blintōro blintōst from blint 'blind' (aftr-ōsto beside aftr-isto (see above) and the like), O.Icel. spakare spakast-r from spak-r 'intelligent'. In Gothic this formation was always strictly confined to o-stems; in Old High German was occasionally extended to other adjectival stems. Pr. Germ. -ō-izō- -ō-ista-z became -ōzō- -ōsta-z, cp. I § 142 p. 127. Slavonic has a similar group of comparatives, the forms in -ě-ŕ-; see § 135.

Remark 5. This explanation of the comparative suffix in Germanic has not been universally accepted. (Johansson, De derivatis contractis, p. 182). But it is certainly not disproved by the forms máiza áiv-s (for máiz- áivō-*). It is quite possible that āz had here become āš (see I § 614 p. 464) before this new method of forming comparatives had been adopted in proethnic Germanic. Each period has its own phonetic laws.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. deszim-ta-s O.C.Sl. desę-tŭ 'tenth': Gr. δέκα-ρο-ς etc., see above, p. 242.

-isto- in Lithuanian gave place to -iaus-ia- which (in spite of J. Schmidt's objections, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 378) is no doubt connected with Slav. -uchŭ -iuchŭ (Miklosich Vergl. Gramm. II 289 ff.); whilst in Slavonic the comparative displaced the superlative formation.

§ 82. 4. The Suffixes -mę-to-, *-yę-to-*¹⁾.

In proethnic Indo-Germanic there were a certain number of formations in -to- which were extensions of stems in -men- and -yen-. kley-mę-to-*: Skr. śrō-mata-m 'renown' O.H.G. hliumunt m. 'report, reputation' beside Avest. srao-man- n. Goth. hliu-ma m. 'hearing', √ kley- 'to hear'. Gr. ὀνόματα pl. 'names' Lat. cōgnō-mentu-m, beside Skr. nd-man- n. 'name' Lat. nō-men n. etc. Gr. ῥασσάματα pl. 'something stitched together, soles; contrivances, plots' (prep. ἔαρ), Lat. as-sū-mentu-m 'patch put on', Skr. beside syā-man- n. 'band, strip, row', Gr. ἐμὴν -ἐν-ος 'skin, sinew'. per-yę-to-*: Skr. pār-vata-s 'mountain, rock' Gr. πεῖρα Lesb. πέρα pl. 'extremes, boundaries', for περ-φατα* (I § 166 p. 146 f.), beside Skr. pār-van- n. 'knot, joint, break, section' Gr. ἄπειραν 'boundless' for ἀπερ-φυρ*.

Probably this use of -to- is to be connected with that discussed p. 224, where we saw that the participial -to- could be added directly to noun-stems. From kley-men-* was first formed kley-mę-tó-* (hliumunt indicates that -to- was accented) 'called, famed' (cp. Gr. θαιματός beside θαιμα, orig. stem θαιμεν-*); the neuter, used substantivally, had the meaning 'a being called, renown', and then in High German the gender of the word was altered to match that of ruof, ruom. Gr. ὄνοματόν* orig. 'the being named, having a name'; Lat. cōgnōmentu-m 'the having a surname', beside cōgnōminātu-s, like sceles-tu-s beside scelerātu-s, liber-tu-s beside liberātu-s. Skr. pār-vata-s is easily explained as an epithet of giri- § 'mountain'.

Remark. The following formations are akin to those just discussed: Skr. śi-mān-ta-s 'crown of the head, boundary' beside śi-mān- m. 'parting of the hair, crown of the head' f. 'boundary', Gr. ἱμᾶντ- (f) 'strap' beside ἱμῶν-ιά 'rope of a draw-well' O.Sax. si-mo 'band, rope' (ἱμᾶντ- instead of ἱμᾶντο-* see p. 250 f.); Skr. hṛ-man-tā-s 'winter' beside hṛ-man loc. 'in winter'; ā-man-in-m 'fire place' beside ā-man- m. 'stone'. In the first word the Idg. ending was perhaps -mṣ-to-, see I § 280 p. 196; the accent was shifted from -to- to -mṣ- doubtless through the influence of sī-mén-, the stem from which the word was formed, just as in Sanskrit the accent of śrō-man- n. changed śrōmatā-m* to śrōmatam. On the other hand, hīmantā-s and āmanīa-m may be later analogical forms dating from the period after the separation of the languages and based on the strong form of the parent stem, as in vṣān-tama- and the like. Or has hīmantā-s any immediate connexion with the Gr. αἰ-χλίαντο- mentioned on p 223?

In most languages these combined suffixes, even when they did not die out, survived only in a few old forms and were no longer in living use; in Germanic besides hlumunt the only other example is Goth. sniu-mundō 'hastily' (from sney-men-* 'haste') which presupposes an adj. sniu-munda-* cp. Gr. θανματό-ς. But in Italic -mṣ-to-, and in Greek -mṣ-to- and -mṣ-to- became exceedingly fertile.

Greek. Forms like ὀνόματα are: εἶ-ματα 'clothes' (cp. εἰ-μίμων 'well clothed' Skr. vās-man- n. 'covering'), δέρ-ματα 'hides, skins', ὄνο-δήματα 'sandals', μνή-ματα 'memorials', καλύ-ματα 'veils', νοή-ματα 'thoughts', ὀρη-ματα 'longings'. Like περ-φατα* we have εἶδατα 'food' in Hom., i. e. εἶδ-φατα or (with assimilation) εἶδατα (cp. I § 166 p. 147), φορήματα φρεῖατα 'wells' (for φορή-φατα*), στῆατα 'lumps of fat' (for στᾶ-φατα*, $\sqrt{\text{stā-}}$ 'to stand'). Stems in -men- and -men- were regularly extended in this way; and -to- also attached itself to neuter stems in -en-: e. g. ἥπ-ματα 'livers' (Skr. yakan- Lat. jecin-), οὔθ-ατα 'udders' (Skr. ūdh-an-), κεφαλα κάρητα 'heads' for κεφᾶ-ατι* καρᾶ-ατα* (Skr. śirṣ-an-); to which κρήνη Lesb. κράνῃ and κάρηνο-ν (for κρᾶ-ν-α* καρᾶ-ν-ο-*) are related in the same way as νόννη-ο-ς to ὀνόματα. The nom. and acc. sing., e. g. ὄνο-μα, and the loc. pl., e. g. ὀνό-μασι, must be forms of the original n-declension without -to-. But along with these there were in use such case-forms as ὀνομα-τα, ὀνομά-των, and ὀνόμα-τος (= Skr. adverbial ablative nāma-tas); and as though these were really to be divided ὀνόματ-α ὀνομάτ-ων ὀνόματ-ος, a new form was made for the locative, ὀνόματι. Thus the το-stem passed over to the τ-declension. In the same way ι-ματι- (see p. 250 Rem.) was no doubt developed from i-mán-roç*, cp. Skr. śīma-tás.

Italic. Lat. testā-mentu-m, Osc. trīstaamentu d abl. 'testamento'. In Latin we sometimes find only the original form in -men, as agmen, crīmen, certāmen; sometimes -mento- as well, e. g. augmen and augmentu-m, suf-fīmentu-m, regimen and regimentu-m, fundāmen and fundāmentu-m; sometimes only -mento-, as armentu-m, caementu-m, dēlectāmentu-m, argūmentu-m, vestīmentu-m. Further, unguen-tu-m was formed from unguen as -mentu-m from -men-, just as in Greek ῥη-ατα arose on the model of ὀνό-ματα, περ-φατα-* etc.

§ 83. The Suffix -ko- -ka-. This is shewn to be pro-ethnic by the word juuyn-kó-s* or juuyn-kós* 'youthful, young', beside Skr. yúv-an- Lat. juv-en- (for the initial sound see I § 117 p. 109 f. § 598 p. 452 f.): Skr. yuva-śú-s, Lat. juven-cu-s, O.Ir. ḡac ḡc, Goth. *jugg-s*¹). Compare also lōpa-śú-s 'fox, jackal', Armen. aluēs 'fox', Gr. ἀλώπη-ξ -τε-ος and (in the Iambic writer Ananios) -ηκ-ος 'fox', with -κ- for -κο-, with the same change of inflexion as in μεῖρα-ξ: Skr. marya-ká-s etc. (§ 84. 129), beside Skr. lōpa-ka-s 'fox' (-ka- had originally a diminutive force), Gr. ἀλωπό-χρους 'fox-coloured' ἀλωπό-ς 'sly', Lith. ūpe 'fox'; in some of the languages, no doubt, the word may have been borrowed and naturalised, nor can we be certain that the suffix of Gr. ἀλώπηξ is not -go-, and so identical with the -ka- of Skr. lōpa-ka-.

Beyond these words a few examples from Aryan are all that can be ascribed with certainty to the suffix -ko-.

Aryan. In Skr. arva-śá-s árva-śa-s 'hasty, travelling quickly' from árvan- (same meaning); éta-śa-s 'hasty', from éta-s (the same); babhru-śá-s babhlu-śá-s 'brownish' from babhrú-ś

1) Here perhaps ῥακ-ινθο-; also should be classed (for the diminutival force of -ινθο- see A. Döhring, Programm des Friedrichs-Collegiums, Königsberg 1885 p. 15). The youth Hyacinthus and his early death represent the life of the physical world, where maturity is at once followed by decay. If this etymology is correct, it proves the existence of an Indo-Germanic stem juuyn-* with an initial ξ (not ψ), see I § 598 p. 452.

'brown'; rōma-šā-s lōma-šā-s 'hairy', from rōman- lōman- n. 'hair of the head'; anaku-šā-s 'hook' beside anaku-rā-s (p. 199).

Italic. Lat. juven-cu-s, Umbr. ivengar pl. 'iuvencae', see above.

Old Irish. ḡac ḡc 'young', Mod.Cymr. ieuanc O.Corn. iouenc Bret. iaouank, see above.

Germanic. Goth. jugg-s O.H.G. O.Sax. jung O.Icel. ung-r 'young', pr. Germ. junnaz-gū-s* (I § 179 p. 156), see above. For Goth. jūhiza O.Icel. örre 'younger' see I § 530 p. 387, II § 81 p. 248.

Balto-Slavonic. We can scarcely place in this group Lith. pālsza-s 'tawny' O.C.Sl. pelesŭ 'dark grey' beside Lith. pal-va-s O.C.Sl. pla-rŭ 'tawny'. These forms no doubt arose (as we may infer from the Russ. pelesyj 'variegated' polosa 'stripe, streak') through a confusion of $\sqrt{pel-}$ with $\sqrt{perk-}$ (Gr. πέριος περνώ-ς).

§ 84. The Suffixes -go- -qā-, -igo- -iqā-, -īgo- -īqā-, -ūgo- -ūqā-, and -āgo- *-āqā-*¹).

The velar character of the k-sound in the suffixes which we are now to discuss appears regularly and unmistakably in Aryan, Armenian and Balto-Slavonic (see I § 417 ff. p. 305 ff.). In Greek, Italic, Keltic and Germanic it can be identified with certainty only in the comparatively rare cases where we find the k-sound labialised (ky), as in Lat. anti-quo-s, Mod.Cymr. hys-p 'dry'. The remaining examples in this group of languages have only k without any following u; yet it is clear that these forms, except of course such as we have already seen reason to refer to the suffix -ko- (§ 83), did. originally contain g not k, because a large number of them correspond exactly to forms in the Eastern group which vouch for -go-; thus examples like Lat. mus-culu-s: Skr. muṣ-ká- Armen. muḵn prove that the Latin diminutival suffix -culo- is derived from -go-. It must be confessed, however, that no real difference of meaning can be found between the suffixes -ko- and -go-, and it is therefore quite possible that amongst the examples of -ko- in the Western languages which are given in this section, there may be some few forms which are really derived from -ko-.

-go- is used both as a primary and as a denominative suffix. No general definition can be given of its original function in its primary use. In derivatives -go- and -igo- were used to form adjectives (and substantives based upon adjectives) meaning 'related, or belonging to' the thing or person denoted by the original word, which was generally either an adverb or some case of a noun. Further, -go- was added to substantives, without altering their substantival or adjectival character, but to give a slight modification of meaning; the derivative signified 'a thing tantamount to' or 'that which merely resembles' the original. Hence it was often used to form diminutives. This modification of meaning again, was often lost, so that the derivative was simply equivalent to the original word. As to the functions of -igo-, -ūgo- and -āgo-, see below.

Analogical changes of many kinds, affecting the final sound of the stem to which -go- was added, arose even in proethnic Indo-Germanic, and still more freely after the separation of the languages, but we can seldom trace the course of their development in early times. The facts are exceedingly confused, and the classification which follows must be regarded simply as an attempt to reduce them to some kind of order.

In Greek, Italic and Keltic -go- was often transferred to the consonantal declension, e. g. Gr. μῆρα-ξ: Skr. marya-ká-s. Cp. Gr. ἀλώπηξ § 83 p. 251 and § 129.

§ 85. 1. -go- as an original primary suffix. On the whole it is not common.

Indo-Germanic. None of the forms to be mentioned here are found in more than a few languages. Skr. dha-ká-s 'receptacle', Gr. θῦ-κη 'receptacle', √ dhē- 'τιθήναι'. Skr. pīva-sphaká-s 'swelling with fat', Lett. spē-k-s 'strength', (beside spē-t 'to be able'), √ spē- 'extend, become rich'. It is no doubt also primary in Lat. siccū-s O.Ir. ses-c 'unfruitful' Mod.Cymr. hys-p 'dry' pr. Kelt. siskyo-s*, common ground-form sit-go-s*, cp. Lat. sit-i-s (I § 419 p. 307).

Aryan. Skr. śuṣ-ká- śuṣ-ka- Avest. huṣ-ka- O.Pers. uš-ka- 'dry' √ says- (I § 557, 4 p. 413). Skr. át-ka-. Avest. a-ḥka- m. 'garment, covering'. Skr. stú-kā- 'tress'. Avest. sao-ke-m 'advantage'.

Armenian. bok 'barefoot' ground-form bhos-go-* (I § 561 p. 417), cp. O.H.G. bar 'naked, bare' O.C.Sl. bošū 'barefoot'. Or is -go- here a secondary suffix?

Greek. θῦ-κη 'receptacle': Skr. dha-ká-s, see above.

Italic. Lat. siccū-s, see above. Beside it we have also tesquo-s, for ters-quo-* (I § 269 p. 217), √ ters- 'to become dry, arid'. cas-cū-s beside cānu-s for cas-no-s* (cp. Osc. casnar 'senex'); for the function of the suffix cp. pris-cū-s § 88. A stem fa-co-* is implied in -fex (arti-fex etc.), hence fa-c-iō. fācundus and fēcundus imply fā-co-, fē-co-, see § 69 p. 161. tru-c-s beside truāre is no doubt another example, see O. Ribbeck Archiv f. lat. Lexicogr. II 122 f.

Old Irish. ses-c, Mod.Cymr. hys-p, see above. bris-c Bret. bres-k 'brittle' no doubt from √ bherdh- (Gr. πιρῶ); the ground-form will then be bhṛdh* + go-, see I § 298 p. 236. For Celt. -sk- coming from -tk- see I § 516 p. 376.

Germanic. O.Icel. lqs-k-r 'soft, lazy', pr. Germ. lat-kya-z*, beside Goth. lētān 'to let, permit', lat-s 'lazy, idle', √ lēd- lād-. O.H.G. ras-c and ros-ch 'quick, clever, strong' O.Icel. rosk-r 'bold, brave', pr. Germ. raskya-z* and ruskya-z*, ground-form rot-go-* and rt-go-*, √ ret- (O.H.G. rado 'quickly' Goth. raþ-s 'easy'). O.H.G. A.S. horsc 'quick, cutting, clever' O.Icel. horsh-r

'clever', Goth. and-hruskáip 'he investigates', ground-form probably hrt-go-*, cp. Goth. hard-u-s 'hard' Gr. xpat-v-s 'strong'; cp. also Mid.Eng. and Dan. harsk 'rough, hard' with another grade of vocalism. O.Icel. beis-k-r 'sharp', beside Goth. bait-r-s 'biting, bitter', ✓ bheid- For -sk- from -tk- see I § 527 p. 383. Here should also be classed O.Icel. þrosk-r- 'bold' vask-r- 'bold' O.H.G. frisc 'brisk, lively, alert' and other similar words (Kluge Nom. Stammb. p. 89), though only, perhaps, as later formations with a suffix -sk(u)o- abstracted from the older forms with sk = tk (cp. p. 18 f.).

O.Icel. lau-g f. 'bath' from pr. Germ. lau-ǵō-*, cp. O.Icel. lauð-r 'soap' Lat. lav-ere.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. pil-ka-s 'grey' beside pelėti 'to grow mouldy' pelė 'mouse', cp. also pelėka-s 'mouse-grey'. Lith. plūs-k-i-s 'one that has ruined himself, spendthrift'. Lett. plūs-ka 'slovenly vagabond, scamp' plūs-kas f. pl. 'sluice', beside Lith. plūs-ti 'to begin to swim, run over'. Lett. rusch-ka 'filthy fellow' pe'lnu-ruschk-i-s 'Cinderella'. properly 'ash-stirrer' (Lith. pelen-rūsà and -rūsi-s), beside Lith. rūsinti 'to rummage, stir'. Lett. lischk-i-s 'flatterer' properly 'licker' kréma-laischk-i-s 'cream-licker', a name of the fore-finger. Lett. spé-k-s 'strength': Skr. ptva-sphaká-s; see above, p. 254. O.C.Sl. zna-kŭ 'token'. bra-kŭ 'marriage, wedding', which we may perhaps derive from bera virati ✓ bher-.

§ 86. 2. -go- as a secondary suffix forming adjectives (and substantives based upon adjectives) from adverbs and inflected nouns with the meaning 'related, or belonging to' what is denoted by the original word, where the nature of the relationship or connexion may vary very widely.

a. From Adverbs.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. anti-ká-s 'coming to an end with or at something, near' (ánti 'over against, in sight of, near'), Lat. anti-quo-s anti-cu-s 'preceding in space or time or order, more important, earlier, old' (ante for anti*). Skr. ánt-ka-m 'that which is turned towards one, the side turned to one, front, face, point' Avest. ainika- m. 'front', Gr. évi-πῆ 'attack, rebuke' (Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 223). Skr. nī-ca- low, going downwards', Gr. νι-νάω ('bring low, fight down') 'conquer' (hence νί-κη with the meaning 'victory', like Lat. pugna from pugnare, H.G. handel m. from handeln, opfer n. from opfern), Lith. denom. ny-k-stù 'I disappear, pass away' (auksztỹ-naika adv. 'backwards' and others, with non-original ablaut) O.C.Sl. ni-cǫ 'pronus' for nī-k-jǫ*.

Aryan. Skr. ucca-s Avest. uska- adj. 'on high, high' Skr. ūka-s 'longing for something' ground-form ud + go- ud + ge-, beside Skr. ūd 'up'. Skr. ābhi-ka-s ābhi-ka-s 'coming after a thing, lustful' beside abhi abhī. Skr. ānu-ka-s 'coming after a thing, desirous, dependent' ānu-ka-m 'backbone', beside ānu.

Such forms as these in -ika- -ūka- were in Sanskrit associated with compounds in -y-añc- -v-añc- (-añc- 'directed towards something', cp. § 163), and this led to a number of new formations. See Osthoff loc. cit. 249 ff.

Greek. πέρι-ξ adv. 'around', περισσό-ς περιττό-ς 'superfluous, extraordinary, superabundant' for περι-κ-χο-ς*, beside πέρι. As in the case of the adverbs μοννάξ and ὀδάξ from μοννα-χο-, ὀδατ-χο- (§ 88), a nom. in -x-ς instead of -xo-ς was first formed, πέριξ instead of περι-χο-ς* (cp. μείρα-ξ § 84 p. 253, § 88 pp. 263. 265), and then on the analogy of adverbs like παρ-εῖξ ἐπ-εῖξ ἄψ etc. it came to be regarded and used as an adverb.

From a stem περᾱ-χο-* (cp. πέρᾱ 'beyond' πέρᾱ-ν 'on that side') arose περάσσω, the oldest meaning of which was 'press through, go through' (Hom. ἄλα πρήσσοντες), see Leo Meyer, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXII 61 ff.

Italic. Lat. reci-procu-s orig. 'directed backwards and forwards' from re-co-* and pro-co-*, cp. O.C.Sl. pro-kǫ. procul is an extension of the stem proco-* by -lo- cp. simul).

Germanic. O.H.G. abu-h aba-h O.Sax. abhu-h 'turned away, perverse, wicked', (the neut. is used substantivally, 'perverseness, wickedness') O.Icel. ofu-g-r 'turned away, perverse', beside af 'from, away': cp. O.C.Sl. opako opaky opače adv. retrorsum, contrarium' pače 'contra, potius' paky 'iterum' (opače: pače = Gr. ἄνο : O.H.G. fo-na, a regular example of proethnio ablant); cp. also Skr. ápaka-s 'lying behind, remote', which need not necessarily be regarded as a compound of -añc- (cp. p. 256 under Aryan).

1) Detailed arguments in support of this explanation of reciprocus and procul will be found in Rhein. Mus. XLIII 402 ff., where, unfortunately, I overlooked the fact that the same derivation had already been suggested by Corssen, Krit. Nachtr. 186 f.

Balto-Slavonic. O.C.Sl. pro-kū 'remaining over', from pro. pře-kū 'transversus' for per-kū*, from prē.

b. From Nouns. The terminations -o-go- -e-go- which arose when the suffix was added to o-stems were in Aryan and Slavonic also used as primary suffixes.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. dvī-ka- 'consisting of two' (beside this dva-kā 'two by two, joined in pairs'), A.S. twi-g O.H.G. zwī-g and zwī gen. zwīes, pr. Germ. tūf-izūā-* 'twig' (cp. O.C.Sl. roz-ga 'twig' from rozū razū 'dis-'), O.H.G. zweho zwīfo 'doubt', pr. Germ. tūf-izūo-n-* tūf-izūo-n-* (I § 444 p. 329); to which no doubt we should refer Gr. δισός διττός 'twofold', for δφι-κ-ξο-ς*. Similarly Skr. tri-kā- 'three by three, threefold' and Gr. τρισός-ς τριτός-ς 'threefold'. The Ion. διξός-ς τριξός-ς are perhaps to be explained as standing for δφι-κ-κιο-ς* τρι-κ-κιο-ς*. Lat. ūni-cu-s, Goth. dina-h-s O.H.G. eina-g 'single', O.C.Sl. ino-kū 'solus'.

Aryan. Skr. sūci-ka-s adj., 'stinging', subst. 'stinging vermin', from sūci- f. 'needle', anta-ka-s 'making an end, he that makes an end', from an-ta-s 'end'. urvāru-kā-m 'that which belongs to the gourd-plant (urvāru-ṣ), or comes from it, fruit of the gourd'. sindhu-ka-s 'coming from the Indus (sindhu-ṣ)'. rāpa-ka-s 'in (an assumed) form', from rāpā-m 'form'. Avest. kasvi-ka- 'rather small, rather poor', from kasvi-ṣ 'smallness, dwarfish stature'. Skr. māma-ka-s 'my', asmāka-s Avest. ahmāka- 'our' (is the termination of this word Idg. -o-go- or the suffix -ago-?). Hence Ar. -ka-, so frequent in Sanskrit in adjectival (epithetised) compounds as Skr. vigata-śrī-ka-s 'whose beauty is past' (cp. Avest. dūraē-srī-ka- 'beautiful at a distance') a-bhrātṛ-ka-s 'brotherless', a-rētās-ka-s 'without seed', sa-patnī-ka-s 'with one's wife'; cp. also Avest. hu-mayā-ka- 'possessing good wisdom'

(hu-maya-). These compounds however may also be classed under § 88 p. 264.

From ánta-ka-s and similar forms arose a primary suffix -aka-, as Skr. śdyaka-s 'meant for throwing' neut. 'missile', nāyaka-s 'guide', pācaka-s 'cooking, cook', pr̥chaka-s 'who asks'. Cp. Slav. -okŭ, p. 260

To these no doubt should be added partaka-s vārtikā 'quail': Gr. ὄρνις (gen. ὀρνιτ-ος and ορνυ-ος, cp. Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 620) 'quail', with v on the analogy of κόκκυξ, ἰβὺς and the like.

Greek. δι-σός-ς τρι-σός-ς p. 257 above. Λιβυ-κός 'Libyan', from Λίβυ-ς, Θηλυ-κός 'feminine', from Θῆλυ-ς, as the opposite of ἀρσεν-ινό-ς, in ἀλι-κός adj. 'salt' from ἄλ-ς (ἄλι- ἄλο-) the -v- is surprising. φυσι-γός 'natural', from φύσι-ς, μαντι-κός 'belonging to a seer', from μάντι-ς; cp. Idg. -igo- in ἵππ-κός etc., § 87. ὄστρα-κο-ς 'lobster' no doubt for osth-go-s*, cp. Skr. asthán- 'bone'. The termination -ιακός in ἡλιακός 'belonging to the sun' (ἥλιος), σκιακός 'shady' (σκιά) and the like has not been explained: are the forms based on -en- stems (such as, say, ῥιλιεν-*), or should we compare Umbr. corn-ac-o 'cornicem'?¹⁾

Italic. Lat. amni-cu-s, from amni-s, cīvi-cu-s, from cīvi-s, aedīli-cīu-s, from aedīli-s. Cp. Idg. -igo- in bell-icu-s, patr-icu-s, patr-ic-iu-s and the like, § 87.

The following forms appear to be connected with the same suffix: Umbr. Kastruśiie 'Castrici (beside kastruvuf 'fundos') Osc. castroos gen. 'fundi' and Osc. Iúvkiíúí '*Jovicio', beside Osc. Viinikis 'Vinicius'.

Old Irish. sūle-ch 'oculeus' for sūli-co-s*, from sail n. 'oculus', O.Kelt. are-mori-cī 'those who dwell before the sea' (O.Ir. muir n., Lat. mare for mari*). Cp. Idg. -igo- in cuiṃn-ech 'mindful of' and the like, § 87.

Germanic. Goth. stáina-h-s (stem stáina-ha-) O.H.G. steina-g 'stony', from Goth. stáina- m. 'stone', Goth. vaurda-h-s

1) Mahlow, Die langen Vocale 102, assumes that -ιακός with Lat. -icu-s Goth. -ig-s represents an Idg. -iako-, an inference which I cannot accept.

'verbal' from vairda- n. 'word', mōda-g-s (stem mōda-ga-) 'wrathful' O.Sax. mōda-g 'excited, spirited', from Goth. mōda- m. 'courage, wrath'. The forms -a-ha- a-za- alternate according to the place of the accent, by the rule given in § 530 p. 386, cp. Skr. asmāka-andāka- on the one hand, and ēkakā- urvārukā- on the other. The termination -a-za- was transferred to other classes of stems, e. g. O.H.G. nōtag beside Germanic naudn- nauþi- 'need', O.Sax. craftag beside krafti- 'strength'.

Goth. handu-g-s 'wise' (O.H.G. hantag 'sharp') from handu-s 'hand', though it is quite possible that the two words are not connected historically but merely by popular etymology (see Kluge, Nom. Stammb. 86, Kauffmann, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XII 202)¹⁾.

Chēruscī is explained by Bremer (Paul-Braune's Beitr. XI 3) as coming from χērus-ka-* 'hairy', cp. O.H.G. hār pl. hārir 'hair'. For -us- cp. O.H.G. angus-t § 101.

In proethnic and later Germanic we find adjectives in -īza- regularly corresponding to *-i-*stems, as Goth. mahtēig-s O.H.G. mahtīg 'mighty' from mahti-, O.H.G. creftīg 'strong' from krafti-. But the same termination appears also in adjectives derived from other classes of stems and equally, dating from the oldest period of Germanic, as Goth. vāurstveig-s 'active' from vāurstva- n. 'work, activity', O.H.G. jārīg 'yearly' from jāra- n. 'year'; and it must therefore be referred to the Idg. suffix -īgo- (§ 89); there is no need to suppose an original -ei-go- (maxti- maxtei-), nor can any argument for such a form be based on the obscure Gothic word ūhtuig 'seasonable'. We conclude then that in proethnic Germanic -i-za- from *i-*stems was replaced by -īza-, just as in Gothic we have also the older form gabīg-s altered to gabeig-s (§ 87). The influence of other derivatives with ī in actual use (e. g. Goth. vāurstvei f.) was a factor in the change.

Balto-Slavonic. In the Baltic languages the suffix hardly occurs at all in this use; Lith. pelēka-s Lett. pelēk-s 'mouse-grey' (Lith. pelė Lett. pele 'mouse') was no doubt formed on the analogy of adjectives like jǫddōka-s (from jǫ'da-s 'black', § 89 c). In Slavonic we have -okŭ as a primary suffix, e. g. O.C.Sl. stŭvĕdokŭ 'privy to something, witness', Russ. chodŭk 'goer, foot-messenger', ĕdŭk 'eater'; it probably began in derivatives from noun-stems in o (cp. Russ. chod 'way, path' beside chodok), cp. Skr. -aka- p. 258.

1) Osthoff's last suggestion as to handugs (Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 419) does not commend itself to me.

§ 87. 3. -igo-, a by-form of the Suffix -go- (§ 86). This suffix forms adjectives from nouns in Aryan, Greek, Italic and Keltic, and it is so common that it can hardly have arisen independently in the separate languages from the ending of such forms as Gr. φυσι-κός (φύσις). Further in Germanic and Balto-Slavonic, as well as in Sanskrit and Latin, -igo- is a primary suffix, and this usage must have been derived from its denominative use; so that clearly it had become a single independent suffix in protoethnic Indo-Germanic. But of course there is nothing to prevent our supposing that it did originally spring from noun-stems in -i-.

Aryan. Skr. paryāy-iká-s 'strophic' from paryāyá-s 'rotation, strophe'. It occurs most frequently after the vridhhi-strengthening, which serves also to form adjectives without the addition of any suffix (see § 60 p. 112 f.; cp. māma-ká-s, 'my' beside māma-ka-s, § 86 b p. 257), as vāsant-ika- 'belonging to spring' (vasantá-s), vārṣ-ika-s 'belonging to the rainy season' (varṣá-m), āhn-ika-s 'daily' from āhan- n. 'day'. But -ika- was not adopted in general use as an adjectival suffix, cp. rūpa-ka-urvaru-ká- etc., § 86 b p. 257.

It is primary in Skr. vṛṣc-ika-s 'scorpion, tarantula', from vṛṣcdmi 'I split, cut asunder'.

Greek. ἵππ-ικός 'belonging to horses' from ἵππος, παρθεν-ικός 'maidenly' from παρθένος, νυμφ-ικός 'bridal' from νύμφη, ἁστ-ικός 'of the city' from ἄστυ, ἐθν-ικός 'national' from ἔθνος n., ἀγων-ικός 'belonging to contests' from ἀγών, ἀνδρ-ικός 'manly' from ἀνής gen. ἀνδρ-ός. From participial stems in -to- there arose a new suffix -τικός; e. g. κριτικός, μαθητικός, cp. Lat. -tico- p. 261.

By the side of -ικός we find, though only rarely, -ός, as Διβυ-ός; see § 86 b.

Italic. Lat. mod-icu-s from modu-s, bell-icu-s from bellu-m, fabr-ica from faber (stem fabro-), gent-icu-s from gēns (stem gent-), histriōn-icu-s from histriō (stem histriōn-), patr-icu-s from pater (stem patr-); participial stems in -to- gave rise to -tico- as an independent suffix, e. g. cēnāticu-s, herbaticu-s, volāticu-s, rūsticu-s, domesticu-s, cp. Gr. -rixo- above. Similarly -ic-u-s in caement-iciu-s, sūtōr-iciu-s, patr-iciu-s etc.

The Umbro-Samnite dialects shew that -ico- was proethnic in Italic, so that (say) modicu-s was not developed in Latin out of modo-co-s*: Osc. túvtíks 'publicus' totvico nom. fem. 'publica', Volsc. toticu abl. 'publico', Umbr. totcor pl. 'urbici' from tōtico-*, a derivative of toyta- 'civitas, urbs'; Umbr. fratreks fratrexs 'fratricus, fratrum magister' fratreca 'fratrica' (e from i, see I § 33 p. 34). Cp. also Osc. Viíníkiís 'Vini-cius' and múíníkad abl. fem. 'communi', múltasíkad abl. fem. 'multaticia'. But we also find Umbr. Kastrúsiie and Osc. Iúvkiíúí (§ 86 b p. 258), which are hard to explain with certainty.

-igo- is a primary suffix in Lat. mord-icu-s mord-ex, med-icu-s, vert-ex; and no doubt also in pōdex for poz-d-ex* ✓ pezd- 'pedere' (I § 594 p. 450). Compare the root-vowel of this word with Goth. gabig-s (pōdex:pēdere = gabigs:giban).

Old Irish. As in Latin, -ico- is a general derivative suffix, i. e. it forms derivatives from all manner of stems. cuimm-ech 'mindful of' from cuman 'thought, remembrance', cretm-ech 'fidelis' from cretm 'fides'; feminines in -iche = Lat. -ic-ia, as tairsemiche 'immobility' from tairism-ech 'immovable' (tairissem 'a standing fast'). It is possible however that some of the words in -ech -iche (Zeuss² 810 sq.) contain -iāco- or -āco-.

Germanic. The fertility of -iza- was limited on the one hand by the use of -a-za- -a-za- (§ 86), on the other by that of -īza- (§ 89 a). In Gothic it does not occur as a secondary suffix, but it does in Old High German; e. g. wuot-ig beside wuota-g 'furious'. It is primary e. g. in Goth. gab-ig-s 'rich' beside giban gaf 'to give', cp. Lat. pōd-ex, O.H.G. heb-ig 'at which one must strain or heave, heavy' (beside Goth. hafjan).

But here too other suffixes encroached upon its use, cp. Goth. gabeig-s beside gabig-s, O.Icel. göfug-r höfug-r.

On the other hand, -iza- is sometimes found where -za- must no doubt have been original (§ 88); O.H.G. entrig 'strange' (pr. Germ. andr-izá-*) from ander 'other'; possibly however -iza- may here represent Idg. -e-go- (§ 88 p. 268).

Balto-Slavonic. Here it is not uncommon as a primary suffix. In Lithuanian the root has the vowel of the preterite (cp. Lat. pōdex, Goth. gabigs). Lith. szer-ika-s 'one who gives fodder' from szeriū 'I give fodder' pret. szėrian, kirt-ika-s 'hewer' from kertiū 'I hew' pret. kirtaiū, skund-ika-s 'who loves to lament', tup-ika-s 'squatter'. Lett. jum-ik-i-s 'tile-setter' from ju'mt 'to cover', glān-ik-i-s 'spy' from glānēt 'to lurk', u'rb-ik-i-s 'borer' from u'rbt 'to bore'. O.C.Sl. žez-ikŭ 'burning' from žega 'I burn' (trans.), tež-ikŭ 'burdensome, heavy' from težiti 'to burden', skac-ikŭ 'grasshopper' ('springer'), meč-ikŭ 'bear' ('growler'), smýč-ikŭ 'fiddler'; more frequently we have -iči, as yad-iči 'eater' pis-iči 'writer' šiv-iči 'cobbler', žŭ-iči 'offerer, priest'.

There is a class of substantives derived from adjectives which may contain this Idg. -igo-, though I do not feel certain that it is so, such as Lith. jaunik-i-s 'betrothed husband' (jáuna-s 'young'), Lett. melnik-i-s 'black horse' (meln-s 'black'), O.C.Sl. rožaničŭ 'bow' (rožanŭ 'of horn') bradatŭčŭ 'bearded man' (bradatŭ 'bearded') juničŭ 'young bull' (junŭ 'young').

§ 88. 4. -go- is added to substantives and adjectives without altering their substantival or adjectival character; the meaning of the new word bears to the old much the same relation as Mod.H.G. schwärzlich to schwarz, [Eng. blackish to black], i. e. it denotes something 'tantamount to' or something which is merely 'like' the original. From this a diminutival sense was often developed, and hence -go- was used in forming familiar and pet names. Yet this modification of meaning frequently died out, so that the new word meant simply the same as the old.

The boundary between this class of words and those given under 2 b and 3 (§ 86 and 87) fluctuates considerably. It is often doubtful whether any particular word belongs to one or the other category.

The diminutival -go- is often combined with other diminutival elements, e. g. Lat. -culo- = -go- + -lo-.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. muṣ-ká-s 'testicle' mūṣaka-s mūṣika 'mouse, rat' (mūṣ- mūṣa-s mūṣā 'mouse'), Armen. mu-k-n, gen. mkan, 'mouse, mouse', Lat. mus-culu-s (mūs), O.C.Sl. myšica 'arm'. sū-go-* from sū-* 'sow': Skr. sū-karā-s 'pig, boar' (popularly derived from kar- 'to make' as 'that which makes the noise sū'), Lat. su-culu-s su-cula, O.Cymr. hu-cc 'sus' Corn. ho-ch 'poreus', A.S. su-zu f. 'sow' (unless we accept Bugge's derivation of this A.S. word from Idg. suu-*, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 509 f.). Lat. bū-cula, Mid.Cymr. bu-ch 'cow'. Armen. ju-k-n, gen. jkan, 'fish', Pruss. suckans i. e. zu-ka-ns acc. 'fishes', Lith. žū-k-mistra-s 'fish-master', beside Gr. ἰχθῦς Lith. žuv-i-s 'fish' (for the initial sound cp. I § 554 Rem. 1 p. 407 and Bartholomae Ar. Forsch. II 56). Skr. ajākā ajāka 'little goat' (ajā-s 'he-goat' ajā 'she-goat'), Lith. oszkā (ožỹ-s 'he-goat'). Skr. avi-ká-s avi-kā 'sheep' (āvi-s 'sheep'), Lat. ovi-cula, Lith. avi-kýnė 'sheep-pen' (avi-s 'sheep') O.C.Sl. ovī-ca 'sheep'. Skr. marya-ká-s 'mannikin' (mārya-s 'man, young man'), Gr. μεῖραξ 'girl', later also 'boy' μεῖραξ-ιον 'boy'. Skr. pāsu-ka- m. pl. 'dust' (pāśū-s 'dust'), O.C.Sl. pēsū-kū 'sand'.

In names of persons: Skr. dēvaka-s dēvika-s beside dēva-s dēva-datta-s, Gall. Dīwicō Dīvicia beside Dīvō Dēvo-gnāta; Skr. śunaka-s beside śunas-karna-s, Gr. κίραξ beside Κίρ-αγο-s; Skr. sana-ka-s beside sana-śruta-s, Gall. Seniccō Seneca beside Bret. Hen-car, O.H.G. Sinigus (Latinised) beside Sino Sin-hart.

sene-go-* (seno-go-) meaning probably 'oldish', from seno- 'old' (Skr. sāna-s &c.): Skr. sana-ká-s 'former, old', Lat. senex senica, (Gall. Seniccō, Seneca; O.Ir. senchas 'antiquity', see § 108), pr. Norse sinögöstēr nom. pl. mase. 'oldest' from sinig-* (cp. F. Burg, Die älteren nord. Runeneinschr. 1885, p. 130 f.). Frankish Sinigu-s (Goth. sineig-s 'old' see § 89 a), Lett. senz-i-s (z for k) 'old inhabitant, a man of olden time'. Armen. ancu-k O.C.Sl. azū-kū 'narrow', beside Skr. qhū-ṣ 'narrow'.

Aryan. Skr. aśva-kā-s 'little horse' from āśva-s 'horse', śiśu-kā-s 'little child' from śiśu-ś 'child', rāja-kā-s 'petty king' from rājan- 'king'. Avest. drafša-ka- m. 'little banner' from drafša- m. 'banner', aper-nāyū-ka- m. 'little child' from a-per-nāyū- m. 'child' (orig. 'not of full age'), kaini-kā- 'little girl' beside kainin- f. 'maid, maiden'.

Familiar and pet names, o. g. Skr. vasu-ka-s O.Pers. vahu-ka beside Skr. vasu-ś vasu-datta-s Avest. vohu-data-, Skr. datta-ka-s dattika-s beside dattu-s datta-śatru-ś agni-datta-s.

No difference of meaning can be detected in the following examples. Skr. vādha-ka-s and vadhā-s 'murderer', āsta-ka-m and āsta-m 'home', iṣu-kā- and iṣu-ś f. 'arrow', uda-kā-m and udān- n. 'water', Avest. mašyāka- and mašya- m. 'mortal, man', pasu-ka- and pasu-ś m. 'cow' (cp. Skr. paśu-kā- a small animal), O.Pers. spana (Herodotus) and Avest. span- 'dog'.

Similarly there is no serious difference in meaning between Skr. arbha-kā-s and ārbha-s 'small', nāgna-ka-s and nagnā-s 'naked', ējāt-kā-s and ējant- 'trembling, quivering', anīyas-kā-s and ānīyas- 'thinner, finer' (cp. Lat. melius-culu-s). Thus adjectival compounds like vigata-śrī-ka-, which we noticed in § 86 p. 257, may also be classed here. In Sanskrit, forms like śikṣu-ka-s 'imparting, generous' (śikṣu-ś the same), pramāyu-ka-s 'falling into ruin, perishing' (pramā-yu-ś, the same) and the like gave rise to an independent primary suffix -uka-, e. g. dāśuka-s 'biting', vi-kāsuka-s vi-kasuka-s 'bursting'.

For feminine substantives the usual suffix is -ikā- (corresponding to masc. -aka-), as nāsikā- du. beside nāsa- du. 'nose', iyatikā- fem. of iyattakā- 'so small'. Whilst the forms in -akā- express the fem. by simple differentiation (Motion) of the masc.-neut. stem -aka-, -ikā- was originally derived from fem. *i-*stems (cp. also Avest. nāirika- beside nāiri- nairi- 'wife', caraitika- 'girl, wife' beside caraiti- caraiti- 'wife').

Armenian. A further suffix -en- was added to the stems of the substantives formed with -go-. We have already noticed mukn 'mouse, muscle' from mus-go-* or mūs-go-* (I § 561 p. 417) and ju-k-n 'fish'. To these should be added armukn, gen.

Greek. With a diminutival or contemptuous sense, more or less obscured: μῆραξ 'girl' (p. 263), δέλφαξ 'pig, sucking pig', βῶμαξ 'small altar', λίθαξ 'stone', λεῖμαξ 'meadow'. Attached to these are unmistakable diminutives like μειράκ-ιο-ν 'little boy' σπινθηράκ-ιο-ν 'little spark' (cp. ἀσπίδ-ιο-ν 'little shield' § 63 p. 128). Add also pet names like Ἰππακο-ς beside Ἰππο-ς Ἰππ-αρχο-ς Ἄρχ-ιππο-ς, Πύρρακο-ς beside Πύρρο-ς, Λύβραξ beside Λάβρο-ς, Φαῖναξ beside Φαῖνο-ς, Μόλυκο-ς Μόλυξ beside Μόλο-ς Μόλ-ορχο-ς Ἀγγί-μολο-ς.

The α which precedes the -ν(ο)- in -ακο-ς -αξ points to -η-γο- as the earlier form (cp. όστανο-ς § 86 p. 258 and Skr. rajaká- for rajah-ka-*, Germ. -unθ-za-). Thus Ἰππακο-ς (: Ἰππιων), λεῖμαξ (: χειμῶν) and the like may have set the type for this group of forms; Ἰππαρο-ς: Ἰππιων = O.H.G. Berhtung: Berhto (see below, p. 267). μῆραξ for μερια-ξ* (Skr. marya-ká-s) may perhaps be an extended form from a stem μεριη-*.

όδάξ 'with the teeth, mordicus' was derived from a stem όδατ-κο-* όδακ(ο)-* 'tooth': Skr. a-datka- 'toothless', A.S. tusc or tāsc O.Fris. tusk O.Icel. tosk-r 'tooth' pr. Germ. tuns-ka-, common ground-form dʰt-γο-, beside όδούς Goth. tunþ-u-s 'tooth' (cp. I § 527 p. 383). But δάκνω obviously influenced its meaning and perhaps its form also. In the same way we have γνύ-ξ 'with bended knees' from γνυ- 'knee'. As to their use as adverbs see § 86 p. 256.

πηλί-νο-ς 'how great? how old?' τηλί-κο-ς 'so great, so old' from παλι-* τάλι-* = Lat. quālī-s tali-s: similarly O.H.G. Alemann. we-lēr 'how produced?' so-lēr 'thus produced' pr. Germ. -li-χα-*, cp. also O.C.Sl. kolikŭ tolikŭ § 89 a. Beside Att. ήλικο-ς ήλιξ stands βαλκικιώτης (more correctly -τας) συνέφηρος. Κρητες in Hesychius, which points to a form syāli-*.

Italic. Lat. homun-c-iō 'mannikin' from homō. albi-co-* 'whitish' nigrīco-* 'blackish' in albicare nigricare. pris-cu-s beside prius. paucu-s for pavi-co-s* (cp. pauper for pavi-per*). senex seni-ca: Skr. sana-ká-s see above, p. 263.

The usual suffix is -culo-, i. e. -go- + -lo-, the second of which is itself diminutival (§ 76 p. 205 f.). This extension of the suffix dates from proethnic Italic, and in many words was no doubt intended to revive the diminutival force which at the time was disappearing or had quite disappeared. Lat. ovicula: ovica* (Skr. api-ká) = lupula: lupa; similarly pauculu-s: paucu-s = frigidulu-s: frigidu-s.

bū-cula: Mid.Cymr. bu-ch 'cow'. su-culu-s: O.Cymr. hu-cc 'sow', Lat. diē-cula, Osc. zi-colom 'diem' (the diminutival sense of -colo- has disappeared). Lat. fūn-culu-s, classi-cula, spē-cula, nūbē-cula, frater-culu-s, amātor-culu-s, homun-culu-s, aedificatiun-cula, mus-culu-s, corpus-culu-m, arbus-cula, corculu-m (i. e. cord* + culum).

Remark 1. The i in crāticula, febricula, apicula and similar words may be variously explained. The first analysis must certainly be crātic-ula not crāti-cula. Cp. § 89 a p. 271.

seniculu-s: senex, nigriculu-s: nigricāre, leviculu-s, dulciculu-s, pauperculu-s, melius-culu-s, tardius-culu-s, (cp. prīs-cu-s and Skr. anīyas-ká-s).

Keltic. O.Cymr. hu-cc 'sus' Corn. ho-ch 'porcus': Skr. sū-karú-s see p. 263 above, we must no doubt add O.Ir. socc 'ploughshare', properly 'pig's snout', see Thurneysen, Keltorum. 112 f. 1). Mid.Cymr. bu-ch 'cow': Lat. bū-cula uire (gen. airech) 'princeps' for ariak-s*, Skr. ārya-ka-s 'honourable man', from aryá- 'devoted, pious'. Proper names: Gall. Divicō Divicia, see above, p. 263.

Remark 2 Here may also be mentioned O.Ir. menicc Mod.Cymr. mynych 'frequens', though their relation to Goth. manag-s 'much', and O.C.Sl. munogŭ 'much' is not clear. Does the Slav. word contain Idg. -go- (§ 91)? Or should we regard it as a word borrowed from Germanic? Cp. Schleicher in his and Kuhn's Beitr. V 112 f.

Germanic. A.S. tusc or tūsc 'tooth' ground-form dnt-go-*, see above, p. 265.

1) Cp. Gr. στρίξ στρίγγ 'ploughshare', which is usually connected with δ- (cp. Solmsen, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 81).

-go- was added to -en-, which formed substantives denoting a thing or person standing in some characteristic relation to the idea of the original word; hence arose in proethnic Germanic the suffix -uŋza- (and beside it -iŋza-, with no difference in meaning). The suffix -go- in this use in historical times is merely an amplification of the suffix to which it is added, and has no special meaning of its own; at most we may credit it with some part of the idea of pity or contempt implied in words like O.H.G. arming 'homo pauper, miser' abansting 'homo invidus', which are common enough. We may compare the relation of O.H.G. Berhtung Berhting: Berhto (gen. Berhtin), arming: armo (gen. armin) 'poor' with that of Gr. Πύρρανο-ς: Πύρρον. This compound suffix was soon added to stems with l-suffixes, e. g. O.H.G. sidil-ing 'settler' from sedal 'seat', edil-ing 'man of noble blood' from edil 'noble'. Thus there arose an independent suffix -(i)lunza- -(i)lnza-, which was fertile in North and West Germanic.

Remark 3 It is difficult to determine the relation between -iŋza- and -uŋza-. The latter form appears to be older, e. g. in tribe names like Greuthungi (Amm. Marc.). The most natural assumption is that at the time when the connexion between -uŋza- and the en-stems was still recognised, e (later i) was introduced through the influence of the cases which had the strong form -en- (later -in-). Yet it is quite conceivable that -uŋza- and -iŋza- were contaminated (§ 87 p. 261), or that -iŋza- started from stems in -in-, which existed in the pre-Germanic period (see § 115), -iŋza- -iŋga- would come from -iŋza- -iŋga- just as jūŋza-* jūŋga- 'young' from jūŋza-*, see § 83 and I § 179 p. 156; op. Berhtung, O.Icel. Birtung-r 'a brilliant, famous man' by the side of Goth. bairhtei O.H.G. perahit f. 'brightness'; O.Icel. speking-r 'wise man' beside speke f. 'wisdom'. There is a good deal of evidence for the last explanation, which seems to me the best, if it be correct, then the -iŋza- forms must have been originally adjectival (§ 86 b p. 259); Rem. 4. p. 268.

Examples. O.H.G. hūsinga pl. 'penates' ('those who belong to the house') O.Fris. hūsing 'member of the household', O.H.G. chamarling 'chamberlain' hofiling 'courtier', būring būling būwel-ing 'peasant' from. būr, bū 'habitation', sidiling 'settler' from sedal 'seat', A.S. bedlingz 'he who lies lazily in bed, effeminatus', O.H.G. sarling 'who is hidden in armour (saro), soldier', fūstiling Mid.H.G. viustinc 'mitten', Mid.H.G. hendelinc 'glove', O.Icel.

fingrung-r 'finger-ring', Mid.H.G. bertinc 'lay brother' from bart 'beard', O.H.G. wihseling 'changeling', zwineling 'twin', O.Icel. vetrung-r 'a beast one winter old'. hofding-r 'chieftain, captain'; names of families and tribes like A.S. Skyldungas O.Icel. Skjöldungar; A.S. Hrēðling 'son of Hrēðel'; O.Icel. attung-r 'kinsman' from att 'race', O.H.G. chunniling 'kinsman' from chunni 'race', O.Icel. systrung-r 'mother's sister's son' O.Fris. susterling 'sister's child', O.H.G. sunufatarungo pl. 'the people of the son and the father' These is but one example in Gothic, gadiligg-s 'cousin': O.H.G. gatiling gatuling O.S. gaduling.

The use of these forms in the feminine as abstract substantives in Norse and West-Germanic was no doubt established by the same process as in e.g. O.H.G. forahta 'fear' contrasted with foraht Goth. faúrht-s 'full of fear' (§ 79 p. 235 f.); similarly Lat. fabrica 'formation manufacture', (from faber); cp. also § 158. O.Icel. haðung 'an insulting' from hað 'insult, scoff', launung 'secret' from laun (the same), with which primary formations like kvisting 'murdering' (from kvista 'to murder') became associated. O.H.G. werdunga 'dignitas' from werd; primary in e.g. hantalunga 'handling', from hantalōn 'to handle'. In O.Icel. we have also side by side birting-r 'bright one' and birting 'brightness', ginnung-r 'deceiver, impostor' and gunning 'deceit', and the like.

Remark 4. If -inza- -inzu-, were derived from the suffix -in- which is itself used to form abstract substantives (see Rem. 3), we should further have to consider whether the fem. -inzu-, as in O.Icel. birting, was not formed immediately from the *in-*stem by the addition of -go- merely as an amplification.

Adjectival stems were extended by -go-, e.g. O.H.G. gōra-g 'pitiful' beside Goth. gaur-s 'sorrowful', O.Icel. orðug-r 'steep' beside Gr. ὀρθός Lat. arduo-s (I § 306 p. 241). Here must be classed also O.H.G. entrig 'strange' (from ander 'other'), if the termination is Idg. -tre-qó-, not -tr-igó- (§ 87 p. 262). -izo- was generally substituted for the original ending as in Goth. sineig-s 'old' (contrast Skr. sana-kú-s p. 263), see § 89 a p. 271.

O.H.G. Alemann. welër 'how made?' see above, p. 265.

Remark 5. The origin of this word is therefore distinct from that of O.H.G. wie-ih Goth. hwi-leik-s 'what sort of', a compound of Germ. -lika- 'body, form'. But the termination -li-za- was associated with this by popular etymology, just as in Skr. -i-ka- -ū-ka- -ā-ka- were associated with -aṅc- (see p. 256).

Balto-Slavonic. -ugo is common to Baltic and Slavonic as a diminutive suffix. There can be no doubt that it first appeared in u-stems, cp. O.C.Sl. synŭkŭ 'little son': synŭ, gen. synu 'son'. So Lith. parszuka-s 'little sucking pig' beside pařsza-s, medŭka-s 'little tree' beside mēdi-s, O.C.Sl. cvětŭkŭ 'floweret' beside cvětŭ gen. cvěta. In Slavonic the same suffix was also used for the extension of adjective stems, yet with the loss of what was originally its special sense: azŭkŭ 'narrow': Armen. ancuk anjuk 'narrow' (Skr. qhú-š), sladŭkŭ 'sweet' (Lith. saldŭ-s); others are not derived from u-stems e. g. bridŭkŭ 'bitter', lěpŭkŭ 'ornament'. Cp. further Pruss. names like Banduke (banda- 'useful') Wyrucke (vira- 'man').

Similarly the diminutival -i-go-, which first appeared in i-stems, was extended beyond its original sphere in both Baltic and Slavonic. Yet -i-go- itself is not used with this function, but only -i-q-jo- -i-q-ja-, which contains the additional suffix -jo-. Proethnic examples are: O.C.Sl. ovŭ-ca 'sheep', cp. Lith. avi-k-ŷnė 'sheep-pen': Skr. avi-kā etc., see p. 263 above; O.C.Sl. myšica 'arm' orig. 'little mouse, muscle': Skr. māṣika 'mouse, rat', cp. loc. cit. In both these words the original diminutival sense was lost. Other examples are: Lith. rankikė 'little hand', kumelikė 'little (bad) mare', mamikė 'little mother' (in Lith. only feminines), O.C.Sl. kamenŭčŭ 'little stone', korablŭčŭ 'little ship', děti-ca collective 'little children' (děti 'children'), dverŭ-ca 'little door' (dverŭ 'door'). Compare also Prussian names like Tevŭko (tawa-tawa- 'father').

Here should also be classed Lith. -in-in-ka- Lett. -(i)n-ika-en-ika- († comes from en), combinations of suffixes which denote any kind of relation to the original word, e. g. Lith. darb-iniŭka-s (Lett. da'rbinŭk-s) 'worker' from dārba-s 'work', dařš-ininka-s (Lett. da'ršnŭk-s) 'gardener' from dařša-s 'garden', pūs-ininka-s

'owner of half a measure of land, small proprietor', lauk-inīnka-s 'dweller in the fields, countryman', Lētuv-ininka-s 'a Lithuanian' from Lētuvā 'Lithuania', Lett. gudrinik-s 'wiseacre' from gudr-s 'wisc', sweschinik-s 'stranger' from swesch 'strange', Rīdīnīk-s 'man of Riga' from Rīga 'Riga', uppenik-s 'dweller by a river' from uppe 'river'. By the side of this suffix, with a similar meaning, stands Lith. -in-yka- Pruss. -n-ik-ī- O.C.Sl. -n-iko-, which I refer to Idg. -igo-, see § 89 a. The second part of Lith. -in-inka- should no doubt be identified with Germ. -un-ga- (cp. I § 249 p. 204 f.), and it must be assumed that in Baltic there once existed forms like dvarīnka-s* dvarenka-s* 'courtier' (should we add here the forms měsēcī 'month' zajecī 'hare', which are quite isolated in Slavonic?) and that their suffix was confused with -(i)n-īka- (dvārīnyka-s O.C.Sl. dvorīnikŭ) producing Lith. -in-inka- (dvārīninka-s) Lett. (-n-enka-*) -n-īka-.

Remark 6. I prefer this view to that proposed in I § 219, 4 p. 186, which I have now abandoned, that Slav. -iku is the phonetic equivalent of Lith. -inka-s. I have to thank Leskien for suggesting the above explanation.

§ 89. 5. -igo- -igā-, -ūgo- -ūgā- and -āgo- -āgā-. The long vowels preceding the g may, like the i of -igo- (§ 87), represent the final of a noun-stem; but it is not clear in what particular words these forms of the suffix first appeared. No general definition of their functions can be given.

a. -igo-. Cp. Skr. ānī-ka- § 86 a p. 256, sūctī-ka- sa-patnī-ka- § 86 b p. 257.

Aryan. It is rarely denominative: Skr. āṇḍ-īka-s 'bearing eggs', from āṇḍā-m 'egg'. More frequently it is primary: Skr. dīś-īka-s 'conspicuous' dīś-īka-m 'aspect' dīś-īkā 'appearance', vṛdh-īkā-s 'augmenter', mṛd-īkā-m 'pity, grace'.

In Greek it is rare. πέρδ-ιξ 'partridge' (properly 'peditor', though its resemblance to πέρδω may perhaps be due merely to a freak of popular etymology), βέμβ-ιξ 'top'.

Italic. Denominative forms: umbil-īcu-s (cp. Gr. ὀμφαλό-ς), rubr-īcu-s rubr-īca, lect-īca and others. Primary forms: am-īcu-s, mend-īcu-s, pud-īcu-s, and others; add also pēdīcare from a stem pēd-īco-* with the same meaning as pōdex (§ 87 p. 261). -īc-io- and -t-īc-io- (cp. -t-ico- § 87 p. 261) are derived suffixes e. g. novīciū-s, ad-ventīciū-s. Some nouns in -īgo- have passed into the consonantal declension: fēlīx, pernīx.

Perhaps we should also class here crāticula and the like, see § 88 Rem. 1 p. 266.

In Germanic. -īza- appears with various functions. It forms adjectives from nouns, e. g. Goth. mahteig-s 'mighty' from maht- 'might', O.H.G. spenstīg 'alluring' from spanst f. 'allurement, enticement'; here -īza- has taken the place of an older -za- (-i-za- -a-za- etc.), see § 86 p. 259. It extends adjectival stems without altering their adjectival character, e. g. Goth. andanēmeig-s: anda-nēm-s 'pleasant', O.H.G. wirdīg. werd 'worthy', rihtīg: reht 'right'; -za- has the same function, e. g. in O.H.G. gōra-g: Goth. gaur-s 'troubled', see § 88 p. 268; there can be no doubt that in this use also -īza- has spread beyond its original sphere, cp. Goth. sineig-s instead of orig. sene-go-* or seno-go-* (p. 263). Finally it occurs as a primary suffix, e. g. in Goth. gabeig-s beside the older gabig-s, see § 87 p. 261.

Balto-Slavonic. Both branches have -īgo- as a secondary suffix, in substantives which are generally derived from adjectives, and express any kind of relation to the original word. In Baltic (Lith. and Pruss.) these forms are nearly always derived from nouns with an n-suffix, Lith. -in-yka-s Pruss. -n-ik-i-s, in Slavonic from others also. In Lithuanian -ininka-s is exactly equivalent to -inyka-s, but the two suffixes are distributed amongst the various dialects; in some the first, and in others the second was alone in use; in many of the districts bordering on Slavonian territory the Slav. -īnikū- may have helped to establish the form -inyka-s (there are a large number of such words borrowed from Slavonic, e. g. metelnyka-s 'impostor' = Pol. mietelnik). Lith. darbnyka-s beside darbiniška-s, etc., see § 88 p. 269 f. Pruss. laukinik-i-s 'vassal, feudal dependant' (Lith. laukinyka-s laukiniška-s), slidenik-i-s 'leading hound', stubonik-i-s ('booth-owner' hence) 'cupper, surgeon'. O.C.Sl. zlatikū a gold coin (zlatū 'golden'), sīrebrīnikū sīrebrīnika 'silver coin' (sīrebrīnū

'silvern'), krüvnikū 'murderer' (krüvinū 'bloody'), grēšnikū 'sinner' (grēšinū 'sinful'), olasēnikū 'who has a hairy (olasēnū) garment'; from participles, e. g. učenikū 'scholar, disciple', (učenū 'becoming learned') izbranikū 'one elected, chosen' (iz-branū 'elected'); from subst. e. g. Russ. babik 'fop, ladies' man' (baba 'woman'), sēverik 'north wind' (sēver 'north'). In Lithuanian we have only isolated examples of derivatives without the n-suffix, as dalyka-s 'piece, part' from dali-s 'part'.

O.C.Sl. sikū 'talīs' (also sicī, cp. ljubimicī beside ljubimikū and the like) from sī 'hic', tolikū 'tantus' kolikū 'quantus', compare also velikū 'great' beside velijī 'great': cp. Gr. πῆλικο-s O.H.G. welz § 88 p. 265.

Further -ikū forms diminutives and pet names in Slavonic, as Russ. domik 'little house' mjačik 'little ball', Lower Sorb. gašik 'little pond', gjarnyk 'little pot'; Czech Volik beside Vol, Vladik beside Vlad, Mod.Slov. Nanika 'Annie'.

Primary: O.C.Sl. -ica, as ljubica 'amator', štrica 'sacerdos'.

b. -ūqo-. Cp. Skr. ānā-ka- § 86 a p. 256.

Aryan. In Sanskrit, it is found primary adjectives containing reduplicated verbal forms, as dan-daś-āka-s 'biting' (cp. dāśuka-s 'biting' § 88 p. 264), jā-jar-āka-s 'watchful', vā-vad-āka-s 'talkative'.

Greek. It is found in isolated words as a primary suffix: ἡρῶξ* (Dor. etc. ἀρῶξ*) 'herald', cp. Skr. ca-kar-ti 'he extols' kārū-ś 'praiser'.

Italic. In Latin it occurs a few times in primary use e. g. cad-ūc-s, fidūc-ia, and not more often as secondary, e. g. aerūca (beside aerūgō) from aes, lactūca from lac (lact-is).

In Slavonic it is a primary suffix in a few words, e. g. O.C.Sl. jěz-ykū 'tongue, speech' (: Pruss. ins-uw-i-s 'tongue'), vlad-yka 'ruler, lord', Russ. kl-yk 'hewer', pol. będ-yk 'peditor'.

c. -āqo-.

Aryan. Here -aka- is ambiguous, so that no forms can be said with certainty to be derived from -āqo-. Besides Skr. asmāka-s etc. (§ 86 b p. 267) the following may be examples: pavākā-s Ved. 'clear, pure' (to be read, as the metre indicates, for the pāvakā-s of the Mss.), jālpaka-s beside jalpaka-s 'talkative', bhīkṣaka-s 'beggar'.

Greek. νέας 'youth': O.C.Sl. novakŭ 'novice'. θώραξ Ion. θώραξ 'breastplate'. ὄρηξ Lesb. ὄρηξ 'little sprout or shoot'. πῆληξ 'helmet'. σφήξ 'wasp', which no doubt is for σφ-ακ- i. e. 'a creature that lives in swarm', compare Skr. sabh-ā 'assemblage' Goth. sib-ja 'kinsman' (Baunack, Stud. auf dem Geb. des Griech. I 25).

Italic. In denominative formations merācu-s from meru-s, lingulāca from lingulu-s, verbēnāca from verbēna; opācu-s is no doubt to be compared with op- ob. -āx is common both in primary and secondary use bibāx, loquāx, persequāx, mordāx, audāx, pūgnāx, vērāx.

Old Irish. -ako- is common to all Celtic languages, forming adjectives from substantives, as in marcach Mid.Cymr marchawc 'equester' from marc 'horse', cumachtach Mid.Cymr. kyfoethawc Corn. chefudoc 'mighty' from cumachta 'might'. It is also found in proper names, as Gall. Dumnācu-s Mid.Cymr. Dyfnawc, Gall. Tento-bōdīacī (pl.) Mid.Ir. Buadhach, Gall. Benā-cū-s; its originally adjectival character appears clearly in place-names in -ācum like Gall. Avitācum i. e. 'praedium Aviti' (Zeuss² 806)

Germanic. Goth. ánōhō Luke 8, 42, fem. of ánaha 'unicus', which is usually adduced here, is most probably nothing but a scribe's mistake (perhaps caused by ánōhun?).

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. tōk-s gen. tók-io O.C.Sl. takŭ 'talīs'; similarly kōk-s kakŭ 'qualis?', jōk-s 'any one' jakŭ 'qualis', anōk-s 'of that kind' onako adv. 'so', dvojōka-s dvojakŭ 'twofold' trejōka-s trojakŭ 'threefold'. There are only one or two examples to add from Slavonic: e. g. O.C.Sl. jedinakŭ 'aequalis' dru-gako adv. 'otherwise' (cp. Lith. vėnōka-s vėnōk-s 'of one kind' kitōk-s 'of another kind'), but in Baltic this suffix was very fertile in forming new adjectives from those already in use to express an approach to the meaning of the original: Lith. jūdōka-s 'blackish' (jūda-s 'black'), siūpnōka-s 'weakish, rather weak'

(slpna-s 'weak'), saldōka-s 'sweetish, rather sweet' (saldūs-s 'sweet'), didōka-s 'rather large' (dīdi-s 'large'); in Lettish it became the ordinary comparative suffix, as in sa'ldāk-s 'sweeter' (sa'ld-s), labbāk-s 'better' (lab-s).

-āgo- was further employed in Balto-Slavonic to form substantives from adjectives to denote something characterised by the quality which the adjective expressed. So Lith. naujōka-s O.C.Sl. novakū 'novice' (Serv. novak 'new moon') from naūje-s novū 'new'. Gr. νᾶξ, Lith. trecziōka-s 'threepenny-bit' (strictly a coin worth three copper groschen) szesztiōka-s (twice as much), O.C.Sl. tretijakū 'a three-year-old'; O.C.Sl. junakū 'a youth'; O.C.Sl. bujakū 'fool, blockhead'; finally personal names in -akū, as Russ. Gojak, Czech Lstak, Modlak.

The difference in accentuation between trejōka-s and trecziōka-s should be noticed. The Ghding ¹⁾ (geschliffen) accent in tōks replaced the Incusive (gestossen) in consequence of the loss of the final syllable, cp. tōkio.

§ 90. The Suffix -sko- -ska- and (in Germanic and Balto-Slavonic) -isko- -iskā-. We have to consider chiefly the primary noun-suffix -sko-, which is identical with the verbal suffix -sko- forming present stems. Occasionally we meet with forms which point to an original -sgo-. I must leave it an open question whether to regard these as two entirely distinct forms, or to suppose that the velar was substituted for the palatal in the original suffix by some secondary process, cp. I § 467 p. 342 f. I confess however that the latter view seems to me more probable.

Indo-Germanic. pr̥k-ska-* 'question, investigation, enquiry' (cp. Skr. pr̥chām Lat. poscō, √ prēk-): Skr. pr̥chā-, Armen. harç (gen. harçi, transferred to the i-declension), O.H.G. forsca. is-ska-* ais-ska-* (cp. Skr. ichām 'I long for, desire', √ ais-): Skr. ichā-

1) I am very sorry to depart from Dr. Wright's translation of these terms in Vol. I (p. 558 f.) but the rendering 'slurred' for geschliffen and 'broken' for gestossen seem to me a little misleading.

'longing, wish', Armen. aic 'enquiry' (only found in the accusative and then only in certain phrases), O.H.G. eisca 'an asking, demanding'. Skr. vāñchā 'wish' O.H.G. wunsc m. 'wish, desire', beside Skr. vāñchāmi 'I wish', \sqrt{w} en- 'find pleasure in something'; in Sanskrit, the nasal is due to the analogy of kindred forms (Bartholomae Ar. Forsch. II 91), vā-ch* is for wñ-sk-*, and wunsc for wñ-sko-*.

Aryan. There are but few examples to be added from Sanskrit. mūrchā- 'weakness' beside mūrchāmi 'I freeze, grow torpid' (compare mūrkhā- 'stupid, dull, unintelligent' which may be classed with sargā- and the like, I § 467, 1 p. 342 f.), beside mār-tā-s 'curdled', if Goth. un-tila-malsk-s 'thoughtless' and O.Sax. malsc 'haughty' come from the same word, its form in pr. Idg. would be m̥-sko-*. mlēchā-s 'foreigner, barbarian', beside mlēchāmi 'I jabber'; the Pālī form milakkha- is still obscure, in spite of E. Kuhn's attempt to explain it in his Ztschr. XXV 327.

Armenian. See above. Perhaps also p'uk 'breath, flatus' beside ḫcem 'I breathe, blow', cp. Gr. φύσκα 'blister, weal' φύσκη 'intestine, sausage' beside φύσα 'blowing, blast', \sqrt{p} hu- or sphu- (the weak form).

Greek. δίσκο-ς 'quoit' for δίσκ-σκο-ς*, beside δισκῆν 'to throw'. βο-σκῆ 'fodder, pasture', beside βόσχω 'I feed'.

Here apparently we must class the diminutives¹⁾ in -isko- (which do not occur in Homer), as παιδίσκο-ς 'little boy' παιδίσκη 'little girl', οἰκίσκος οἰκίσκη 'little house', χοιρίσκος 'little pig', ύδρίσκη 'little pitcher'. These may be connected with presents in -ισχω (like εὐρίσχω), and the (primary) forms on which the rest were modelled (cp. ἡρεσκό-ς 'pleasing' beside ἀρέσχω) may have arisen when such presents still had the sense of becoming, of gradual realisation, compare νεανίσκος with Lat. adulescens.

Italic. Lat. esca for ed+scā* and its opposite pōsca. Also vescu-s properly 'eaten away'), beside vescor, if this group of words contains -sko- (cp. Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 606; Baunack, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 561 ff.).

1) Janson, De Graeci sermonis deminutivis in σκο-ς, Thorn 1856.

Germanic. O.H.G. forsca eisca wunsc Goth. -malsk-s see above p. 275. O.H.G. frosk O.Icel. frosk-r 'frog' for pr. Germ. fruz-ska-*, cp. A.S. frozza 'frog'. —

Here must be classed the secondary adjectival suffix, Germ. -iska-, Lith. -iszka-, Slav. -isko-. It denotes origin and connexion, or fitness and quality.

Germ. Goth. judaïwisk-s 'Jewish', þiudisk-s 'ἑθνικός' O.H.G. diutisc 'German'; O.H.G. frencisc 'Frankish', Goth. mannisk-s 'human', gudisk-s 'divine', funisk-s 'fiery', O.H.G. irdisc 'earthly', antarisc 'strange', dorfisc 'belonging to a village, rustic, clownish', mordisc 'murderous', altisc 'old'.

Lith. prūsizska-s 'Prussian', lētūviszka-s 'Lithuanian', dėviszka-s 'divine', tėviszka-s 'fatherly', dañgyszka-s 'heavenly'; substantives are formed from it by -io-, e. g. namiszki-s m. namiszke f., 'member of a household', mūšizski-s 'one who is ours', Kłapedizski-s 'inhabitant of Memel', tėviske 'patrimony or father's house, fatherland, home'. O.C Sl. rumīskŭ 'Roman', židoriškŭ 'Jewish', kūncžīškŭ 'princely', dětiškŭ 'childish', nebesīškŭ 'heavenly'

The history of this suffix involves considerable difficulty.

Remark. It may be suspected that the Balto-Slavonic suffix was borrowed from Germanic (see I § 587 Rem. 2 p. 442): in Romance indeed -isco- (Ital. griechisco, donnesco) was borrowed from Germanic and Slav. -ari Lith. -orius came from Germ. -aria-. It is quite possible that it is a compound suffix -is + ka- (compare § 86) (cp. Skr. arjās-ka- mastīka-); and if so it would be a question whether O.H.G. altisc and other forms derived from adjectives did not contain the comparative stem (cp. Skr. anayas-kā- p. 264) Finally it is conceivable that it is an analogical modification of Idg. -igo- (§ 87).

§ 91. The Suffix -go- -gā-. The following forms may be quoted towards proving the existence of a suffix -go- in proethnic Indo-Germanic.

Skr. ārbha-gu-s 'youthful' beside ārbha-s arbha-kā-s 'small, young'. śṛṅga-m 'horn' may be regarded as derived from a form śṛṅga-* = Goth. hairn, just as O.H.G. scincha f. 'hollow of the thigh, shank': scina 'leg-splint', Dan. manke: O.H.G. mana 'mane' (Kluge, Festschrift an Böhrtlingk, 1888, p. 60).

Armen. krun-k 'crane': O.H.G. chranu-h A.S. cornu-c 'crane' beside A.S. cran Gr. γέγραφο-ς 'crane'. Also arn-kun-ē (gen. sruni-ē) pl. 'shinbones, calves'? Armen. -k however also represents Idg. q.

In Germanic -ka- is a common suffix. With chranuh we may compare certain other names of birds, such as Goth. ahak-s 'dove' O.II.G. habuh A.S. hafoc 'hawk', which resemble Greek bird-names in -γ-, like νόκχυ- (see Bugge, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XII 424 f.). In other words it has generally more or less of a diminutival force, as O.H.G. armhha 'paupereula', fulihha 'she-foal', snurihha 'little daughter-in-law', and adjectives like O.II.G. altih 'old' O.Sax. luttic O.Fries. litik 'small' (cp. Skr. ārbha-ga-s). By the side of the O.H.G. scincha mentioned on p. 276 should no doubt be placed O.H.G. zinko 'tooth, prong', which is connected with Mid.II.G. zint O.Icel. tind-r, ground-form dend-go-, from the stem dent- 'tooth'.

In Balto-Slavonic also -go- is fairly frequent; but this may equally well represent Idg. -gho-. Lith. isz-ei-gā or isz-ei-ga 'exit' beside isz-eiti 'to go out', O.C.Sl. slu-ga 'servant' from ✓kley- 'hear' (slu-tije, slovo etc.), stru-ga 'current, ship' from ✓srey- 'flow' (stru-ja, o-strovū etc.). Lith. melāg-i-s m. melāg-ė f. 'liar', compare -in-ga-s in such words as varginga-s 'pitiful, miserable' from vařga-s 'misery' (and -in-ka-s § 68 p. 271). O.C.Sl. roz-ga 'twig' beside rozū razū 'dis-'. O.C.Sl. maq-ŕi 'man' for -g-je, cp. Skr. mānu- Goth. mann- 'human being, man'. Lith. ketvėr-g-i-s adj. 'of four years', trei-g-ỹ-s 'of three years' and the like, O.C.Sl. čtvri-gū Russ. čtvėr-g 'Thursday'.

Remark. We must remember that the suffix -go- may have been developed from -go- in the protoethnic period. See I § 469, 7 p. 346. By the side of -go- we may perhaps recognise a similar suffix -gu- Gr. ἡναι-γυ-ς ἡναι-βυ-ς 'old' and in Lith. žmo-gū-s 'human being'; ἡναι-γυ-ς would stand beside Lat. pris-co- (cp. § 135) as Skr. ārbha-ga- beside ārbha-kā- and as O.H.G. zinko beside A.S. tusc or tūsk § 88 p. 266. A different explanation of -γυ- -βυ- is given by Eezzenberger in his Beitr. IV 245.

II. Suffixes in -i.

§ 92. In the i-suffixes we have a triple Ablaut: i, eḡ, oḡ (e-series, I § 311—314). i e. g. in nom. and acc. sing. masc. fem. -i-s -i-m; eḡ e. g. in nom. pl. masc. fem. -eḡ-es; oḡ in gen. sing. -oḡ-s. We have not enough evidence to determine exactly the connexion between these grades of Ablaut and the varying conditions of Accent in the original declension.

In the proethnic period the i-stems were masculine, feminine and neuter. The first two had originally the same declension. Differences only arose after the separation of the languages, e. g. Skr. acc. pl. ávin m. áviś f. 'oves'.

i-stems often pass into the inflexion of the -i-: -iḡ-stems (§ 109), and into that of the monosyllabic -i-: -iḡ-stems (§ 109 Remark 2).

§ 93. The Suffix -i-. This was always a primary suffix. It is secondary only in nouns originally belonging to other declensions which have been transferred to the inflexion of the i-stems. The change of declension is due sometimes to a mere association of similar forms which leaves the meaning unaltered, as in Lat. nāv-i-s nāv-i-um *nāv-i-bus*¹⁾ (contrast Skr. nāu-ṣ nāv-ām nāu-bhyás); sometimes it denotes a change of meaning, the new signification being taken from that of other i-suffixes (as -ti- -ni-), as in O.C.Sl. žestoc-ŭ 'hardness' from žestokŭ 'hard'.

-i- as a primary suffix is found in substantives and adjectives. The substantives are most commonly masculine and feminine, and they may be either abstract or concrete.

Indo-Germanic. Substantives.

Masculine and Feminine ou-i-s* 'sheep': Skr. ávi-ṣ m. f. (instead of ávi-ṣ* on the analogy of the cases which began with avy-? see I § 78 p. 69 f.), Gr. ōi-ς ōl-ς m. f., Lat. ovi-s m. f., O.H.G. ou f., Lith. avi-s f. (O.C.Sl. ovŭ-ca § 88 p. 269). Skr. áh-i-ṣ m. Avest. ašiš m. 'snake, dragon', Armen. iḡ (gen. iḡ-i) 'viper', Lat.

1) For the transference of -i-stems into the i-declension, see § 109 Rem. 1.

angu-i-s m. f. (O.Ir. esc-ung 'eel', a compound with esc 'swamp'), Lith. ang-t-s f. 'adder'; cp. also Gr. ἐχίς m. f. 'adder, viper' ὄφις m. 'snake, dragon'. Avest. er^z-i-š Gr. ὄφις m. 'testicle'. ys-t-s* m. 'sword': Skr. asi-š Lat. ensi-s. Skr. -jān-i-š jān-i-š Avest. jaini-š f. 'woman', Goth. qēns (stem qēn-i-) f. 'woman', beside Skr. gn-d- etc., see § 60 p. 111.

Neut. oqi-* 'eye': Armen. ač-kē (gen. ačaç) pl., Gr. ὄσος for ok^h-i-e* du. n. (Att. ὄρι-ος must have arisen through a fusion of ὄρι- = oqi-* and ὄρι- = oqi-*), in Gothic in and-augi-ba adv. 'coming into sight, openly' (for the du cp. I § 444 Rem. 3 p. 331), Lith. aki-s f., O.C.Sl. oči du.; add Skr. ākṣi n. There were a few other proethnic neuters, as O.C.Sl. uš-i 'ears' But only a part of the cases were originally taken from these stems, the rest were formed from stems in -en- (cp. e. g. Skr. akṣṇ-d (instr.) beside ākṣ-i etc., § 114). In several languages, however, the i-declension was carried through all the cases and the gender was changed. In others however the i-inflexion remained defective. Cp. § 114 and Joh. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 16 ff.

There appears to be no one adjectival stem which is found simultaneously in more than one language. Here however we must notice tr-i-* 'three' (cp. Skr. tr-tīya- 'tertius' etc.): Skr. tráy-as loc. tri-śū, Armen. ere-kē instr. eri-v-kē (I § 263 p. 214), Gr. τρεις τρι-οί, Lat. trēs tri-bus O.Ir. trē dat. tri-b, Goth. þreis dat. þri-m, Lith. trys loc. tri-sė O.C.Sl. trij-e trij-e loc. trī-chŭ.

Aryan. Substantives.

Masculine and Feminine. The suffix is especially used to form nomina agentis (m.) and abstract verbal substantives (far more commonly f. than m.). Skr. v-i-š Avest. v-i-š m. 'bird': Lat. av-i-s (the loss of the root-syllable in Sanskrit is a trace of the Ablaut of the original declension). Skr. kav-i-š 'sage' Avest. kav-i-š m. 'king'. Skr. gir-i-š Avest. gai-ri-š m. 'mountain' (should we connect it with gurú- 'heavy'?) Skr. va-vr-t-š m. 'husk, covering' Avest. vaoiri- (cp. I § 160 p. 144) in us-vaoiri-š 'shelled, without shell'. Skr. śi-i-š m. 'singer, sage', kr-t-š m. 'singer of praises', arc-t-š m. 'beam', dhvan-t-š m. 'tone, sound', nidh-t-š m. 'establishment, store, treasure' (ni-dhā-); rúc-i-š f. 'gleam, light', kṣ-ī-š f. 'ploughing', rōp-i-š f. 'violent pain', grāh-i-š f. 'seizure', nābh-i-š f. 'middle'. Avest. vaēiā-i-š m. 'announcer', vair-i-š m. 'canal, pond'; baoiā-i-š f. 'smell, perfume' vaiā-i-š 'flowing, stream'.

The dative of the nomina actionis is used as an infinitive in Vedic and Avestic, e. g. Ved. dyśáyē 'for seeing', yudháyē 'for fighting', Avest. savayōi 'to use' (cp. Bartholomae, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 20).

Neuters. Skr. ākṣi- Avest. aši- 'eye', see above p. 279. Skr. ásthi- 'bone', dádhi- 'curds'. Avest. uši- 'understanding, thought'.

Adjectives. Skr. hár-i-š Avest. zairi-š 'golden yellow'. Skr. śúc-i-š 'shining, pure', gṛbh-i-š 'containing in oneself', kēp-i-š 'trembling', máh-i-š 'great'; often in reduplicated forms, as cā-kr-i-š 'making', dā-dh-i-š 'bestowing', tā-tur-i-š 'overcoming', ba-bhr-i-š 'carrying', da-d-i-š 'giving', sā-sah-i-š 'conquering, victorious'. Avest. dars-i-š 'violent, mighty' cp. Skr. dā-dhṛṣ-i-š 'courageous, bold', Avest. da-das-i-š 'biting'.

We find a class of words transferred to the i-declension in order to denote relation of any kind to the original word. In Sanskrit they generally imply origin. The initial syllable has the vridhhi strengthening regularly in Sanskrit, and often in Iranian. Skr. sdrath-i-š 'charioteer' from sa-rátha-s 'riding in the same chariot', pāūrukuts-i-š 'descendant, son of purukutsa-s'. Avest. māzdayasmi-š 'belonging to the worshippers of Mazda', from mazda-yasna- 'one who worships Mazda' vār'prayni-š 'victorious' from ver'pra-jan- 'victor', dāstayāni-š 'son of dāstayāna-'; O.Pers. pātišuvāri-š 'a man from Patishuvar'. It is difficult to say on what model this class of forms was made, cp. Lat. decemjugi-s 'and the like (p. 281). Compare the vridhhi-formations in -a- § 60 p. 112 f.

Armenian. iš (gen. iš-i) 'viper': Skr. āh-i-š etc., see p. 278 above. aic (gen. aic-i) 'goat': Gr. aiyr- in aiyi-βoro-s 'pasturing goats'. From old neuter forms are derived ač-ē pl. 'eyes' (see p. 279 above) and sirt (gen. srt-i) 'heart': Lith. szird-i-s 'heart' beside Goth. hairsō.

Greek. Here it is not common. Substantives. Masculine and Feminine. ῥ-ι-ς m. f., ἔχ-ι-ς m. f. ὄφ-ι-ς m., see above p. 278 f. τρώχ-ι-ς m. 'runner', στρόφ-ι-ς 'adroit, sly fellow', κόρ-ι-ς m. 'cimet', ἔρ-ι-ς f. 'strife: Skr. ár-i-ṣ 'enemy'; πόρ-ι-ς 'heifer, maiden', ράχ-ι-ς f. 'backbone, back', τροπ-ι-ς f. 'ship's keel', μῆν-ι-ς f. 'wrath'. There remains one original neuter, ὄσσε, see p. 279 above, whilst all the other proethnic neuters of this class were driven out of use by new formations.

The Adjective τρώφ-ι-ς 'thick, fat, strong' was no doubt originally a substantive, 'thick, strong appearance'.

Italic. Substantives. Masculine and Feminine. Lat. ov-i-s m. f., Umbr. ovu acc. 'oves': Skr. áv-i-ṣ etc., see p. 279 above. Lat. av-i-s f., Umbr. avif acc. 'aves': Skr. v-i-ṣ 'bird'. Lat. ax-i-s m.: Lith. asz-i-s O.C.Sl. os-ŕ 'axle'; torris m. (✓ters-), orb-i-s m., corb-i-s m. f., crāt-i-s f.; ap-i-s f., trud-i-s f., scob-i-s f., stl-i-s f., rāv-i-s f. Osc. slagim 'regionem'.

Neuters. Lat. mar-e: O.Ir. muir n. O.H.G. meri n. (perhaps however the Idg. form is mō-ri*, cp. Gr. ἰω-ρι); sal-e (stem sal-i-, also m.): Armen. al (gen. al-i) 'salt', Gr. άλι- in άλι-πόρφυρος 'sea-purple', O.C.Sl. sol-ŕ f. 'salt'; conclav-e, præsaep-e (also præsaep-i-s f.). aur-i-s too was originally neut.: Mid.Ir. au ō, dat. pl. auib, O.C.Sl. us-i du., Lith. aus-i-s.

Adjectives. rud-i-s, jug-i-s, dulc-i-s, grand-i-s, turp-i-s.

In Latin the i-declension was invaded by a large number of words which did not belong to it originally, as ped-i-bus, nāv-i-bus nāv-i-um nāv-i-s, juven-i-s. This is especially note-worthy in adjectives, and particularly in compound words. In these the -i- often seems to be merely a sign of their adjectival character. simili-s 'like': Gr. ὁμαλό-ς 'even', humi-li-s: Gr. χθαμαλό-ς 'low', see § 76 p. 202 f. in-ermi-s (also in-ermu-s) from arma pl., ex-somni-s from somnu-s, im-belli-s from bellu-m, im-berbi-s (also im-berbu-s) from barba, multi-formi-s from forma, bi-corni-s from cornu. We have examples of a similar transference in other languages; with the change in inermi-s etc. compare especially the parallel change in Irish.

The proethnic variation between -tāt- and -tāti- (civitat-um and civitatium), noct- and nocti- and the like must have been an important factor in enlarging the i-declension.

Old Irish. aírd m. or f. 'point at the corner or end': Gr. ἀρδ-ι-ς f. 'arrow-point, sting'. aig f. 'ice'. muir n. 'sea' (Gall. Mori-tasgu-s): Lat. mare n. O.H.G. meri n. (though the Idg. form was perhaps ma-rí*); gein n. 'birth', guin n. 'wound', buid n. 'victory'.

air-dirc 'famed' ē-cndirc 'absent': cp. Skr. drś-i-ṣ 'a seeing'; maith 'good' (Gall. Mati-donnu-s), tais 'soft, gentle' (Gall. Taxi-magulu-s), tin 'tender' (Gall. Teni-genonia.)

Adjectives, especially compound adjectives, frequently passed over to the i-declension; as ē-nirt 'strengthless, weak' from nert 'strength', so-choisc 'docibilis' from cosc 'an instructing', ess-amin 'fearless' from omun 'fear' (cp. Gall. Ex-obnu-s Ex-omnu-s). Also substantives, as samaul 'likeness, picture' and therefore also its derivative co-smul 'like'. The same may be seen in Latin (p. 281).

Germanic. Substantives. Masculine and Feminine. The verbal abstract nouns are much more commonly m. than f. Goth. baúr A.S. byre m. 'son'. Goth. ndu-s (acc. pl. *nav-i-n*s) m. 'dead man': O.C.Sl. nav-i 'mortuus'. O.H.G. win-i m. 'friend': Skr. vasu-vāni-ṣ 'desiring riches' vani-ṣ 'desire, longing'. O.Icel. kon-r m. 'one who belongs to a family, relative', elg-r m. 'elk'. Goth. balg-s m. 'leather bottle, skin'. Goth. hug-s O.Sax. hug-i m. 'thought, spirit' pr. Germ. hug-i-s*, Goth. gum-s O.Sax. kum-i O.H.G. chum-i m. 'a coming', Goth. mun-s O.Icel. mun-r m. 'view', Goth. slah-s O.Sax. sleg-i m. 'blow' (the difference between the -h- and the -g- corresponds to the original variation of accent in the different cases of the same declension), O.H.G. biz O.Sax. bit-i m. 'bite', O.H.G. fang A.S. fenz O.Icel. feng-r m. 'capture'. Goth. gēn-s f. 'woman': Skr. -jānu-ṣ. Goth. vēn-s f. 'hope' O.H.G. wān m. 'faith, hope', unless it is to be analysed as wē-(e)ni-* and so belongs to § 96 (p. 288). O.H.G. chur-i f. 'choice'. O.H.G. chur-i f. 'choice'. O.H.G. wurt f. O.Icel. Urd-r f. 'fate' pr. Germ. urd-i-s*. For the treatment of the nominative ending -i-s in these forms see I § 660, 1 p. 514, § 661, 2 p. 517. Neut.

O.H.G. meri 'sea' (cp. Goth. mari-sáiv-s): Lat. mare n. O.Ir. muir n. (though perhaps the Idg. form was m̥e-ri*).

Adjectival i-stems were confused with io-stems in pro-ethnic and later Germanic.

Balto-Slavonic. Substantives. Masculines are rare. Lith. vag-i-s 'thief'; O.C.Sl. nav-ŕ 'dead': Goth. náu-s 'dead man' (see above); O.C.Sl. medv-ěd-ŕ 'bear' (honey-eater), cp. jad-ŕ f. 'food'; glad-ŕ 'hunger'. The feminine is more frequent. Lith. asz-i-s O.C.Sl. os-ŕ 'axle': Lat. ax-i-s. Lith. pil-i-s 'stronghold, castle': cp. Skr. pur-i-ṣ 'town', though these two words may be independent extensions of an orig. stem pŕl-*. Lith. āt-ils-i-s 'repose, ease', rūd-i-s 'rust'. O.C.Sl. lŭtŕ-ŕ 'lie': O.H.G. lug A.S. lyze (pr. Germ. luzi-*) m. 'lie'. O.C.Sl. věd-ŕ 'knowledge': Avest. vaēd-iš 'herald'. O.C.Sl. šič-ŕ 'urine', o-stež-ŕ 'clothing', chot-ŕ 'desire, craving', bled-ŕ 'error, deceit', rěč-ŕ 'speech', vodo-tečŕ vodo-točŕ 'water-course, channel'. The following imply old neuter forms: O.C.Sl. du. oči 'eyes' (cp. Skr. akṣi) and uši 'ears', Lith. aki-s f. and ausi-s f., see p. 281.

Adjectives in -i- are not found in the historical period of Lithuanian, so that Lith. didi-s 'large' loc. didi-mė cannot be classed here. The word was no doubt a substantive originally, like Gr. τόπος (see above p. 281). In Slavonic too the adjectives in -i- have died out. Possibly however they are represented by indeclinable forms in -ŕ, such as O.C.Sl. is-plŭnŕ beside plŭnŕ 'full' sugubŕ beside sugubŭ 'doubled', svobodŕ 'free', which Mahlow, (Die langen Vokale, p. 121) compares with Lat. in-ermi-s O.Ir. ē-nirt (p. 281 f.); see however Leskien, *Handbuch*² p. 72 f. 94 f.

In Balto-Slavonic, as in Latin, the forms of the i-declension invaded other classes of stems. E. g. dat. pl. Lith. akmen-i-ms O.C.Sl. kamen-ŕ-mŭ (nom. sing. Lith. ak-mŭ O.C.Sl. kamy 'stone') like Lat. homin-i-bus, Lith. moter-i-ms O.C.Sl. mater-ŕ-mŭ (nom. sing. Lith. mótė 'woman' O.C.Sl. mati 'mother') like Lat. matr-i-bus, Lith. debes-i-ms O.C.Sl. nebes-ŕ-mŭ (nom. sing. Lith. debes-i-s m. f. 'cloud' O.C.Sl. nebo n. 'heaven') like Lat. gener-i-bus. Many words were thus transferred entirely, or almost entirely, to this declension, as Lith. dant-i-s f. 'tooth' (gen. pl. dant-ŭ), žas-i-s f. 'goose' (gen. pl. žas-ū), debes-ī-s; O.C.Sl. krŭv-ī f. 'blood' (gen. sing. krŭv-e), kamen-ī beside kamy, vīs-ī 'village' (Skr. viś-).

In Slavonic -i- is a secondary suffix in feminine abstract nouns like žestoci 'hardness', from žestoki 'hard', zelenī 'viriditas', from zelenū 'viridis', zŭli 'wickedness', from zŭlū 'wicked', topli 'warmth', from toplū 'warm' (cp. § 98). The type for these new formations was set by such pairs of forms as da-nī 'gift' and da-nŭ 'given', bra-nī 'fight' and bra-nŭ 'fought', pę-tī 'fivefold character, five' and pę-tŭ 'fifth'.

§ 94. The Suffixes -ni- (-yni-) and -eni- (-oni-).¹⁾

The two forms are related in the same way as -no- and -eno-. Hence we analyse e. g. dōni-s* (Lith. dāni-s O.C.Sl. danŭ 'gift') as dō+eni-*. See § 65 p. 138.

These suffixes appear to have been always primary.

Amongst the substantives formed with -ni- -eni-, the verbal abstract nouns are a prominent class, widely represented in Aryan, Germanic and Balto-Slavonic. These stand in the same relation to the participial suffixes -no- -eno- (-ono-) as the noun suffix -ti-, which also forms verbal abstract nouns (§ 100), to the participial suffix -to- (§ 79 p. 218): e. g. Skr. lū-ni-ś 'a tearing away': lū-na-s 'torn away' = hū-ti-ś 'call': hū-ta-s 'called'. And it is certainly not an accident that these nouns in -ni- are most common in the languages in which the no- stems occupy a prominent place among the forms of the infinitive.

In Germanic and Balto-Slavonic we often find -sni- instead of -ni-. The origin of the -s- is not quite clear. Possibly it should be sought in forms like leuqs-m-s* 'gleam' (Avest. raoxšni-ś), cp. -s-no- § 66 p. 140 f. With Lith. deksni-s 'burnt patch of ground' cp. O.C.Sl. žestŭ for gek-s-to-* p. 79 p. 237.

Remark. Sometimes it is not easy to decide whether in any particular word we have this suffix or an en- stem extended by -i- (i. e. transferred to the s-declension). The latter is certainly the case e. g. in Skr. śun-i-ś Avest. sūn-i-š Lith. szun-i-s Pruss. sun-i-s 'dog' beside Skr. śvā gen. śvā-as,

1) H. Ebel, Die Abstractsuffixe -ni und -ani (in Gothic), Kuhn's Ztschr. V 302 ff. Losch, Die mit dem Suffix ni gebildeten Verbalabstracta im Gotischen, Germania XXXII 223 ff.

Lat. carn-i-s beside carō carn-is, O.C.Sl. ďn-ĭ 'day' jelen-ĭ 'stag' beside gen. sing. ďn-e jelen-e, srĭšen-ĭ beside Lith. szirszĭ, gen. szirszĕŭs, 'hornet, gadfly'. Perhaps also in Skr. vyśni-ś vyśni-ś 'male, strong, mighty' vyśni-ś m. 'ram' Avest. varšni-š 'ram' beside Skr. vyśān- 'male', Skr. prēni-ś 'full of love' beside instr. prēn-d 'through love, through affection', Gr. ἀρνις (pl. ἀρνεις) 'fowl' O.H.G. arn (pl. erni) 'eagle' beside Goth. ara, gen. arins 'eagle'. Cp. § 65 Rem. p. 139.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. ag-ni-ś m. Lat. ig-ni-s m. Lith. ug-ni-s f. O.C.Sl. og-nĭ m. 'fire', the relation of the different root-vowels is obscure. Skr. śrō-ni-ś m. f. 'hinder parts, hip', Lat. clū-ni-s m. f., O.Icel. hlau-u f. 'hip-bone, hinder-part', Lith. szlau-ni-s f. 'hip, upper part of the thigh, shaft-bar (of a carriage)'; how is this related to Gr. κλόνις 'os sacrum'? (cp. the Author, Zum heut. Stand der Sprachwiss. 1885, p. 70 f., Holthausen, Paul-Br. Beitr. XIII 590). lā-ni-s* f. 'a loosing, tearing loose': Skr. lā-ni-ś 'a tearing loose, cutting off', Goth. lū-n-s 'means of loosing, ransom' (von Bahder, Verbalabstr. 81, Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 121). Avest. raśni-s 'truth' pr. Ar. raṣ-niś* (I § 403 p. 298), Goth. ga-rēh-su-s f. 'intent, plan', reḡ-* (Avest. rāzayeiti 'he arranges'). Skr. śrēni- 'light, pure' (in śrēni-dant- 'with bright teeth'), Goth. hrāi-n-s 'pure', cp. also O.C.Sl. srē-nŭ 'white' (Kluge gives a different explanation, Paul-Br. Beitr. VIII 525).

Aryan. Skr. śrō-ni-ś m. f. Avest. srāo-ni-š f. 'hinder parts' Lat. clū-ni-s etc.; see above. Skr. vāh-ni-ś m. 'beast of draught', yō-ni-ś m. 'lap, womb', ghṛ-ni-ś m. 'heat, sunshine'. Skr. jūr-ni-ś 'glow', ṣṛ-ni-ś ṣṛ-ni-ś 'suckle', mē-ni-ś f. 'offensive weapon, missile', śrē-ni-ś f. 'row, line', gīr-ni-ś f. 'a swallowing'. Avest. raorš-ni-š f. 'gleam, brightness', fšao-ni-š f. probably 'riches, food, nourishment'.

Adjectives. Skr. śrēni- 'bright, pure', see above, tūr-ni-ś 'hastening', bhāt-ni-ś 'hasty, fiery', pṛś-ni-ś 'spotted, variegated', Avest. raoxš-ni-š 'gleaming, clear'.

The Aryan suffix -ani- may in some words be referred to -yni-; perhaps in kṣip-ani-ś f. 'blow' and other words in -ani-.

Compare Skr. -ána- from -ynó- § 66 p. 142, and -anú- for -ynú- § 106.

Armenian. srun-ē (gen. sruni-ç) pl. 'shinbones, calves', compared with Lat. crūs.

Greek. Here the suffix is extremely rare. For κλονι-ς see p. 285. εὔ-νι-ς 'bereft, mulcted' is a certain example, cp. Skr. ū-ná-s 'deficient in something' Goth. v-an-s 'absent, lacking'. But ὑνι-ς ὕννι-ς 'ploughshare' (cp. Solmsen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXIX 81), ονάνι-ς 'rarity, want' and one or two others are very doubtful.

Italic. Lat. Fōnēs 'dei silvestres' (Gloss.) beside Faunus, Umbr. fons (pl. foner) 'propitius, favens', cp. fav-eō; the word seems to have been originally a substantive, meaning 'favour'. Lat. īg-ni-s m.: Skr. ag-ni-ṣ etc. see p. 285. pēni-s m. f. for pes-ni-s* beside Skr. pás-as Gr. πέος n. 'penis' (I § 570 p. 427). amni-s m. f. for ab-ni-s*, compared with O.Ir. abann 'stream' (I § 511 p. 375). fūni-s m. f, fīni-s m. f., crīni-s m. f.

It is not clear how far the Adjectives in -ni- were brought into this class of stems merely through a secondary change of declension, cp. § 93 p. 281. com-moini-s com-mūni-s (Osc. múinika d abl. 'communi' see § 87 p. 261) corresponds to Goth. ga-máin-s 'common' pr. Germ. za-maīni-z. omni-s* for op-ni-s*, beside op-s (cp. Goth. all-s § 66 p. 147), sēg-ni-s, lēni-s, mūni-s, im-māni-s, in-clīni-s and others. It must not be forgotten that the uncompounded words may have been originally substantives.

Old Irish. táin 'a harrying, raid' for tu-ag-ni-* or tu-ag-ni-*, similarly imm-aín 'a driving, riding' (passing into the analogy of the i-stems, see Stokes, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 290), from √ ag- 'agere', cp. I § 523 p. 380. buain 'harvesting' for bong-ni-*, beside bongaim 'I gather, make harvest'. cluain 'meadow, mead'. -yni- may be contained in O.Ir. colinn (gen. colno) f. 'corpus, caro' Mid.Cymr. celein Mod.Cymr. celain celan, which point to colani-* (or colanni-*, cp. § 117 Rem. 3).

Germanic. The Substantives in -ni- and -sni- are feminine and mostly abstract. O.Icel. hlau-n 'hip-bone': Skr. śrō-ni-ṣ etc.; see above, p. 285. Goth. siun-s 'looking, power of sight, visage, appearance' pr. Germ. si(z)u-ni-s*, beside Goth. sathvan 'to see', √ seq-; see I § 441 p. 327 f., § 444 c p. 330. Goth. anda-viz-n-s 'sustenance, support' vāila-viz-n-s 'welfare, good condition' from visan. sōk-n-s 'disputed question', tāik-n-s 'notice, token' √ deik- deig-, dāu-n-s 'vapour, smell'. Goth. ama-busn-s 'bidding, charge, command' for -butsni-*, beside ana-biudan, us-beisn-s 'expectation, patience' for -bītsni-*, beside us-beidan (I § 552 p. 404), ga-rēh-sn-s 'intent, plan' (cp. Avest. raš-ni- p. 285), rōh-sn-s 'court, courtyard'.

The adjectival -ni- corresponds to the adjectival -i- (§ 93 p. 283), and, like -i-, was confused with the īo-declension. Goth. hrán-s O.Sax. hrēm 'pure': Skr. śrēni- 'bright, pure'; see p. 285 above. Goth. ga-māin-s 'common': Lat. com-moni-s com-mūni-s, see p. 286. Goth. ana-siun-s 'visible', skāun-s 'beautiful' ('noticeable, worth looking at' beside O.H.G. scouuōn), ar-ni-ba adv. 'safely, heedfully'.

In Balto-Slavonic we find only substantives, which in both branches are almost exclusively feminine, often with s or (in Slav.) z prefixed (-sni-, -znu-).

Lith. ug-ni-s f. O.C.Sl. og-nŭ m. (the only masc.) 'fire': Skr. ag-ni-ṣ etc., see above p. 285. Lith. bar-ni-s f. 'quarrel' O.C.Sl. bra-nŭ f. 'battle'. Lith. kul-ni-s f. 'heel', vil-ni-s f. 'wave', szak-ni-s f. 'root', pus-ni-s f. 'snow-drift', krós-ni-s 'stove, oven', dek-snŭ-s f. 'burnt patch of ground' lup-snŭ-s (and lupsznŭ-s f. 'shell peeled off', žink-snŭ-s f. 'step'; the forms are frequently transferred to the īo-declension (masc.), as žinksnŭ-s gen. žinksnio = žinksnŭ-s. O.C.Sl. stri-nŭ 'stem' stŭg-nŭ 'way, road', po-jas-nŭ 'girth', pri-kaz-nŭ 'tale, history, example', sč-nŭ 'shade' (no doubt to be compared with Skr. chāy-ā 'shade', I § 393 p. 293 f., § 414 Rem. p. 303 f.), pě-snŭ 'song', kū-znŭ 'deceit', ži-znŭ 'life'.

Indo-Germanic. bhāni-s*: Armen. ban (gen. bani) 'λόγος', A.S. bēn O.Icel. bōn bēn f. 'prayer' pr. Germ. bōni-z*, O.C.Sl. basnŭ f. 'fable, spell' (the s is a later insertion). We may place here, but with more hesitation, Goth. as-an-s f. 'harvest, summer' (cp. asnei-s O.H.G. esni 'day-labourer'), Pruss. ass-ani-s 'autumn' O.C.Sl. jes-enĩ f. 'autumn'.

Aryan. Skr. -áni- beside -aní- (is the latter for -ṇi-? see § 95 p. 285 f.). iṣ-áni-ṣ f. 'impulse, motive' śar-áni-ṣ 'injury, transgression', aś-áni-ṣ f. 'missile'. car-áni-ṣ 'mobile', cakṣ-áni-ṣ 'brightener, illuminator', ruruḥś-áni-ṣ 'able or willing to destroy'. Skr. sarva-jyānti-ṣ f. 'complete ruin' Avest. zyāni-ṣ f. 'harm', Skr. hām-ṣ f. 'abandonment, decrease, loss', glāni-ṣ glāni-ṣ f. 'relaxation, discouragement'.

Armenian. ban 'λόγος: A.S. bēn etc., see above.

Italic. Lat pāni-s m, also pāne n., beside pā-bulu-m.

Germanic. Goth. as-an-s f. 'harvest, summer'?, see above. A.S. bēn O.Icel. bon bim f 'prayer'. Armen. ban etc., see above. The comparison of Goth vēn-s 'hope' with O.H.G. wār (Bremer, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XI 274) is still uncertain; see § 93 p. 282. The suffix was fertile in forming feminine abstracts connected with weak verbs and derived from the present stem; these words end in -ni- -ōni- -aini-, as Goth. láiſein-s 'instruction' from láiſjan 'to instruct', laþōn-s 'invitation' from laþōn 'to invite', þulāin-s 'patience, endurance' from þulan 'to endure'. The form of the suffix was -eni- (as opposed to -ono- in the infinitive, which appears in láiſjan and þulan): láiſain-s = ground-form loisei-eni-s*, pr. Germ. -i-ini-, cp. 3. sing. Goth. láiſeiþ, þulāin-s = ground-form ſllei-eni-s* pr. Germ. -ēi-ini, cp. 3. sing. þulāiþ, laþōn-s like 3. sing. laþōþ; see I § 142 p. 127. These abstract forms were very numerous even in protoethnic Germanic; but the separate Germanic languages differ in the extent to which they made use of the established types. In Gothic the three methods of formation were in full use together: the form in -ein-s was the most, that in -ōn-s the least common; further examples are af-lagein-s 'remission', ga-hráinein-s 'purification', friþōn-s 'caress, kiss', þahāin-s 'silence'. But in High German the only forms which appear are those in -ni-, and these are very numerous; but they were phonetically modified by confusion with secondary abstract nouns in -in- (§ 115), as O.H.G. toufīn and toufī

'baptism' = Goth. dáuþein-s, mendiñ mendiñ 'joy', restin resti 'rest, repose'.

Balto-Slavonic. Pruss. ass-ani-s O.C.Sl. jes-enī f. 'autumn'?, see p. 288 above. Words in which the suffix was contracted with the vowel ending of the stem to which it was added, often show an inserted s (z). Lith. dūni-s dūsni-s f. O.C.Sl. danī f. 'gift'. O.C.Sl. basnī f. 'fable, spell': Armen. ban etc., see p. 287 above, prē-stanī f. 'omission' from prē-stati 'to omit, cease'; na-dlēznī 'hope' from dēti 'ponere'. These nouns are also formed from derivative verbs, and are based upon the stem of the infinitive; as bojaznī f. 'fear' (bojati se), kajaznī f. 'repentance' (kajati se), prijaznī prijaznī f. 'love, friendship' (prijati prijati), bolēznī f. 'pain, sickness' (bolēti). Compare Pruss. biasna-n acc. 'fear' beside bia-twei 'to fear', eb-signāsna-n acc. 'blessing' beside be-signāt-s part. 'blessed'.

§ 97. The Suffix -mi-. There are a few original substantives in which -mi- is primary, but the suffix never became fertile. Nearly all apparent examples from later periods are obviously nothing but -mo- -mā- forms which have passed into the i-declension.

No general definition can be given of the function of this suffix.

Indo-Germanic. qr-mi-s* 'worm' (compare Lat. cur-vo-s?): Skr. kṣ-mi-ṣ m., O.Ir. cruim f. Mod.Cymr. pryf pr. Kelt kūri-mi-*, Lith. kirmi-s, gen. kirmio, transferred to the io-declension (and now obsolete) from which was formed kir-m-elė (§ 76 p. 212). With the same suffix, and formed in imitation of the word qr-mi-s*, but from other roots, we have Lat. ver-mi-s m. O.H.G. wur-m (pl. wurmi) m. 'worm' and Gr. ἐλ-μ-ς f. 'intestinal worm'. uī-mi-s*. Skr. ūr-mi-ṣ m. 'wave', A.S. wielm wylm m. 'welling up, wave' pr. Germ. ual-mi-z* (I § 306 p. 243). Avest. dā-mi-š 'creation, creature' (dāmi-data- 'gracious to created beings'?), Gr. ῥέ-μ-ς f. (with secondary formations which have invaded its declension) 'ordinance, right', ῥdhē 'set, establish'.

Aryan. Skr. kṣ-mi-ṣ, ūr-mi-ṣ, Avest. dā-mi-š, see above. Skr. bhū-mi-ṣ f. (also bhūmī-, see § 109 Rem.) Avest. bū-mi-š f. O.Pers. bumi- f. 'earth'. Skr. raś-mi-ṣ m. 'rein, strap', kūr-mi-

'action, performance' in tuvi-kūrmī-š 'mighty in action', sūr-mi-š f. 'light, shining flame'. Avest. dā-mi-š (dq-mi-š, see I § 200 p. 169) f. 'wisdom, insight', from dā- 'know, understand'.

Greck. ἔλ-μι-ς, θέ-μι-ς, see above. φῆ-μι-ς 'speech, talk, report' beside φῆ-μῆ.

Italic. Lat. ver-mi-s, see above. A change from the o- to the *i-*declension produced in-ermi-s, sub-limi-s and the like; see § 93 p. 281 and § 95 p. 286

Old Irish. crum, see above. cnāim m. 'bone' pr. Kelt. cnā-mi-*, beside Gr. σνῆ-μῆ 'shinbone', compare Aeol. σνᾶ-μιν acc. (pl. Hom. σνῆμῖδε) 'greaves'.

Germanic. O.H.G. wur-m, A.S. wiel-m, see above. By a change from the o- to the *i-*declension, Goth. hái-m-s f. 'village' beside pl. hái-mō-s, ar-mi-nis m. acc. pl. 'arms' beside the old *o-*stem O.H.G. aram O.Icel. ar-m-r (§ 72, 3 p. 171).

O.C.Sl. sedmī f. 'the number seven', osmī f. 'the number eight' were formed from the ordinals sedmū, osmū on the analogy of petī: petū and so forth § 98. The Suffixes -ri- (-pri-) and -li- (-lli-)¹.

There are a few original nouns in which these suffixes are primary. -li- is very fertile in Italic. A large number of the examples of -ri- -li- which date from later periods, just as those of -mi-, arise simply from the transference of other stems into the *i-*declension.

No general definition can be given of their function.

Idg. -ri-. Skr. dś-ri-š f. 'the sharp side of a thing, corner, border, cut edge', Gr. ᾄ-ρι-ς f. 'point', esp. 'hill-top' ὄρ-ρι-ς f. 'point, corner, border', Lat. oc-ri-s m. 'hill-top'; compare Gr. ᾄ-ρι-ς etc.; see § 74 p. 184. Gr. ῖδ-ρι-ς 'knowing', O.Icel. vit-r 'wise' (pr. Germ. uit-ri-z*), √ ued-. Skr. vádhi-ri-š 'gelded, castrated' Gr. ῖθ-ρι-ς, the same (cp. G. Meyer, Gr. Gr.² p. 68).

-li-. Lat. tali-s quali-s, O.C.Sl. tolŭ adv. 'so much, tantum' kolŭ adv. 'how much, quantum', and (derived from -li- stems) Gr. τηλι-ος πηλι-ος, O.H.G. Alemann. welŕ solŕ, O.C.Sl. tolŭkŭ kolŭkŭ; see § 88 p. 265, § 89 p. 272.

Aryan. Only the evidence of the kindred languages can determine whether in any particular word we have Idg. -ri- or -li-.

-ri-. Skr. ds-ri-ŝ see above jŭ-rŭ-ŝ 'flowing water', beside jŭ-rd-s 'lively, rough': Lat. vi-reō O.C.Sl. žŭ-rŭ, see § 74 p. 182 f. šubh-ri-ŝ with the same meaning as šubh-rá-s 'gleaming, beautiful': Armen. surb 'pure', see § 74 p. 183. ús-ri-ŝ with the same meaning as us-rá-s 'of the morning' (adj.): Gr. αὐ-ρ-ιος, see § 74 p. 181.

-li-. Skr. tŭ-li-ŝ f. 'brush', beside tŭ-lŭ f. 'cotton, wick, brush' tŭ-la-m 'panicle, tuft': Gr. τὺ-λη τῷ-λη, see § 76 p. 198. Skr. dha-li-ŝ f. 'dust': cp. Lat. fŭligō 'soot', Lith. dŭlkė f. 'mote'. Avest. tiy-ri-ŝ m. 'arrow, missile' beside tiy-ra- 'sharp, pointed': Goth. stak-l-s, § 76 pp. 200, 207.

In the following examples it is not clear whether the suffix originally had r or l. Skr. bhŭ-ri-ŝ 'abundant, great, many', neut. bhŭ-ri Avest. bŭiri. Skr. anagh-ri-ŝ m. 'foot', vának-ri-ŝ m. f. 'rib'. áb-hri-ŝ f. 'hoe, spatula'. Avest. maoiri-s m. 'ant' for pr. Ar. may-ri-ŝ* (I § 160 p. 144), cp. Skr. vam-rd-s m. vam-rŭ f. 'ant'. — Skr. anagŭ-ri-ŝ anagŭ-li-ŝ f. 'finger' beside anagŭŝtha- Avest. anagŭšta- m. 'toe'. There are also a few adjectives in -uri-ŝ, where we can hardly assume either -rri- or -lli-, as sáhuri-ŝ 'mighty', jásuri-ŝ 'exhausted, weary'.

Greek. Here it is very rare. ἄκ-ρι-ς ὄκ-ρι-ς, ἰδ-ρι-ς, see above. No doubt we should add ῥῥι-ς.

Italic. Lat. oc-ri-s m., Umbr. ukri-per ocri-per 'pro ocre': Gr. ὄκ-ρι-ς, see above. Lat. ut-ri-s m., to be compared perhaps with uteru-s. secŭri-s, cp. figŭra and similar forms. Lat. sac-ri- (e. g. sacrem porcum) beside sac-ro-, Umbr. sakre n. 'sacrum, hostia' beside sakra 'sacras'. Lat. acer acri-s, beside Gr. ἄκ-ρο-ς; Osc. akrid 'acri' or 'raptim' might also be referred to a stem akro- (cp. amprufid 'improbe'). Lat. put-

-ri-s. Umbr. pacrer pl. 'pacati, propitii', cp. Goth. fag-r-s 'suitable' pr. Germ. faz-rá-s* § 74 p. 187. Cp. -bri- beside -bro- in anclabri-s etc., § 77 p. 215.

In Italic tali-s quali-s (p. 291) served as the types for a large group of adjectives; as Lat. æquali-s, liberali-s, natali-s, vñali-s, vitali-s, dotali-s; Umbr. verfale 'verbale, templum', sorsalem 'porcilarem', Tefrali abl. 'Tefri proprio'; the change of l to r by dissimilation seems to have taken place in proethnic Italic when there was already an l in the word (cp. I § 269 p. 217). Lat. alari-s, palmari-s, militari-s, lunari-s, luminari-s, Umbr. stafalrem 'stabularem'. The analogy of vita: vitali-s gave rise in Latin to the forms fideli-s (fidē-s), famelicu-s (famē-s); ovili-s (ovi-s), hostili-s (hosti-s), and then further, to virili-s (vir), puerili-s (puer), hastili-s (hasta); tribuli-s (tribu-s), idūli-s (idūs pl.), whence pedūli-s (pes). Cp. Gr. τῶτο-ς ποῖο-ς: παντοῖο-ς ἄλλοῖο-ς § 63 Rem. 2 p. 128 and O.C.Sl. takū kakū: jedinakū drugako § 89 c, p. 273.

-li- in Latin adjectives frequently arises from the transference of o-stems into the i-declension, and the group of original forms in ali-s (-eli-s -ili-s -ūli-s) may have helped to effect the change. simili-s: cp. Gr. ὁμαλό-ς (in Celtic also an i-stem, O.Ir. samanl, see below), humili-s. cp. Gr. χαμαλό-ς, pestili-s etc., see § 76 p. 202 f. 205. Further agili-s. Skr. ajirá-s, bibhi-s, coctili-s etc., p. 204. Cp. also stabili-s nūbili-s etc., § 77 p. 215.

There is one substantive in -li-, Lat. tōlēs pl. m. 'wen on the neck', for tōns-li-*, from tēns- 'stretch' (Goth. at-finsan 'to draw towards one', Lith. tęs-ti 'to stretch by pulling'), tōnsillae 'tōnsils' points to an older form tōns-lo-* or tōns-la-*.

Old-Irish. All the apparent examples of this suffix known to me may have originally been ro-lo-stems (cp. § 93 p. 282). l̃eir 'diligent'. dūil f 'creature, element' (beside dūl). b̃iail, gen. b̃ela, f. 'axe'. samūil 'likeness, picture' with the adjectives derived from it, as co-smil 'similar': cp. Lat. simili-s.

In Germanic the suffix is extremely rare, and forms only adjectives, in which as in other i-stems, there is a confusion with the io-declension. O.Icel. vīt-r 'wise': Gr. ἰδ-ρι-ς, see

Balto-Slavonic. O.C.Sl. ďrb-ri f. 'ravine'. Lith. ang-ŕ-s f. O.C.Sl. ag-ŕ m. 'coal'. O.C.Sl. by-ŕ f. 'plant, vegetable' beside part. by-lŕ, reŕ-ŕ f. 'bud, shoot', sop-ŕ (beside sopěŕ) f. 'flute', sŕch-ŕ f. 'dry wood, brushwood' beside u-sŕch-lŕ 'dry' (cp. I § 588 Rem. 2 p. 444), tek-ŕ f. 'resin', properly 'outflow', beside part. tek-lŕ. In -z-li- (cp. -z-lo- § 76 p. 212 f.): gyběŕ f. 'destruction', kapěŕ f. 'bath', pečali f. 'care, grief', sopěŕ f. 'flute', svirěŕ f. 'flute', obitěŕ f. 'dwelling', obutěŕ f. 'shoe', dětěŕ f. 'deed'. In -s-li- (cp. -s-lo- § 76 p. 211): jash pl. f. 'crib' for ět-s-li-* beside jastŕ 'he eats', gasli pl. f. 'zither' beside gadq 'I play on the zither', myslŕ f. 'thought' beside Goth. ga-máud-jan 'to remind', otŕ-rastŕ f. 'sprig' beside rastq 'I grow'. Some of these forms with -li- must no doubt be explained in the same way as šes-toč (§ 93 p. 278. 284); toplŕ (beside toplŕ) has already been mentioned in that section.

§ 99. The Suffix -ti-. In Indo-Germanic this was a common primary suffix, and formed feminine nomina actionis. In Aryan, Balto-Slavonic, (and Celtic, cp. § 156) regular infinitives were developed from these abstract verbal nouns; e. g. Skr. pítáy-ē O.C.Sl. pi-ti 'to drink'.

Here and there we find nomina agentis also formed with -ti-, and some of these occur in more than one language; as Lat. hos-ti-s Goth. gas-t-s O.C.Sl. gos-tŕ, O.Ir. táid O.C.Sl. ta-tŕ. All these forms may originally have been nomina actionis, the word which denoted a state or capacity being applied to the person in whom it was realised; thus Skr. cítti-š f. 'understanding, state of being intelligent' also means in the Rig-Veda 'he who is intelligent'. And even adjectival stems, like Skr. pa-ti-š, 'stinking', were developed from these abstract nouns. Cp. § 80 p. 238 f., § 108. 149. 155.

In denominative abstract nouns, -ti- is rare; examples are numerals like penq-ti-s* 'fivefold character'. The -ti in Skr. ká-ti seems to be connected with this use of the suffix.

The root-syllable nearly always has the vowel in its weak grade. The accent is sometimes on the suffix, sometimes on the root, and in Sanskrit and Germanic the same word often shows both, as Skr. mātī-ṣ and māti-ṣ, O.H.G. gi-burt (pr. Germ. burđi-*) and Goth. ga-baurþ-s (pr. Germ. búrþi-). It is therefore probable that originally the accentuation varied in the different cases and corresponded to the different grades of the root; say nom. sing. mén-ti-s nom. pl. mūtēi-es*. In the process of levelling, the weak form of the root-syllable generally prevailed, and as the same readjustment happened also in the to-participles (§ 79 p. 221), the two are no doubt connected. In the Slavonic infinitive, mén-ti-* was the type usually followed; which is due to the influence of the supine in -tū (§ 108).

These ti-stems were extended by the suffix -en-, and hence were formed a large class of abstract nouns in Italic and Keltic such as Lat. men-tiō beside *mēns*¹⁾, O.Ir. er-mitiu 'honour'; these were not unknown even in Germanic and Greek, cp. Goth. ra-þjō = Lat. ra-tiō, and Gr. δωρίτην. Cp. § 115. In Italic and Keltic a large proportion of the ti-abstracts were replaced by this newer formation.

These nouns could be derived from any form which served as a verbal stem, not merely from the root (in the strict sense of the word); hence words like Skr. údi-ti-ṣ f. 'speech' (beside part. údi-tá-s), Lat. moni-tiō (beside moni-tu-s) and Gr. ὄρα-σις f. 'seeing', Lat. satiās occupatiō. O.Ir. saigid 'a searching', Lith. sėdėti O.C.Sl. sěděti 'to sit'.

The addition of -ti- to the stem of the thematic present or aorist as in Skr. romá-ti-ṣ Gr. λάξε-σις was no doubt a secondary developement, although perhaps it may have begun even in the proethnic period; cp. -e-to § 79 p. 218 f.

Examples of -e-ti- are given under the separate languages.

In Aryan -ti- is a living suffix. Skr. śrū-ti-š f. 'hearing, sound, news, tale' Avest. fra-srūti-š 'recitation, declamation': O.C.Sl. inf. slu-ti 'to be called, nominari' ✓klep-. Lith. stó-ti 'to tread' O.C.Sl. sta-ti 'to place oneself'; a form -st-ti-*, to be compared with Skr. -tti- 'gift' (p. 295 f.), may be concealed in Germ. fir-sti* 'roof-ridge' (cp. § 4 p. 9), which would then be parallel to Skr. savyē-ṣthar- i. e. -st+tar- (§ 122). Skr. mi-ti-ṣ f. 'measure, worth, right judgement'. A.S. mæ-ð f. 'measure, relation', √ mē-. Skr. bhak-ti-ṣ Avest. bax-ti-ṣ f. 'distribution', √ bhag-. 'well-being, place of delight, home' O.Pers. šiyā-ti-ṣ f. 'place of delight, dwelling-place' pr. Ar. cyā-ti-*: Lat. quies, gen. quētis, Idg. qīē- 'be at ease'. Avest. jyāiti-ṣ f. 'life': cp. Gr. ζῆ 'he lives'. Avest. upa-snāiti-ṣ f. 'a washing', beside Skr. snā-ta-s 'washed'. We may add a few more examples of the variation of the accent in Sanskrit (there are more words with the accent on the root-syllable in classical Sanskrit than in Veda): tṛp-ti- tṛp-ti-, kīr-ti- kīr-ti-, bhū-ti- bhū-ti-, hē-ti- hē-ti-. Masculine and Adjectival forms are rare; besides those given under Indo-Germanic cp. Skr. dhū-ti-ṣ m. 'shaker' (f. 'shaking', Gr. θῦσις f. 'raging, roaring'), vāṣ-ti-ṣ 'desirous', Avest. rāi-ti-ṣ m. 'distributor' (f. 'distribution, alms', Skr. rā-ti-ṣ 'alms, gift').

With reduplication we have e. g. Skr. car-ky-ti-ṣ f. 'laudatory mention, praise', dī-dhi-ti-ṣ f. 'devotion', Avest. za-zāiti-ṣ f. 'throwing away'. Cp. the Greek forms p. 299.

Sometimes we have -e-ti-, e. g. Skr. vas-a-ti-ṣ f. 'nest', drś-a-ti-ṣ 'aspect', ram-ā-ti-ṣ f. 'place of pleasant sojourn' rām-a-ti-ṣ 'gladly tarrying', ar-a-ti-ṣ m. 'servant', vyk-ā-ti-ṣ m. 'destroyer, robber', Avest. pav-aīti-ṣ f. 'rottenness, filth'. Cp. Skr. dars-a-tā-s and the like § 79 p. 226.

In Aryan the dative of the -ti- abstracts served as an infinitive, e. g. Ved. pī-tāyē 'to drink' Av. ker-tēē 'to fulfil' (cp. Bartholomae, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 20 f.).

Armenian. z-gest, gen. z-gesti, 'garment': Lat. ves-ti-s. sas-t, gen. sasti, 'abuse, reproach, threat, anger, sternness': Skr. śas-ti-ṣ śiṣ-ti-ṣ f. 'punishment'.

In Greek it is a living suffix, especially fertile in forming nomina actionis from derived verbs. χύ-σι-ς 'outpouring, gush, libation': Skr. d-hutis f. 'the offering of oblations' λύ-σι-ς f. 'a loosing' beside λυ-ρό-ς. φύξι-ς f. 'flight': Lath. inf. būkti 'to be cast into fear', φθί-σι-ς f. 'a waning, wasting': Skr. kṣi-ti-ṣ f. 'destruction'. πίστι-ς f. 'destruction', Lith. inf. dir-ti 'to skin' ground-form dī-ti*, √ der- 'tear'. βροίσι-ς f. 'food': Lith. gir-ti-s f. 'drink, feast', ground-form gī-ti* gī-ti* √ ger-. μάχη-τι-ς m. 'seizer, robber'. τέρεψι-ς f. 'contenting, delight': Skr. tīp-ti-ṣ tīp-ti-ṣ f. 'satiating, contenting', Goth. paūrf-t-s O.H.G. durft f. 'requisite, want'. βά-σι-ς f. 'gait, step': Skr. gā-ti-ṣ etc., see above p. 295. τά-σι-ς 'stretching, straining': Skr. ta-ti-ṣ tān-ti-ṣ f. 'row', Lat. in-tentiō. μάν-τι-ς m. 'one inspired, seer': Skr. ma-ti-ṣ etc., see p. 295 above. ἔξι-ς f. 'condition, state', beside ἀν-εστό-ς ἐχ-ω. ἀν-ισι-ς f. 'a slackening, loosing' ὀν-ισι-ς f. 'understanding' ἡσίοδο-ς, ἀν-ησι-δο-ς 'sending forth gifts, letting grow' (of the earth), Lat. sa-tiō, Goth. mana-sēþ-s (st. -sēdi-) f. 'seed of men, multitude, world' O.H.G. sāt f. 'seed', Lith. inf. sē-ti 'to sow', √ sē- 'throw forth, sow'. δέ-σι-ς f. 'binding, knot': Skr. dā-dīti-ṣ 'boundlessness, state of being unconfined', √ dē- 'bind'. φά-τι-ς

f. 'story, news' ράσις f. 'assertion': Skr. bha-ti-ṣ f. 'gleam', √ bha 'shine, cause to appear, show'. καύσις f. 'burning', from καλο καύσω. πῆξις f. 'fixing, setting in': Lat. pac-tiō, √ pak paḡ. ὄψις f. 'sight, countenance'. ἄμπτωσις f. 'ebb': Lat. pō-tiō, cp. also Skr. pi-ti-ṣ f. 'drinking' O.C.Sl. pi-ti 'to drink', √ pō(i). ἄησις f. 'blowing'. νήσις f. 'spinning': O.H.G. nā-t f. 'seam'. ῥήσις f. 'speaking, word' for φρησις*: Avest. urvaṭi-ṣ f. 'law' (cp. I § 157 p. 141). From derivative verbs: ὄρασις 'seeing' (ὁράω), αἰτησις 'prayer, demand', (αἰτέω), ἀξιώσις 'thinking worthy' (ἀξιόω), καθαροσις 'purifying' (καθαίρω), ὕφανσις 'weaving' (ὕφαινω), κήρυξις 'proclamation, announcing' (κηρύσσω).

With reduplication: e. g. ποίφνυξις 'a snorting' from ποφύσσω. Cp. the Aryan forms p. 298.

With -e-ti- we have c. g. σχέσις 'holding, condition', λάξεσις 'lot, fate', εὑρεσις 'finding'. Cp. also ἀνυσις 'completing'. In correspondence with these nouns we find the partic. ἀσχετος, εὔρετός, ἀνήνυτος § 79 p. 229.

-ti- was so widely used in Greek and formed so many new words that it is often impossible to tell whether a given word arose in Greek or is really Indo-Germanic. It is not probable that forms like φῆξις ῥέψις ζεύξις Arcad. ἔσ-τεσις (beside φύξις ῥύσις τίσις), in which the root-syllable is in the strong grade, are to be referred simply and immediately to the ablaut variation of the stem in Indo-Germanic (see p. 294).

As to the association of the -ti- stems in compounds like τεριπι-μυροσις with the σ-aorist, see § 30 p. 52.

In Italic, -ti- was no longer a living suffix. But its extension -tiōn- (-tin-) was very fertile.

a. -ti-. Lat. cu-ti-s f.: O.H.G. hū-t O.Icel. hū-ð f. 'skin' pr. Umbr. ahtim-em 'in actionem' beside ahtu 'actui', Lat. agō. Lat. hos-ti-s m. 'foreigner, enemy': Goth. gas-t-s m. 'stranger, guest', O.C.Sl. gos-tŕ m. 'guest, companion, friend' (the root meaning is perhaps 'injury, harm', compare Skr. ghas- 'to consume'; see the Author, in Curtius' Stud. V. 228 ff.). nox f.: Skr. nák-ti-š f. Goth. nah-t-s f. Lith. nak-ti-s f. O.C.Sl. noš-tŕ f. 'night'; yet this word noq-tu-* may not belong to the oldest stratum of ti- nouns, but be only an extension of noq-t-* (§ 123). cōs, gen. cōtis, f., cp. Skr. śā-ta-s 'whetted, sharpened', Gr. κῶ-vo-ς 'cone'. quiēs, gen. quiētis, f.: Avest. šyēti-š, see above, p. 297. From satiāre: satiās, gen. satiātis, f. 'sufficiency, repletion'.

'a yoking, putting to', Lith. inf. junk-ti 'to yoke'; the nasal of the Lat. and the Lith. form came from the present stem (Lat. jungō Lith. jūngiu). circum-litō: Lith. inf. lŕ-ti 'to pour'. fissiō: Skr. bhitt-š f. 'a breaking'. por-tiō beside pars, see p. 299 above. cul-tiō, from colō for cuelō* (I § 427 a p. 313, § 431 a p. 320). ēm-p-tiō (the regular form would have been, en-tiō*, see I § 207 p. 174): O.Ir. inf. air-itiu 'accipere', O.C.Sl. raċo-jetŕ f. 'manipulus, sheaf' inf. Lith. iñ-ti O.C.Sl. jē-ti 'to take'. men-tiō beside mēns, see above, p. 295. nā-tiō cōg-nā-tiō Umbr. natine 'natione, gente', beside gēns, see above p. 295. of-fensiō, from of-fendō. coctiō: Skr. pak-ti-š etc., see p. 295 above. gestiō, beside gerō. messiō (cp. messi-s) see above. lec-tiō: Gr. λέξ-ς f. 'speaking, expression'. sta-tiō; the stem from which this is derived, sta-ti-*, may be contained in Umbr. statita 'statuta': Skr. sthi-ti-š etc., see p. 297 above. ra-tiō: Goth. ra-þjō f. 'reckoning, account', beside Lat. rē-rē ra-tu-s. ac-tiō beside Umb. ahtim-em 'in actionem'. cap-tiō: Goth. anda-haft-s f. 'rejoinder, answer' Mid.H.G. haf-t f. 'a holding, hold'. cautiō Skr. á-kū-ti-š f.

'intention'. auctiō: Lith. inf. auk-ti 'to grow', √ aug-. scānsiō, beside scandō. nō-tiō: Skr. prā-jñati-ṣ etc., see above p. 296. con-crē-tiō. From derivative verbs: Lat. occupatiō dominatiō captatiō Osc. medicatinom 'judicationem' fruktatiuf 'usus, fructus', Lat. largitiō sortitiō, tribūtiō. It should be observed however that the great fertility of -tiōn- often makes it doubtful whether any given word really represents an original *ti-*stem, e. g. fissiō auctiō.

Lat. monitiō, vomitiō, sorbitiō, ex-spuitiō. {Osc. úittiuf 'usio, usus' for oit(i)tnuf*, see I § 501 Rem. 2 p. 368, § 633 p. 474. Cp. monitu-s and so forth, § 79 p. 231.

Old Irish. fēth f. 'sinew': Avest. vae-ti-ṣ etc., see above p. 295. taid m. 'thief': O.C.Sl. ta-ti m. 'thief'.

-ti- was a living suffix, and formed abstract verbal nouns which were feminine (for the infinitives see § 156). buith 'being': Skr. bhū-ti-ṣ bhū-ti-ṣ f. 'good condition, well-being', Gr. qé-σι-ς f. 'nature', O.C.Sl. za-bytī f. 'forgetting, forgetfulness', inf. Lith. bū-ti Slav. by-ti 'to be'. brith 'carrying': Skr. bhṛ-ti-ṣ etc., see above p. 295. blith 'grinding, molere', beside melim 'I grind' (I § 212 p. 179). cleith (Mid.Ir.) 'concealment, hiding', beside celim 'I conceal'. saigid 'seeking out', beside saigim 'I seek out', compared with Lat. sāgiō. iar-figid 'questioning', cp. Lat. vocatiō.

Adjectives in -ti-, like blāth soft, gentle' (ground-form m̥-ti-s*, I § 306 p. 243), ē-cm-ailt 'insolent', may have originally belonged to the o-declension. Cp. § 93 p. 282.

Some of the feminine abstract substantives in -tiu are also used to form infinitives (§ 156). er-mitiu 'honour' toim-tiu 'meaning, intent': Lat. mentiō, see above p. 295. air-itiu 'accipere': Lat. ēptiō, see above p. 300. clōsi(u) 'hearing': Skr. śruṣ-ti-ṣ f. 'a gratifying, courtesy', O.Sax. O.Icel. hlus-t f. 'hearing', Lith. inf. klāus-ti 'to ask' (I § 467, 2 p. 343). epelt(i)u 'death', sinking', beside at-bail 'he dies, perishes'. aicsiu 'seeing' from -cas-tiō*, beside ad-chess 'visum est'. aigthiu 'fearing', for -agithiu*. Sometimes we find this extended form side by side with the shorter form in -ti-; e. g. dat. do saichtin and do saigthin (both Mid.Ir.) = do saigid 'to seek out'.

Germanic. In proethnic Germanic -ti- was fertile; but later on it passed almost, if not entirely out of use. This was due to two causes; to the variation caused by phonetic change (cp. e. g. Goth. anda-hafti-, ga-mundi-, ga-dēdi- (pronounced -dēdi-), ga-gumþi-, ga-vissi-), and to the almost complete loss of the to- participles, which broke down its formal connexion with the verb.

Goth. *us-taúht-s*¹⁾ 'completion, fulfilment' O.H.G. zuh-t 'drawing, training': Lat. duc-tiō, √ deyk-. Goth. fra-lust-s 'loss, destruction' (compare O.H.G. lus-t 'pleasure', perhaps in the sense of 'being free, unrestrained'), beside Goth. -liusan: cp. Gr. λύ-σι-ς. Goth. saúh-t-s O.H.G. suh-t 'illness', beside Goth. siukan 'be ill'. Goth. lis-t-s O.H.G. lis-t 'craft, trick' beside Goth. leisan 'to experience, learn': O.C.Sl. lis-ti f. 1) The forms which follow are feminine unless it is otherwise stated.

sathvan 'to see': cp. Lith. sėk-ti 'to follow'? (cp. I § 419 p. 307). Goth. fra-gift-s 'bestowing' O.H.G. gif-t 'gift', beside Goth. giban 'to give'. Goth. ga-giss 'agreement', beside ga-giban (pret. ga-gaþ). O.H.G. sta-t O.Sax. ste-di 'place, stead': Skr. sthī-ti-ś etc., see above p. 297. Goth. slauh-t-s 'slaughter' O.H.G. slah-t 'striking, slaying': Gr. λάx-τι-ς 'pestle for pounding, pounding' (λαρίζω, Lat. lacerō)? Goth. aih-t-s O.H.G. eh-t 'property, possession': Av. īs-ta-ś f. 'goods, riches' (Skr. īś-). O.H.G. ur-chnat 'agnitio': Skr. prá-jñā-ti-ś etc., see p. 296 above. O.H.G. nā-t 'seam': Gr. νή-σι- f. 'spinning'. O.H.G. hano-crāt 'cock-crow' (A.S. craowan 'to crow'): Lith. inf. gró-ti 'to croak'. O.H.G. bluo-t 'blooming, bloom', beside Lat. flō-s. Mid.H.G. gruo-t 'a being green', beside Gr. χλω-ρός 'light green, yellow'. The following no doubt come from weak verbs: Goth. fahēþ-s (st. fahēdi-) 'joy' (see Bremer, Paul-Br. Beitr. XI 32), Goth. ar-bāiþ-s (st. ar-bāidi-) O.H.G. arabeit 'work, need'.

Now and then we find -s-ti- instead of -ti-, as Goth. an-st-s O.H.G. an-st 'favour, grace' (compare O.Icel. qf-un-d 'ill-will'), beside O.H.G. unnan 'to bestow', O.H.G. span-st 'enticement', beside spanan 'to entice', Goth. hlif-st-s A.S. hæst beside O.Icel. heip-t 'strife', O.H.G. trust for truh-st* beside truh-t O.Icel. drótt 'troop, following'. This s came originally from forms like O.Sax. O.Icel. klu-s-t 'hearing' = Skr. śruś-ti-ś (p. 301), Mid.H.G. bluo-s-t (cp. A.S. blōstm and Lat. flōr-ēre) beside bluo-t 'bloom': in West-Germanic, forms like kunst must also have had some influence, if the conjecture given in I § 529 Rem. p. 386 is correct. Cp. -s-tuo- § 61, -s-tro- § 62, -s-lo- § 76, -s-tu- § 108, -s-men- § 117.

In the Germanic dialects many of these words became masculine without any change of meaning; this must be distinguished from the change of gender in such words as gasti 'guest'. Cp. von Bahder, Verbalstr. 76 f.

Goth. ra-pīō 'reckoning, account': Lat. ra-ti-ō, see above p. 300.

Balto-Slavonic. Here -ti- was very fertile, forming all the infinitives of Lithuanian, Lettic, and Slavonic. And it should be noticed that in this group of languages the phonetic changes which the suffix underwent were very slight (O.C.Sl. nošti for pr. Slav. notǫ*, I § 462 p. 338).

O.C.Sl. gr̥ē-ti 'to warm', beside pres. gr̥ē-jq. Infinitives in Baltic and Slavonic were closely connected with the finite verb; hence the action of analogy caused many changes in the grade of the root-vowel. For the phaenomena in Slavonic cp. Leskien, Archiv f. Slav. Phil. V 497 ff.

In Lithuanian we sometimes find -s-ti-, as ugnā-deksti-s beside ugnā-dekti-s (p. 305), cp. dek-s-ni-s § 95 p. 287. -ti- stems frequently passed into the analogy of -ja- and -ė- stems, e. g. krý-ti-s gen. -tes f. and krý-ti-s gen. -czio m. 'purse-net, hoop-net', szli-ti-s and szli-tė f. 'heap of sheaves'.

Infinitives of derivative verbs; Lith. jėszkó-ti O.C.Sl. iska-ti 'to seek', Lith. sėdė-ti O.C.Sl. sédě-ti 'to sit'; Lith. gany-ti O.C.Sl. goni-ti 'to protect, tend'.

§ 101. 2. -ti- is used to form secondary abstract substantives. This use is exactly parallel to that of the participial suffix -to- and the abstract nominal suffix -to- -tā- (which were originally identical); both of these, as we have seen, could be added directly to noun stems in the proethnic and later periods (§ 79 p. 224 f. § 80 p. 238 ff. § 82 p. 249 ff.).

The forms which can be most confidently referred to the proethnic language are a group of abstract nouns connected with the ordinals in -to- (§ 81 p. 242 ff.) pəŋq-ti-s* f. 'fivefold character, the number five, a group of five': Skr. pañcā-ti-ś, O.Icel. fiimt, O.C.Sl. peŋtī; with these should no doubt be compared O.H.G. fast f. 'fist' pr. Germ. fuŋxti-z* and O.C.Sl. peŋtī f. 'fist' (-st- for -kst- as in těste, see I § 545 p. 399 f.), common ground-form pəŋq-sti-s*!). Skr. ṣaṣ-ti-ś f. 'sixty' (a six-fold quantity, i. e. of tens), O.C.Sl. šes-tī f. 'a group of six'. Skr. nava-ti-ś 'ninety' (a nine-fold quantity) i. e. of tens) Avest. navaiti-š f. 'a group of nine' and 'ninety', O.Icel. nīun-d f. O.C.Sl. devę-tī f. 'a group of nine'. Skr. daśa-ti-ś 'a group of ten' and 'a hundred', O.Icel. tīun-d f. 'a group of ten', Lith. dėszim-ti-s f. O.C.Sl. desę-tī f. 'a group of ten'. These numeral forms naturally suggest the conjecture, that we have the same suffix in Skr. tá-ti (nom. acc.) 'so many' ká-ti (nom. acc.) 'how many?', Lat. tot toti-dem, quot: these words may have been originally neuter.

1) Cp. pəŋq-* in O.H.G. funfu and elsewhere (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 193 f., Paul-Braune's Beitr. XII 512) and for meaning, Goth. figgr-s 'finger', which is doubtless connected with this numeral. — Vol. I § 249 p. 205 should be corrected accordingly.

Remark. In Greek we find numerals in -rv-; in place of such forms as perq-ti-s* (see § 108). In proethnic Indo-Germanic there were forms in -t- parallel to these in -ti- (see § 123).

Beside Idg. iunp-tá* 'youth' (§ 80 p. 239) there seems to have been a second form iunp-ti-s* f. with the same meaning: Skr. yuvati-ṣ 'maiden, young woman' (the abstract is used for the concrete, § 155), O.H.G. jugund A.S. geozod 'youth' (Engl. youth both as the period and the person), prehist. Germ. iuzúnp-* for iunúnp-* (Bugge, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 504). Lat. sēmen-ti-s f. 'seed, seed-corn, seed time', originally 'the being sown'.

Further it is possible that stems in -es-ti- -os-ti- (cp. Lat. sceler-tu-s onus-tu-s and the like) date from the proethnic period. In the words in which they occur, the termination -esti- -osti- is used as a simple and indivisible suffix. Skr. gábhasti-ṣ f. m. 'a thing separated into different parts, hand, fork, shaft (of a carriage)', pulastí-ṣ 'hair of the head, wearing smooth hair', palasti-ṣ 'gray with old age' (dubious). Lat. agresti-s, orig. 'a belonging to the country, rusticity'? O.H.G. angust f. 'anxiety' O.C.Sl. qzostí 'strait, narrowing', cp. also Lat. angustu-s angustiae. In Lithuanian we have -esti-s, which passed over to the -io- declension: kalbesti-s f. 'speech', beside kalbesni-s m. 'talk' and kalbesi-s m. 'dialect' kalbesė f. 'speech'; mōkesti-s m. (gen. -esczio), beside mōkesni-s m. 'payment'; lūkesti-s f. 'awaiting, hope'; rūpesti-s f. m. 'care'. In Slavonic there are a large number of feminine abstract nouns in -ostí (but -j-estí, see I § 84 p. 80) formed from adjectives, and, more rarely, from substantives: besides O.C.Sl. qzostí (cp. qzíkū 'narrow'), which has been mentioned, other examples are dlūgostí 'length' from dlūgū 'long', dobljestí 'bravery' from doblī 'brave', zvėrostí 'wildness' from zvėrt 'wild animal', boljestí 'illness' from bolī 'one who is ill'.

Other forms are more isolated, e. g. Skr. addhá-ti-ṣ (concrete) 'one who has learnt the truth, sage' beside addhá 'in truth', Goth. gamáin-p-s f. 'community' beside ga-máin-s 'common, joint' (cp. gamáin-dūp-s § 102 below, and p. 311).

For -ti- in -tāti- and -tūti-, see the following section.

§ 102. The Suffixes -tāti (-tāt-) and -tūti- (-tūt-)¹. The former occurs in Aryan, Greek, and Italic; the latter in Italic, Celtic and Germanic. They formed feminine abstract nouns from adjectives and substantives. -tāti- appears to have arisen through the addition of -ti- (§ 101) to -ta- (§ 80 p. 238 ff.), cp. Skr. dēvā-tā- and dēvā-tāti-, Skr. guru-tā- and Gr. βαρύ-της, Lat. juven-tā- and juven-tāti-. The accumulation of suffixes would be like that in Skr. -tvā-tā-, cp. § 56 p. 103 f.; Lat. juven-tāti- : juven-tā- : Skr. yuva-ti = puruṣa-tvāta- : puruṣa-tva- : puruṣā-tā-. -tūti- may have come from -tu- stems (§ 108) rather later. The parallel forms -tāt- and -tūt- beside -tāti- and -tūti- resemble doublets like Idg. noq-t-* : noq-tu-* 'night', dekṃ-t-* : dekṃ-ti-* 'ten-fold character', Skr. sam-i-t- f. beside sām-i-ti- f. (§ 123), and the shorter forms no doubt contain the suffix -t-.

Most of the words which occur in more than one language have -tāt(i)-: Skr. sarvā-tāti-ṣ sarvā-tāt- 'perfection'. Avest. haurva-tāt- 'safety', Gr. όλό-της 'totality, entirety', beside Skr. sārva-s Gr. όλο-ς 'whole'; Gr. νεό-της 'youth', Lat. novi-tās, beside Gr. νέ-ος Lat. novo-s. With -tūt(i)-: Lat. juven-tūs, O.Ir. ōtiu 'youth' (dat. ōtūd) for (i)ōtētā(s)* (-iu for -u is due to the palatal character of the preceding syllable). A form with -tāt(i)- in one group of languages sometimes corresponds to a form with -tūt(i)- in another, as O.Cymr. duiu-tūt 'dentas': Skr. dēvā-tāt-; O.Ir. beo-thu 'life': Gr. βίό-της; O.Ir. oen-tu 'unitas': Lat. ūni-tās; Goth. gamáin-dūp-s: Lat. communi-tās. In many words -tūt(i)- may have ousted -tāt(i)-, which on the whole is certainly older.

For the loss of a syllable in forms like Avest. amer'tat- beside amēr'ta-tāti- 'immortality', Gr. ποτήρ 'drink' for poro-*

-tār-, Lat. acc. luculentātem beside luculenti-tatem, see I § 643 p. 481 f.

Aryan. In Sanskrit, -tāti- and -tāt- (the latter is rarer) are only found in Veda, and even there not frequently. In Avestic we have only -tāt, where it is comparatively commoner than either form in Sanskrit. Skr. uparā-tāt- 'neighbourhood, environs'. Avest. upara-tāt- 'superiority', beside Skr. ūpara- 'nearer'. Avest. upara- 'upper'. Skr. gṛbhātā-tāti-ś 'state of being caught' from gṛbhātā-s 'caught', jyēṣṭhā-tāti-ś 'sovereignty' from jyēṣṭha-s 'mightiest', satyā-tāti-ś and satyā-tāt- 'truthfulness' from satyā-s 'truthful', āsta-tāti-ś 'homestead, home' from āsta-m 'home', śā-tāti-ś 'health, bliss' from śām- n. 'health, bliss'. Avest. drva-tāt- 'durability, soundness' from drva- 'durable, sound', fratema-tāt- 'sovereignty' from fratema- 'first', hunar-tāt- 'virtue' for hunar-ta-tāt-*, compared with Skr. sūnfta-s 'beautiful, glorious', uṣta-tāt- 'prosperity, welfare' from uṣta- 'well-being', yavaē-tāt- 'eternal duration' from yavē adv. 'always', dat. of yu- n. 'eternity' (cp. yuraē-ji- 'ever living').

Remark. From the last word we once find the phrase yavaē-ca tātiē 'for ever' (usually the word is yavuetātiē). Thus -tāt- was regarded as a compounded word (this appears also in other ways); and it seems to have been popularly connected with tan- 'stretch out'. Cp. Mod.H.G. brösäme (O.H.G. brośma), which has no etymological connexion with säme(n), but has been associated with it; furthermore we find even in Greek παιρ-ό-της like παιρ-ό-μορφο-ς and Goth. mikil-dūp-s = mikila-dūp-s* like gud-hūs = guda-hūs* p. 311.

Greek. Here we find only -τάρ-, which was substituted for the -tā- used in forming abstracts (§ 80 p. 239 f.), and appears only in the combinations -ο-τάρ- and -υ-τάρ-. ὀρθό-της 'straight-forwardness, rightness' from ὀρθό-ς: Lat. ardui-tās. σκαίο-της 'awkwardness' from σκαίο-ς 'awkward': Lat. scaevi-tās. κακό-της 'wickedness' from κακό-ς. ἀγνό-της 'purity, chastity' from ἀγνό-ς. βίο-της 'life' from βίο-ς. θεό-της 'godhead' from θεό-ς. ἑν-ό-της 'unity' from εἷς 'one'. παν-τό-της 'totality' from πᾶς. Hom. ἀνδ-ο-τῆρ-α acc. 'manhood' (more correctly no doubt ἀνδρῆτα; see I § 204 p. 170) from ἀνῆρ ἀνδρ-ός. In the last three examples -ο- appears as it does in compounds, e. g. παιρ-ό- μορφο-ς; cp. also Lat. libidin-i-tās. βαρύ-της 'gravitas' from βαρύ-ς; cp. Skr. guru-tā- (§ 80 p. 239 f.). γλυκύ-της 'sweetness' from γλυκύ-ς. βραδύ-της (βραδυτής) 'slowness' from βραδύ-ς. ταχύ-της 'swiftness' from ταχύ-ς.

Italic. In Latin we cannot distinguish -tāti- from -tāt-, -tūti- from -tūt-, since in very many points the consonantal declension was assimilated to that of the i-stems. It may have been these very suffixes, with their double forms taken along with such doublets as noct-nocti- etc., that helped to establish the confusion. The variation in the gen. pl. (cīvitātium and cīvitātum) is of special importance (§ 93 p. 281).

boni-tās from bonu-s. dūri-tās from dāru-s. anxie-tās from anxiu-s. quali-tās from quali-s. civī-tas from civī-s. liber-tās from liber. uber-tās from uber (in imitation of which was formed viduertās from viduo-s; notice the parallelism in meaning). facul-tās from facili-s, with the later by-form facili-tās. volup-tās from volupe volup. mājes-tās from mājor (cp. § 135 Rem. 1). hones-tās from honōs. tempes-tās from tempus. vetus-tās from vetus, or for vetusti-tās* from vetus-tu-s. voluntās for voluntī-tās* from volēns. libidin-i-tās from libidō, cp. Gr. ἐν-ό-της (see above). Pelign. Herentas 'Venus' Osc. Herentateis 'Veneris, Volupiae', from herest 'volet', formed from the part. pres., like Lat. voluntās.

-tūti- -tūt- is very much rarer. Lat. juven-tās (: O.Ir. ōitiu), senec-tūs beside juven-tās juven-ta, senec-ta, from juven-i-s, senex. virtūs from vir. servi-tūs from servo-s. There can be no doubt that -tūdō (gen. -tū-din-s), e. g. in servi-tūdō alti-tūdō, is closely related to this suffix.

In Old Irish we have -tāt-, which we may ascribe to protoethnic Celtic. ōitiu 'youth': Lat. juven-tās; see above, p. 308. oen-tu 'unitas' for oen-thu* (th (þ) after n was replaced by the tennuis by a comparatively late change). beo-thu (gen. be-thath) 'life'. The suffixes -atu -etu, in derivatives from adjectives in -e (io-stems), are especially frequent; as torbatu 'utilitas' from tor-be 'utilis', dommetu 'paupertas' from domme 'inops', oendatu 'unity' from oen-de 'single', ildatu 'pluralitas from il-de 'pluralis', fiuchaidatu 'humiditas' from fiuchaide 'humidus'; the origin of this -atu -etu is doubtful).

Germanic. It occurs only in Gothic, in certain substantives in -dūþi-, derived from adjectives; as mikil-dūþ-s 'greatness' from mikil-s (mikila-) 'great', gamāin-dūþ-s 'community' from ga-māin-s (ga-māini-) 'common'. The loss of the vowel before the suffix is like that in ga-māin-þ-s (§ 101 p. 307 f.) and in compounds, e. g. gud-hūs brūþ-faþ-s (§ 40 pp. 69, 71 f.).

III. Suffixes in -u.

§ 103. The u-suffixes have a triple ablaut: u, eu, ou (e-series, I § 311—314). u e. g. in nom. and acc. sing. masc. fem. u-s u-m. eu e. g. in nom. pl. masc. fem. -eu-es. ou in gen. sing. -ou-s. The connexion of this ablaut with the original conditions of accent in the different cases cannot be exactly determined from the evidence now at our disposal. No clear explanation has been given of Gr. ταυα(f)-ό-ς compared with ταυ-ί-, Lat. grav-i-s compared with Skr. a-gr-u-, Skr. pythi-ṭi compared with pyth-ū-, which seem to imply -eu- as one of the proethnic forms of the suffix. The best analysis of the words is ταυα-φό-ς, gra-vi-s, pythi-ṭi, i. e. to suppose that the root-syllable was extended by a, as in ἑνγά-τηρ and the like (I § 110 p. 103 ff.).

From the proethnic period downwards we find u-stems in all three genders. The masculine and feminine stems had originally the same inflexion; differences only arose during the development of the separate languages, as in Skr. acc. pl. sūnūn m. 'sons', hānūṣ f. 'jawbones'.

Remark. For ū-stems like Skr. śvaśrū-ṭi O.C.Sl. svokry Gr. νιῦ-ς, see § 109 Rem. 2.

1) "It is hard to decide whether -atu came from -antu, or from the union of two dental suffixes (perhaps -ato-rū-). Zimmer (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 461) regards the acc. corphadid as a true phonetic spelling (cp. I § 212 Rem. p. 179); yet, as he himself remarks, it may be merely a mistake of the scribe's. Mid.Ir. sochmattu 'possibility' perhaps supports t rather than d. Unfortunately the modern Celtic languages have lost the suffix. Personally I incline towards the second assumption; compare e. g. no-erladaigtis 'they obeyed' beside aurlatu 'obedience.'" Thurneysen.

§ 104. The suffix -u-¹). This is always primary, and most common in adjectives. The evidence of Sanskrit, Greek, Germanic and Lithuanian proves that in Indo-Germanic these adjectives were nearly always oxytone and had the root-syllable in the weak grade. But the strong grade must have been at one time regular in a certain number of the cases. It is true that such forms as Skr. prathú-ṣ Lith. plātù-s beside Skr. prthú-ṣ, Skr. svadú-ṣ Gr. ῥῑδύ-ς O.H.G. suoz-i beside Goth. sut-s, cannot be taken to prove this, since a certain amount of assimilation between the forms of the three degrees of comparison (positive, comparative, and superlative) may be assumed in all these cases, and must be assumed in some; but it is fairly shewn by the variation between e. g. Goth. filu and Skr. purú-ṣ. Notice also the variation of form within the weak grade itself, e. g. ggr-u-* and -gr-u* 'heavy' (I § 313 p. 250 f.). The feminine of these adjectives was differentiated by -i- -ī- in the proethnic and later periods, e. g. Skr. tanv-ī beside the masc. tan-ú-ṣ (see § 110).

The substantives were masculine, feminine, or neuter. The variations of ablaut differed in different words. Note gon-u-* gen-u-* gn-u-* 'kneec' and the like, and pek-ú-* and -pk-u-* 'cow' (vol. I loc. cit.).

Other derivatives from u-stems: cn-aut 'jawbone, cheek', beside Skr. hán-u-ṣ etc. (see above, p. 313), cun-r (pl. cunk-k) 'knee', beside Skr. jān-u etc. (see above, p. 313), and other words.

Skr. pāy-ū-ṣ 'guardian', beside Gr. ποι-μήν Lith. pė-mū 'herdsman' (cp. § 105 Rem. p. 318). γλάφ-υ n. 'grotto, cave'.

Italic. We seem to have a trace of the old adjectival u-stems in Lat. idūs pl. fem. sc. noctēs, 'the bright (nights)', from $\sqrt{a}idh$ 'burn, be clear'. Compare also acu-pediu-s beside Skr. aś-ú-ṣ Gr. ὤκ-υ-ς 'swift'. The other Latin forms of this class have gone over to the i-declension: grav-i-s, ten-u-i-s, suavi-s for suād-ū-i-s*, see above pp. 312, 313; and no doubt levi-s, pingu-s. The form of the feminine (cp. Skr. tanv-ī) must have had something to do with this change of declension.

Masc. lac-u-s: O.Ir. loch 'lake' n.; compare Gr. λάκκο-ς 'hole, pit', which according to the rule given in vol. I § 166 p. 147 implies a stem λακν-*. im-petu-s, alg-u-s, grad-u-s. Fem. trib-u-s Umbr. trifo 'tribum', which can scarcely come from tri- 'three' + $\sqrt{b}hu-$; dom-u-s: O.C.Sl. dom-ŭ 'house'; ac-u-s, col-u-s (also m.). Neut. pec-u- Umbr. pequo 'pecua' beside Lat. pec-u-s, see p. 313 above; gen-u see p. 313 f.; veru Umbr. berva 'verua' berus 'verubus': O.Ir. bir 'sting, spear', common ground-form ger-u-*; spec-u (beside spec-u-s m f.); gel-u.

Masculine. gun O.Cymr. genou Corn. genau 'mouth': Skr. hán-u-ṣ f. etc., see above p. 313. mug 'slave, servant' for mog-u-s*: Goth. mag-u-s 'boy, servant'; fid 'tree': O.H.G. witu 'wood'. Feminine. mucc 'sow', deug 'drink'. Neuter. mid 'mead': Skr. mádhu etc., see above p. 313; loch 'lake': Lat. lac-u-s m.

Germanic. The adjectival u-stems were partly absorbed into the jo-declension, the point of connexion being the original feminine formation with -iē- -i-. Goth. kaúr-u-s 'heavy': Skr. gur-ú-ṣ etc., see above p. 312. Goth. þaúrs-u-s O.H.G. durr-i 'dry, arid': Skr. tṛṣ-ú-ṣ etc., see above, p. 312. Goth. aggu-u-s 'narrow' instead of aggu-s* through the influence of the weak form aggu- = Skr. qhv-, O.H.G. eng-i O.Icel. eng-r: Skr. qh-ú-ṣ etc., see above p. 313. Goth. 'goblin, elf' was originally, no doubt, an *-u-*stem: Skr. ṛbh-ú-ṣ 'artistic, a sculptor'. Goth. kinnu-s f. 'cheek' instead of kinu-s*, A.S. cin f. 'chin': Skr. hán-u-ṣ etc., see above p. 313. Goth. hand-u-s f. O.H.G. hant (dat. pl. hantum) f. 'hand'. Goth. faithu n. 'money' O.H.G. fih-u n. 'cattle': Skr. pás-u etc.; see p. 313 above.

In Germanic the u-inflection of consonantal stems largely increased the number of the substantives in -u-; the point of contact is seen in forms like (Goth.) acc. sing. fōt-u acc. pl. fōt-uns. Cp. § 56 p. 103, § 160, 1, § 161.

Balto-Slavonic. Adjectives in u-have survived only in Lithuanian, but there they are very common; and their number was considerably increased by the fact that a parallel form in -u-s could be made to any adjective in -a-s; e. g. asatrù-s § 74 p. 187 f., gailù-s § 76 p. 210, gėdrù-s beside gėdra-s, drungnù-s beside druņgna-s. Most of the cases passed into the -jo- inflection; cp. the Germanic section, p. 316. platù-s 'broad': Skr. pr̥th-ú-ṣ etc.; see above, p. 313. dras-ù-s 'bold': Gr. δρασ-ύ-ς; see above, p. 315. sald-ù-s 'sweet': O.C.Sl. sladū-kū 'sweet'. dub-ù-s 'hollow', dyg-ù-s 'prickly', baug-ù-s 'timorous', staig-ù-s 'hot-tempered', smag-ù-s 'malleable'. It is only rarely that the root has the accent, as in tánk-u-s 'thick'. The existence of pairs like drasù-s 'bold' and drasà 'boldness' led to the use of -u- as a denominative suffix; e. g. tamsù-s 'dark' from tam-s-à 'darkness', czēsù-s 'timely' from cszēsa-s 'time' (a borrowed word). In Slavonic adjectival u-stems are found in derivatives with -go-; besides sladū-kū we have e. g. tīnū-kū qzū-kū (p. 313).

In Balto-Slavonic the substantives in -u- are all masculine. Lith. med-ù-s O.C.Sl. med-ū 'honey': Skr. mádhu n. etc.; see above, p. 313. Lith. virsz-ù-s 'the upper, outer part' O.C.Sl. vr̃ich-u adv. 'above'. Lith. dang-ù-s 'heaven' beside dengūi 'I cover', vid-ù-s 'the inner part', al-ù-s a drink like beer. O.C.Sl. dom-ū 'house': Lat. dom-u-s (✓ dem- 'build'), vol-ū 'ox', pol-ū 'side'. In Slavonic all u-stems were inflected as o-stems.

§ 106. The Suffix -ju-. This must be regarded as proethnic, even though we cannot point with certainty to any one example which dates from the Indo-Germanic period. It should be noticed how frequently we find -ju- and -io- side by side, as Skr. vā-yú-ṣ Lith. vė-ja-s 'wind', Gr. v-iv-ς and v-ió-ς 'son'. Skr. yáj-yu-ṣ 'revered as divine' and 'revering, pious' and yaj-ya-s 'venerandus'.

Remark. The explanation of Skr. pāy-ú-ṣ pr. Gr. παῖ-υ* (§ 104 p. 315) as containing the suffix -u-, not -ju- (similarly Skr. stāy-ú-ṣ tāy-ú-ṣ Avest. tāy-u-ṣ 'thief' cp. Skr. stā-nā-s, Skr. dhāy-ú-ṣ 'thirsty' op. dhē-nā-) is based on the hypothesis mentioned in vol. I § 150 p. 186, which would allow us to assume such a root as s. g. pōḷ-, not pō-. If this hypothesis be correct, it is natural to conjecture that the suffix -ju- may have sprung from these nouns, pōḷu-* being analysed as pō-ju-* etc. On this model then were formed e. g. Skr. vā-yú-ṣ (Idg. uē-), dhā-yu-ṣ 'generous' (Idg. dhē-), and later on -ju- was added to consonant stems, as Skr. dās-yu-ṣ. So far as I can see there is nothing to prevent our assuming that this process took place in proethnic Indo-Germanic.

Aryan. Skr. dās-yu-ṣ m., a title both of the gods' enemies, the demons, and of the unbelieving tribes, Avest. dañhu-ṣ f. (cp. I § 125 p. 115, § 558 p. 415) O.Pers. dahyu- (nom. sing. dahyāu-ṣ) f. 'land, district, neighbourhood'. Skr. man-yú-ṣ m. 'excited thought, zeal, displeasure, anger' Avest. mainyu-ṣ m. 'spirit, genius'. Skr. vā-yú-ṣ m. Avest. va-yu-ṣ m. 'wind': the Avestic form is no doubt for uē-ju-*, see I § 109 p. 101. Skr. mṛ-t-yú-ṣ m. 'death': perhaps identical with the Armen. u-stem marh mah (gen. marhu mahu) 'death', see I § 360 p. 276; it is based on a stem mr-t-, see § 123.

Skr. bhuj-yú-ṣ 'flexible', śundh-yú-ṣ 'neat, pure', dhd-yu-ṣ 'generous', sdh-yu-ṣ 'strong'. The commonest forms are adjectives which are connected with derivative verbs, and mean 'seeking after, desiring something' or 'possessing, performing, exhibiting something' and the like. Examples are āśvayú-ṣ 'desiring horses', śrāvasyú-ṣ 'ambitious', dēvayú-ṣ 'reverencing the gods', udanyú-ṣ 'containing water' vīrayú-ṣ 'behaving like a hero'; cp. part. dēvayánt- 'reverencing the gods' and feminines like āśvayā 'desire for horses'. Avest. anhu-yu-ṣ a proper name, beside anhu-yēmi 'I govern' anhuya- f. government'.

Armenian. Perhaps we should class here marh 'death'; see above, under Aryan.

Greek. Lac. Arcad. ῥ-ιῦ-ς 'son', Cret. ῥ-ιῦ-ς, Att. ῥύ-ς (inscr.), Hom. gen. ῥιός etc., beside ῥιός-ς ῥός-ς, which can scarcely have come from the former by dissimilation: cp. Skr. su-ta-s 'begotten, son' (cp. W. Schulze, De reconditionibus quibusdam nominum in $-\iota\sigma$ exeuntium formis, Commentationes philologicae Gryphiswaldenses, Berol. 1887, p. 17 ff.).

According to Wackernagel (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIV 295 ff., XXVII 84 ff.) substantives in -εῦ-ς like νομεῦ-ς 'herdsman' (nom. pl. Cyp. -ῆF-εῦ) also belong here, and should be compared immediately with the Sanskrit nouns in -ayu-ṣ. Yet some difficulties still remain; should we, for instance, assume Idg. -eju-s or -ēju-s for the nom. sing.? The latest discussion of these stems is by Johansson (De derivatis verbis contractis linguae Graecae, 1886, p. 73 ff.).

Germanic. Goth. drun-ju-s m. 'noise', stub-ju-s m. 'dust', (cp. O.H.G. stuppe 'dust'); perhaps also -vaddju-s f. 'partition, wall, rampart' (O.Icel. vegg-r, O.Sax. acc. pl. wegos i. e. weijos), where ddj came from ḡ (I § 142 p. 127).

Baltic. In Lithuanian -ju- is common, both in primary and secondary use. It forms only masculines. gỹr-iu-s 'praise, glory', vỹr-iu-s 'eddy', skỹr-iu-s 'separation', vỹ-lu-s 'enticement, trick' spēcziū-s 'swarm' cp. spēcziū inf. spėsti 'to swarm' (of bees).

There a large number of nomina agentis, as pirdžiū-s, 'peditor' sūkčiu-s 'trickster', audėju-s 'weaver', rāčiu-s 'wheelwright', bezdālū-s 'who sends forth many blasts', and other appellations of living beings to denote a particular characteristic, as skar-mālu-s 'scamp' (skafma-la-s 'rags torn off') bėdžiū-s 'poor creature' (bėdā 'need'), kytrūlu-s 'wiseacre, coxcomb' (kytrū-s 'clever'), ragūčiu-s 'horned thing' (ragūta-s 'horned'). In Lithuanian -ju- was far more fertile than in the other European languages. Brückner assumes that the whole group of nouns in -ju- is a purely Lithuanian formation (Archiv f. slav. Phil. III 254 f.), but this is improbable.

§ 106. The suffix -nu- (-ṇnu-). This is rare in most of the languages. It usually forms substantives.

Indo-Germanic *sū-nu-s m. 'son': Skr. sūnū-ś O.H.G. sunu Lith. sūnū-s O.C.Sl. synū.

Aryan. Skr. sū-nū-ś Avest. hunu-ś m. 'son': Lith. sū-nū-s etc., see above. Skr. bhā-nū-ś 'gleam, sun' Av. bā-nu-ś m. 'gleam, light'. Skr. dhe-nū-ś f. 'milch cow' Avest. daē-nu-s f. 'female' (of animals). Skr. dā-nu Avest. dā-nu n. 'trickling moisture, dew', also Skr. dā-nu-ś. Skr. vag-nū-ś m. 'sound, cry', sthanū-ś m. 'stick, stump'; dhṛṣ-nū-ś 'bold', gṛdh-nū-ś 'eager, greedy'. Avest. taf-nu-ś m. 'heat, heat of fever', bar's-nu-ś f. 'peak, height', zaē-nu-ś 'equipped'.

In Sanskrit we find also -anū-, as krand-anū-ś m. 'bellowing' nad-anū-ś m. 'din', vi-bhañjanū-ś 'breaking to pieces'. This -anū- is parallel to -ant-, as is shewn by kṣip-anū-ś 'missile' kṣip-ant-ś 'a cut with a whip'. Hence no doubt it should be derived from -ṇnu-. See § 95 p. 285.

Forms like kṛ-t-nū-ś 'active' (lōka-kṛt-nū-ś and lōka-kṛ-t 'making a clear space', see § 123) gave rise to the fairly common adjectival suffix -tnu- (cp. -t-van- § 116 and the like): dar-tnū-ś 'breaking to pieces', dravi-tnū-ś 'running', mādayi-tnū-ś 'intoxicating'.

The adjectival suffix -snu- was no doubt derived from more than one typical form. kraviṣṇū-ś 'greedy of raw flesh' (kraviṣ- 'raw flesh'), rōciṣṇū-ś 'shining' (rōciṣ- 'light'); cariṣṇū-ś

'wandering', gamiṣṇú-ṣ 'going', cyāvayīṣṇú-ṣ 'setting in motion', jīṣṇú-ṣ 'victorious', ni-ṣatsnú-ṣ 'sitting down'. vadhasnú-ṣ 'carrying a murderous weapon' beside vadhasná-m 'murderous weapon' (see § 66 p. 142), as Avest. zaṇnu-ṣ 'equipped, beside zaṇne-m 'equipment, weapon'.

Greek. Here -vv- is very rare. Hom. ῥοῦν-υυ-ς 'footstool' beside Att. ῥοῦν-υο-ς 'seat, bench'. λυ-υύ-ς 'smoke, vapour'.

Italic. The suffix is rare. Lat. ma-nu-s f., Umb. manuv-e 'in manu', no doubt standing for mā-nu-*, from $\sqrt{mē}$ - 'measure'. Lat. cor-nu n. and cor-nu-s beside the rare cor-no- n.: Gall. xāp-vv-ṣ (schol. Iliad, Σ 219, Eustath. 1139, 57) beside xāp-vo-v acc. 'trumpet' (Hesych.), Goth. haiúr-n n. 'horn' (§ 66 p. 147); cp. Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 188. pī-nu-s f., also pī-no- f., cp. Gr. πί-τυ-ς. The dative vēnu beside vēnō vēnu-m from ves-no-* or vēs-no-* (§ 66 p. 142 under Armenian) is certainly a late change of declension.

Old Irish. lī-n 'number' ground-form plē-nu-*. Cp. also orgun orcun f. 'killing, to kill' for orgonu* orgunu* according to Stokes, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 291; but orgunā-* might equally be assumed as its original form.

Germanic. Goth. su-nu-s O.H.G. sunu O.Icel. sun-r m. 'son': Skr. sū-nú-ṣ etc., see p. 319 above. Goth. þaúr-nu-s m. 'thorn' beside the *-o-*stems O.H.G. dorn O.Icel. þorn; there is, however, no reason why we should not assume that þur-nu-* was the pr. Germ. form; O.C.Sl. trǫ-nū may also be an original *u-*stem, but note Skr. tī-ṇa-m 'stem of grass'. Goth. asilu-qairnu-s f. μυλὸς ὀνικός, millstone' (its suffix may be compared with that of O.C.Sl. ǫrǫ-ny f. 'mill') beside O.H.G. chuir-na 'millstone, mill' O.Icel. hver-n 'mill', Lith. gīr-nos pl. 'millstones, mill'.

Balto Slavonic. Lith. sū-nū-s O.C.Sl. sy-nū m. 'son': Skr. sū-nú-ṣ, see above p. 319. O.C.Sl. či-nū m. 'rank, order', beside Skr. ci-tā- 'ranged, trooped'. In Lithuanian there are a few adjectives, which however may be simply modifications of forms in -na- (see p. 317): e. g. drung-nū-s 'lukewarm' (beside druņg-na-s), gad-nū-s 'useful', szvel-nū-s 'tender, soft to touch'; with -s, dū-snū-s do-snū-s 'generous'.

§ 107. The Suffixes -ru- and -lu-. These are original in a few nouns. They are more or less fertile in Baltic as adjectival suffixes.

Indo-Germanic. -ru-. dak-ru* n. 'tear': Gr. δακρυ, Lat. dacru-ma lacru-ma lacri-ma (I § 369 p. 279 f.), Corn. dagr pl. dagrou; hence no doubt Germ. táxra-* (O.H.G. zahhar O.Icel. tár) and tazrá-* (Goth. tagr A.S. teazor) originally had -ru-; another word which no doubt was formed in imitation of this, though from a different root, is Skr. ás-ru n. 'tear', cp. Skr. kṣ-mi-s: cp. Lat. ver-mi-s: cp. Gr. ἐλ-μυ-ς § 97 p. 289. Skr. śmáśru n. 'beard, moustache' for śmaś-ru* (I § 557, 4 p. 413), Armen. moruē (mōru-ē muru-ē) 'beard' (though this comparison is not quite certain); compare Lith. smak-rà 'chin' (I § 467 p. 343).

-lu-. Skr. dha-rú-ś 'sucking' Gr. θη-λυ-ς 'giving suck, female', beside Gr. θη-λή 'mother's breast' Lat. fē-lāre etc., see I § 256 p. 210. Skr. bhī-rú-ś bhī-lu-ś Lith. bai-lù-s 'timorous'.

Aryan. Only the evidence of the cognate languages can decide whether the suffix is Idg. -ru- or Idg. -lu-. Idg. -ru- may be assumed in: Skr. ás-ru Av. as-ru n. 'tear' beside Skr. aś-rá-m 'tear' (see above), and Skr. śmaś-ru n. 'beard' (parallel to this we find hári-śmaśaru-s 'with light coloured beard'); see above.

In the following instances it is doubtful whether we have Idg. r or l. Skr. pē-ru-ś no doubt meaning 'making to bubble, swell'. Avest. duš-vandru-ś 'desiring evil'. Skr. patá-ru-ś 'flying', like pata-rá-s § 74 p. 182. Skr. vandá-ru-ś 'praising, glorifying', ptiā-ru-ś 'despising, scorning', pataya-lú-ś 'flying'. Is śát-ru-ś 'foe' = śát-ru- or śát-tru-?

Greek. δάκρυ n., see above. κάρχρον-ς f. κάρχρον (κάρχρον) n. 'roasted barley' and βότρυ-ς m. 'bunch of grapes' may be classed here provisionally.

Italic. Extended by -mā-: Lat. dacru-ma (see above). Perhaps we should class here tonitru-s m. tonitru n., whose formation seems to resemble that of Skr. stanayi-tnú-ś (compare § 106 p. 320) and tanyatú-ś 'thunder' (§ 108).

Germanic. Goth. ái-ru-s O.Icel. ǫ-r-r á-r-r m. 'messenger', ✓ ei- 'go'; also A.S. ar 'messenger', which is no longer recognisable as an u-stem. Goth. huh-ru-s m. and O.H.G. hungar m. (of which the same may be said) 'hunger', pr. Germ. χunax-ru-z* and χunox-ru-s*. Pr. Germ. flō-ru-* Mid.H.G. fluor m. f. 'corn-field, ground' A.S. flōr m. f. 'house-floor, barn-floor': O.Ir. lā-r 'flooring, floor'.

Balto-Slavonic. In Lithuanian there are a considerable number of adjectives in -rū-s and -lū-s: bud-rū-s 'watchful', suk-rū-s 'active', kant-rū-s 'patient', ėd-rū-s 'ravenous' (ėd-rū 'fodder') isz-matrū-s 'sharp-sighted' (cp. O.C.Sl. mot-r-iti 'to look'), buk-lū-s 'crafty, sly' isz-teklū-s isz-tenklū-s 'sufficing'. Parallel to these we sometimes have forms in -ra-s -la-s, as gėd-rū-s and gėd-ra-s 'bright, clear', and gai-lū-s gai-la-s 'ill-tempered, snappish' (of dogs). The a-form appears in most cases to be older than the other, and it must sometimes be pre-supposed, even where it does not occur, e. g. in asztrū-s 'sharp' beside O.C.Sl. ostrū Skr. catur-aśra-s Gr. ἄστρος (§ 76 p. 184 and p. 187).

§ 108. The Suffix *-tu-*¹⁾. This was a common primary suffix used in forming abstract substantives (verbal nouns, nomina actionis) even in the proethnic period. These were masculine; but through the influence of the gender of other abstract nouns, they became feminine universally in Greek, and sometimes in Aryan and Germanic. In Aryan, Latin, Balto-Slavonic (and Keltic, see § 156) they are found attached to the verbal system as infinitives (gerunds, supines); and it is possible that this association with the verb, which gave rise to a large number of new formations, began at least in part before the end of the proethnic period. And in this connexion it is especially important to observe that we find the acc. -tu-m used after verbs of motion in precisely the same way in Sanskrit, Latin, and Balto-Slavonic; e. g. Skr. hōtum ꣳti 'he goes make sacrifice',

1) Th. Benfey, Die Suffixe rv, tu sammt ātu, Kuhn's Ztschr. II 215 ff.

Lat. cubitus it, Lith. ėiksz vėlgytū 'come and eat', O.C.Sl. česo izidoste vidětū? 'quid existiis visum?'

Only a few masculine and feminine substantives formed with this suffix are other than nomina actionis, and their uses can easily be derived from the meaning of an abstract verbal noun. The nomina agentis (as Skr. mān-tu-ṣ m. 'counsellor' beside māntu-ṣ m. 'counsel, advice', Goth. hliftu-s m. 'thief', O.Icel. vqrð-r m. 'watcher, waiter' beside vqrð-r m. 'watch') show the same change of meaning as Lat. hosti-s O.Ir. tuid; and the few adjectives that occur (as Skr. tāpya-tū-ṣ 'hot, glowing') are parallel to such forms as Skr. pū-ti-ṣ 'stinking'. Cp. § 99 p. 293, §§ 149. 155.

There are a few neuter substantives as Skr. vās-tu Gr. ἄσ-ρυ.

Originally the accent varied in the different cases in connexion with differences in ablaut, e. g. é₂-tu- i-tu- (from e₂-* 'go'); such a distinction is preserved in Skr. é₂-tu-m: i-to-ā*. In Sanskrit the variation survived in these cases, which had been incorporated into the verbal system, because, through the difference in their use, their connexion in form was forgotten, but in the complete declension of any one noun the differences were levelled; in some cases the type e₂-tu-* was adopted (e. g. māntu-ṣ), in others itu-* (e. g. ṛtū-ṣ). Other survivals of the old gradation are seen in (e. g.) Gr. κλει-ρύ-ς and κλι-ρύ-ς, Lith. lẽ-tu-s and ly-tū-s. In Latin and Lithuanian the supine was influenced by the to-participles and the abstract nouns in -tu-, so that the type itu-* prevailed: e. g. Lat. da-tu-m da-tū like da-tu-s (da-to-s) da-tū, Lith. mĩlsz-tū like mĩlsz-ta-s mĩlsz-ti (✓mėlg-). On the other hand, the corresponding form in Slavonic generally shows the type eitu-* and itself influenced the ti-infinitive (e. g. O.C.Sl. mĩls-tū and mĩls-tĩ); this is certainly connected with the comparative disuse of the -to-participle in this group of languages (§ 79 p. 336).

These nouns could be based upon any form which served as a verbal stem, not merely on the root (in the strict sense); hence forms like Skr. vāmi-tu-m inf. 'to vomit'. Lat. vomi-tu-s m., Skr. jīvā-tu-ṣ f. 'life' (cp. Av. jyā-tu-ṣ f. 'life'), Gr. βον-ρύ-ς

f. 'cry', Lat. apparā-tu-s m. andī-tu-s m., O.Ir. scarad 'a severing' Goth. orātō-du-s m. 'journey', Lith. jėszkó-tū O.C.Sl. iska-tū 'to seek'.

-e-tu- is found like -e-to- § 79 p. 219 and -e-ti- § 100 p. 294), e. g. Skr. kr-ā-tū-ś 'power, strength' vah-a-tū-ś m. 'bridal procession', Gr. ἔτυμον 'truthful' from ē-ty-* instead of h-ey-v-* 'existence' (✓es-).

Indo-Germanic. Skr. inf. bhāvi-tu-m gerund bha-tv-ā from bhāva-ti 'he becomes, is', Lat. fu-tu-ō, sup. Lith. bū-tū O.C.Sl. by-tū 'to be'; we may add, with hesitation, Gr. qī-ty-s 'begetter' qī-ty 'shoot, scion' (see I § 56 p. 46). Skr. jūs-ty-a gerund of jōsa-ti 'has pleasure in something', Lat. gūs-tu-s m., Goth. kus-tu-s m. 'trial, proof'. Skr. pi-tū-ś m. 'sap, drink, food' nourishment' pītu-dāru- m. 'pine tree' n. the resin of this tree, Gr. πινυς 'pine', Lat. pītu-ita, O.Ir. ī-th m. 'corn', Lith. pė-tūs pl. 'midday meal, midday'. Skr. inf. vēttu-m vēttav-ē ger. vittv-ā from vinda-ti 'finds, becomes possessed of', vēdi-tu-m vidi-tv-ā from vētti 'perceives, knows' (the root is the same), Lat. visu-s m., O.Ir. fiss m. 'knowledge'. Avest. pešu-ś m. 'ford' (-ś- for -rt-, see I § 288 p. 229 f.), Lat. por-tu-s m., O.H.G. fur-t m. 'ford' (it has lost its character as a u-stem) O.Icel. fjörð-r m. 'firth, gulf'. Skr. gān-tu-ś gā-tū-ś m. 'course, way', inf. gān-tu-m gān-tav-ē ger. ga-tv-ā, Lat. ad-ven-tus m., sup. ven-tu-m ven-tū, Lith. sup. giūn-tū 'to be born' (cp. I § 249 p. 204), ✓gem-. Skr. mān-tu-ś m. 'counsel, counsellor' inf. mān-tav-ē ger. ma-tv-ā, Lith. sup. miñ-tū 'to think of', ✓men-. Skr. inf. śāsi-tu-m ger. śas-tv-ā from śāsa-ti 'he recites', Lat. cēnsu-s m. instead of cens-tu-s* (cp. § 100 p. 295), ✓kens-. Skr. inf. pāk-tum pāk-tav-ē ger. pak-tv-ā from pāca-ti 'cooks', Lat. coc-tu-m coc-tū, O.C.Sl. sup. peštī 'to bake' for pek-tū* (I § 462 p. 338). Lat. sup. rēc-tu-m rēc-tū, O.Ir. rech-t n. 'right', O.Icel. rētt-r n. 'right'. Skr. dhā-tu-ś m. 'constituent part, element', inf. dhā-tu-m ger. dhi-tv-ā hi-tv-ā, Lat. con-ditu-s m. sup. con-ditu-m -ditū, sup. Lith. dē-ta O.C.Sl. dē-tū 'positum'. Skr. aktū-ś m. 'salve, light, night' ground-form ag-tū-s*, Lat. ūnc-tu-m ūnc-tū. Skr. inf. ap-tu-m ger. ap-tv-ā from ap-nō-ti 'attains, gains', Lat. ad-eptu-s m. Skr.

vās-tu n. 'dwelling-place, house', Gr. fáσ-rv ǎσ-rv n. 'city'. Skr. yā-tu-š m. 'traveller, time' (no doubt identical with yātú-š 'ghost', see below), Lith. jó-tū 'to ride'. Lat. sup. nō-tu-m nō-tū (ignō-tu-m ignōtū), O.C.Sl. sup. zna-tū 'to know'.

In classical Sanskrit the accusative, in Veda also the dative and genitive-ablative served as infinitives; e. g. śrō-tu-m, śrō-tav-ē, śrō-tōṣ. The formation of compounds like śrōtu-kāma- 'desire to hear' shows that even in later times the feeling that the form in -tum was a case had not quite died out. The instrumental (śru-tvā, orig. 'with hearing') was used as the (so-called) gerund, logically connected with some noun in the sentence to denote an action accompanying or (generally) preceding the action of the verb, e. g. śrutvā cābruvan (ca abruvan) 'and hearing (or having heard) they spoke'. All such forms could be used in this way, except those derived from thematic stems (kr-ā-tu- etc.).

Armenian. Amongst the tu-stems (e. g. zar-d, gen. zar-du 'adornment') there seem to be none which can be ascribed with certainty to protoethnic Indo-Germanic. Hübschmann (Arm. Stud. I 46) with some hesitation connects ort, gen. ortu, 'calf' with Skr. prthu-ka-s 'the young of an animal, child, boy' (Gr. πόρ-τι-ς πόρ-ταῖς 'calf').

Greek. The Substantives in -tv-ς, except the late form πι-tv-ς (p. 325), are all feminine, and occur for the most part in the Ionic dialect. κλι-tv-ς κλει-tv-ς 'slope, hill': Skr. śri-tv-ā ger. of śráy-a-ti 'leans'. πί-tv-ς 'pine': Skr. pi-tū-ṣ etc., see p. 325 above. ῥ-tv-ς 'circumference, circle of a wheel, fellow', Lat. vi-tu-s m., sup. Lith. vý-tū O.C.Sl. vi-tū 'to wind'. βρω-tv-ς 'food, meal': Lith. gér-tū 'to drink'. γραπ-tv-ς 'a scratch', from γράφω. ἄφ-tv-ς 'bond': Lat. ar-tu-s ar-tu. ἀπ-εστύ-ς 'absence'. δαι-tv-ς 'meal'. ἀπο-δαστύ-ς 'division'. κτιστύ-ς 'founding' from κτίζω, ἀκοντιστύ-ς 'javelin-throwing, fight with missiles', from ἀκοντίζω, ληιστύ-ς 'making of booty' from ληίζομαι, φραστύ-ς 'reflection' from φράζω, ἀσπαστύ-ς 'greeting' from ἀσπάζομαι, cp. Germ. -assu-s from verbs in -atjan p. 331. ἄρπυιεύ-ς from ἄρπάζω fut. ἄρπάξω. ἀγορητύ-ς 'harangue' from ἀγοράζομαι, βοητύ-ς 'cry, call' from βοάω, ποδητύ-ς 'desire' from ποθέω.

Neuters: only φῖ-tv and ἄσ-rv, see above pp. 325, 326.

In the other Indo-Germanic languages, we find numerals in -ti-s, as peneg-ti-s* f. 'fivefold character, the number five' ἔτυ-μο-ς 'truthful' from ἔτυ-* 'existence' (instead of h-ε-ty-*, cp. Dor. ἔντες, Lesb. ἔσσα) ground-form s-e-tu-*, from √es- 'esse'.

Italic. The Substantives in -tu-s are masculine. Lat. ac-tu-s, Umbr. ahtu 'actur'. Lat. adi-tu-s: Skr. svāitu-ṣ (svā-ētu-ṣ) 'having its own course' inf. ē-tu-m ger. i-tv-ā, Lith. eĩ-tũ O.C.Sl. i-tũ 'to go'. rũ-tu-s: Lith. rũk-tũ 'to belch', √reyg-. duc-tu-s. or-tu-s. morsu-s beside mordeō. ē-ven-tu-s: Skr. gān-tu-ṣ etc., see above p. 325. sēnsu-s beside sent-iō. con-spectu-s. tex-tu-s: 'Lett. tes-tu 'to hew with an axe'. ēsu-s. Words like iudicātu-s (iudicare iudex) gave rise to an independent suffix -ātu- for denoting an office or an official organisation, as principātu-s, ducātu-s, pontificātu-s, senātu-s (cp. German. -ōpfu- -ōdũ-).

The *tu-*stems (i. e. the so-called supines) form a very large group in Latin. -tu-m was orig. acc., -tũ loc. or instr. Most of the substantives in -tu-s were also used as supines, e. g. ēsu-s 'eating' and ēsu-m ēsũ; on the other hand, it is only a small proportion of the supines beside which we find independent declinable substantives. The freedom with which supines were formed was practically unlimited.

The gender of the neut. subst. ar-tu- beside masc. ar-tu-s was no doubt fixed by that of membru-m, and testu- n. (ters-tu-*, √ters- 'dry') by that of testu-m (stem testo-).

Old Irish. Masculines. bi-th, gen. betho, 'world'; Mod. Cymr.

by-d, Gall. Bitu-rigēs ('world-kings'): Lith. gý-tū 'to revive' O.C.Sl. ši-tū 'to live', $\sqrt{gei-}$. i-th 'corn': Skr. pi-tū-ṣ etc., see above p. 325. fiss 'knowledge, knowing', ground-form $*\mu id+tu-$: Skr. vēithu-m etc., see above ibid. gu-th 'voice'. cru-th 'form' mess 'judging, judgement' beside midiur 'I judge'.

Neut. su-th 'fetus': Skr. sū-tu-ṣ f. 'pregnancy'. sru-th 'stream', $\sqrt{srey-}$. rerh-t 'right': Lat. sup. rēc-tu-m etc.; see above p. 325.

Like fiss and mess, the numerous masculines in -ad (for -a-tu-) formed from verbs of the 2. conj. are used as infinitives (cp. § 156), as nertad 'strengthening' from nertaim denom. verb from nert 'strength' (cp. Gr. ἀγορῆν-ς, Lat. cōnatu-s), and similarly those in (i)ud (for (i)e-tu-) formed from verbs of the 3. conj., as derchoimud 'despair, despairing' from der-choinim 'I despair', foillsigud 'showing' from foillsigim 'I show' (cp. Skr. vaha-tū-ṣ anya-tū-ṣ).

-tu- is a secondary suffix in the termination -es-tu- (-os-tu-). ais aēs ois (gen. aiisso aisa aesa) m. 'age' ground-form $*āyēs-tu-s$, cp. Gr. αἰ(ς) 'always'; yet Mod.(Cymr. oes, since u is not usually lost in Cymric, perhaps indicates that the word is to be derived from a stem corresponding to the Skr. āyuṣ-, which afterwards, we must assume, was confused with the es-stem. senchas m. 'antiquity' (O.Cymr. hencass, pl. hencassou 'old tale') may be an extension of $*seno-go-$ (cp. Skr. sana-kā-s etc., § 88 p. 263), the ground-form being $*seno-q-os-tu-$, or a compound $*seno-cassu-$. dorus n. 'door' (cp. Mod.Cymr. drws Corn. daras), dat. pl. doirsib for $*doressaib$, and therefore from a stem $*dyores-tu-$ in proethnic Keltic. follus 'clear'.

Germanic. In West Germanic most of the tu-stems (which were common in proethnic Germanic) lost their distinctive character; there was a confusion between the (masc.) tu- and the (fem.) *ti-*stems, e. g. O.H.G. luf-t m. and f., A.S. lyf-t m. and f. The original form of the tu-stems is best preserved in Gothic.

O.H.G. fri-du A.S. fri-thu m. 'joy' pr. Germ. $*fri-þu-z$, from Germ. fri- fri 'cherish, spare' (which appears in Goth. freidjan 'to spare' and other words. Goth. li-þu-s m. 'limb', cp. O.Icel. li-m-r 'limb'. Goth. kus-tu-s m. 'trial, proof', O.Icel.

kos-t-r (acc. pl. kosto kostu) m. 'condition', O.H.G. kos-t A.S. cys-t: Skr. jutṣ-ṭv-a etc. see above p. 325. Goth. luf-tu-s m. O.H.G. luf-t m. 'breeze, air'. O.H.G. fur-t m. 'ford' O.Icel. fjör-ð-r 'firth, gulf': Avest. pešu-s etc., see p. 325 above. O.H.G. durs-t A.S. ðurs-t (ðyrs-t) m. 'thirst', √ ters-. Goth. vul-þu-s m. 'glory'. Goth. lus-tu-s O.H.G. lus-t m. 'desire', for ls-tu-s*, if it is connected with Skr. lā-las-a-s (I § 299 p. 238, II § 100 p. 302). Goth. þuh-tu-s m. 'thought', from þugkjan 'to think'. O.Icel. rött-r m. 'right': Lat. rēc-tu-m etc., see above p. 325. O.Icel. hött-r hätt-r m. 'way, sort, kind', beside haga 'to arrange'. Goth. vuhs-tu-s O.Icel. vøxt-r m. 'growth'. Goth. dau-þu-s O.H.G. tō-d m. 'death'. O.H.G. blas-t O.Icel. blǽst-r blást-r n. 'blast'. Goth. flō-du-s O.H.G. fluo-t m. 'flood'. With the meaning changed to that of a nomen agentis we have e. g. Goth. hlif-tu-s 'thief', O.Icel. vqrð-r 'watchman'.

-s-tu- is rare (cp. -s-ti- § 100 p. 303 and -s-tyo- -s-tro- etc., see § 61 p. 117). Goth. math-s-tu-s O.H.G. mist m. 'ordure', beside O.Icel. mīga 'mingere'. O.Icel. lǽst-r m. 'mistake' for lax-s-tu-*, beside O.H.G. lastar n. 'crime, vice' (suffix -s-tro-, § 62 p. 121), cp. O.H.G. lahan 'to blame'.

The termination -ð-þu- (also -ð-ðu- through the original variation of accent), which appears in derivatives of the weak verbs in -ðn, became an independent suffix (cp. Lat. -ātu- p. 328). Goth. gáunðþu-s m. 'sorrow' from gáunðn 'to sorrow', vratðdu-s 'journey' from vratðn 'to travel'; O.H.G. wegðd m. 'help' from wegðn 'to help', klagðd m. 'lament' from klagðn 'to lament'; O.Icel. laðað-r m. 'invitation' from laða 'to invite'. The following are examples of nouns beside which there is no corresponding verb in -ðn: Goth. gabaúrjðþu-s 'desire' mannis-kōdu-s 'humanity', O.H.G. strīðd 'strife' leichðd 'hymenaeus, concubitus', O.Icel. unað-r 'delight'. In O.H.G. the formations in -isðd inðd -ilðd -alðd are especially common, as rīchisðd 'lordship' from rīchisðn 'to govern', ellinðd 'zeal, emulation' from ellinðn 'to be zealous', swintilðd 'giddiness' from swintilðn 'to become giddy', hantaldð 'laying on of hands' from hantaldn 'lay hands on, handle'. On the other hand in Anglo-Saxon and Norse we find the termination -nōþu-, which came from verbs in -nōn -nan (e. g. A.S. hafnōð 'hold' beside hæfnian, O.Icel. batnað-r 'improvement' from batna); this became fertile and usurped the place of the older -ōþu-; e. g. A.S. fuzelnoð instead of, and parallel to, fuzeloð 'fowling', from fuzelian, O.Icel. dugnað-r 'strength, help', from duga.

The weak verbs in -aiþan (Gr. -αἰεῖν) gave rise to the suffix -assu- (Gr. ἀσσυ-σ from ἀσσυ-σθαι, p. 327), which was very fertile in all branches of Germanic except Norse, especially in the extended form resulting from its addition to n-stems, -n-assu- (Goth. -in-assu-). In West Germanic we have also (-n)-iss(u)- and (-n)-uss(u)-, whose i and u are variously explained (von Bahder, Verbalabstr. 119 ff.); and further various modifications of the final -u-, due to the analogy of feminine and neuter abstract substantives: fem. (-n)-iss-ō- (-n)-uss-ō-, (-n)-iss-jō- (-n)-uss-jō-, (-n)-ass-ī- (-n)-iss-ī- (-n)-uss-ī-, neut. (-n)-ass-ja- (-n)-iss-ja- (-n)-uss-ja-. Examples are Goth. ibnassu-s 'equality, fairness' (A.S. emness), beside A.S. emnettan 'adaequare' = Goth. ibnatjan*; ufarrassu-s 'overflow, abundance' from ufar. These forms are especially frequent in connexion with verbs in -inōn; as hōrin-assu-s 'adultery' beside hōrinōn, which gave the type for words like blōt-inassu-s 'divine service' (from blōtan). O.H.G. rāt-ussa f. 'riddle' offan-ussi f. 'opening'; ir-suochnissa f. 'experimentum' gi-miscnissi f. 'mixture' gi-hōrnissi f. 'hearing'. -nissa -nissi had often the appearance of a denominative suffix, and hence it gave rise to a large number of formations like O.H.G. got-nissa f. 'godhead' rein-nissa f. 'purity' churt-nassi f. 'shortness'. In Upper Germany these suffixes were extended by -īþo- (§ 80 p. 240), hence -nissida -nussida, as in (O.H.G.) fir-loranissida 'loss'. fālunussida 'idleness'.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. ly-tū-s lē-tu-s m. 'rain' (supine ly-tū 'to rain' lē-tū 'to pour'): Lat. sup. li-tu-m li-tū, Goth. acc. sing. lei-þu O.H.G. lī-d m. n. 'fruit-wine'. Lith. pė-tū-s pl. 'midday meal, midday': Skr. pi-tū-ś etc., see p. 325 above. It is a moot point whether the adjectives in -tū-s, as sta-tū-s 'blunt, impolite', drums-tū-s 'dark, troubled' (of water), were originally abstract substantives (p. 324), or whether they were modifications of old adjectives in -ta-s (see p. 317). O.C.Sl. kra-tū 'a time, occasion' (dūva kraty 'twice'): Skr. acc. pl. kṛ-to-as 'so many times'; Lith. kaṛta-s may have also been originally a u-stem, from which we could then directly derive the form in dū kartū 'twice' szeszis kartūs 'six times' and the like.

The largest group of tu-stems are the infinitives (supines), which were formed at will from any verb. The Lithuanian supines in -tu -tū (the quantity differs in different dialects), which should properly be written -tų (their final nasal is still kept in the compound form of the optative, e. g. 1. pl. sùktum-bime), and the Slavonic forms in -tū, are acc. sing., cp. Lat. -tu-m. Lith. dū'-tū O.C.Sl. da-tū 'to give', bū-tū bý-tū 'to be', ěstū 'to devour' jastū 'to eat', jěszkó-tū uska-tū 'to seek', sědē-tū 'to sit', ganj-tū goni-tū 'to tend, pasture', cp. also Pruss. dā-tun dā-ton 'to give' maītā-tun 'to nourish' with other examples. In Old Church Slavonic there is a rare parallel form in -tu, (as by-tu), which may be regarded as gen. or loc., and Prussian has dative forms in -twei, as dā-tuei.

IV. The Suffix -ī- (-iē-)¹⁾.

§ 109. This suffix was used to form feminines in the proethnic and later periods. It served to differentiate the gender in the same way as a beside o (§ 59 ff.). In this function it was a secondary suffix, since these feminines were derived from the masculine and neuter stem. When a feminine of this kind was formed from o-stems, the stem-final -o was dropped in exactly the same way as before the suffix -io-; e. g. Skr. vyk-ī 'she-wolf' the feminine of vfka-s 'wolf' (cp. § 63 p. 126, Rem. 3 p. 132). More rarely -ī- has the appearance of a primary suffix,

1) E. Sievers, Über die Feminina auf urgeim. i, Paul-Braune's Beitr. V 136 ff. O. A. Danielsson, Om die indoeuropeiska femininstammarne på -ī, Upsala universitets årsskrift 1881. W. Burda, Das slav. Suffix ynja, nom. sg. yni, Kubn-Schleicher's Beitr. VI 194 ff.

as in Skr. śām-i 'work' Gr. φύζα 'flight' (for φυγ-ια*); it cannot be shewn with certainty that such primary feminine forms existed in the proethnic language.

It is difficult to determine what was the strong form of the suffix -i- in the Indo-Germanic paradigm. For though as a rule the classes of feminine nouns which contain the suffix are easily distinguished in the different languages, yet they show important differences in form which cannot have arisen simply and solely through the operation of phonetic laws. Indeed it is obvious that its declension has been influenced in very many ways by that of other stems. To me it seems most probable that -iē- (sometimes -iīē-) was the form of the strong-grade in Indo-Germanic. Cp. -iē- -iīē- -i- in the optative, as in Lat. s-iē-s: s-i-mus, and the masculine suffix -iē- -iō-, -iīē- -iō-: -i-, -i- (§ 63 p. 122 f.).

Remark 1. The following conclusions seem to me fairly probable. In proethnic Indo-Germanic the nom. sing. ended in -i*, Gr. -iā was formed on the analogy of -iā, Lat. -iē-s Lith. -(i)ē (beside -i) come from the extension of the form -iē- (-iīē-) to all the cases. The acc. sing. ended sometimes in -i-m* (Skr. -i-m) sometimes in -i-i-m* op the opt 3 pl. Lat. s-i-ent for s-i-i-nt*, I § 226 p. 193), from the latter we have Lat. -iem (māter-iem), Skr. -iyam (str-iyam), Gr. -iav (νόττυ-ια), the Skr. and the Gr. form having -m → added on the analogy of the terminations -i-m -ā-m etc. Similarly the acc. pl. generally, perhaps always ended in -i-i-ya* Skr. -iyas (str-iyas), Lat. -iēs (māter-ies) in Gr. -i-ys is perhaps represented by -iā, the by-form of -iav; -iā. before consonants. The so-called Weak Cases with a case-suffix beginning in a consonant had -i-, as loc. pl. -i-su* (Skr. -i-śu). Elsewhere the form was -iē- or -iīē-, e. g. gen. sing. -(i)ies*. This form of the suffix is regularly represented in Latin, Balto-Slavonic, and Aryan, Lat. māter-iē-, Lith. žem-ė for žem-iē-*. (I § 147 p. 131), O.C.Sl. zem(i)-ju- (cp. stojati for stojeti*, I § 76 p. 66), Skr. viduṣ-ya-. The Ablaut is thus precisely parallel to that of the optative suffix -iē-, e. g. Lat. rab-iē-s (gen. sing.): rab-i-em: dāt-i-x = s-iē-s: s-i-ent: s-i-mus. In several languages confusion with the iā- stems led to the substitution of -(i)īē- for -(i)iē-, e. g. gen. sing. Gr. νόττυ-ιας iōiās; (this change was probably due in part to the influence of the heavier form of the acc., sing. and pl. -iav; -iav.) O.Ir. Brigte (cp. Skr. bṛhatyās), Goth. māujōs beside nom. sing. νόττυα iōvīa, Brigt (Skr. bṛhatī), mavi; so also Lith. marciōs beside marči. Different views as to the form of the strong grade in this suffix have been maintained by Kluge, Paul-Braune's Beitr. VI 391 f., and by Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Pers. 336 f.

-i- was the regular form of the suffix when other suffixes were added to it: e. g. Skr. pātnī-vanī- 'accompanied by one's wife', Gr. παῖ-της beside Dor. πολύ-τα-ς Ion. πολή-τη-ς 'cithren', Lat. viatrī-a.

There was a confusion with the i-stems (§ 92 ff.) as well as with the iā-stems. Compare e. g. Skr. nār-i- and nār-i- 'woman' (see Benfey, Nachr. von der göttl. Ges. d. Wiss. 1876 p. 644 ff., Lanman, Noun-Inflection p. 370), Gr. ληστρ-ί-ς (gen. ληστρείδος) 'female robber' beside ψαλτρ-ω 'girl who plays the guitar', Lat. nept-i-s beside O.H.G. niftl (= Goth. nift-i*) Skr. napt-i-, suāvi-s for syād-ū-i-s* beside Skr. svād-ī-, Skr. aur-i- Lith. auri-s beside Gr. ῥῆσα 'duck' for rat-ia*. In these cases the i-declension was the older, but the converse change occurs in Sanskrit, stems in i being inflected in the same way as those in i- in order to mark their feminine gender, e. g. gen. sing. gātīyās beside gātī- from nom. gātī-ḥ nom. sing. bhūmī gen. sing. bhūmyās beside nom. bhūmī- (§ 97 p. 289), yuvati beside yuvati- (§ 101 p. 307).

Finally these stems were confused with the inflexion of monosyllabic stems, such as Skr. bhī- Gr. κί- in which i- and i- alternated (nom. bhī- gen. bhīy-ās, Gr. κί-ς κί-ός). Hence e. g. Skr. nom. napt-i- gen. napt-i-y-ās, Gr. πόλι-ς πόλι-ος.

Remark 2 To this last remark I must add a corollary, lest it should be taken to imply the existence of a third i-suffix, i- i-, in Indo-Germanic (i- in all cases whose case-suffix began with a consonant, i- where it began with a sonant) in addition to i- (e-) and i- (iē-). There would be just as much and just as little reason for supposing a parallel suffix ū- ū- on the strength of such forms as Skr. śvaśrī- śvaśrī-ām O.C.Sl. svěkrj svěkrī-vo Gr. νέκυ-ς νέκυ-α. As a matter of fact it seems to me very probable that all these polysyllabic i- i--stems and ū- ū--stems have simply abandoned their original inflexion in order to conform to the type of such monosyllabic stems as Skr. bhī- Gr. κί-, Skr. bhīr- Gr. δρεῦ-, in which i- and ū- are part of the 'root' (op. § 8 Rem. 1 and 2 p. 20 f.). This change of inflexion will call for further notice when we come to the formation of the oases.

§ 110. Differentiation (Motion or Feminine-formation) of u-stems (§ 103 ff.). Originally the no doubt nom. sing. was -eu-i gen. sing. -u-iēs (yet notice also Avest. vanhu-yā), loc. pl. -u-i-su. Skr. svād-ī- Gr. ῥδέια for sfādsf-ia* Lat. suāv-i-s, beside masc. Skr. svādū- Gr. ῥδύ-ς 'sweet'. Skr. guro-i Gr. βαρεῖα 'gravis'. Skr. prthv-i Avest. per'pw-i- Gr. πλατεῖα 'broad, wide'. Skr. tano-i Lat. tenu-i-s. In Germanic and Baltic post-consonantal u was dropped before iē- (iā-): Goth. kaūr-jō 'gravis' (acc. sing. kaūrja nom. pl. kaūrjōs) for kurū-jō-* (cp. O.Icel. ylg-r I § 444 p. 329); Lith. saldū- (gen. sing. saldūiōs) for saldū-jō-*, on the analogy of which was formed the nom. saldū instead of saldū-i*; Goth. hard-jō 'hard' Lith. karcū-

'bitter' (nom. kartī) from masc. hard-u-s kart-ū-s. In this class of adjectives, the unextended form, without -ī-, could also be used for the feminine; e. g. Skr. tanū-ṣ, Gr. τήνυς θήλυς (in Homer and elsewhere), Goth. kairu-s (only -u-s is ever found in the nom. sing.). The nom. in -ī is found in Gothic in the subst. mavi 'girl' for mazu-ī*, beside the masc. magu-s; the analogy of the cases with this form of the stem, ma(3)u-ī* gave rise to the gen. máujōs instead of magjōs*.

Differentiation of n-stems (§ 112 ff.). Skr. tak-ṣṇ-ī Gr. τέκτων (for τεκταν-ια*): Skr. tákṣan- Gr. τέκτων 'worker in wood, carpenter'. Skr. rājñ-ī from rājan- 'king' O.Ir. rīgain 'queen', whose ground-form was rēgyn-ī*. Skr. yūn-ī from yuvan- 'young, young man' Lat. jūn-ī-x. We may probably infer from Skr. pátnī Gr. πότνια 'lady' and Gr. δέσποινα 'mistress' for -porvīa* (I § 488 p. 360), as compared with the masc. Skr. páti-ṣ Gr. πόσις, that -n-ī- could be used as an independent suffix even in the proethnic period.

Skr. śun-ī from śván- śún- 'dog'. pañca-dāmn-ī from pañca-dāman-. maghōn-ī from maghāvan- maghōn- 'giving bountifully, dispenser'. Avest ašaon-ī from ašavan- ašaon- 'pure' (Skr. ṛtāvan- 'holy, pious'). With Skr. pát-nī we should no doubt compare Skr. pálīk-nī hárīk-nī, beside palitá- 'gray, hoary' hárīta- 'tawny' (as to k for t, see the Author, Morph. Unt. II 198), páruṣ-ñī beside paruṣ-ā- 'knotty'.

Gr. γείτινα from γείτων 'neighbour'. θεράπινα, beside θεράπ-ν-η, both from θεράπων 'servant', λέαινα from λέων 'lion' (these masculines were originally n-stems; see § 114, under Greek). -aina was taken into general use as an independent suffix, denoting female creatures: λίκαινα, κάπραινα, ἡμι-θείαινα, etc. Notice further φάγαινα 'voracity, ravenousness' beside φαγών 'devourer'. ἄγκοινα (Att.) beside ἀγκίων 'bend of the arm'; we should no doubt compare Hom. ἐπ-ηγκεν-ιδ-ες 'side-planks of a ship'.

Lat. jūn-ī-x, see above. corn-ī-x beside Gr. κορών-η 'crow', op. also Umbr. curn-ac-o 'cornicem'.

In Germanic we have -un-i- -in-i- (Idg. -yn-i- -en-i-) and -n-i-. -un-i- is contained in Goth. lauh-mun-i 'flash', O.H.G. wirtun (beside wirtin) 'hostess', O.Icel. apynja from ape O.H.G. affo 'ape', and, without any masc. n-stem, as-ynja 'goddess' (masc. as-s) and other forms. -in-i- appears in Goth. Saur-ini- 'Syrian woman' (m. Saur); it is frequent in West-Germanic, as O.H.G. herzohin from herizogo 'duke'; hence came new formations like chuning-in from chuning 'king', esil-in from esil 'ass'. -n-i- in O.H.G. birn (Hrod-birn etc.) from masc. bero 'bear', Mod.H.G. ricke 'roe' (female) for rik-nī* (I § 214 p. 181, § 530 p. 388) beside O.H.G. rēh n. 'roe' (male and female) pr. Germ. raix-a-*.

The Slavonic feminines in -ynji no doubt belong originally to this class (j has come in from the other cases, as acc. -ynja): bogynji 'goddess' blagynji 'kindness'. They appear to have arisen through an analogical extension of the use of -n-i- (cp. the Author, Morph. Unt. II 200).

The original inflexion of these feminines was perhaps nom. sing. -en-i, gen. sing. -n-ies and -n-ies loc. pl. -n-i-su.

Differentiation of r-stems (§ 119 ff.). The original endings were doubtless nom. sing. -er-i, gen. sing. -r-ies, loc. pl. -r-i-su. Skr. da-tr-i Gr. δό-τειρα for do-tep-ia* Lat. da-tr-i-x, beside Skr. da-tár- Gr. δο-τήρ δω-τωρ Lat. da-tor 'giver'. Skr. jāni-tr-i Gr. γενέ-τειρα Lat. gene-tr-i-x 'mother'. Skr. bhar-tr-i Avest. *bar*pr-i* *ber*pr-i* 'supporter, mother'. Skr. s-tr-i Avest. s-tr-i 'wife, woman'. Skr. nē-tr-i 'she who guides', dēś-tr-i 'she who shows', cōdayi-tr-i 'she who drives on', dhō-tār-i f. 'shaking'. Gr. ἐνν-ή-τειρα and ἐνν-ή-το-ια 'wife', σω-τειρα 'saviour lady', ψάλ-το-ια 'guitar girl'; we also have -is -id-os, as ληστο-is 'female robber', ἀλε-το-is 'female miller', αὐλη-το-is (beside αὐλη-το-ια) 'flute-girl'. Lat. obstē-tr-i-x, mere-tr-i-x, impera-tr-i-x, cp. also the Osc. Fuu-tr-ci 'Creatrici, Genetrici'. It is still doubtful whether this Indo-Germanic formation in -tr-i- can be directly connected with the West-Germanic feminines like A.S. buecestre 'baker-woman', O.Sax. agastria 'magpie' O.H.G. wagastria 'lance', Goth. hōlf-tri f. 'coffin' and Lithuanian feminines like dukėlė 'children's attendant' (i. e. duk-klē*, from augu 'I grow up') perē-kle 'brood-hen' (see Kluge, Nom. Stamm. p. 24 and J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 29). They can also be explained as extensions of stems with the suffix -tro -tlo- (§ 62 p. 118 ff.).

Differentiation of nt-stems (§ 125 ff.). It is certain that the feminine participles of non-thematic tenses which end in a consonant had -nt- in all their cases, e. g. s-nt-i* f. 'being'; similarly the feminines of -gent-stems had -ynt-i-. On the other hand, we find -nt- throughout the paradigm in forms like Gr. ἄεσσα γροῦσα (from ἄημι 'I blow' ἐγρον 'I perceived') ground-forms uē-nt-i* gnō-nt-i* (for Skr. vāti, which seems to contradict this, see below). It is not clear how far there was any variation of ablaut in the elements immediately preceding the -i-suffix in the -o-nt- participles; but it is certain that -nt- sometimes appeared even here.

Skr. sat-i Avest. hait-i- Gr. Dor. ἑσσαι Att. οῦσαι O.C.Sl. sąšti, beside masc. Skr. s-ánt- etc. 'being', indic. 3. sing. Skr. is-ti 'is'. Skr. brhat-i Avest. ber'zaiti-, O.Ir. Brigti (O.Celt. Brigantiae dat. sing. with Latinised ending), from masc. Skr. brh-ánt- 'being great, exalted'. Skr. vānt-i (vāt-i Avest. vāiti- is no doubt a re-formation following the analogy of sat-i: sánt-am; see V. Henry, Revue Crit., 1887, p. 100), Gr. ἄεσσα, beside masc. Skr. vā-nt- Gr. ἄνς ἄενν- 'blowing'. Skr. tu-dā-nt-i and tudat-i beside tudā-nt- 'tundens', Gr. ἰδοῦσα beside ἰδών ἰδó-νν- 'beholding'. Skr. bhāra-nt-i Avest. bare-nt-i Gr. πέποισα O.C.Sl. berąšti, beside bhāra-nt- Gr. πέπων πέπο-νν- O.C.Sl. bery 'ferens'. Goth. hulund-i 'cave' ('covering, hiding'), frijōnd-i 'female friend'; the participles which were in actual use as such had passed over to the in-declension, as batrandei gen. batrandeins. Lith. sukant-i gen. sukancziōs from masc. sukās 'turning'. O.C.Sl. berąsti, instead of berąti*, where š has forced its way in from the other cases, as gen. berąštę; in these -št- came regularly from -ti- (I § 147 p. 132 f.).

-ynt-i. Skr. dpa-vati from dpa-vant- 'rich in water', Gr. ὀνό-σσα from ὀνό-τις ὀνό-νν- 'rich in sap'; in Greek -fēt- appears for Fur-, see § 127. Skr. sáras-vat-i 'rich in water' f. Avest. harazvaiti- O.Pers. harauvati-.

Differentiation of s-stems (§ 131 ff.).

-es-i. Skr. ródas-i from ródas- 'world', śavas-i f. 'the strong one' from śavas- 'strength'. Gr. Att. ἀναιδέια 'shamelessness' ἀληθεία 'truth' from ἀν-αυδής ἀληθής. Lat. temper-iēs from tempus.

The original forms of the part. perf. act. were doubtless nom. sing. -ues-i gen. sing. -us-iēs loc. pl. -us-i-su. Skr. vid-uš-i Avest. vid-uš-i- Gr. ιδ-νία, beside masc. Skr. vid-vān Avest. vid-vā Gr. ιδ-νός 'knowing'. Similarly Lith. vilk-us-i O.C.Sl. vlūk-ūši 'having drawn'. A feminine of this kind is implied in Goth. bēr-us-jōs 'parents' ('those who have borne'): on the model of the feminine (-usi* -usjōs) was formed a masculine with -ja-. It is natural to infer a nom. sing. -ues-i from the Gr. (Dor. Att.) by-forms in -(f)εία, as γεγον-εία, ἐρρηγ-εία: γεγονεία γεγονυιάς* was levelled on the hand to γεγονεία -είας, on the other to γεγονυία γεγονυιάς (cp. § 136 Rem. 2).

Similarly in primary comparative forms: -ues-i -is-iēs -is-i-su. Skr. jyā-yas-i from jyā-yān 'mightier'. Avest. frā-yah-i- from frā-yā 'more', an isolated -iši is perhaps contained in Skr. māhiṣi mahiṣi beside māh-tyas-i; see J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 386. Goth. jūh-iz-ei 'younger' (cp. batrandei p. 337). O.C.Sl. boljiši beside neut. bolje 'greater': nom. boljiši gen. boljiše instead of bolješi* bolīše* (cp. § 135 Rem. 1).

Differentiation of o-stems (§ 59 ff.). -i- was in use as well as -a- in proethnic Indo-Germanic. Skr. vyk-i O.Icel. yig-r O.H.G. wulpa 'she-wolf' (pr. Germ. mul-b-i* mulz(u)jōs*, I § 444 p. 329), beside Skr. vfka-s Goth. vulf-s 'wolf'; cp. also A.S. wylf f. beside wulf. Skr. dēv-i 'goddess' Avest. dāvo-i 'witch' Gr. ἴα 'divine lady' for ἰι-f-ια* Lith. deiv-ė 'ghost' dėv-ė 'goddess', beside Skr. dēv-ā-s Lith. dėv-a-s 'god'. Skr. pīvar-i Gr. πίσαρα, beside pī-varā-s Gr. πιερός 'fat' (cp. § 74 p. 182, § 76 Rem. 1 p. 201). Skr. dat-i 'female messenger' from dātā-s 'messenger', yam-i from yamā-s 'akin'. Gr. ἐταίρα 'female companion' instead of ἐταίρα*, beside ἐταρός 'companion' (Wheeler, Nominal acc. 59). Goth. þiv-i, gen. þiu-fōs, 'female servant', beside þiu-s, gen. þivis, 'servant', O.Icel. mer-r 'mare' beside mar-r 'horse'.

Sporadic examples. Sanskrit. nap-tī 'female descendant' O.H.G. nift (Goth. nift-i*) 'neptis, privigna', beside Skr. nāpāt- 'offspring'. Skr. -ghn-ti beside -han- 'killing'. Greek. μῦα for μυσ-χα* Lith. mus-ẽ 'fly', beside Lat. mus-ca. θησσα 'female labourer' for θητ-χα*, beside masc. θης, gen. θητ-ός. πέζα (for πεδ-χα*) 'foot, lowest part', beside πούς 'foot' (cp. § 160, 1). πίσσα Att. πίττα 'pitch' (for πικ-χα*), beside Lat. pix. κίσσα Att. κίττα 'jay' (for κικ-χα*), beside Skr. kiki-ś 'jay'. φάσσα (for φακ-χα*), 'wild pigeon', beside φάψ (gen. φαβ-ός) the same, cp. I § 486 Rem. p. 359, § 495 Rem. 364. μῦα, gen. μῦς, 'una' for σμ-τ-*, beside ἐν- (nom. ἐνς εἷς) 'unus' for sem-* (I § 204 p. 172, II § 160, 1). Latin. pauper-iēs-s beside pauper, like barbar-iēs-s beside barbaru-s. O.Ir. s-i 'ea' Goth. s-i 'ea': cp. Skr. s-yā. sētig 'female companion, wife' for sentic-ti*. Gothic. vas-t-i 'garment', hvoḥ-t-uli 'fame'; A.S. hunticge 'huntress' beside hunta 'hunter' and the like, see Kluge, Nom. Stammb. p. 22. Lithuanian. žēm-e O.C.Sl. zem(t)-ja 'earth', beside Skr. kṣām-jm- Av. z'm- Gr. χθών (I § 204 p. 172, II § 160, 2). Lith. szi O.C.Sl. si 'haec' beside szi-s si 'hic' (gen. sziō, sego instead of sego*). Lith. pañ, gen. pacziōs, 'lady, ipsa', beside masc. pai-s (pāts) gen. patls. Lith. marñ, gen. marcziōs 'bride'. O.C.Sl. ladiji (aladiji) 'ship', and with masculine gender (which is not original) baliji 'physician' sadiji 'judge' (cp. the Slavonic masculines in -a, § 59 p. 109); -ji- like -xi- (Lith. mō-jī-s) p. 122 footnote 2 and -jin- § 115 (under Aryan).

§ 111. Of the words in which -t- appears to be a primary suffix, none show it in more than one language simultaneously. Examples are: Skr. śām-t 'work'. śac-t 'strength'.

Gr. φύζα 'flight' for φυγ-χα*. οξύζα 'wood split small, billet' for οξύδ-χα*.

Lat. ac-iēs. scab-iēs-s. spec-iēs-s. prō-geniēs. dī-luviō-s.

Lith. žinē 'knowledge'. srov-ẽ 'stream'. rėk-ẽ 'slice of bread'. dėb-ẽ 'hollow, pit'.

Many examples are doubtful, as Gr. ῥῆσα 'rumour, prophecy'

(beside ᾠή 'voice, speech'), μοῖρα 'appropriate share, fate' (beside μῦθος 'lot, fate'), Goth. bāndi 'bond, chain' (beside O.H.G. O.Sax. bān n. 'bond').

V. Suffixes in *-n*¹).

§ 112. The parent language had four suffixes ending in a nasal: -en-, -ien-, -uen-, *-men-*²). They have a good deal in common with -o-, -io- -i- -i-, -uo- -u-, -mo-, and it is not improbable that the forms -ien-, -uen- and -men- were formed in the proethnic period merely by the addition of -(e)n- to such older suffixes.

This process of extension can be seen at work in the separate languages as well; and we must there regard it as a continuation, or renewal, of a tendency which first appeared in proethnic times. Compare, for instance, the development of the n-declension in Germanic.

The oldest point of contact between the four n-suffixes and the corresponding o-suffixes is found in the representation of n-stems by o-stems in compound words, which began in the proethnic period; e. g. Gr. αἶμο-βασίς and ἄν-αιμο-; beside αἷ-μα (ἄν-αἵμα); further examples are given in § 12 p. 26 f. This shews that there were even then many parallel stems in -n- and -o- with no difference of meaning; for some reason or other the o-form of these words was preferred in composition, and by degrees this established a general rule for compounds of -n-stems. Another principle of formation, exemplified in most of the languages in forms like Skr. āśm-īya-s beside āś-man-, Gr. χειμ-ιη beside χει-μα χει-μῶν, seems to have arisen in the proethnic period. Further in almost all the languages, in some of them very frequently, we find parallel forms in -n- and -o- each of which is completely declined, some of them indeed having a slight difference of meaning (to this point we shall return later on); e. g. Skr. vāk-van- and vāk-va- 'turning, rolling' (intr.), dhār-man- and dhār-ma- 'law, ordinance', Gr. στράβ-ων 'squinter' and στραβ-ός 'squinting', οὐραν-ίων 'heavenly being' and οὐράν-ιος 'heavenly', ἐθελη-μων and ἐθελη-μός 'willing', Lat. in-cub-ō and in-cub-u-s, lan-iō and lan-iu-s, alluvi-ō and alluv-iu-m, Goth. sa ráuda 'the red one' and ráuþ-s 'red', in-gard-ja 'member of a household' and in-gard-ja- 'in a house' (adj.), O.Fris. ēth-ma beside O.S. athom 'breath', O.C.Sl. ra-mę beside ra-mo 'shoulder'. And it often happens that the two forms do not appear in the same branches of the Indo-Germanic family; e. g. Goth. ga-juk-a 'companion' beside Lat. con-jug-u-s, Skr. dy-un- 'life, time of life' Gr. αἰ-(φ)ών 'space of time, eternity' and Lat. ae-vo-m, Gr. πυθ-μήν 'ground, earth' and O.H.G. bodam 'ground'.

The Author, Die schwache Form der Nominalstämme auf -n in suffixalen Weiterbildungen und Zusammensetzungen, Morph. Unt. II 148 ff.

2) One form with n is quite unique; ghnem-* ghnem-* (Avest. zyā Lat. hiem-s), which, having due regard to Skr. hēman Gr. χρῖ-μα, we ought apparently to divide ghn-em-* ghn-em-*. I have attempted to explain this rare word in § 160, 2.

In Aryan, single cases of the -o- -ā- -i- -u- -ī- and -r- stems were transferred into the inflexion of the n-declension; e. g. Skr. nom. acc. neut. yugāni (from sing. yugā-m 'yoke', on the analogy of ndman-i), gen. pl. Skr. dēvānam Avest. dāvvanqm (Skr. dēvā-s 'god'). See J. Hanusz, Über das allmähliche Umsichgreifen der n-Declination im Altindischen (Sitzungsberichte der Wiener Akad. d. Wiss. CX.), 1885. Similarly in West Germanic we have O.H.G. gen. pl. gebōno (from nom. sing. geba f. 'gift').

The words formed with these suffixes are generally masculine or neuter, as Skr. tākṣ-an- m. 'carpenter' yak-ān- n. 'liver'.

A large group of feminines appears in Italic, Celtic, and Germanic consisting of abstract substantives formed with -ien- (-iōn-); as Lat. cap-iō men-tiō, O.Ir. er-mitiu 'honour', Goth. ga-run-jō 'flood of water' ra-þjō 'ratio'. It may be assumed that these n-stems, which represent a comparatively modern stratum of formation, owe their feminine gender to their character of abstract nouns. And all the other feminine n-stems which appear in Germanic, are as such undoubtedly modern; they are due to a connexion which grew up between the Indo-Germanic suffixes -ōn -iōn -īn and the Germanic feminine forms in -ō -iō (= Idg. -ā -iā) and -ī, through the analogy of the relation between Germ. -an -ian on the one hand and Germ. -a on the other. In many words, where the languages vary between masculine and feminine, the masculine is clearly the older; this is true of Skr. sī-mān 'boundary' (cp. § 117), Gr. κίον 'pillar', Lat. margō. In Skr. yōṣan f. 'virgin' (beside yōṣa yōṣanā) the gender was determined by the sex. In Skr. vṛṣanā tvācam acc. 'streaming, raining cloud', Gr. ἀρηγὼν θιά 'adiutrix dea' τρήσαν πέλεια 'timid dove', as in the case of Skr. tamī-ṣ Gr. ῥόδύς, we see the masculine form used unaltered in connexion with feminine words (§ 110 p. 335). And in other examples there are similar reasons for regarding the feminine gender as a modern developement so that we may fairly assume that nouns formed with n-suffixes were originally only masculine and neuter. For the feminine there was the special form with -ī, as Skr. takṣ-n-ī Gr. τέκτ-αινα, § 110 p. 335.

§ 113. From the earliest times the n-suffixes show a very complex variation of Ablaut. What are called the strong cases had -en -on -ēn -ōn, -ien -ion -iēn -iōn (-ijen -izon etc.) and so forth; the weak cases -n -y, -in (-in) -iy (-iyy), -un (-ān) -uy (-uuy), -mn -my.

In the weak cases, the form of the suffix ending in a consonant preceded the case-endings beginning with a sonant, e. g. Skr. gen. sing. takṣ-n-as 'of the carpenter' nā-mn-as 'of the name'; and conversely the form ending in a sonant preceded the case-endings beginning with a consonant, e. g. loc. pl. takṣ-a-su nā-ma-su (-a -ma for -y -my). Originally also the weak form of the suffix was regular in all extensions of the stem, e. g. takṣ-n-ī fem. of takṣan (§ 110 p. 335), yuva-śā-s 'youthful' from yuv-an 'young' (§ 83 p. 251), śrā-ma-ta-m 'hearing' beside Avest. srao-man 'hearing' (§ 82 p. 249). This deserves especial notice, because in several languages the weak forms of the suffix were banished from the actual declension by levelling and other kinds of re-formation, so that it is only in derivatives that we have any evidence to shew that such forms ever existed in the paradigm. Thus we have e. g. Gr. γειτ-ν-ία 'neighbourhood' beside γειτ-ων -ον-ος, πτ-(f)αίνω 'I make fat' for -μπ-ῖδ-* beside πτ-(f)ων -(f)ον-ος, ποι-μν-η ποι-μν-ιο-ν 'herd' ποι-μαίνω 'I pasture' beside ποι-μῆν -μῆν-ος, Lat. jū-n-ī-x beside juv-en- (juv-en-is juv-en-um etc.), colu-mn-a beside colu-men -min-is, O.H.G. -birn 'she-bear' beside ber-o -in 'bear', hliu-mun-t 'call' beside Goth. hliu-ma -mun-s 'hearing', Lith. él-n-i-s 'stag, elk' beside O.C.Sl. jelen- (gen. sing. jelen-e) 'stag'.

It is more difficult to determine how the strong forms of the suffix were originally distributed. The following points may be regarded as certain.

1. The nom. sing. masc. (fem.) ended sometimes in -ō(n), and sometimes in -ē(n), cp. Armen. šun Gr. κνί-ων πτ-(f)ων ἄκ-μων, Lat. ed-ō men-tiō ter-mō O.Ir. cū er-mi-tiu brithem Gall. casa-mo, O.H.G. egg-o skī-mo, Lith. szū for szū ak-mū* O.C.Sl. ka-my and Gr. αἰχ-ήν ποι-μῆν, Lat. li-en, O.Icel. ox-e ux-e (Skr. ukṣ-ā) skī-me.

2. The nom. acc. neut. had -ō(n) and -ē(n) beside -ῖ -ῑ, cp. Goth. vat-ō na-mō haiti-ōn-a, Lith. vand-ū (originally neut.) and O.C.Sl. i-me (cp. Avest. nā-maṇ Skr. nā-mān-i).

3. A certain number of masculine stems had in the acc. sing. and nom. du. pl. -en-, cp. Gr. αἰχ-έρ-α ποι-μῆν-α, Lith. pē-men-ī O.C.Sl. ka-men-ī (compare the exceptional forms ukṣ-ān-am arya-mān-am in Sanskrit).

4. There were locatives singular in -en -en-i, cp. Gr. αἰχ-έρ-ν-ι αἰ-(f)έν ποι-μῆν-ι δό-μιν, Goth. aihs-in (cp. Skr. ukṣ-ān-i nā-man-i).

Further the following assumptions seem to me probable.

1. A certain proportion of the masculine stems had -on- in acc. sing. and nom. du. pl., cp. Gr. τέκτ-ον-α πτ-(f)ον-α ἄκ-μων-α, Gall. Ling-ōn-es (nom. pl.), Goth. ah-an ah-man, Skr. takṣ-ān-am āś-mān-am. The variation between e and o in these cases, like that between ē and ō in the nom. sing., depended upon the different position of the accent in the word; we have e. g. nom. pl. -ēn-es and '-on-es like nom. sing. -ē(n) and '-ō(n), cp. Gr. φρ-ίτ-ης, φρ-ήτ as contrasted with ἄ-φρ-ον-της, ἄ-φρ-ων. Cp. I § 311 p. 248 f.

2. The loc. sing. always ended in -en or -en-i, even where the strong cases had -on-. Notice especially the Goth. loc. ah-in ah-min contrasted with acc. ah-an ah-man, as Skr. rājan-i: rāj-an-am. Compare also Gr. αἰ(τ)έρ αἰ(τ)οίρ.

In certain instances, the ō (and ē?) which appear in the European languages in other cases than the nom. sing. masc. and the nom. acc. sing. and pl. neut., had perhaps encroached upon the province of the other forms of ablaut before the end of the proethnic period (should we regard this as a dialectic variation in the parent language?); cp. e. g. acc. sing. Gr. οὐραν-ων-α, Lat. libell-iōn-em rat-iōn-em, Goth. ga-run-jōn ra-þjōn, O.C.Sl. nom. pl. graždun-e for gord-īan-e(s)*. Yet this form of the stem cannot have spread through the whole case-system, as we see from such forms as Umbr. abl. tribris-in-e na-tin-c, O.Ir. dat. er-mit-in.

We should compare with this the ablaut of the -er- and *-ter-*stems, which is on the whole parallel; see § 120.

Remark. For different views as to the strong forms see Collitz, Bezenberger's Beitr. X 1 ff., and the authorities there cited. It is perhaps not superfluous to insist here that even if Collitz should be right in supposing the existence of Indo-Germanic locatives in -on(-i) (cp. Gr. ἄφοι), this would not be an argument against the hypothesis that in open syllables Idg. o became ā in Aryan. For the n-stems had originally locatives without i, and e. g. Skr. loc. kar-man can be derived as regularly from original -mon* as from original -men*.

§ 114. The Suffix -en-. This was used from the earliest period to form primary nomina agentis, as Skr. tákṣ-an- Gr. τεῦκ-ων 'carpenter, worker in wood, architect'. The root-syllable is usually in the weak grade, but the accent varies between the suffix and the root; cp. Skr. ukṣ-ān- beside utṣ-an-, Gr. -φρ-ήν (πολύ-φρην) gen. ἀφ-ρός and φay-ών 'jawbone' beside ἄφρ-ην and σφαβ-ών, Germ. tuz-ēn-* beside tūχ-en-* (O.H.G.

heri-zogo and heri-zoho), ruð-én-* (O.Icel. eið-rofe) beside ris-en-* (O.H.G. beti-riso). Cp. Kauffmann, Paul-Braune's Boitr. XII 544. The -en- stems were substantives when there were adjectives in -o- parallel to them, and hence in some groups of languages, particularly in Germanic, this suffix acquired the function of forming substantives from any given adjective; it had the effect of specialising the idea conveyed by the adjective, by applying it to some one person or thing that possessed the particular quality in an exceptional degree. Hence it is often found in personal names, whether they were formed from a noun consisting of a single stem, or obtained by abbreviation from a compound consisting of two stems (cp. § 18 p. 34 and Osthoff, Forsch. auf dem Geb. der Idg. Nominalstambildung, II 50 f.) Thus Gr. στραβ-ός 'squinting': στράβων 'squinter', Σιράβων proper name, Lat. multi-bib-u-s. bibō, rūf-u-s: Rūf-ō, Goth. rauf-s 'red'· rānd-a 'the red one', Lith. rūd-a-s 'reddish brown': rud-ũ m. 'autumn'. Thus -en- came to be used as a secondary suffix, as Avest. mar'-t-an- 'mortal' (subst.) beside mar'-ta- 'mortal', Gr. τηγ-ρ-ων πίληα beside τηγ-ρός 'timorous, shy', Lat. Ca-t-ō beside ca-tu-s. Cp. further Lat. hom-ō Goth. gum-a O.Lith. žm-ũ 'human being, man', properly 'the earthly one', beside Skr. kṣám- jñ- Avest. z'm- Gr. χθών Lat. hum-u-s, Gr. γάστρον 'glutton' from γαστήρ 'belly', Lat. cachinn-ō from cachinnu-s, capit-ō Capit-ō from caput, Goth. vaurstv-a 'worker' from vaurstv 'work'.

Almost all the neuter forms containing -en- denoted some part of the body (cp. § 57 p. 105). In some of them, as we shall see -en- was a secondary suffix.

Indo-Germanic. Masculine. Skr. tákṣ-an- (-ān-am) Gr. τέκτ-ων (ov-os), beside Skr. tákṣ-a-ti 'does carpenter's work'. Skr. ukṣ-án- (-ān-am) Mod.Cymr. ych (pl. ychen) Goth. aúhs-a 'ox', orig. 'the impregnator', beside Skr. ukṣ-á-ti 'emanat, emicat'. Avest. arš-an- (-ān-em) 'male, man', Skr. ṛṣā-bhá-s 'bull', for ṛs-ṇ-bho-s*, Armen. gen. ar'n 'of the man' (nom. air), Gr. ἄρσ-ην ἄρρ-ην Ion. ἔρρ-ην (-ev-os) 'male', orig. 'making fruitful', beside Skr. árṣ-a-ti 'flows, streams'; cp. Skr. vṛṣ-an (-ān-am) 'man, bull', beside várṣ-a-ti makes to stream, rains'. kū-en-* kūy-en-* (kū-n-* kū-y-* kūy-y-*) 'dog' (according to Benfey 'that which produces young often and in great numbers' compared with Gr. κύ-ος 'fetus' Skr. śi-śu-ś 'young creature'): Skr. śv-án- śuv-án- (acc. sing. śv-án-am gen. sing. śu-n-as loc. pl. śv-á-su), Armen. šun gen. šan (I § 405 p. 301), Gr. κύ-ων (voc. κύ-ον gen. κύ-ν-ός), O.Ir. cū (gen. con), Lith. szū (gen. szu-ñ-s). Avest. spas-an- 'watchman' O.H.G. speho 'spy', √ spek-. Lat. ed-ō (-ōn-is), O.H.G. egg-o 'devourer', √ ed-. Lat. as-sedō cōn-sedō (-ōn-is), O.H.G. ana-sezzo 'assessor' O.Icel. drótt-sete 'lord high steward', √ sed-.

Denominatives. hom-ō (-ōn-is -in-is) Goth. gum-a O.Lith. *žm-ũ*¹⁾ 'human being, man', see above. Gr. ζούγ-ων-ερ (= Att. ζυγ-ων-ες*). βόες ἐργάται. Ἀάκωνες Hesych., Goth. ga-juka 'comparison', beside ζυγό-ν juk 'yoke'.

In some Indo-Germanic words in which -en- is primary there is no trace of any original use as nomen agentis. iyū-en-* iū-n-* iyū-y-* 'young, young man': Skr. yūv-an- (acc. sing. yūv-ān-am gen. sing. yū-n-as loc. pl. yūv-a-su), Lat. yuv-en- (-en-is), cp. also the form iyū-y-kó-s* which is more widely used, § 83 p. 251; the word is no doubt connected with Lith. jaũ O.C.Sl. ju 'already' see § 66 ad fin. p. 149²⁾. Skr. áś-an- 'stone, sling-stone', Gr. ἄξ-ων (-οντ-ος, by a change of declension, see p. 350) 'javelin', cp. also Gr. ἀν-όρ-η 'whetstone' and ἄκ-αινα 'point, thorn'. Skr. mārdh-án- m. A.S. mold-a m. 'head' (ground-form mīdh-en-* mīdh-en-*, cp. also I § 306 p. 243). Skr. plīh-án- plīh-an- plīh-an- Lat. li-en (-ēnis) 'spleen' are among the neuter words which denote parts of the body.

Neuter. Skr. ud-án-, Goth. vat-ō, Lith. vand-ũ and und-ũ (which have become masc.), Gr. ῥδ-α-ρο- with α = y (nom. ῥδ-ωρ), 'water'. Skr. ūdh-an- (nom. ūdh-ar) Gr. οἰθ-α-ρο- (nom. οἰθ-αρ) 'udder'. Skr. yak-án- Gr. ῆν-α-ρο- (nom. ῆν-αρ) Lat. jec-in- (in jecin-or-is etc., the -or- having forced its way in from the nom. jec-ur, cp. also I § 431 c. p. 321) Lith. jėkn-os f. pl. 'liver'. -en- was secondary in the word for head: Skr. śīrṣ-ān- n. Gr. κράα n. for κράα-a* (-a = -y), ἀμφι-κράα-ος 'two-headed' for κράα-ο-ο-*, κράα-ον 'head' for κράα-ο-ο-ν* (cp. the Author, Morph. Unt. II 173 f. 227 ff., Solmsen, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 69, Danielsson, Gramm. und etymolog. Stud. I, 1888, p. 40 ff.), Lat. cernuo-s for cers-n-uo-s*, O.Icel. hjars-e m. 'head'; the words contain a neuter stem ker-es-* (kyr-es-* kr-es-*), cp. Skr. śīr-as- Av. sar-ah- 'head' Lat. cerebru-m for ceres-ro-* (I § 570 p. 428) and below § 134. In like manner, Gr. οὔα-ο n. for ous-y-to-* Goth. áus-ō n. 'ear' no doubt implies a neuter *-es-*stem, which appears in Greek in the nom. οὖς Dor. ῶς, if this represents ou-os* and not ous-os* (O.C.Sl. uch-o) (J. Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 141, Solmsen ibid. 92). Skr. akṣ-ān- Armen. ak-n Goth. áug-ō (cp. I § 444 Rem. 3, p. 331) 'eye', O.C.Sl. ok-n-o n. 'window' ¹). For the use of *-i-*stems to supplement these neuters in -en- as Skr. ákṣ-i gen. akṣ-ṇ-ás, see § 93 p. 279. For the nominatives in r, like Skr. údh-ar, see § 118.

1) žm-onā 'wife' and žm-ōnės 'human beings' are not parallel to this but contain the suffix of the Latin hūm-ānu-s (cp. § 160).

2) I see little probability in Danielsson's assumption (Gramm and etymol. Stud. I 49) that the word is merely an ablaut-variant of Gr. αἰ(φ)ν-ρ Skr. āyun-.

If the Greek infinitives in -ειν (Dor. Lesb. ην), like φέρειν 'to bear', are to be derived from -εσεν* (which is more in accordance with known phonetic laws than to assume they came from -ε-fer*), we may infer an Indo-Germanic inf. in -s-en* -s-en-i*, which was loc. sing. Compare the Skr. inf. in -s-an-i, as nē-ś-ān-i from nē- 'lead', gr-ṇ-ś-ān-i beside gar- (pres. gr-nā-mi) 'praise'.

Aryan. Masculines (and the few Feminines that occur) are rare in Aryan as compared with the classical languages, Celtic and Germanic. Skr. tákṣ-an- 'carpenter' Avest. taś-an-

1) The ś of Skr. akṣ-ān- presents certain difficulties. It has been assumed that this is also an extension of an *-es-*stem (cp. O.C.Sl. oko gen. očas-e); but this theory is not supported by Avest. aši- = Skr. akṣi- (cp. I § 401 with Rem. 1 p. 296 f., § 556, 1 p. 411; it must be admitted however that ś is sometimes written for aś, see Bartholomae, Handbuch § 100 Rem. 2 p. 43) nor by Gr. Boeot. ὀκταλλο-ς 'eye' (cp. I § 554 p. 408). Compare also I § 427 Rem. 2 p. 314.

'sculptor', see above p. 345. Skr. ukṣ-án- Avest. uxš-an- 'ox'; see above p. 345. Skr. śv-án- Avest. sp-an- 'dog' see above p. 346. Skr. yúv-an- Avest. yo-an- (read yuvan-, Bartholomae's Hdb. § 91 a p. 40) 'young, young man'; see above, p. 346. Skr. ás-an- Avest. as-an- 'stone'; see above, p. 346. Skr. rāj-an- 'king' beside rāj-án- 'government': cp. O.Ir. rīgain § 110 p. 335; cp. also Lat. rēgnu-m § 65 Rem. p. 139. Skr. mūrdh-án- (-án-am) 'head': A.S. mold-a, see above p. 346. Skr. vi-bhṛ-án- vi-bhṛ-an- 'excellent' beside vi-bhṛ- and vi-bhṛ-a-, words of similar meaning. Avest. arš-an- 'male, man' O.Pers. xšayāršan- 'Xerxes' (for xšaya- 'ruler' + aršan-), see above, p. 345.

In Avestic there are a few examples of -en- in secondary use: mar't-an- beside mar'-ta- 'mortalis'. puṣr-an- 'father of a family' beside pu-pra- 'son'. vīs-an- 'member of a clan' beside vīs- 'clan'. hazarah-an- 'robber' beside hazah- 'deed of violence'. Forms like these originally existed in Sanskrit¹), but they were driven out by the forms in -m-, see § 115.

Remark 1. In Sanskrit, the nom. sing. in -ū sometimes led to a transference to the ū-declension; e. g. plih-ū- f. beside plih-an-. Cp. -mā § 117 Rem 2, -ta § 122 Rem. 1, and Gr.Ion πάτηρ, which in the oldest period was neuter (see p. 347 above), but appears later as feminine (gen. πάτερ; etc.).

Neuters. Skr. ud-án- údḥ-an- and other words; see above, p. 346. Skr. mah-án- 'size': compare no doubt Gr. μέγας 'magnum', which must be a substantive used adjectivally (μέγας; μέγαν are later forms). dadh-án- 'sour milk' (nom. dádhi): cp. Pruss. dadān 'milk' (an a-stem?). asth-án- 'bone' (ásthi), saktḥ-án- 'thigh' (sákthi), as-án- 'mouth', dōṣ-án- 'fore-arm', cákṣan- 'eye' (cp. akṣ-án-). áh-an- 'day' (nom. áhar), gámbh-an- 'depth'. Avest. ay-an- 'day' (beside ay-ar'), nānḥ-an- 'nose'.

Armenian. arṇ 'of the man' (Avest. arš-nō), see p. 345 above. šun, gen. šan, 'dog', see p. 346 above. akn, gen. akan,

1) The assumption of a nom. sing. krāṇā in Vedic (stem krāṇ-an-), from krāṇá- 'working, active', is based upon a wrong view of the particular passages where the word occurs.

'eye', see p. 347 above. gar̃n, gen. gar̃in, 'Lamb' for gar̃-en-*: Skr. úr-an-a-s 'ram' (transferred to the o-declension), Gr. -φ-ην in πολύ-ρρην 'rich in sheep' nom. ἀρ̃ήν gen. ἀρ-ν-ός etc. 'ram' (I § 290 p. 232, § 291 p. 233). eln, gen. elin, 'stag': O.C.Sl. jel-en- (gen. jeln-e) 'stag'; it is also found in the extended forms Gr. ἐλ-α-φος 'stag' ἐλλός 'young stag' for ἐλ-ν-ος* (I § 204 p. 170 f., II § 78 p. 216), Mod.Cymr. elain 'hind', Lith. él-n-i-s, gen. élnio, 'stag, elk'.

Greek. The masculine (rarely feminine) -en- stems are numerous. Through the generalisation of certain forms of the suffix five types of inflexion arose: ἀρ-ν- 'ram' (acc. ἄρ-ν-α gen. ἀρ-ν-ός)¹; ἀδ-έν- 'gland' ἄρσ-εν- 'male' (ἀδ-έν-α -έν-ος, ἄρσ-εν-α -εν-ος); ἀηδ-όν- 'nightingale' τέκτ-ον- 'carpenter' (ἀηδ-όν-α -όν-ος, τέκτ-ον-α -ον-ος); πευθ-ήν- 'inquirer' (πευθ-ήν-α -ήν-ος); ἀγ-ών- 'struggle' κλύδ-ων- 'wave' (ἀγ-ών-α -ών-ος, κλύδ-ων-α -ων-ος). No difference of function however was attached to these different forms of the suffix.

Nomina agentis. τίντ-ων, ἄρσ-ην, ρύ-ων, see above p. 345 f. ἀρρη-ών (-όν-) 'helping, helper'. ψυθ-ών (-όν-) 'liar, slanderer'. φαγ-ών (-όν-) 'jawbone' (φαγ-εῖν 'to eat'). τρογ-ών (-όν-) f. 'turtle-dove' (τρούζειν 'to coo'). κραγ-ών (-όν-) f. 'jay' (κραῖζω 'I cry'). αῖθ-ων (-ον- and -ων-) 'burning'. στράβ-ων (-ων-) 'squinter'. γνίφ-ων (-ων-) 'niggard'. σκήπτ-ων or σκήμπ-ων (-ων-) 'staff' (σκήμπ-τω 'I support'). γρυυγ-ών (-ών-) 'cryer, wood-pecker'. πευθ-ήν (-ήν-) 'inquirer'. Often it is used as a denominative suffix, denoting one who stands in some special relation to what is denoted by the original word. τρήρων (-ων-) epithet of the dove, 'little trembler' beside τρη-ρός 'timorous'. πῶρδ-ων (-ων-) 'pēditor', beside πορδῆ 'pēditum'. κίβδ-ων (-ων-) 'workman who purifies metals from the dross', beside κίβδη 'dross'. δρόμ-ων (-ων-) 'runner', term applied to a light kind of ship and a kind of lobster, beside δρόμο-ς 'course'. γάστρ-ων (-ων-) 'glutton', beside γαστήρ 'paunch'. γνάθ-ων (-ων-) 'thick-cheek, puff-cheek', beside γνάθος 'cheek'. φύσκων (-ων-) 'fat-paunch, pot-belly', beside φύσκη 'stomach, great-gut'. We should add a number of personal names, such as Στράβων (στράβων, στραβός), Χρέμων (cp. O.H.G. Grimmo), Ἀγάθων (ἀγαθός), Φίλων (φίλος), Δρόμων (δρόμων, δρόμο-ς), Λύκων (cp. O.H.G. Wolfo).

1) The nom. ἀρ̃ήν occurs in an Att. inscr. earlier than 450 B. C., C.I.A. I 4, 22.

Other *-en-*stems are more isolated, and it is not clear how they are to be connected with the different uses of the suffix which we can trace in the parent language. Acc. πύκν-α gen. πύκν-ός (nom. πνώξ is a new formation) a place of public assembly in Athens (cp. the Author, Morph. Unt. II 169). τέρην (-εν-) 'tender'. αὐχ-ήν (-έν-) 'neck'. εἰκ-ών (-όν-) 'image'. σταγ-ών (-όν-) f. 'drop'. πηγ-ών (-όν-) f. 'length of an ell'. ἀγ-ών (-ών-) 'contest'. κλύδ-ων (-ων-) 'wave, billow'. λειχ-ήν (-ήν-) 'scab, eruption'.

In consequence of the similar termination of the nom. -ων, stems of this kind sometimes followed the inflexion of stems in -οντ-. ἄκ-ων, see above, p. 346. Θεράπ-ων (-οντ-) 'servant' beside Θεράπ-ν-η Θεράπ-αινα 'maid-servant'. λέων (-οντ-) 'lion' beside λείο-παρδο-ς 'leopard' (like αἶμο-βαφής ἀκμό-θετο-ν § 112 p. 340), λείαινα 'lioness' and Lat. leō (-ον-). Cp. the Author, Morph. Unt. II 168 f. 197.

The neuters were associated with the neuter stems in -μεν- and -μεν- and all alike underwent a change of inflexion due originally to their extension by the suffix -το-. See § 82 p. 250. κάρᾱ 'head' for *καρᾱσ-α gen. καρᾱ-τός, κρή-δεμνο-ν 'head-band'; ὕδ-α-τος, nom. ὕδ-ωρ 'water'; οὐθ-α-τος, nom. οὐθ-αρ udder'; ἥπ-α-τος, nom. ἥπ-αρ 'liver'; οὖ-α-τος ὠ-τός, nom. οὖς 'ear'; see p. 347 above. ἄλειφ-α (also ἄλειφ-αρ), gen. -α-τος, 'oil for anointing', like Lat. ungu-en.

Infinitives in -ειν for -ειεν-; for these forms see above, p. 347. It is possible, but it can hardly be proved, that the Doric infinitives like φέρειν are the locatives of an abstract root-noun in -εν- (ἄγ-ειν for instance, beside ἀγ-ών, as αἰ-(f)έν beside αἰ-(f)ών, § 116).

Italic. Masculine (rarely feminine) -en- stems are numerous. Lat. car-ō car-n-is f., Umbr. kar-u 'pars' kar-n-e 'carne earn' Osc. car-n-eis 'partis', beside Umbr. kar-tu 'dividito, distributo': O.Ir. car-n-a 'flesh'. Lat. hom-ō -ōn-is and -in-is, Umbr. hom-on-us (ō) 'hominibus' Osc. humuns (ū) nom. 'homines': Goth. gum-a etc., see p. 346. Umbr. abr-un-u (ū) 'aprum' (like Lat. burdō beside burdu-s and the like); cp. Lat. aprun-culu-s. Osc. sverrun-éi (ū) dat. sing. the title of a magistrate.

If we except *carō*¹⁾, the different forms of the suffix were levelled in Latin in such a way that all the cases but the nom. sing. had either -en- -in- or -ōn-. -en- is found only in juven-, but there it is not phonetically regular, see I § 65 Rem. 3 p. 53. We cannot determine how far Lat. -in- represents Idg. -en- or Idg. -on- respectively.

In Latin it forms primary nomina agentis, all with -ōn-. ed-ō ed-ōn-is, as-sedō, see p. 346 above. in-cub-ō: O.H.G. hūf-o 'heap'. ger-ō. vol-ō. bib-ō. rap-o. mand-ō. err-ō. -ōn- is also found in denominatives, some of which are also nomina agentis, while some denote persons or things which stand in some other special relation to the thing denoted by the original word; such formations were suggested by groups of words like cachinn-ō beside cachinnāre cachinnu-s, fabul-ō beside fabulāri fabula and others. Examples are: gerr-ō from gerrae. simpul-ō from simpulu-m. mer-ō from meru-m. linte-ō from linteu-m. nebul-ō from nebula. bucc-ō from bucca. cox-ō from coxa. petr-ō from petra. strig-ō from striga. The same -ōn- forms many personal names, as Capit-ō from caput, Nās-ō from nāsu-s, Cat-ō from catu-s, Rūf-ō from rūfu-s. The following nouns denoting inanimate objects are nearly related to these appellatives: pīsō (-ōn- in oblique cases and so in all these words) 'mortar' (pī(n)sere), runc-ō 'hoe' (runcāre), sabul-ō 'coarse sand' from sabulu-m, pēr-ō 'a boot rather too loose at the top' from pēra (cp. O.H.G. gēro from gēr and the like p. 354); and no doubt pont-ō 'pontoon' from pōns. — In hom-ō -ōn- gave way to -in-, when the consciousness of its original meaning (see p. 346) had died out.

1) Cp. also cor-n- in cor-n-ix beside Umbr. cur-n-ac-o 'cornicem' Gr. κορ-ώρ-η 'crow'.

Other *-en-*stems are more isolated in point of meaning. juv-en- (nom. juven-i-s, see § 93 p. 281), cp. juven-cu-s Umbr. ivengar pl. 'juvencae' § 83 p. 251, juven-ta § 80 p. 239, jūn-t-a § 110 p. 335: Skr. yūv-an- etc., see p. 346. pect-en (-in-), li-en (-ēn-) (Skr. plih-ān-, p. 346), perhaps the Idg. nom. ended in -ēn*; cp. also sanguen, the older nom. of sangu-in-is etc., afterwards replaced by sanguin-s*, whence sanguīs. turb-ō (-in-). ōrd-ō (-in-). Some few were feminine, as aspergō (-in-), compagō (-in-), grandō (-in-, also m.), margo (-in-, also m.), virgō (-in-). Lastly, there are some masculines formed with -ōn-, which may or may not be connected with the class of -ōn- forms just discussed, as cūdō, carbō, truō.

Neuters. ungu-en (-in-) Umbr. um-en 'ungen' (umen is otherwise explained by Pauli, Altital. Stud. V 102 f.): O.Ir. imb imm, gen. imne (stem imb-en-) n., O.H.G. anch-o m. (no doubt originally neuter) 'butter'. ingu-en (-in-): Gr. ἀδ-ήν gen. ἀδ-ήν-ος 'gland', common ground-form ṛg-en-*, cp. also O.Icel. okk-r 'swelling'. pollen (-in-), originally pol-en* pol-n-is*; see I § 208 p. 175. jecur jecin-is* produced the form jecin-or-is; see above, p. 346 f.

Old Irish. The masculines (and the rarer feminines) have partly -on- (Gall. Língon-es, Senon-es and the like), partly -ōn-. We do not find any thing like a large group of nomina agentis

The following have pr. Celt. -on-, nom. sing. in -ō (cp. -tiu for -tiō, § 115). cū (pl. coin) Mod.Cymr. ci (pl. cwn) 'dog': Skr. śvā etc., see p. 346 above. esc-ung 'eel' ('bog-snake'): cp. Lat. angu-en n. beside angui-s. derucc (gen. derc-on) 'acorn'. Miliuc (gen. Milc-on), Glaisiuc, proper names. Cp. also triath, gen. trethan, 'sea' = Gr. Τρίτ-ων.

The following have pr. Celt. -ōn-, nom. sing. in -ōn-s* (cp. Osc. -iuf -iff, § 115 Rem. p. 360). ar-u (pl. arain) 'kidney' is no doubt to be compared with Lat. Praenest. nefrōn-ēs Lanuv. nebr-un-din-ēs, O.H.G. nior-o (pr. Germ. ne(z)ur-en-*) 'kidney', even though the form of the root-syllable in Celtic (Mod.Cymr. eirin) is difficult to explain. lecc-o 'cheek'. id-u 'pangs of travail'.

fiad-u 'witness'. lach-u 'duck'. Ān-u 'mater deorum Hibernensium'. Many of the substantives of this group were feminine; but I do not know how far the gender has been ascertained in particular instances.

It is not probable that ing-e 'nail' (gen. ingan) is a formation of the same sort as men-me 'mens' (gen. menman) for -men-s* (§ 117).

Remark 2. "It can scarcely be maintained that the word for 'nail' in O.Ir. was an n-stem. In any case Stokes' paradigm [Bezzenb Beitr. XI 92] does not agree with the facts in Old Irish. The following is much more likely; — Insular Celt. engūinā* Cymr ewin f, O Ir. nom. ingen, a gloss to 'ungula' (hitherto taken as gen. sing.), dat. ingin, dat pl. ingnib for inginaib*. In Mid Ir the word was declined, though not entirely, as an n-stem. The nom. sing. was inga inge just as persa = O Ir. persan (persona). For the nom. pl. we still have ingne, which is regularly developed from ingina*, but cannot be satisfactorily explained as any case of the n-inflection". Thurneysen Neut. imb 'butter': Lat. ungu-en etc., see above p. 352.

Germanic. Here the -en-suffix attained its widest use in a mass of new formations. Its fertility is especially remarkable in the class of nomina agentis and the nouns connected with them, in which -en- appears as a secondary suffix with what may be called an 'individualising' function, i. e. that of converting adjectives into substantives. Any adjective could be so converted by adding -en- to its stem. These derived forms were brought into close syntactical connexion with the definite article (demonstrative-stem to-*), and so arose what is known as the 'weak' declension of adjectives. Further Idg. and Germ. -ōn- was associated with Germ. -ō- (Idg. -ā-) on the analogy of the relation between Germ. -an- and -a-, and so a weak declension was developed for the adjectival ā-stems parallel to that of the o-stems.

Masculine. Nomina agentis. Goth. áuhs-a O.H.G. ohs-o O.Icel. ox-e ux-e 'ox': Skr. ukṣ-án- etc., see p. 345 above. O.H.G. speh-o egg-o -segg-o see p. 346 above. Goth. skul-a O.H.G. scol-o 'debtor'. Goth. un-vita 'ignorant one, fool' O.H.G. wizz-o 'knower, sage'. Goth. nuta 'fisher'. O.H.G. heri-zogo O.Icel.

her-toge 'duke' pr. Germ. tuz-én-* and O.H.G. heri-zoho pr. Germ. tiŕ-en-*. O.H.G. bot-o O.Icel. boð-e 'messenger'. O.H.G. geb-o O.Icel. -gjaf-e 'giver'. O.H.G. wār-queto 'veridicus' O.Icel. hröðr-lveðe* 'praedicator laudis' pr. Germ. kveð-én-*. Mid.H.G. schad-e O.Icel. skað-e 'damager' pr. Germ. skāp-en-*. Goth. han-a O.H.G. han-o 'cock', beside Lat. can-ere. O.H.G. sceid-o 'sequester'. Further we find denominative forms, some of them also nomina agentis, and some denoting persons or things which stand in some other special relation to the idea of the original word (including many epithetised compounds with ga-). Goth. gum-a O.H.G. gomo O.Icel. gum-e 'human being, man': Lat. hom-ō etc.; see above, p. 346. Goth. vaurstv-a 'worker' from vaurstv n. 'work'. Goth. spill-a 'announcer' from spill n. 'tale'. Goth. ga-razna 'neighbour' from vazn 'house'. O.H.G. stuur-o O.Icel. stjör-e 'steersman' from stiura f. 'rudder'. O.H.G. urteil-o 'judge' from urteil 'sentence'. O.H.G. hīw-o 'spouse' O.Icel. hý-e 'attendant' beside Goth. herv-a 'house'. O.H.G. heim-o 'cricket on the hearth' from heim 'house, home' O.H.G. gi-lanto 'fellow-countryman' from lant 'country' Further we have names of peoples, such as Teutōn-es, O.H.G. Sahso, Franko, and names of persons, such as O.H.G. Wolfo, Harto, Berhto. The following have a close connexion with the nomina agentis: A.S. drop-a 'drop' ('dripper'), O.H.G. chleb-o 'sticker, glue' and the like.

The following are substantives formed from adjectives: Goth. liuta 'hypocrite' from liut-s 'hypocritical', veiha 'priest' from veih-s 'holy', O.H.G. wīzago 'soothsayer' from wīzag 'marking, surmising', and others.

Through the popularity of the *-n-*declension substantival o-stems denoting persons were sometimes made into *-en-*stems without any alteration of meaning, e. g. Goth. svaithra beside O.H.G. swehur Skr. śvāśura-s Gr. ἐνυρό-ς 'father-in-law'.

We find another class of denominatives, akin to those already discussed, denoting objects of the same shape or form as the thing described by the original substantive (cp. Lat. sabulō, pērō p. 351). O.H.G. gēr-o O.Icel. geir-e 'wedge-shaped piece, instrument, or territory', from gēr 'spear'. A.S. mād-a

O.Icel. munu-e 'orifice', beside muð 'mouth'. Mid.H.G. kamb-e kamm-e 'comb-like instrument', from kam 'comb'. O.Icel. nagl-e 'nail', from nagl 'finger-nail'. O.Icel. odd-e m. 'triangle', from odd-r 'spear-point'. Add certain words in -ōn- (f.), as O.H.G. bart-a 'axe, broad-axe' beside bart 'beard'. Cp. Kluge, Nomin. Stammbildungslehre § 79 p. 37.

The most numerous of the remaining substantives are the abstract nouns and the names for parts of the body. Abstract nouns: Goth. ah-a 'thought, understanding', ga-taira 'cleft', O.H.G. scad-o O.Icel. skað-e 'harm', O.H.G. smerz-o 'pain', gi-feho 'joy'; add also some words in -ōn- (f.), as Goth. lub-ō 'love', brinn-ō 'fever', O.Icel. tak-a 'taking in, assumption'. One or two of the names for parts of the body are proethnic: A.S. mold-a 'head' see p. 346, O.Icel. hjars-e 'head' see p. 347, O.H.G. nior-o (O.Icel. nȳr-a n.) 'kidney'; see p. 352. With these, others were associated: Goth. lōf-a 'flat of the hand', O.H.G. nabol-o O.Icel. nafl-e 'navel', O.H.G. dūm-o (cp. § 72 p. 171). Also feminine forms in -ōn- as O.H.G. gall-ā 'gall' (on the other hand A.S. zealla is m.), Goth. tugg-ō O.H.G. zung-a O.Icel. tung-a 'tongue', O.H.G. zēh-a 'toe'.

Feminine. The original stems in -ōn- were associated in Germanic with those in -ā-, not so intimately indeed as were the -iōn- stems, but closely enough to be attracted into the feminine gender, though we must observe that some of the abstract nouns in -ōn-, like those in -iōn-, may have been feminine before they passed into Germanic. On their analogy feminines in -ōn- were formed at will from the masculine -en- stems which denoted living beings. O.H.G. maga-zoha 'nutrix' from -zoho -zogo. O.Icel. kveld-rīða 'noctivaga, strix' from -rīðe. Goth. ga-raznō 'neighbour (f.)' from ga-razna. O.H.G. gi-mahha 'wife' from gi-mahho. O.H.G. hīwa 'wife' from hīwo. O.H.G. wīzaga 'sooth-sayer (f.)' from wīzago. Goth. svaihrō 'mother-in-law' from svaihra. Goth. qinō O.Icel. kona 'woman' contrasted with Gr. γυνή, Goth. viduvō 'widow' contrasted with Lat. vidua. As an example of the weak adjectives we may take Goth. blind-ō beside masc. blind-a 'caecus'.

Neuters, in the genitive and other cases always with -en-. Goth. vāt-ō 'water', Goth. áus-ō O.H.G. ōr-a 'ear', Goth. aug-ō O.H.G. oug-a 'eye', see above p. 347. Goth. hairt-ō O.H.G. herz-a 'heart'. O.H.G. wang-a 'cheek'. O.Icel. nȳr-a 'kidney' beside O.H.G. m. nior-o (on the other hand O.Icel. hjars-e m. beside Skr. n. śīrś-án-, cp. also O.H.G. anch-o m. 'butter' beside Lat. ungu-en n. O.Ir. imb n.). Along with these names for parts of the body we find a few other substantives, as Goth. þairk-ō 'hole', auga-daúrō 'window' and kaúrnō 'corn' (a derivative of kaúrn, parallel to masculines like O.H.G. gēr-o and to feminines like O.H.G. bart-a p. 354 f.). In the weak adjectives: Goth. blind-ō beside masc. blind-a.

Balto-Slavonic. Here the -en- stems are rare, a large part of them have fallen out of the n-declension through various processes of re-formation. Generally the suffix appears in the form -en- in all cases except the nom. sing.

Lith. el-n- in éln-i-s 'stag, elk' O.C.Sl. jelen- m. (nom. jelen-ī) 'stag': Armen. eln etc., see p. 349 above. Lith. szīrsz-ū m. O.C.Sl. srīš-en-ī m. 'horse-fly, hornet', common ground-form krs-en-*: cp. O.H.G. hornaz 'hornet' pr. Germ. χurz-n-ata-z* (I § 303 p. 240). From an original deḡ-en-* (dīḡ-en-* dḡ-en-) di-n- (deḡ-n-*) 'day' were developed Lith. f. dē-n-à Pruss. acc. dei-n-a-n O.C.Sl. gen. dī-n-e (nom. dī-nī m.). cp. Skr. dīn-a-m Lat. nūn-dīnae (J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 23).

Lith. szū (aus szy-ū*, I § 184 p. 160), gen. szu-ñ-s acc. szū-n-ī, m. 'dog', also szun-i-s m.: Skr. śv-á etc., see p. 346 above. rud-ū m. 'autumn' beside rūd-a-s 'reddish-brown': cp. Lat. Rūf-ō Goth. rāud-a, see p. 345 above. We have an old neuter in vand-ū m. 'water' (Lett. ūd--ē'n-s). Skr. ud-án- etc., see above p. 346.

O.C.Sl. step-en- m. 'step', kor-en- m. 'root', nom. stepen-ī koren-ī. rod-a f. 'water' (inflected as an a-stem) perhaps comes from an Indo-Germanic nominative in -ō.

§ 115. The Suffix *-ien-*¹⁾. This Suffix, which appears in the forms -ien- -ion- -iēn- -iōn-, -iēn- -iōn- -iēn- -iōn- and -in- -in- (-iŋ- -iŋ-) arose in derivatives from the stems in -io- -i- and -ī-. We must distinguish two strata in this class of nasal stems.

1. Forms corresponding to denominatives like Lat. hom-ō Lith. rud-ũ Av. mar't-an- (§ 114), as Skr. abhimatīn- 'plotting' (abhi-matī-ś 'plot'), οὐρανός 'the heavenly one' (cp. οὐράνιος), Lat. vulpiō (vulpēs), Goth. arbja 'heir' (arbi n. 'heritage').

2. Abstract Substantives like those mentioned on p. 341 f. e. g. cap-iō, which, if we may judge from δωρίν-η and other examples, once existed in Greek as well as elsewhere.

The custom of extending all kinds of stems by an -n-suffix remained in full force through most of the stages in the history of the separate languages, and hence the class of stems which we are now considering was continually enlarged. But we are justified in referring all such nouns as Goth. arbja to the suffix -ien- rather than to -en- (§ 114) — although a priori the word might be analysed either arbj-an- or arbja-n quite as naturally as arb-jan- (cp. e. g. vairstv-an- or vairst va-n-) — simply because they created no new variety of suffix, that is, none which was not in existence in the proethnic period, but merely reproduced the original -ien- type in one or other of its forms.

On the other hand it must be admitted that this suffix had only just begun to be used independently before the separation of the languages. Indeed there appear to be no examples of particular words that contain it which are certainly proethnic; notice however such parallels as Skr. praśn-in- 'questioner' A.S. fricgea 'herald' and abstract nouns like Lat. ratiōn- = Goth. raþjōn-, Lat. mentiō = O.Ir. er-mitu, which are mostly derived from Indo-Germanic stems in -ti-, see § 100 p. 294.

Aryan. Here we find only denominatives with the suffix in the form *-in-*¹), which spread through all the cases in the proethnic period of Aryan; e. g. nom. pl. -in-as instead of -iñ-as*, loc. sing. -in-i instead of -iñ-i*. During the same period -i- replaced -iñ- (= -iñ-) in the 'middle' cases (e. g. Skr. arct-bhyas Avest. kaini-bjō) and -i- replaced -iñ- in the nom. sing. (Skr. arct Avest. kaini) on the analogy of the -en- stems (Skr. dat. abl. pl. -a-bhyas, nom. sing. -ā).

Skr. arctin- 'beaming from arct- 'beam', cittin- 'intelligent' from citti- 'understanding', ūrmin- 'billowy' from ūrm- 'billow', atithin- 'wandering' from ātithi- 'guest'. Avest. kainin- f. 'girl' from kanyā- Skr. kanyā 'girl'. Gr. καινός 'new' (καινός*); for the meaning of the suffix compare Lat. pūs-iō 'little boy'. But we find that the use of -in- as a derivative suffix has spread by analogy to other than -o- stems, almost exclusively however to those in -o- (cp. Gr. μαλακίων from μαλακός, Lat. libell-ōi from libellus, Goth. vaurstv-ja from vaurstv); it ousted -an-, which remained only in Avestic (see § 114 p. 348). Skr. parṇin- Avest. per'n-in- 'winged', beside Skr. parṇā-m 'wing'. Skr. yav-in- 'rich in corn'. Avest. yev-in- m. 'fields', beside Skr. yáva-s 'corn'. Skr. śvan-in- 'leading dogs', from śvan- 'dog'. O.Pers. vīp-in- 'belonging to a clan' (Avestic shows the older form vis-an-), from vīp- 'clan'. Skr. -yin- after vowels, e. g. svadhā-yin- 'he to whom the svadhā belongs' is like -i- (Lith. mō-jī-s) p. 122 footnote 2, and -i- § 110 p. 336.

In Sanskrit forms like mad-in- 'intoxicating, rejoicing' (from māda-s 'intoxication, joyous excitement') were referred to kindred verbs (māda-ti), and hence -in- acquired the character of a primary suffix. See Whitney, Skr. Gram. § 1183.

-min-, and -vin- were no doubt special formations in Sanskrit; examples are rg-mín- 'singing, jubilating' (beside rg-míya- 'worthy of praise'), namas-vín- 'paying reverence.' Cp. below Gr. στραμίν-.

1) Prof W. Streitberg was the first scholar who clearly recognised that Ar. -in- was derived from the original -iñ-. I have followed him also in regarding -i- as the weak form of -iñ-, in § 116.

Greek. -ιον- ιων- appear beside -ιο-, as in οὐραν-ιον (-ιον-) 'the heavenly one, dweller in heaven' beside οὐράν-ιος 'heavenly', Κρον-ιον (-ιον- and ιων-) 'the descendant of Kronos' beside Κρόν-ιος 'belonging to Kronos'. Generally however -ιον- is an independent suffix. Ἀτρε-ίων 'son of Atreus', from Ἀτρεΐ-ς. μαλακ-ιον 'weakling', from μαλακό-ς 'weak'. δειλακρ-ιον 'wretch, miserable creature', from δειλακρο-ς 'very wretched'.

-ιν- appears in Ἀδρηστ-ιν-η 'daughter of Adrestos' Εὐην-ιν-η 'daughter of Euenos' beside Ἀκρισι-ων-η 'daughter of Akrisios'. Further, in δωτίν-η 'gift' beside δω-τι-ς 'gift', cp. Lat. dātō beside dōs. This form justifies us in classing here the words δελφίν- m. 'belly-fish, dolphin' (cp. Skr. garbh-in- 'pregnant'), ἀκτ-ιν- f. 'beam, of light', πηρ-ιν- f. 'scrotum', ὠδ-ιν- f. 'travail', γλωχ-ιν- f. 'point, end' (cp. γλῶσσα for γλωχ-ια*). The weak form of the suffix was adopted in all the cases, as -in- in Aryan. Closely parallel to these are words in -μῖν-: στα-μῖν- and στα-μῖν- m. 'wood that stands upright', ῥηγ-μῖν- f. 'surge, breaker' (beside ῥηγ-μα 'a breaking'), ῥσμῖν- f. and ῥσμῖν-η 'flight' (for the -σ- cp. § 72 p. 173.). The nom. sing. ends in -is for -is-ς-*, for which -ιν was substituted in later Greek.

Italic. -iōn- in the masculine is seen in Lat. vulpiō from vulpēs, pellīō from pellī-s, restīō from restī-s, cūrīō 'head of a curia', from cūria, centuriō from centuria, laniō from laniu-s; and it is common as an independent suffix, e. g. libell-iō from libellu-s, cūr-iō 'one wasted by sorrow' from cūra, tenebr-iō from tenebrae, mīr-iō from mīru-s, and the substantives formed from the numerals, ūn-iō bīn-iō tern-iō and so forth. Some of these masculines had a diminutival sense, as homunc-iō senec-iō pūs-iō pūmil-iō, cp. Avest. kainin- p. 358. The Umbr. Vuf-iun-e Vof-ion-e should be mentioned here.

Secondly we have the feminine abstract nouns in -iōn-, and -in- (-in-?) in Umbro-Samnite; this establishes a variation in the form of the suffix in different cases for the proethnic Italic period. Lat. com-mūniō beside com-mūni-s; Goth. ga-māinei 'community' beside ga-māini- 'communis'; al-luv-iō beside al-luv-iu-m, al-luv-iē-s, con-tāg-iō beside con-tāg-iu-m ob-

-sid-iō beside ob-sid-iu-m, cp. Goth. ga-riud-jō beside ga-riud-i. The following examples show -iōn- in independent use, so that it appears as a primary suffix: Lat. leg-iō re-ligio Osc. leg-in-ei 'legioni, cohorti' leg-in-um 'legionem, cohortem', Lat. cōn-spīc-iō, reg-iō, cap-iō ūsū-capiō, opīn-iō; Umbr. fer-in-e perhaps 'feretro', tribriū 'ternio' abl. tribris-in-e, Osc. tang-in-om 'sententiam' gen. tang-in-eis, tribarakk-iuf 'aedificatio'.

The form -tiōn- -tin- (-tin-?) is especially frequent and largely superseded Idg. -ti-: Lat. men-tiō (O.Ir. er-mitiu 'honour'), ra-tiō (Goth. ra-þjō 'ratio'), da-tiō (cp. Gr. δω-τίv-η 'gift'), jūnc-tiō, occupā-tiō, tribū-tiō; Umbr. na-tin-e 'natione, gente', Osc. medica-tin-om 'indicationem', úst-tiuf 'usio, usus', frukta-tiuf 'usus, fructus', statif 'statio, statua'. Cp. § 100 p. 300. With Lat. exerci-tiō compare exerci-tiu-m, with dic-tiō the Osc. med-dīrud 'iuris dictione', which no doubt comes from med-dītiō* as Bansae from Bantiā* (I § 502 p. 368 f.); see § 163 under Italic.

Remark The Umbrian nominative termination -iu stands for pr. Ital and pr Idg -iō. On the other hand. Osc. -iuf and -if stand for iōns* -ins* (-iōns*?) The latter were later dialectic formations (cp. Lat. sanguis Gr. δαίμα, and other similar forms, and see § 114 p. 352, § 117 under Old Irish). The late origin of the ending -ns explains the special treatment of this group of sounds in these words see I § 209 p. 177, § 655 p. 506.

In the Sabine dialect we find also the form -iēn- ner-iēn-em 'fortitudinem', nom. ner-io, gen. also Νηρίv-ης (Lydus de mens. IV 42), parallel to ner-ō 'brave' Nerō (cp. Gr. ἄνδρ-ων) from Idg. ner-* 'man'. An-io gen. -iēn-is (amongst the Romans declined after the Latin fashion, -iōn-is). Should such forms be regarded as derivatives from words with the suffix -iē- (§ 109) (cp. Ner-ia), which would explain the ē?

Old Irish. Besides Eriu 'Ireland' (gen. Erenn; for the nn cp. § 117 Rem. 3) the only certain examples are the forms which correspond to the Latin feminine abstract nouns in -tiō: air-itiu f. 'accipere': Lat. ēemptiō, aig-thiu f. 'fear' and others. All the cases, except the nom. sing., have -tin-; there is only the dat. (loc.) sing. with its by-form in -te to vouch for -tion* in early Irish. See § 100 p. 301.

In Gallic -iōn- is common: we have names of towns like Brigantio (compared with the participial stem brigant- 'projecting', O.Ir. Brigit = Skr. bṛhat-ī § 110 p. 337), Divio, Cabellio; names of tribes like Suessiōn-es, Κοῦριων-ες.

Germanic. Masc. -jan- (like -an-). Goth. arbja O.H.G. arpeo 'heir, beside Goth. arb-i n. 'heritage'. Goth. bandja 'prisoner', beside band-i f. 'chain'. Goth. vāi-dēdja 'evildoer' Mid.H.G. ūbel-tæte A.S. yfel-dæda 'evildoer', beside Goth. ga-dēd- f. 'deed'. Goth. ga-māinja 'partaker', beside ga-māini- 'communis'. The suffix is more frequently independent. Goth. mana-maurþrja O.H.G. murdr-eo 'murderer', from Germ. murþra-* 'murder'; Goth. timr-ja 'carpenter', beside O.H.G. zimbar 'timber'; fisk-ja 'fisher', beside fiska- 'fish'; vaurstv-ja 'worker', beside vaurstv 'work'; O.H.G. scirn-o 'buffoon', beside scern 'jest'; scar-io scaro 'head of a troop' beside scara 'troop'. It has the character of a primary suffix in e. g. Goth. arbi-num-ja 'inheritor, heir', O.H.G. nōt-num-eo 'raptor', O.H.G. sceph-eo scaffo 'conditor', fer-io fero 'sailor'. Feminines (cp. O.H.G. maga-zoha etc. § 114 p. 355). Goth. arbjō 'heiress', O.H.G. ge-betta O.Icel. bedja 'bedfellow (f.), wife'.

The form -iōn- became incapable of denoting male persons (notice that masculines like Gr. ρεᾱνιά-ς Lat. agricola O.C.Sl. sluga are foreign to Germanic). It was preserved on the other hand in names of things which in form are parallel to Goth. arbja etc. (also in a few names of animals), which then became feminine. Goth. snōrjō 'basket woven out of string', beside O.H.G. snuori- f. 'string'. O.H.G. bulga 'leathern sack', beside balgi- m. 'bag'. O.H.G. hār-ra 'hair garment', beside hār 'hair'. Goth. ga-timrjō O.H.G. zimbirra 'building', beside O.H.G. zimbar 'timber'. O.Icel. birkja 'birch-sap', beside björk 'birch'. O.Icel. gedda 'pike', beside gadd-r 'thorn, spine' (cp. Lat. stellio m. 'star-lizard, newt' from stella).

Feminine abstract nouns in -iōn-, whose gender dates from the pre-Germanic period. Goth. gariudjō 'modesty', side by side with ga-riud-i n. (same meaning) (cp. Lat. alluvio and alluvium), beside ga-riup-s 'modest, decent'. O.Icel. vitra 'sagacity' beside vit-r 'sagacious'; sēlu 'luck', beside sēll 'lucky'. The suffix has the character of a primary suffix in Goth. ga-runjō 'inundation', sakjō 'strife', A.S. æsce 'question', O.Icel. þykkja 'love'. We also find -tjōn-, but this was not fertile in Germanic, which contrasts with its history in Italic and Irish: Goth. ra-þjō 'reckoning' (Lat. ra-tiō), O.Icel. þrætta 'strife'. Parallel to raþjō is O.H.G. redia, a strong feminine, cp. Lat. exercitiū-m beside exercitiō. Side by side with -tjōn- is the form -in-, found in abstract denominatives, especially in those derived from adjectival stems: Goth. aglditei 'rudeness' side by side with aglditi n. (the same), magapei 'maidenhood' beside magapi- 'maiden', Goth. gamāinei O.H.G. gimeinī 'community' beside Goth. ga-māini- 'communis' (Lat. commūnīō f. beside com-mūni-s), Goth. gōdei O.H.G. guoti 'goodness, excellence' beside Goth. gōþ-s 'good', Goth. managei O.H.G. menigt 'crowd' beside Goth. manag-s 'many, much'. We have seen reason for believing that the same -in- is contained in the suffix -uē-ga-, as in O.H.G. Berhting, § 88 Rem. 3 p. 267.

Slavonic. We find -tjōn- in the plural of denominative names of inhabitants and classes, as zemljan-e 'countrymen' from zemlja 'land', graždan-e 'citizens' for gord-ian-e* from gradū 'city', seljan-e 'country folk' from selo 'cultivated land', mir-jan-e 'laici' from mirū 'world'. See I § 585, 3 p. 440.

§ 116. The Suffix -uēn-. This appears in the forms -uēn- -uon- (-uēn-) -uōn- and -un- -uū-, and appears to be derived from the u- and uo- stems, just as -ien- from those in -i- and -io-.

The meaning of the suffix cannot be reduced to any general definition. Amongst the substantives it forms are nomina actionis, which were used as infinitives in Aryan and Greek.

Indo-Germanic. Skr. dy-un- (e. g. instr. dyun-a) n. 'life', Gr. αι-(F)ων (-ων) m. 'space of time, eternity' αι-(F)έν (loc. sing.) 'always', common ground-form ai-uēn-* (cp. I § 611 p. 461): compare Lat. ae-vo-m, Goth. ai-v-s m. 'time, eternity' ground-form ai-uo-* (cp. I § 612 p. 462, § 614 p. 464). Skr. pt-van- Gr. πι-(F)ων (-ων) 'fat': compare pt-ue-ro-* Skr. ptva-rā-s Gr. πιε-ρό-ς 'fat' Skr. pt-vas- n. Gr. πιό-της etc., see § 74 p. 182.

Skr. pār-van- n. 'knob, joint, pause, break', Gr. ἀ-πειρων (-on) 'boundless' for περ-φων*, πείραινω 'I bring to an end' for περ-φων-ιω*, Skr. pārvata-s Gr. πέριπατα πείρατι (see § 82 p. 249): beside these we have Gr. ἄ-πειρο-ς. Skr. agradvan- 'eating first', Gr. Hom. ἐδ-φατ- or ἐδδατ- n. 'food' (ἐδδατ- is a wrong spelling, cp. I § 166 p. 147 on δεδμεν). Skr. grā-van- m. 'soma-stone' O.Ir. broo brō, gen. broon brōn, 'millstone'.

Datives in -men-ai are used as infinitives (this appears to have been a modification of the original -yn-ai -un-ai introduced in the proethnic period on the analogy of the loc. in -men(-); cp. -men-ai § 117). Skr. dā-vān-e 'to give', Gr. Cypr. δο-φεν-αι Att. δοῦναι. Avest. vīd-van-ōi 'to know', Gr. εἰδέναι for φειδ-φεν-αι* (cp. § 136 Remark 1).

Aryan. The original relations of ablaut are preserved most nearly in Skr. sing. nom. maghā-va ('generous') acc. -vān-am loc. -van-i instr. maghōn-ā, Avest. sing. nom. aša-va ('pure') ace. -van-em gen. ašaon-ō. In Sanskrit, levelling took place in two different directions. On the one hand the form with -van- spread into the weakest cases: e. g. āthar-va -vaṇ-am -vaṇ-i produced -van-ā -vaṇ-as instead of un-ā* etc. (cp. the form apaurun-ē dat. preserved in Avestic), a change which was supported by the parallelism of the man-stems (āś-man-ā etc.). And the v of forms like ṛtā-vn-ā (we should expect ṛtāun-ā*) came from the other forms with -van- -vān- (cp. I § 160 p. 144), while such a form as pī-vn-, and (here also) the type of the -man-stems (arya-mn-ā) may have influenced the re-formation. On the other hand, in some neuter words (e. g. dy-un-) a new paradigm was formed by a confusion with u-stems which were parallel to them, (from which came e. g. the nom. acc. dyu, cp. Goth. aju-ka- in ajuk-dūþ-s 'eternity'). An interesting survival of -un- on Indian ground appears also in mith-un-ā 'paired' beside Avest. miþ-van- n. 'pair'. Cp. the Author, Morph. Unt. II 187 ff.

Skr. tāk-van- beside tak-vā tāk-u- 'shooting on, quick'. ṛbh-van- beside ṛbh-va ṛbh-ū- 'capable, aristic'. ṛk-van- beside ṛk-vā 'singing, praising'. pād-van- m. beside pād-va- m. 'way'. ār-van- 'runner' beside Avest. aurva 'quick' A.S. ar-u 'prompt, ready'. dhán-van n. beside dhán-u- f. 'dune, sandy land'. Avest. er'd-wan- 'raiser, helper' beside er'd-wa- 'uplifted, raised up'.

Skr. ádā-van- m. Avest. ad-wan- m. 'way'. Skr. yā-van- 'going, traveller' Avest. yaon-a- m. 'path, way'. Skr. pāt-van- 'flying', śāk-van- 'able', rā-van- 'bestowing'. Avest. is-van- 'able', der'z-van- m. 'fetter'. Skr. snā-van- n. 'bond, sinew', tūg-van- n. 'rapid stream', Avest. karš-van- n. (nom. acc. karš-var') name of the seven divisions of the earth.

-t-van-: Skr. kṛ-t-van- 'effecting' Avest. ker'-p-uan- 'one who brings about', Skr. sū-t-van- 'pressing', sa-jī-t-van 'victorious'. These are based on t-stems like -k-ṣ-t- 'effecting', see § 123.

Skr. ṛtā-van- 'holy, pious' Avest. aša-van- 'pure', Skr. āthar-van- Avest. āpura-van- (apaur-un-) 'fire-priest', Skr. dhītā-van- 'rich in gifts', amatī-vān- 'suffering want', samād-van- 'eager for the fray'.

Infinitives. Skr. dā-vān-ṛ 'to give', Avest. vid-van-ōi 'to know', see above p. 363.

Armenian. siun, gen. sean, 'pillar' for early Armen. sē-van-* or sē-van-*: Gr. στῖον m. f. (-ον-) 'pillar' for στ-ῖων*. n-cases were no doubt originally formed from albeur, gen. alber, 'spring' (I § 263 p. 214): cp. Gr. φοιῶν φοιῶτος (p. 365).

Greek. αἰ-(F)ών αἰ-(F)έν, πί-(F)ων, ἀπειρώων for -περ-ῖων*, see p. 362 f.

κενε-(F)ών (-ων-) m. 'hollow space' from κενε-φό-ς 'empty' (§ 64 p. 135), with which we must certainly class the masculine names of places as οἶνεών οἶνών 'wine-bin', παρθενεών παρθενών 'maidens' apartment', ἀνδρών 'man's apartment', ἵππών 'horse stall', λασιών 'place with thick bushes' (τὰ λάσια 'thicket').

The form -un- is no doubt to be seen in εὐθύνα f. 'legal procedure, punishment' for εὐθύν-χα*, εὐθύνω 'I guide straight' for -υν-χω*; cp. Avest. ašaon-i fem. of aša-van-. Cp. also Hom. ἰθύν-ρα 'in the straightest, truest way' beside ἰθύ-ς. See Osthoff, Forsch. auf dem Geb. der Idg. Nominalstammbildung II 24 ff., and the Author, Morph. Unt. II 190. 201 ff. 205 f.

The neuters show the same course of development as those belonging to the -men- and *-en-*stems (like οὐθ-αρ -ατος § 114

p. 350); but there appears to be no nom. acc. sing. in -fa = -φῆ. πέφου-τα for περ-φα-τα* (: Skr. pār-va-ta-s) and ἔδ-φα-τα (ἔδ-φαρ), see above p. 363. φρέῃαρ φρέῃατος 'well' with -εἰ for -η- (I § 611 p. 462) Hom. φρήατα (wrongly written φρεῖατα) for φρη-φα-τα*: cp. Armen. albeur, see above p. 364. στέῃαρ στέῃατος 'congealed fat', poet. στέῃαρ i. e. στέῃ-αρ: Skr. sthā-varā- 'standing, immovable'. Other examples of the kind are given by the Author, Morph. Unt. II 225, G. Meyer, Griech. Gramm.² p. 325.

Infinitives. δο-φεν-αι δοῦναι, εἰδ-έν-αι; see above, p. 363. This formation was very fertile in Ionic, Attic and Arcadian. θεῖναι 'to place' for θε-φεν-αι* ι-έναι 'to go'. δε-δι-έναι 'to fear'. ἀῖναι 'to blow' for ᾱ-φη-φεναι*, γινῶναι 'to recognise' for γνω-φεναι*. From the contracted forms was taken a termination -ναι, which usurped the place of -μην -μεναι: thus δῦναι, εἶναι (εἰ-μεν for ἔσ-μεν*), φάναι, διδόναι, δεικνύναι. Many scholars refer φέρειν to φρε-φεν*, see § 114 p. 347.

Germanic. Goth. spar-va A.S. spearwa O.H.G. sparo m. 'sparrow', √ sper- 'flutter to and fro'.

§ 117. The suffix -men-. This was used from the in the proethnic and later periods to form nomina actionis, which often varied between the meaning of the thing and the action (as Gr. ρέυμα 'a streaming' and 'that which streams'); more rarely to form nomina agentis. The nomina actionis were used in Aryan and Greek as infinitives. The gender varied between neuter and masculine; sometimes even in the same word, as Gr. χεῖμα: χειμῶν.

The root-syllable had generally the strong grade (the e-form in the e-series). Originally, no doubt, both this and the weak grade stood side by side in each paradigm (cp. Gr. λειμῶν: λημήν, ἄστ-μα: ἀντ-μήν, O.Icel. ljō-me: Goth. lauh-mun-i), but a process of levelling ensued, generally in favour of the strong form.

There is difficulty in ascertaining what was the weak form of the suffix in the ground-forms of certain cases of the noun, as Skr. vart-man-ā vart-man-as (beside nā-mn-ā arya-mn-ā).

Remark 1. From the analogy of Skr. arc-in-ā (-jen-) and Avest. aṇaur-un-ē (-yen-) — see § 115, 116 — we should expect ṇeri-mn-, and therefore St vart-an-ā. This is supported by Goth. vund-ufn-i f. 'wound' vit-ubn-i n. 'knowledge' (-fn- -bn- for -mn-, I § 215 p. 182) beside laúh-mun-i f. 'flash'. The original paradigm of the latter would have been nom. laúh-ufn-i* gen. laúh-mun-jōs, as in Skr. vart-an-ā (-mn-) vart-ma-bhiṣ (-mṣ-)*. See the Author, Morph. Unt. II 201 209. 217 ff. We might therefore suppose that vart-man-ā was a re-formation in Aryan due to the analogy of the other cases, vart-man-i vart-ma-bhiṣ etc. But although it must be allowed that the weak stem had both these forms in derivatives, yet even in the proethnio period the post-consonantal form -mn- may have been displaced by -men-. There is at least a very strong probability that some such levelling process had taken place in proethnio Indo-Germanic in such infinitives as Skr. vid-mán-ē Gr. ιδ-μεν-αι (cp. also Lat. imper. legi-min-i below) The form of the stem represented by Skr. vart-man-ā would then be ṇeri-men-. I should give my judgement with greater confidence, if there were a satisfactory explanation, of the absence of m in Skr. bhūnā prēnā and the like (Lanman, Noun-Inflection p. 533).

Indo-Germanic. kleṇ-men-* from $\sqrt{\text{kleṇ}}$ 'hear': Avest. srao-man- n. Goth. hlui-ma m. 'hearing', cp. also Skr. śrō-ma-ta-m O.H.G. hlui-mun-t § 82 p. 249. Skr. hō-man- n. Gr. χεῦ-μα χῦ-μα χύ-μα n. 'gush'. Gr. ῥεῦ-μα ῥύ-μα n. O.Ir. sruaim n. 'stream' common ground-form sreṇ-men-*. Skr. bhū-man- n. 'existence, earth' bhū-mán- m. Skr. vart-man- n. 'road', O.C.Sl. vrě-mę n. 'time' for vert-mę*. men-men-* 'mind, spirit, thought': Skr. mán-man- n., Gr. θρασν-μῆμνων Ἀγα-μῆμνων for μεν-μῶν* (De Saussure, Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. IV 432). Skr. vās-man- n. 'covering' Gr. εἶ-μα n. 'garment, covering' εὖ-εἶμῶν 'well clothed'. Skr. ád-man n. 'food', Gr. ἔδ-μεν-αι dat. inf. 'to eat', Lith. pl. ėd-men-ys (stem ėd-men-i-) m. 'mouth, chaps'. Skr.

'road, train', Lat. agmen n. for ag-men* (the vowel owes its length to the following -gm-) and ex-āmen n. for -ag-men* (I § 506 p. 371¹). Skr. ōj-man- m. 'strength', Lat. aug-men n., Lith. aug-mũ m. 'excrecence upon bodies or trees'. Skr. sī-mán- m. 'parting of the hair, crown of the head' f. 'boundary, mark' (as to the fem. gender see Rem. 2 below), O.Sax sī-mo m. 'bond, cord, rope', cp. also Gr. ἰ-μαρ-τ- (ῖ) 'strap' ἱ-μων-ιά 'well-rope' (§ 82 Rem. p. 249 f.); Gr. αἰμασιᾶ 'enclosing wall, hedge' seems to be derived from a stem sai-men-*. Skr. syū-man- n. 'bond, stripe, row' Gr. ὑ-μῆν (-εν-) m. 'hide, sinew', κασόματα n. pl. 'patchwork, soles; plots' (prep. κατ), Lat. as-sūmen-tu-m 'patch sewn on'. Skr. nā-ma n. Armen. anun Gr. ὄνο-μα n. Lat. nō-men n. O.Ir. ain-m n. Goth. na-mō n. Pruss. e-mn-a- O.C.Sl. i-mę n. (I § 219 Rem. 2 p. 187 f.) 'name'. Gr. γνώ-μα n. 'token' γνώ-μων (-μων-) 'one who knows or shows, sundial, measuring-rod', Lat. agnōmen n. for ad-gnō-men* (connected by popular etymology with nōmen), O.C.Sl. zna-mę n. 'token'.

Skr. jāni-man- n. 'birth' Lat. geni-men (late) beside Skr. jān-man-. Of the same sort are Gr. τελα-μῶν 'shoulder-belt', O.Ir. men-me 'mind' and other examples. See I § 110 p. 104.

Datives in -men-ai used as infinitives (cp. -men-ai § 116 p. 363). Skr. vid-mānē 'to learn, experience' (side by side with which we also find other cases of vid-mán-), Gr. ἰδ-μεναι 'to know'. Skr. dā-manē 'to give' (cp. p. 367), Gr. δό-μεναι 'to give'. Lat. imper. legimin-ī, in form identical with Gr. λεγόμεναι (see below).

1) In the English translation, l. 6. of this paragraph, instead of 'before originally long vowels', read 'after etc'.

-men- seems further to have been used even in the parent language as a secondary suffix: Skr. arya-mán- m. 'comrade, friend', Mid.Ir. Airem, gen. Areman Eremon, beside Skr. aryá- 'devoted, attached' O.Ir. aire (gen. airech) 'princeps, primus'.

-men- and -mo-, are often interchanged from the proethnic period onwards (see § 112 p. 340 f.); and this led to a certain confusion, which can be sometimes traced in the separate languages, between the -men- forms and the substantives in -mo- which have the o-grade in the root-syllable (see § 72 p. 170). Gr. ol-ma n. 'assault' instead of el-ma* (Skr. é-man- n. 'course') through the influence of ol-mo-s ol-mu. O.H.G. lei-mo m. 'loam' instead of li-mo* (Gr. λειμών) through the influence of the form lei-m m.

In all the Indo-Germanic languages -men- was a fertile suffix, most of all in Aryan, Greek, and Latin Aryan. Skr. tōk-man- 'young blade of corn' Avest. taox-man- n. 'bud, family, offspring'. Skr. hē-mán- m. 'impulse' Avest. zaç-man- n. 'zeal'. Skr. dhā-man- n. 'statute, action, seat, dwelling' Avest. dā-man- i. e. dā-man- n. 'creation, creature' (I § 200 p. 168): Gr. ἀνάθημα etc., see above p. 367. Skr. ās-man- Avest. O.Pers. as-man- m. 'stone, heaven': Gr. ἄκμων 'anvil, thunderbolt'. Skr. nā-man- n. Avest. na-man- (ā) n. O.Pers. nā-man- n. 'name': Armen. anun etc., see above p. 367.

In secondary use: Skr. arya-mán- m. 'comrade, friend' Avest. airya-man- 'obedient' beside Skr. aryá-, see above.

Sanskrit. dhār-man- n. 'support' dhar-mán m. 'bearer', brāh-man- n. 'devotion' brah-mán- m. 'one who prays', svād-man- n. 'sweetness, loveliness'; vāri-man n. vari-mán- m. 'extent'. ōd-man- n. 'undulation', é-man- n. 'course', vārṣ-man- n. 'height, surface', sād-man- n. 'seat, abode', sā-man- n. 'hymn', trā-man- n. 'protection', yā-man- n. 'course'; jāni-man- n. 'birth', bhāri-man- n. 'a carrying'. hāvī-man- n. 'a calling upon'. āṣ-

-mán- uś-man- m. 'heat', ō-mán- m. 'favour, help', jə-mán- m. 'superiority'; prāthi-mán- m. 'breadth'. dā-mán- m. 'giver', sō-mán- m. 'presser, preparer of the soma'. Forms like prāthi-mán- were popularly connected with the parallel adjectives such as pythū- prāthīyas-, and hence -i-man- became a secondary suffix, as in draḍh-imán- m. 'firmness' from draḍhā- 'firm' compar. drāḍh-īyas-, dhāmṛ-imán- m. 'dark colour, gloom' from dhāmṛā- 'dark'.

Avestic. a-piśman- 'without art, without skill'. maeś-man- n. 'urine', dae-man- n. 'eye', pae-man- n. 'milk, mother's milk', dān-man- n. 'cloud, vapour' no doubt = dū-man- (cp. dā-man above), beside Skr. dhū-mā-s 'smoke', stao-man- n. 'song of praise, laudation', bar's-man- n. 'bundle of consecrated twigs for offering', caś-man- n. 'eye'. ras-man- m. 'army in line, line of battle': Gr. ῥετ-μα n. 'a stretching out, stretch'. uroās-man- 'one who makes others glad, joy-giver'.

Infinitival datives. Skr. vid-mānē, dā-manē, see p. 367 f. above. Skr. dhār-manē 'to support', trā-manē 'to protect'. Avest. stao-mainē 'to praise', xšnā-mainē 'to content'. In Avestic the locative also appears as an infinitive, e. g. caś-man caś-mēnag 'to behold' beside dat. caś-mainē.

Remark 2. The nominative termination -mā (m. and n.) appears sometimes to have led to a transference to the feminine ā-declension; this process may have been aided by the close connexion between the -men- and *-mo-*stems, which dates from before the Aryan period. Thus e. g. Skr. stī-mā = stī-mān- 'boundary' (stī-mā in its turn influenced stī-mān- so far as to give it the fem. gender), dā-mā beside dā-man- n. 'bond' (also f., according to the grammarians; the change of gender came about in the same way as in stī-mān- f.), O.Pers. tau-mā 'family' = Avest. taox-man-. Cp. § 114 Rem. 1 p. 348, § 122 Rem. p. 383.

Armenian. jiun 'snow', anun 'name', see above, p. 366 f.; for the phonetic changes see I § 202 p. 169. gel-mn, gen. gel-man, 'wool, fleece': to be compared either with Skr. vār-man- 'defensive armour' Gr. ἔρ-ιο-ν 'wool' (✓ yer-) or with Lat. vellus, Goth. vulla 'wool' (✓ uel-). marmin (-min- for -men-, I § 63 p. 50), gen. mar-mn-o-y, 'body, flesh' (which is extended by the suffix -o-): Skr. mār-man- n. 'membrum, joint, open part of the body which is especially exposed to mortal wounds'.

Greek. The history of the neuter forms is the same as in the case of the -en- and -men- stems; see § 114 p. 350.

πνεῦ-μα n. 'breath', πνεύ-μων (-μων) m. 'lung'. ἄετ-μα n. ('φλόξ', beside ἀετμό-ν 'πνεῦμα' Hesych.), ἀντ-μήν (-μεν) m. 'breath, exhalation, vapour' (ἄετ-μα? cp. p. 372). ῥ-μα n. 'missile', ῥ-μων (-μων) m. 'thrower, slinger': Lat. sē-men n. O.H.G. sā-mo m. O.C.Sl. sē-me n. 'seed', √ sē-. μνη-μα n. 'memorial', μνη-μων (-μων) 'mindful'. νόη-μα n. 'thought', νοή-μων (-μων) 'thoughtful'.

ζεῦγ-μα n. 'bond, bridge of boats': Lat. jūmentu-m for jūg-men-to-, common ground-form jēug-men-. δεῖ-μα 'fear'. λεῖμμα for λειπ-μα* 'remnant'. κλί-μα κλί-μα 'inclination'. μίγ-μα 'mixture'. δέρ-μα 'skin torn off, hide': Skr. dar-mán- m. 'shatterer'. ῥο-μα 'ear-ring'. στροῦ-μα 'something strown, bed, covering': Lat. strā-men n., common ground-form stj-men*; cp. Skr. stāri-man- n. 'a spreading out, strowing abroad' stari-man- m. 'bed'. πέλ-μα 'sole of the foot' cp. A.S. fil-men 'membrana' O.Fris. fil-men-e f. 'skin'. φλέγ-μα 'brand'. γέννα f. 'race, family' probably was neuter originally, and stands for γεν-μα*: Skr. jān-man- n. πείσμα 'cable, rope' for περσμη* from √ bhēndh- 'bind'; as to σ for θ see p. 372: cp. Lat. of-fendi-mentu-m. βῆ-μα 'step, grade, platform': Skr. vi-gāman- n. 'step', common ground-form gñ-men-*, √ gem-. πέμμα 'pastry' for πεν-μα*. ὑπό-δημα 'something fastened beneath sole' δέ-μα δέ-σμα 'bond': Skr. dā-man- n. 'bond'. αἷ-μα 'blood', beside O.H.G. sei-m m. 'virgin honey'. οἰδ-μα 'swell of the sea'. ὄμμα 'eye, visage' for ὄπ-μα*. ῥᾱ-μα (Dor. form) 'stream', √ snā-. βλή-μα 'missile, shot'. ῥῆ-μα 'utterance' for φρῆ-μα*. σᾶ-μα σῆ-μα 'token', to be compared no doubt with Skr. dhyā-man- m. 'measure' n. 'thought', beside dhyā- 'think of' dhī- 'appear, resemble, observe, think'. Dor. πᾶ-μα 'that of which one has the disposal, over which one has power, possession', for ἐμᾶ-men-*, compared with El. ἐμ-παίω 'bring to effect, accomplish' and with κῶ-ρος (cp. πάμωχος 'ὁ νῦριος Hesych.)¹). σχῆ-μα 'demeanour, form'. ὄρα-μα 'sight'. ὄρη-μα 'solicitude'. μισθω-μα 'stipulated payment'.

The nom. acc. sing. neut. of one or two -men- stems ends in ρ, as in some of the neuter stems in -en- and -xen-: ἡμαρ, gen. ἡματος, 'day', μῦμαρ μῶμαρ 'blame', λῶμαρ beside λῷμα 'pollution', τέκμαρ and τέκμυρ 'proof' (-μωρ for -μῆρ, cp. ῥῶδωρ I § 306 p. 243). Cp. § 118.

κευθ-μῶν (-μων-) m. 'hiding-place'. πυθ-μῆν (-μεν-) m. 'depth, ground'. λει-μῶν (-μων-) m. 'damp place' and λι-μῆν (-μεν-) m. 'harbour'. ἰδ-μῶν (-μων-) 'having knowledge of' (ἰδμο-σύνη). ἐπι-λήσμων (-μων-) 'forgetful' (σ instead of θ, p. 372). ποι-μῆν (-μνε-) m. 'herdsman'. Lith. pẽ-mũ m. 'herd-boy'. τλή-μων (-μων-) 'stead fast, enduring'. ἀλή-μων (-μων-) 'wandering about' (ἀλᾶσθαι). ἐλεῆ-μων (-μων-) 'pitiful'. τελα-μῶν (-μων-) m. 'shoulder-belt, baldrick' properly 'bearer', √ tel-. τερά-μων (-μων-) 'that becomes soft by boiling'. ἡγε-μῶν (-μων-) m. 'guide'. κηδε-μῶν (-μων-) m. 'one who cares for' a person. -μῶν acquired the character of a secondary suffix, just as Skr. -i-mān-: ἀκρεμῶν (-μων-) m. 'end of a branch, top' from ἄκρο-ς, δαιτυ-μῶν (-μων-) m. 'he who sits at meat, guest' from δαιτύ-ς.

The dative, in -μεν-αι, and the locative, in -μεν, served as infinitives. -μεναι occurs in Ionic (epic) and Lesbian. ἰδ-μεναι, δό-μεναι; see above, p. 367 f. ἔδ-μεν-αι 'to eat' (Skr. ád-man-, p. 366), θέ-μεναι 'to place' (-θημα θέ-μα, p. 367), ἀή-μεναι 'to blow', βή-μεναι 'to go' (βῆ-μα, p. 370), πῦ-μεναι 'to press in, enter' (ἐκ-δύμα 'garment taken off'), βλή-μεναι 'to strike' (βλή-μα, p. 370), δαή-μεναι 'to be versed' (δαή-μων 'versed'). On the model of these were formed: φανή-μεναι τετλά-μεναι, ζευγνώ-μεναι, αἰδέ-μεναι, εἰπέ-μεναι ἄξε-μεναι. -μεν is found in Ionic (epic), Doric, N.W.Greek, Elean, Thessalian, and Boeotian. ἰδ-μεν, δό-μεν, θέ-μεν, ἔ-μεν, ἔμ-μεν (εἴμιν ἡμιν), τετλά-μεν, ὀρνύ-μεν, φερέ-μεν, εἰπέ-μεν, ἄξε-μεν.

1) The nearest cognates of πᾶμα are collected by J. Baunack in his Stud. I 73 f.

Corresponding to -τ-μο -θ-μο- -σ-μο- (§ 72, 3 p. 173) we find -τ-μεν- -θ-μεν- -σμεν-. -τ-μεν- occurs in λαῖ-γμα 'gulf of the sea', no doubt to be compared with λαι-μός-ς 'throat, gullet', and perhaps in ἄεγμα ἀντηγήν. -θ-μεν-: ἵ-θμα 'course'. -σμεν-: πλάσμα 'image, figure' from πλάσσω, κλώσμα 'something spun' from κλώθω, πίσμα 'cable' for πενθ-μα* (σ had not displaced θ in the earliest period of Greek, see I § 204 Rem. 2 p. 171), ἐπι-λήσμων 'forgetful' from λήθω, ἔρεισμα 'support' from ῥεῖδω, σχίσμα 'split' from σχίζω, and the neuter forms in -ισμα and -ασμα compared with derivative verbs in -ίζω -άζω, as νόμισμα 'usage, institution, from νομίζω, ἀσπασμα 'caress' from ἀσπάζομαι; also ἄρμωσμα 'joined work' from ἀρμύζω.

Italic. The neuter forms were often extended by -to-; see § 82 p. 249 ff.

Lat. nō-men n., Umbr. nome n. 'nomen' nomner 'nominis': Skr. nā-man- n. etc.; see p. 367 above. Lat. prae-dicāmentu-m, Umbr. tikamne 'dicatione, invocatione'. Lat. testā-mentu-m, Osc. tristaamentud abl. 'testamento'. Lat. Sē-mō (-mōn-) 'seed-god', fem. Sē-mōn-ia, Pelign. Semunu 'Semonum', beside Lat. sē-men n. Umbr. ar̥mune dat. 'alimoni'.

Lat. nū-men, n.: Gr. νεῦ-μα 'nod'; lū-men for lūc-men*, later lūgmen* (I § 500 p. 367, § 506 p. 371¹), or for lūc-s-men* (cp. illāstri-s and lūna I § 503 p. 369): Goth. laúh-mun-i f. 'flash' O.Sax. lio-mo O.Icel. ljō-me m. Gr. πλήσμα 'filling, what fills'. flū-men flū-mentu-m. certā-men. mōlti-men mōlti-mentu-m. volū-men, statā-men, hence were formed leg-ūmen leg-ūmentu-m, alb-ūmen and other similar derivatives.

1) See footnote to p. 367 above.

regi-men regimentu-m. tegi-men beside tēgmen. of-fendi-mentu-m. monu-mentu-m. colu-men (columna) beside cul-men.

Masculine forms are rarer. ter-mō (-mōn-) beside ter-men n.: Gr. τέρμων etc., see above p. 366. ser-mō (-mōn-). pul-mō (-mōn-).

The dat. sing. in -min-ī was used in Latin as the 2. pl. imp. med.-pass., e. g. legiminī (= Gr. λεγέμεναι), sequiminī. The restriction to the plural, and to the medio-passive meaning was caused by the indicative legiminī = Gr. λεγόμενοι and = λεγόμεναι. See § 71 p. 165.

Old Irish. Neuters. sruam, airm; see above, p. 366 f. deihn 'noise'. cuirm 'beer'. gairm 'call, cry'. druim 'back' for dros-men*, compared with Lat. dorsu-m. cēmm cēm 'stepping, step', beside cingim 'I step', lēimm lēim- 'spring' beside lingim 'I spring', grēimm grēm 'progressus' beside in-grennim 'I pursue' (grend-), see I § 523 p. 380. bēim 'striking, blow' beside benim 'I strike': did this come regularly from ben-men-* or was it influenced by the form of these other nouns? With -ə-men-: feid-m 'strain', fo-naidm 'bond, compact'.

Remark 3. The origin of ni in forms like nom. pl. an-mann, dat. pl. an-mannaib, is still quite obscure. The latest discussion of this difficult question is by Stokes (Bezenberger's Beitr. XI 93) and Windisch (Über die Verbalformen mit dem Character R p. 40 f) men-ine m. (gen. men-man) 'mens' for men-ə-men-* (cp. Skr. mán-man- n. 'mind, thought'). The nom. in men-s* was a re-formation like Lat. sanguis Gr. δαλφίς, for δαλφίνς*, cp. also O.Ir. āru, § 114 p. 352, § 115 p. 360.

Masculine and Feminine forms with pr. Celt. -mō* in the nom. sing. (cp. Gall. casa-mo, Sego-mo), gen. Ir. -mon -man dat. -main. The masculine forms appear to be all denominatives: Aire-m: Skr. arya-mán- m., see above p. 368, orbe-m 'heir' from orbe n. (which represents a ground-form orbh-ij-o-m*) 'inheritance', flaithe-m 'ruler' from flaith 'rule', dāle-m 'creator' from dail 'element', briithe-m 'judge' from breth 'sentence', olla-m, gen. olla-man, 'princeps poetarum' no doubt connected with oll 'great, mighty'. tala-m (gen. talman), f. 'earth' no doubt for if-mō*, √ tel-.

anim f. 'soul' (dat. an-min) may have been originally a -mā-stem (cp. Lat. anima-) and have been transferred to this declension through the influence of menme.

Germanic. The old variation between neuter and masculine was almost entirely obliterated in favour of the masculine. The neuter survives only in Gothic and Norse in a few examples: Goth. na-mō n. 'name' (O.Icel. na-fn n. by a transference to the o-declension, O.H.G. na-mo m.): Skr. nā-man- n. etc., see p. 367 above; O.Icel. st-ma beside st-me m. 'rope' (O.Sax. st-mo m.): Skr. st-mān- etc., see p. 367 above.

Masculine. Goth. hliu-ma 'hearing' O.H.G. hliu-mun-t 'call', Goth. stō-ma 'constituent part', see p. 366 above. O.H.G. sā-mo 'seed', see p. 370 above. O.Sax. ho-mo 'brightness', see p. 372 above. Goth. hiuh-ma 'heap'. Goth. skei-ma 'light', O.H.G. scī-mo 'brightness, sheen'. O.H.G. kī-mo 'the bursting bud'. O.H.G. glizemo 'brightness', Goth. glit-mun-jan 'to gleam' Goth. milh-ma 'cloud'. Goth. ah-ma 'spirit'. Goth. blō-ma O.H.G. bluo-mo 'bloom'. This masculine suffix was fertile only in Old Frisian and there only to a limited extent; it became denominative as in Sanskrit etc., e. g. werth-ma 'taxation' from werth 'value'.

-s-men-, like -s-tro- -s-lo- etc. (see § 61 p. 117). O.H.G. rosamo 'aerugo' for rots-mō* beside O.Sax. rotōn 'to rust', cp. O.H.G. rotamo 'redness'. O.H.G. dīhsamo 'prosperity' fram-dehsmo 'increasing prosperity', beside dīhan 'to wax great'. O.Sax. blicsmo 'flash' beside blīcan 'to gleam'. The s came from forms like O.H.G. wahs-amo was-mo 'growth' (wahs-an 'to wax') and O.Sax. brōsmo 'soft part of bread, crumb' (A.S. brȳs-an 'to break in pieces').

-t-men-, like -t-mo- § 72 p. 175 f. O.H.G. wi-damo 'price of the bride, dowry' from wt- 'bind'; A.S. blōstma 'bloom', cp. Mid.H.G. bluos-t beside bluo-t 'bloom'.

The feminine -mōn- is rare and certainly a late formation: e. g. O.H.G. bluo-ma beside the masc. bluo-mo.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. ak-mū m. O.C.Sl. ka-my m. 'stone'. Lith. szel-mū m. 'gable' O.C.Sl. slě-mę n. 'beam': cp. Lith. szal-ma

'long beam'. Lith. sė-men-s pl. m. 'seed', especially linseed, O.C.Sl. sě-mę n. 'seed': Gr. ῥῆμα etc., see p. 370 above.

In Lithuanian only masculines appear (nom. -mũ gen. -meĩ-s etc.); the neuter has died out in the same way as in other classes of stems. sto-mũ 'stature, tallness', aug-mũ 'excrescence', see p. 367 above. pž-mũ 'herd-boy', see p. 371 above. rau-mũ 'flesh of the muscles', no doubt to be compared with O.H.G. rio-mo 'strap, band', common ground-form rey-men-* (cp. Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 142). ré-mũ 'heart-burn'. lž-mũ 'trunk, stature'. szeř-men-s pl. 'funeral meal' (no doubt from szér-ti 'to feed'). žel-mũ 'sprout, plant'. tesz-mũ 'udder'. ász-men-s pl. 'cutting edge'.

O.C.Sl. brě-mę n. 'burden', vrě-mę 'time', i-mę 'name', zna-mę 'token'; see above, p. . pis-mę 'letter', ✓ pejk-. plemę, 'stem, family' no doubt for pled-mę*, compare plodũ 'fruit'. ra-mę beside ra-mo 'shoulder' (cp. I § 306 p. 241). vyme 'udder' for vyd-mę* (I § 547 p. 400 f., § 666 p. 526). cismę 'number' for čit-smę*, cp. číslo § 76 p. 211.

plamy m. 'flame' for pol-my*, beside pol-ěti 'to burn, uri' pla-nąti sę 'to blaze out'. In a few other examples the only form of the nom. sing. which occurs is one which shows a transference to the i-declension; e. g. pra-men-ĩ 'thread' (gen. pramen-e, like plamen-e); in others we have both forms, plamen-ĩ beside plamy, kamen-ĩ beside kamy.

Remark 4. The original weak form of this suffix perhaps appears in such examples as kamĩniya kamus, which Leskien has collected in his Handb.³ § 43 p. 58.

VI. Suffixes in -r.

§ 118. Nom. acc. neut. in -r (-r -ř). We may fairly class among the elements from which noun stems were formed the -r of neuter words like Skr. úđhar Gr. οὔρα Lat. uber (O.H.G. ūtar m., but there can be no doubt that it was originally neuter) 'udder' — for further examples see § 114 pp. 347, 350, § 116 p. 364, § 117 p. 371; etymologically it must be connected in most cases with the suffix -ro-, in some words perhaps with -er- and the comparative suffix -ero-. See

§ 74 p. 180. How these forms in -r came to be included in the paradigm of n-stems (e. g. Skr. údhār gen. abl. údh-n-as loc. údh-an-i) is a question we cannot answer. The difference in meaning, which (to judge from the variation of the stem) must once have existed between the nom. acc. and the other cases, had probably disappeared before the dissolution of the proethnic community. With this we may naturally compare the loss of the distinction in meaning, which once existed over and above the difference in gender, between the stems of the masc. Skr. pī-van- Gr. πī-(f)ov- and the fem. Skr. pī-va-r-i Gr. πī-(f)ειρα f. 'fat'.

In Aryan this nom. acc. form was also used for the pl., just as (e. g.) Skr. nāma 'ὄνομα' and purī 'πόλις' were plural as well as singular; it also served as loc. sing., cp. loc. kārman. This plurality of function may be regarded as proethnic. In Avestic however we have a still freer use; the forms in *-ar*¹ appear indifferently for cases of the most widely different meaning; e. g. karšvar 'division of the earth' is used for the gen. sing., dasvar 'strength, health' for the dat. sing., as well as for the nominative.

In several branches of language the form in -r was made the basis of a new paradigm, though the change never affected any very large number of words. Thus in Avestic we have dat. sing. zafr-ē nom. pl. zafr-a gen. pl. -zafr-am from zafar 'throat, mouth' beside gen. sing. zafan-ō; instr. pl. baēvar-biš from baēvar 'myriad', Gr. ἔαρ 'blood' gen. ἑαρ-ος beside Skr. asán- n. 'blood'; Lat. aber gen. aber-is beside Skr. údhan-; femur gen. femor-is beside femin-is, jecur gen. jecor-is and jecin-or-is beside Skr. yak-án; O.H.G. waggar gen. waggares beside Goth. vato gen. vatins 'water'.

§ 119. The Suffixes -er- and *-ter-*¹). The two forms of the suffix are found side by side without difference of meaning, like the comparative suffixes -ero- and -tero- (§ 75 p. 188 ff.). It is probable that the form -ter- arose through the addition of -er to a stem formed with a t-suffix.

1) The Author, Die Nomina auf -ar- und -iar-, Curtius' Studien IX 361 ff., D'Ooge, On the use of the suffixes -rē -rōē -rēē -ra in Homer, Leipzig 1873. E. Schäffer, Über den Gebrauch der Derivativa auf tor und tria, Prensau 1859. 1860.

The nouns in which these suffixes occur are, with comparatively few exceptions, nomina agentis or names of kindred. The former class has -ter- throughout, e. g. jeuq-ter-* 'harnesser', the latter both -er- and -ter-, e. g. daiu-er-* 'levir' and pa-ter-* 'father'. -er- is also found in a few substantives which belong to neither of the two groups, as n-er-* 'man' and us-er-* 'dawn'.

The nomina agentis are masculine, and even in the proethnic period feminines were formed for them by means of -ī- -iē-, e. g. Skr. jāni-tr-ī Gr. γενέ-τειρα Lat. gene-tr-ī-x 'she that produces, mother', see § 110 p. 336. The names of kindred were masculine or feminine according to the sex they denoted, as pa-te-r* 'father', mā-ter-* 'mother'. It was not till later periods that special grammatical signs were added to mark this, and then only in a few words; e. g. Lat. jani-tr-ī-c-ēs beside Skr. yā-tar- 'husband's brother's wife' Gr. εἰνά-τερο-ς 'women married to brothers'.

§ 120. The forms assumed by the suffix -(t)er- in its different grades were very numerous both in the proethnic and later periods. The so-called strong cases had -(t)er- -(t)or- -(t)ēr- -(t)ōr-, the weak cases -(t)r- -(t)g-.

First as regards the weak cases: -(t)r- appears before the case endings which begin in a sonant, e. g. Skr. dat. sing. pi-tr-ē dā-tr-ē, (t)g- before those which begin in a consonant, e. g. loc. pl. pi-tṛ-ṣu dā-tṛ-ṣu. The same forms of the suffix were originally regular in derivatives; e. g. Skr. datr-ī-ṣu loc. pl. fem. beside dā-tar- dā-tār- 'dator', bhrātṛ-tvā-m 'brotherhood' beside bhrā-tar- 'brothcr'. In several languages the weak forms of the suffix were soon driven out by the strong in the declension of the -(t)er- stems, especially in nomina agentis; and all that remain to show that weak forms had ever existed in the case-system are derivatives which contain the weak stem. Compare e. g. Gr. λησ-τε-ίς 'female robber' λησ-τε-κός 'inclined to robbery' beside λησ-τεωρ (-τεωρ-) and λησ-τερ (-τερ-) 'robber', Lat. dā-tr-ī-x beside da-tor (-tōr-), mole-tr-ina beside moli-tor (-tōr-), Umbr. uh-tr-etie 'auctoritate' beside uh-tur 'auctor', Lith. dukr-ėlė 'little daughter', pó-dukr-a pó-dukr-ė 'step-daughter' (Pruss. po-ducr-e) beside duk-tē (-ter-) 'daughter', Pruss. swestr-o O.C.Sl. sestr-a beside Lith. ses-ū (-er-) 'sister'.

With regard to the original distribution of the strong forms of the suffix the following points may be considered certain.

1. The nom. sing. ended sometimes in -(t)ēr(r), sometimes in -(t)ō(r), cp. on the one hand Gr. πα-τήρ δο-τήρ Lat. pa-ter (I § 655, 4 p. 503), O.Ir. a-thir (I § 657, 6 p. 509), O.Icel. fa-ðer fa-ðir, Lith. duk-tē O.C.Sl. dŭsti (Skr. pī-tā dā-tā) and on the other Gr. φρά-τωρ μητρο-πάτωρ δώ-τωρ, Lat. sor-or da-tor (I § 655, 4 p. 503), O.Ir. siur for syas-ōr (I § 657, 6 p. 509), Lith. ses-ū (Skr. bhrā-tā dā-tā).

2. A certain number of these stems had in the acc. sing. and nom. du. pl. -(t)er-, cp. Gr. πα-τέρ-u, O.H.G. fa-ter, Lith. dūk-ter-i (Skr. pī-tār-am).

3. There was a loc. sing. in (-er) -erī, cp. Gr. πα-τέρ-i (Skr. pī-tār-i dā-tār-i).

Further conclusions which I think probable are as follows. All the *-(t)er-*stems had originally the same inflexion; the difference between -é-:-ē- and '-o-:'-ō- was caused solely by difference of accent. Gr. πατήρ πατέρα: μητρο-πάτωρ, πάτωρ, ανήρ: άνέρα: άγ-ήνωρ -ήνορα and so forth, just as φρήν φρένα: ά-φρων ά-φρονα. Moreover the same variation appears where the words are uncompounded; Gr. δο-τήρ δο-τήρ beside δώ-τωρ, έη-τήρ beside έή-τωρ and the like, and Skr. nom. dā-tā beside dā-tā, pātā beside pā-tā, Avest. acc. bar-tār-em* = Skr. bhartār-am beside baśār-em = Skr. bhārtār-am (I § 260 p. 212 f.). In Greek there is no trace of a difference in meaning between these latter pairs of forms; in Sanskrit, on the other hand, the nomen agentis as a rule has the character of a participle when the root-syllable bears the accent (the governed nouns being usually in the acc., vāsūni dātā 'bona dans'), whereas, when the suffix is accented, it is a noun pure and simple (usually governing the gen., vāsūnā datā 'bonorum dator'). This distinction may be original, and at one time have prevailed in Greek; indeed, the Lat. da-tūr-u-s vouches for the fact that these nomina agentis had a participial character in the parent language, as they actually have in Iranian. It follows that the difference of accent in this class of words may been originally based on a difference of accent in the sentence. Hence it is probable that

1. The acc. sing. nom. acc. du. had -(t)or- under some conditions, parallel to -(t)er- under others; cp. Gr. δο-τορ-α φοῦ-τορ-α ἐορ-ες (§ 122), Mid.Ir. siair, Goth. brō-þar svist-ar O.H.G. bruo-dar, Skr. dā-tār-am svās-ar-am.

2. The loc. sing. always ended in -(t)er-i, even where -(t)or- occurred in the strong cases of the same paradigm, cp. Skr. dā-tar-i (with -ā- as much as dā-tūr-i), svās-ar-i beside dā-tār-am svās-ar-am, cp. Goth. loc. ūh-min: acc. ah-man. Similarly in all the feminine derivatives in -ī- -jē- (§ 110 p. 336 f.) -ter-ī was no doubt the original form in the nom. sing.; cp. Gr. ἐν-πάτειρα παμ-μήτειρα (from ἐν-πάτιωρ παμ-μήτιωρ) as well as δμη-τιωρα (beside δμη-τήρ).

Remark The assumption that all *-ter-*stems had originally the same inflexion is further supported by the Gr voc οῦ-τερ from οω-τηρ (just as πα-τερ from πα-τήρ)

Considerable readjustment took place in Aryan and Greek in the inflexion of nomina agentis which accentuated the suffix. In Sanskrit we have dā-tār-am instead of dā-tār-am* through the influence of dā-tār-am; similarly in the other strong cases. In Greek, the form -τήρ of the nom. sing. spread through all the cases: δο-τηρ-α instead of δο-τερ-α*, δο-τηρ-ου, instead of δο-τερ-ός* and so forth; only a few vocatives singular are excepted, as οῦ-τερ above. On the other hand, the -tér- of the nomina agentis is preserved in the Slavonic -tel- (§ 122): nom pl. žē-tel-e 'utters, reapers' = Idg. ghy-téres*

Amongst the names of kindred, bhrā-tor-* (Gr. φοῦ-τορ-α, Goth. brō-þar) seems to have been associated even in the parent language with forms that had -tér-, such as pə-tér-; e. g. an acc. bhrā-ter-m was formed beside bhrā-tor-m*. Hence in Greek we find the by-forms φοῦ-τηρ φοῦ-τερ-ες, in Sanskrit bhrā-tar-am, in Latin frā-ter; hence perhaps O H G. acc bruo-der as well as bruo-dar. Yet while bhrā-ter-m* arose by the side of bhrā-tor-m*, no such form as syésar-m* came into use beside syésor-m* (Skr. svāsār-am, Lat. eor-or), the reason perhaps being that the absence of t in the word prevented its association with forms like pə-tér-* mā-tér-*. But Avestic, West-Germanic and Lithuanian ultimately brought the word 'sister' into close connexion with the other names of kindred; thus acc. Avest. zwanhar-em, O.H.G. swester, Lith. sėser-į (see below).

In Latin the nominative termination -(i)ōr spread through all the cases: da-tōr-em da-tōr-is etc., sor-ōr-em sor-ōr-is etc.

In Greek -τωρ- is only found in the nom. sing. except in an isolated example: Hom. μήα-τωρ-α μήα-τωρ-ες.

In Gothic fadar (contrast patēr-a) was formed in imitation of brōþar (weátar-a) swistar (cp. žog-es); in Old High German the forms with e, such as fater muoter, had prevailed over bruodar etc. before the date of the earliest monuments of the language.

In Lithuanian we have sesū, but acc. sėsen-į gen. sėseŋ-s and so forth with -er- here the analogy of dūk-ter-į (duva-ter-a) dukteŋ-s etc. has influenced the forms, aided perhaps by the original loc. sing. in -er-i* (Skr. svāsar-i).

Compare the relations of Ablaut in the n-stems, which are on the whole similar, § 113 p. 342 ff. and what is said in the Remark there.

§ 121. Ablaut within the root-syllable varied pari passu with the variation in the suffix. pə-tér-* 'father' Skr. duhitár- etc. 'daughter' have the weak-grade-vocalism; on the other hand mā-tér-* 'mother' has that of the strong grade. Cp. I § 670 p. 535. Skr. uṣ-ár- 'dawn' beside Gr. ἠρ loc. 'early' for āv(σ)-er-* and ἄριστο-ν for āv(σ)-er-* (see § 122 p. 381).

In nomina agentis, the strong form of the root generally prevailed in Aryan, and that with either accentuation (dā-tar- and dā-tár-); a few variations from this type seem to have survived from the period before varying forms were levelled; as Skr. savyē-ṣṭhar- 'the warrior who stands to the left of the charioteer' (-sthar- = -st-tor-*) beside sthā-tár- sthā-tar-, Avest. a-frītar- 'magician' beside Skr. prē-tár- 'benefactor, lover', Avest. yūa-tar- beside Skr. yōk-tár- 'yoker', Avest. ker^o-tar- beside Skr. kar-tár- 'doer'. In Greek we have δο-τήρ : δοί-τωρ, βο-τήρ : βώ-τωρ, cp. also πο-τήρ -δετήρ βα-τήρ and ἀφ-ήτωρ; but we also find δω-τήρ ζευκ-τήρ and ἰσ-τωρ (ἰσ-τωρ) with exactly the converse accentuation. In Latin, where -tēr was displaced by -tōr (-tor), we have sta-tor and stā-tor, da-tor, sa-tor, condi-tor and pō-tor, Umbr. fertur (Skr. bhār-tar- bhar-tár-). In the case of in-ventor cēnsor and the like it is impossible to say whether we have the weak or the strong grade. The Latin participles da-tūru-s etc. follow the perf. part. (da-tu-s). In Slavonic we find both the strong (da-těŭ, sū-dětelŭ, bljus-těŭ) and the weak grade (žrŭ-těŭ).

§ 122. Indo-Germanic. daŭŕ-* daŭŕ-* and no doubt also daŭŕ-* (I § 155 Rem. p. 140¹) 'husband's brother, brother-in-law': Skr. dēvár-, Armen. taigr gen. taiger (g for u, I § 162 p. 145), Gr. δαήρ for δαυήρ* (I § 96 p. 90), Lat. lėvir (gen. lėvirŭ) for lėver* through popular association with vir (cp. also I § 369 p. 279 f.), A.S. tācor O.H.G. zeihhur (for the c and hh see Bugge, Paul-Br. Beitr. XIII 575), Lith. gen. sing. dėvėŭ-s (nom. sing. dėver-ŭ-s whence the by-form of the gen. dėver-ės; the word is also declined as an ŭo-stem; the true nom. dėvė* = Skr. dēvā Gr. δαήρ no doubt dropped out of use owing to its gender and to avoid confusion with dėvė 'goddess') O.C.Sl. dėver-ŭ. Skr. n-ār-, Gr. άνήρ, gen. άνδρ-ος, 'man', δρ-ών 'human being' (Hesych.) for νρ-* (I § 204 p. 170), Umbr. ner-f acc. 'proceres' ner-us 'proceribus'. Skr. uś-ār- 'early light, dawn' Gr. ήρι adv. loc. 'early' for ήρ-ι* āys-er-i* (ήέρ-ιο-ς 'early'), beside which we have άρι-στο-ν doubtless for āys-er-* (I § 312 p. 249 f.), cp. also άγχ-αυρο-ς 'close on morning' άυρ-ιο-ν 'morrow, morning' (for āys-* or āys-*) and Lith. auszrā 'red of the morning' (§ 74 p. 180). sųėsor-* sųesŕ-* sųesr-* 'sister' (cp. p. 9 footnote, and § 120 Rem. p. 379 f.): Skr. svāsar- Armen. koir gen. ker (I § 560. 561 p. 416 f.), Lat. sor-or and sobr-ŭnu-s (I § 570 p. 428), O.Ir. siur Cymr. chwaer (for chwear-*), Goth. svistar instead of svisar* through the influence of svistr-s etc. (I § 580 p. 433 f.), Lith. sesė gen. seseŕs, O.C.Sl. sestr-a (I § 585 p. 439); we must no doubt class here Gr. έρ (vocat.) θυγάτηρ, άνευρίος and έρο-ες πρόσηκοντες, συγγενεῖς; Hesych. (ε- for ι- I § 564 p. 421), where the meaning has changed.

pa-tér-* 'father': Skr. pitár-, Armen. hair gen. haur, Gr. πα-τήρ (note its form in compounds, e. g. μητρο-πάτωρ), Lat. pater, O.Ir. athir, Goth. fadar. mā-tér-* 'mother': Skr. mātár-,

1) In this Remark a full stop should be inserted after the word 'formation'; and in the preceding paragraph (§ 155) l. 4 read 'prim. Ar. atharun-* ('fire-priest') not atharyn-*, instead of 'for atharyn-'.

Armen. mair gen. maur, Gr. μήτηρ gen. μητρ-ός (the accent of μήτηρ no doubt follows that of the voc. μήτηρ) (προ-μήτωρ), Lat. māter, O.Ir. māthir, Goth. muoter, Lith. motė and mótė ('woman, wife') O.C.Sl. mati. Skr. duhi-tár- Gr. θυγά-τηρ (like Skr. dami-tár- Gr. παν-δαμά-τωρ, p. 383) Armen. dustr (the st is obscure) Goth. daúh-tar (early Norse nom. pl. doh-tr-iæ like Gr. Hom. θυγά-τηρ-ες) Lith. duk-tė O.C.Sl. dŭsti 'daughter'.

bhrd-tor-* and later bhrá-ter-* 'brother' (cp. § 120 Rem. p. 379): Skr. bhrátar-, Armen. elbair gen. elbaur, Gr. φράτωρ φράτηρ ('member of a φρατρία'), Lat. frāter, O.Ir. bráthir, Goth. broþar, Lith. broter-ėlė-s ('little brother'), O.C.Sl. bratr-ŭ (from which came bratŭ by dissimilation, as prostŭ from pro-strŭ*, Miklosich, Etym. Wtb. p. 321) like sestr-a.

Skr. ninānd-ar- 'husband's sister' is an analogical formation, cp. nand-inī- the same. Here should perhaps be classed Avest. atar- (acc. atar-em, nom. (a re-formation) atarš) m. Remark. In § 114 Rem. 1 p. 348 and § 117 Rem. 2 p. 369 mention was made of the transference of nominatives in -ā and -mā to the ā-declension, we see the same thing in Prakrit, where duhidā 'daughter' and mādā 'mother' were inflected like ā-stems. Similarly, in Lithuanian m-tė 'brother's wife', and in some dialects also sėsė 'sister', which is found side by side with sesė, were declined as ā-stems

The class of nomina agentis was very fertile. Skr. upa-kṣētār- 'adherent', Avest. xšaētar- 'ruler'. Skr. jētar- 'conqueror'. Avest. vi-āaētar- 'one who looks around, spy'. Towards the end of the Vedic period of Sanskrit, the nom. sing. du. pl. masc. of these nomina agentis began to be used with the present of as- 'esse' as a periphrastic future (cp. Lat. datūrus sum), which became a favourite construction in the classical period. In the third person the copula was usually omitted, and the form of the nom. sing. which had become fused with the verb, was generally kept even in the first and second persons of the plural and dual. Sing. datāsmi 'I will give' datāsi datā, du. datāsvas datāsthas datārau, pl. datāsmas datāstha datādras. Rarely 3 sing. datāsti, 1. du. datārau svas and the like.

The adjectival character of the nomina agentis created a neuter form for them in Sanskrit; thus nom. acc. sing. dā-tf (in Veda also -tūr, see I § 285 p. 228), pl. -tñi etc. Cp. Lanman, Noun-Infl p. 421 ff.

Armenian. Here are found only names of kindred, all of which have been already mentioned: taigr 'brother-in-law', koir 'sister', hair 'father', mair 'mother', dustr 'daughter', elbair 'brother', see above, p. 381 f.

Greck. δᾱήρ 'brother-in-law', ἀνήρ 'man', ἥρῃ 'early' ἔορ-ες προσῆκοντες, see above, p. 381. ἀήρ, gen. ἀέρ-ος, f. m. 'air', Lesb. αῖηρ, compare αῖρᾱ 'air'. αἰθήρ, αἰθέρος, f. m. 'aether', compare αἰθήρᾱ.

πατήρ 'father', μή-τηρ 'mother', θυγά-τηρ 'daughter', φρά-τηρ 'member of a φράτρία'; see above, p. 381 f. εἰνά-τερ-ες 'women married to brothers': Skr. yā-tar- (acc. -tar-am) 'husband's brother's wife' (probably for yā-ter-*, see I § 253 p. 207), Lat. jam-tr-i-c-ēs (§ 119 p. 377), Lith. in-tė (gen. in-tės, cp. the Remark on p. 383) 'brother's wife'; it is still doubtful what we should assume as the original form of the root-syllable; there seem to have been both a form with ə following the root-syllable, and a form without, as in Skr. duhi-tár-: Goth. daúh-tar. γασ-

-τήρ 'belly'.

The nomina agentis in -τηρ-, -τορ- were a fertile class. ἴστωρ 'knower, witness', ἐπι-ίστωρ 'conscious': Skr. vēttar- etc.; see above, p. 382. φύ-τωρ 'begetter': Osc. Fuutr-ei 'Creatrici, Genetrici', cp. also Skr. bhavi-tar- 'impending, future', √ bhe-. βα-τήρ 'βαίνων, βαδιστικός' (Hesych.), ἐπι-βήτωρ 'mounter, coverer': Skr. gán-tar- etc.; see above, p. 382. βο-τήρ βώ-τωρ 'herdsman', πούλυ-βότιον f. 'much-nourishing'. ἀφ-ήτωρ 'slinger, shooter': Lat. sa-tor, √ sē-; some scholars add Skr. s-tr-ī 'wife' (cp. Lat. sator 'begetter') which as regards the form of the root-syllable bears the same relation to sa-tor and -ή-τωρ as Skr. savyē-ṣīhar- to Gr. στα-τήρ and Skr. sthā-tár- (p. 382 f.). ἀμάλλο-δετήρ 'sheaf-binder': Skr. ni-dātár- 'fastener', √ dē. ἄκ-τωρ 'leader' ἐπ-ακτήρ 'he who goes out for prey, hunter': Lat. ac-tor. ἀλάστωρ 'not forgetful of punishment, avenging deity' beside ἄ-λαστο-ς λήθ-ω. λαμπ-τήρ 'lighter'. ὀπ-τήρ δι-οπτήρ 'watcher, spy'. ζωσ-τήρ 'girdle'. δια-βλήτωρ 'slanderer' (late). γρά-τήρ 'mixing vessel'. δμη-τήρ 'subduer', Δηή-τωρ, δμη-τειρα 'subduer (f.)'. θηρά-τήρ θηρη-τήρ, θηρά-τωρ θηρή-τωρ 'hunter' (θηράω), κυβερνη-τήρ 'steersman' (κυβεράω), αὐλη-τήρ 'flute-player' fem. αὐλη-τρις (αὐλέω), νοσμή-τωρ 'commander' (κοσμέω), μισθώ-τρια 'procuress' (μισθόω). ληστήρ λήστωρ 'plunderer, robber' (ληίζομαι). σημαίν-τωρ 'commander' (σημαίνω). φυλακ-τήρ 'watchman' (φυλάσσω for *-ακ-ιω).

-τορ-ίς 'miller (f.)': ἄλ- for ἡλ-? cp. Lat. mol-i-tor.

With -τωρ- we find only μήσ-τωρ, Homer. acc. -τωρ-α, 'counsellor' (but as a proper name Μήστορ-α), beside μῆδ-ομαι.

Lat. pa-ter Umbr. Iu-pater 'Juppiter' Iuve patre 'Jovi patri' Osc. patir 'pater' paterei 'patri' (I § 627 p. 471) Marruc. patres 'patris', Lat. mā-ter Umbr. matrer 'matris' Osc. maatreis

In the group of nomina agentis we may assume that -tōr- had prevailed in all cases even in proethnic Italic; only the derivatives show -tr-. The formation seems to have been in active use in all dialects.

Lat. in-fertor, Umbr. añ-fertur 'infertor, flamen' acc. ars-ferturo dat. -ferture: Skr. bhar-tār-; see above, p. 382. Lat. in-spector, Umbr. speture 'spectori' speturie dat. 'spectoriae': Avest. spas-tar- 'watchman'. ✓spek-. Lat. auc-tor, Umbr. uhtur 'auctor' uhturu 'auctorem' uhtretie 'auctoritate'. Osc. embratur 'imperator', regaturei 'rectori'.

Lat. domi-tor, geni-tor; see above, p. 383. meri-tōr-iu-s mere-tr-ī-x. dēbi-tōr. moli-tor. moni-tor.

The connexion of the Latin participles in -tūru-s, such as da-tūru-s, with these nomina agentis can not be denied, but the ū is obscure (I § 89 p. 85).

In Old Irish only the names of kindred remain.

athir 'father', mathir 'mother', bráthir 'brother', see above p. 381 f. To these the word for 'uncle' was assimilated, Mod.Cymr. ewi-thr O.Corn. ewi-ter, cp. Lat. avun-culu-s.

Germanic. svist-ar O.H.G. swest-er 'sister', see above p. 381.

Goth. fa-dar dauh-tar brō-þar O.H.G. fater muoter tohter bruoder; see above, p. 381 f. In O.H.G. another word seems to have been associated with these: swiger, gen. swiger, 'mother-in-law' (Skr. śvaśrū-).

In Gothic, -tru-m (for -tr-mi*) in the dat. pl. and -tr-uns (for -tr-ūs*) in the acc. pl. gave rise to the nom. pl. in -trjus, as brōþrjus, after the analogy of the u-declension. In Old High German the names of kindred were also declined as o-stems and as a-stems (according to their gender), but the feminine forms occur only in the pl., and not until a late period. Thus we have gen. sing. fateres beside fater, gen. pl. only faterā, gen. pl. tohterā beside tohter.

Of the nomina agentis we have only doubtful traces. A.S. bæcestre f. 'baker (f.)' and the like, see § 110 p. 336. A.S. bealdor O.Icel. baldr 'chief', O.H.G. smeidar 'artifex', see Kluge, Nominale Stammbildungs § 30. O.H.G. friu-dal friu-dol m. 'beloved' O.Icel. fri-ðill 'concubinus'. O.C.Sl. prija-tel-i 'friend' Avest a-frītar- 'one who pronounces a blessing' Skr. pr̥-tar- 'benefactor, lover'. l must have arisen in Germanic, as in Slavonic, (-tel-i) through dissimilation, cp. murmulōn etc. I § 277 p. 221; but there is difficulty in explaining the relation of the vowels in the root-syllable (cp. Brate in Bezzenb. Beitr. XI 187).

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. dėver-i-s gen. dėvėr-s O.C.Sl. dėver-i 'brother-in-law', Lith. sesū gen. sesėr-s, also nom. sėsė on the analogy of mótė etc. (cp. the Remark on p. 383), O.C.Sl. sestra 'sister', see above, p. 381.

Lith. mo-tė and mó-te 'woman, wife' O.C.Sl. matī 'mother', Lith. duk-tė O.C.Sl. dūsti 'daughter', Lith. bro-ter-žli-s 'little brother'. O.C.Sl. bra-tr-ū bia-tū 'brother', see p. 382 above. Lith. in-tė (gen. intes) 'brother's wife' (O.C.Sl. ję-tr-y like svėkry): Skr. yā-tar- etc., see p. 385 above; a confusion with gentī-s 'a relative' (m. f.) gave rise to the form gent-ė gen. gentėr-s or gentės 'husband's brother's wife'. In Czech the inflexion of neti f. 'niece' (= Skr. napt-i) was assimilated to that of the names of kindred, partly in consequence of the similar ending of the nom. sing.: thus gen. neter'-e, like mater'-e; cp. Skr. náptar- p. 383.

The class of nomina agentis is found only in Slavonic, where it was fertile. In Lithuanian these forms were displaced by those in -toji-s = O.C.Sl. -tajš, as ar-tóji-s = O.C.Sl. ra-tajš 'arator'; as to Lith -kle see I § 281 Rem. 1 p. 224. Slav. -tel- arose from -ter- by dissimilation; see I § 281 p. 224. -tel- without any additional suffix is still found in nom. gen. instr. pl., -tel-e, -tel-ŭ, -tel-y although the two latter forms may also be regarded as belonging to the o-decl.); elsewhere we have -tel-je-. sŭ-věsteli 'conscious, witness', bljusteli 'watchman', žę-teli 'reaper', sŭ-dětelŭ 'conditor', zva-teli 'caller', zna-teli 'knower'; see above, p. 382 f. da-teli 'giver', see above, p. 384. prija-teli 'friend', see above p. 388. žřŭ-teli 'offerer, priest'. vlas-teli 'commander' (vlada 'I command, rule'), zŭ-teli 'inhabitant', děla-teli 'worker'. sŭ-bŭrateli 'collector'. umě-teli 'one who understands'. sŭ-věděteli 'conscious, witness'. prosi-teli 'beggar'. goni-teli 'follower'. -iteli was also used as an independent suffix: e. g. po-dad-iteli 'lender, bail, security', po-greb-iteli 'burier'.

VII Suffixes in -t.

§ 123. The Suffix *-t*¹⁾. In the proethnic language this was a primary suffix; and it was most frequently found, as its use in Sanskrit, Greek and Latin shews, in the final members of compound words. These had the force of a participle, which was generally active and could be either an adjective or substantive. But -t is used in this way only with roots which end in vowels, liquids, or nasals, such as ej-, dhē-, bher-, ghen-. Skr. arthēt- (artha-t-t) 'busy, in haste', Lat. comes stem com-i-t (properly 'one who goes with'), √ ej-. Avest. fratema-dā-t 'one set first, set in front, chief', Gr. ῥῆς, gen. ῥῆ-τος, 'hired labourer', √ dhē-. Avest. praotō-stā-t adj. 'in the rivers', Lat. anti-sti-t, √ stā-.

1) De Saussure, Le suffixe -t, Mémoires de la Soc. de Ling. III 197 ff.

Here must be classed nepūt- nept- (Skr. nāpat 'offspring, descendant' instr. nādbhiṣ for nabd-bhiṣ*, Lat. nepōs, Mid.Ir. niae, gen. math, 'sister's son', O.H.G. nefo 'nephew, relative' Goth. niþ-ji-s 'cousin, relative', O.Icel. nið-r 'offspring', O.C.Sl. net-ijŕ 'nephew, cousin', see I § 527 Rem. 1 p. 382, § 545 p. 399), if it belongs to the root of pə-ter-* 'father' and if its original meaning was 'not having (a father's) protection, belonging to the family of uncle or grandfather', and hence 'nephew' or 'grandson'; see E. Leumann, Festgruss an Otto von Bohtlingk 1888 p. 77 f.

Next should be mentioned noq-t- 'night' (beside noq-ti-*, cp. the suffix -tati- beside -tat- § 102 p. 308): Skr. nák-t- (Gaedicke, Der Acc. im Veda 177, B. Kahle, Zur Entwicklung der Consonant. Decl. im Germ. 32 f.), Gr. νύξ νυκ-τό-ς, Lat. nox (which also forms i-cases), O Ir. in-nocht 'hac nocte', Goth. gen. nah-t-s dat. nah-t, O.Lith. gen. pl. nak-t-u.

We also find a few substantive numerals (with by-forms in -ti-, see § 101 p. 306 f.). dekṃ-t-* 'decade': Skr. daśát-, Gr. δεκάς gen. δεκάδ-ος (for the δ see p. 392), Lith. pl. dėszimt-s O.C.Sl. pl. deset-e. In this way were formed Skr. pañcát- Gr. πεντάς πεντάς 'a group of five' (I § 427 a p. 312) beside Skr. pāñca Gr. πέντε 'five', and other examples.

Lastly we find a certain number of nouns in different languages with a short vowel between the root and -t-; as Skr. sravát- f. 'river', Lat. teges, gen. teget-is, f. 'covering', Goth. mitaþ-s, stem mitad- f. 'measure', Skr. vaghát- 'praying', Gr. ἀγέρ- 'gleaming', Lat. teres, gen. teret-is, 'turned, round, long'. Not one of these nouns appears in more than one language. Nevertheless it is natural to derive them from a common source.

In several branches of Indo-Germanic, particularly in Aryan, this suffix -t- was taken widely into use in combination with others by which it was extended. The new compound suffixes were used independently and became fertile, e. g. Skr. -t-nu-.

'praising the gods', Avest. ahūm-stu-t 'praising the world'. Skr. dēva-śrū-t- 'heard of the gods, audible to them'. Skr. vajra-bhṛ-t- 'bearing the thunderbolt', Avest. aš-ber-t- 'enduring much' a-ber-t- 'purveyor' (appellation of a priest's assistant). Skr. su-kṛ-t- 'behaving well', Avest. yās-ker-t- 'transacting business'. Avest. taxmār-t- (taxma-ar-t-) 'pressing on hard'. Skr. adhva-gā-t- 'on the way, traveller', $\sqrt{\text{gem-}}$. Less often in un-compounded words: Skr. ṛi-t- 'running', hrū-t- 'injurer, foe', Avest. stū-t- 'praiser'. Moreover these -t- stems are found in Aryan as feminine abstract substantives: Skr. sam-i-t- 'hostile meeting', m-yū-t- 'team', stū-t- 'praise, song', vṛ-t- 'company, following, troop, band', Avest. xšnūt- 'wisdom'. For the Skr. nāpāt-nāpt- 'offspring, descendant' Avest. napāt-napt- (fem. Skr. napt-i- Avest. napt-ī-) see above p. 390, and for Skr. nāptar- Avest. naptar- § 122 p. 383.

Extensions of this suffix gave rise to the suffixes -tya-, e. g. Skr. kṛtya-s 'faciendus' § 63 p. 123 f., -tnu-, e. g. Skr. kṛtnū-ṣ 'active' § 106 p. 320, -tvan-, e. g. Skr. kṛtvan- 'effecting' § 116 p. 364. Compare Skr. mṛt-yū-ṣ 'death' § 105 p. 318 f.

Skr. nāk-t- 'night', see above p. 390. Skr. daśāt- 'a group of ten' pañcāt- 'a group of five', see above, p. 390.

A few Sanskrit nouns have -at- -ūt-. śravāt- f. 'river'. vahāt- f. 'stream'. saścāt- f. 'stopping, check'. vēhāt- f. 'a cow which yeans prematurely, casts'. vāghāt- 'praying, one who prays'. sarīt- f. 'river, brook'. yōṣīt- f. 'girl, maiden'. harīt- 'tawny'. There is one word in -ūt-: marūt- name of the storm-gods.

Greek. $\theta\eta\varsigma$, gen. $\theta\eta-\tau-ός$, 'hired labourer', see p. 389 above. $\pi\lambdaώς$, gen. $\pi\lambda\omega-\tau-ός$, 'swimmer' name of a fish. $\omega\mu\omicron-\beta\rhoώς$, gen. $-\beta\rho\omega\tau-ος$, 'devouring raw flesh' ($\sqrt{\text{ger-}}$, cp. I § 306 p. 242). $\alpha\gammaνώς$, gen. $-\gamma\eta\omega\tau-ος$, 'unknown, not knowing'. $\pi\rho\omicron-\beta\lambdaής$, gen. $\beta\lambdaῆ-\tau-ος$, 'thrown forward, springing forward, prominent'. $\delta\omicron\mu-\kappa\muής$, gen. $-\kappa\muῆ-\tau-ος$, 'subdued by the spear'.

$\delta\epsilon\kappaάς$, $\pi\epsilon\mu\piάς$ $\pi\epsilon\eta\tauάς$, see p. 390 above. So also $\epsilon\piτάς$ 'a group of seven' ground-form septim-t-*, $\epsilon\nuνείας$ 'a group of nine', δνάς τρούς (this word cannot be compared with Lat. triēns, gen. trient-is), ἔξας etc. In I § 238 p. 199, § 469, 7 p. 346 something has been said of the -δ- in these forms. In the Indo-Germanic case-system (dekmt- septmt-* and so forth) there was a variation between t and d, e. g. dat. dekmt-ai*, instr. dekmd-bhi(s)*. The only question is whether the Gr. -δ- arose from an assimilation of the cases with t to this latter form either in Greek or earlier, or whether the δ was a special Greek development, due to the terminations -ας -ασι, which also belonged to the original d-stems (§ 128). The latter explanation now seems to me the more probable Cp. λάταγ- § 130 Rem ἀργέτ- and ἀργήτ- 'gleaming' the nom was perhaps originally -ēt, gen. -et-os and so forth (cp. below A.S. hæle 'hero' for pr. Germ chalēp*) ρέλης, gen. -ητ-ος, m. 'runner, courser', ἔχης m. 'possessor', λέβης m. 'cauldron, bowl'.

Italic. Lat. com-es, anti-stes, nepōs (gen. nepōt-is etc.; the weak form of the stem appears in nept-i-s), see p. 390 above. sacerdōs, gen. -dōt-is, for sacro-dō-t-* I § 633 p. 473 f.; where it must be remembered that -dō-t- can be derived not only from $\sqrt{dō-}$, but also from $\sqrt{dhē}$ (cp. Gr. θω-μός etc. I § 315 p. 254). locu-plēs, gen. -plē-t-is, whose original meaning has not been clearly determined (see Corssen, Krit. Nachtr. 253). man-suēs, gen. -suē-t-is (beside mān-suē-tu-s). Add in-gen-t-, if it originally meant 'unknown, unheard of', and then 'extraordinary, huge', and so comes from $\sqrt{gen-}$ 'know' (Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. IV 149 f.).

Lat. nox, see above p. 390.

With -et-: teges (gen. teget-is) f., seges f., merges f.; teres, hebes. An isolated form is caput, gen. capit-is.

Remark 1. With -it-: eques (gen equit-is) m. (equo-s), pedes m (pēs), vāles m. (vēlur-m), mīles m., cīrces m. (cīrcu-s), palmes m. (palma), āles subst. m. and adj. (ālā). K. Walter (Kuhn's Ztschr. X 194 ff.) holds that these correspond to such Greek denominatives as ἵππδ-τα (eques) ἄγδ-της (§ 80 p. 240). There seems to me to have been a confusion in Latin between tā-stems and compounds with -i-t- 'going' (see com-i-t- above), after the vowels preceding the -t- had become indistinguishable through phonetic change. The compounds attracted the tā-stems into their own consonantal declension, a process which was assisted by popular etymology. But it is doubtful whether all these forms (eques etc.) were tā-stems to start with. It may certainly be assumed of a few examples, such as ped-t-, that (like com-es) they were real compounds of -i-t- 'going'.

Old Irish. nīae, gen. niath, (Mid.Ir.) 'sister's son', in-nocht 'hac nocte', see p. 390 above.

With -et-: cing-, gen. cinged, 'hero, warrior' Gall. Cing-es-etis Cinget-o-rīx, traig 'foot', cm 'debt', luch 'mouse'. Compare Gall. acc. pl. Namnet-as, and further (with ā) Atrebāt-es (beside O.Ir. atreba i. e. ad-treba 'possidet, habitat') as well as Ir. ascad- (nom. ascae) 'rival, enemy' arad- 'charioteer'; in these words it is difficult to determine the original form of the suffix.

Germanic. O.H.G. nefo 'nephew' for nefō(ā)* has been attracted into the n-declension: Skr. nāpāt etc., see p. 390 above. O.H.G. nift 'neptis, privigna' = Skr. napt-ī.

Gen. sing. Goth. nah-t-s O.H.G. naht-e-s, dat. Goth. O.H.G. nah-t etc. (nom. Goth. naht-s O.H.G. naht 'night'). Skr. nāk-t- etc., see above p. 390. In Germanic the various cases of this word followed different declensions.

Remark 2 Consonantal cases are found in the declension of the feminine nouns Goth. vaih-t-s 'thing' brus-t-s 'breast' as from naht-s; and also from spaurþ-s (spaur-d-) 'race-course' dulþ-s (dul-þ-) 'feast' The two latter should be compared with such Sanskrit fem forms as vṛ-t- stū-t- (see p. 391), if their consonantal inflexion is original

There is a class of nouns which show a vowel before the -t- (pr. Germ. -þ- or -d-, following always the position of the accent), which have abandoned their old consonantal inflexion more or less completely. Goth. mitaþ-s (st. mitad-) f. 'measure', beside O.Sax. metod O.Icel. myqtuð-r m. 'measurer, orderer, artist, creator'. O.H.G. helid A.S. hæleð (also hæle, an old nom. without s, for halēþ*) O.Icel. hǫld-r 'hero'. O.H.G. hehhit 'pike', sceffid 'creator', leitid 'leader'. In Norse this class (nomina agentis) was fertile: e. g. hatu-ār hqtuð-r 'hater', skapaðr 'creator' framið-r 'gestor, tributor, dator'.

Goth. mēnōþ-s (dat. mēnōþ, pl. nom. acc. mēnoþ-s) O.H.G. mānōd O.Icel. mānað-r (pl. mānað-r m. 'month'. The nominative form mēnō(þ)* gave rise to Goth. mēna O.H.G. māno, which then developed n-cases like nefo. In this word -t- was a secondary suffix, and so also in Goth. veitvōþ-s (veitvōd-) m. 'witness'; this form will be discussed below in § 176.

Balto-Slavonic. The Lith. nom. sing. mėnū (gen. mėnesio) may, with O.H.G. māno, be referred to mēnōt*.

Lith. pl. dėszimt-s O.C.Sl. deset-e; see p. 390 above.

Remark 3 The Slav maso. lakŭti 'elbow, ell', nogŭti 'unguis', pěcati 'seal' form cases according to the consonantal declension, e g. gen. pl. lakutŭ nom. pl. pěcat-e. Have we here a secondary transference to this declension?

§ 124. The Suffixes -tāt- and -tāt- formed feminine abstract substantives from Adjectives and Substantives, and had in the proethnic and later periods the parallel forms -tāti- and -tūti-. They have been discussed in § 102 p. 308 ff.

§ 125. The Suffix -nt-¹⁾. In all periods this suffix formed all the active participles excepting that of the Perfect (§ 136). In most of the separate groups of languages it has remained in living use down to the present day.

nt- participles became simple nouns in all the languages, though more rarely in some than in others. They became partly adjectives pure and simple (with comparative and superlative), such as Mod.H.G. reizend 'charming' and partly substantives, such as Mod.H.G. freund 'friend'. This change from one part of speech to another has taken place at every stage in the developement of the Indo-Germanic languages. Thus for example Mod.H.G. zahn (Lat. dēns) had become a substantive in the proethnic period, freund (Goth. frijōnd-s) in XXIX 487 ff, so as to make use of it for the following sections, but a cursory survey has shown me, to my great satisfaction, that we have arrived at the same conclusions on certain main points).

proethnic Germanic, heiland (A.S. hæleand) in proethnic West-Germanic, and der vorsitzende (O.H.G. furi-sizzando) 'president' in High German. Compare § 144.

-nt- is sometimes added immediately to the root-syllable, e. g. *s-yt- 'being' √ es- (Skr. s-ánt- s-at-), sometimes to stems having a tense-determinant, e. g. pres. qi-nu-yt-* √ qeṣ- (Skr. ci-nv-ánt- ci-nv-at-), rud-ó-nt-* √ reyd- (Skr. rud-á-nt-), bhēydh-o-nt-* √ bheṣdh- (Skr. bódh-a-nt-), fut. dō-sjó-nt-* √ dō- (Skr. dā-syánt-).

Remark 1. It is a plausible hypothesis that the 3. pl. in -nti and -nt (rudó-nti* = Skr. rudá-nti é rudó-nt* = Skr. á-rudan, cp. Lat. rudu-nt) is simply the bare stem of this participial formation, to which -i was sometimes added on the analogy of the 3 sing. in -i beside -t etc. If so, the 3 pl. perf (Gr. λελόγγ-ασσι -ασσι, Goth. vit-un) was doubtless formed originally with some other suffix; and as a matter of fact the nt- suffix is not used in that tense in Aryan.

The original variation of ablaut is on the whole clear:

In participles formed from non-thematic verbal stems, the suffix varied between -ýt- and -yt- in the parent language; as Skr. sing. aec. s-ánt-am ci-nv-ánt-am gen. s-at-ás ci-nv-at-ás pl. loc. s-út-su ci-nv-át-su (instead of s-at-si* ci-nv-at-si*), cp. I § 226 p. 193, § 230 p. 196 etc.

With thematic stems, on the other hand, the suffix assumed the forms -ó-nt- and -yt-; as Skr. rudá-nt-am rudat-ás rudat-su (instead of rudat-si*) Gr. ῥιδόντ-α ῥιδόντ-ός* ῥιδόντ-αι* (replaced by ῥιδόντες and ῥιδόνται ῥιδοῦσι). It is certain that -ó-nt- and -yt- were original; but it is still a little doubtful whether the paradigm also contained -e-nt-. The nom. sing. ended partly in -o-nt-s (and under certain conditions perhaps in -e-nt-s), partly in -ōn (Gr. ῥιδών O.C.Sl. bery; there was no loss of -t, contrast ῥιγών for ῥιγών-τι* I § 611 p. 461).

Remark 2. Special evidence for a form -e-nt- beside -o-nt- and -yt- is given by Mid.H.G. zint O.Icel tind-r 'tooth, prong' = d-en-t-* beside d-on-t-* (O.H.G. zan, Gr. δόντ- etc.) and d-yt-* (Goth. tunþ-). It is possible to assume (with B. Kahle, Zur Entw. der Conson. Deol., 18) that the loc. sing. was originally dén(i)*, cp. loc. sing. -en(-i) -men(-i) § 113 p. 344 and -(i)er-i § 120 p. 379. Another view is also possible. rud-é-nt-* may once have existed beside bhēydh-o-nt-, d-é-nt- beside d-o-nt-* as ῥε-εγ-ε, beside ῥ-ῥε-ογ-ε § 113 p. 343 f. and πα-τέρ-ε beside ῥεῖ-τορ-ε.

μῆτρο-τάτορες § 120 p. 378, while in the -nt- stems also in either case the loc. sing. may have had -e-, dent-(i)*. This latter assumption would explain very simply the varying declension of these stems in the different languages. Observe especially that in this case there would be no necessity to suppose any levelling of different forms of the stem in participles like Lat. rudēns rudentis etc., inasmuch as rudent- would come as regularly from rudént-* as from rudnt-*.

'he will give': Skr. dāsyánt- Lith. dāses (-ent-) uē-nt-* (the stem doubtless had this form in all the cases; for Aryan vāt- in the weak cases see § 110 p. 337), from uē-ti* 'blows' (without vowel-gradation): Skr. vā-nt-, Gr. ἄεις ἄ(f)εῖν for á(f)ηνν-*; add Lat. vent-u-s Goth. vind-s 'wind', which have been extended by -o-. sthā-nt- stānt-, from stā-t(i)* (Lat. sta-t, Skr. á-sthā-t Gr. ἑστη): Skr. stā-nt-, Gr. στάς (στανν- may regularly represent either form of the stem), Lat. stāns (stant-, as in Greek); dō-nt- dā-nt-, from dō-t(i) (Lat. da-t instead of dō-t*, Skr. á-da-t): Gr. δώνς (δωνν- for dō-νν-* or instead of dā-νν-*, see I § 109 p. 102), Lat. *dāns (da-nt- = dā-nt-). In the following examples the tense-stem ends in a consonant. s-nt- s-nt-, beside és-ti* 'is': Skr. s-ánt- s-at; in Greek the only trace of the orig. stem is s-nt-* in the fem. Dor. ἑασσα i. e. é(σ)-αν-τα* § 110 p. 337

Skr. mṛ-n-ánt- mṛ-n-at- 'grinding'; Gr. δαμ-ν-άντ- (nom. δαμνῶς) 'taming', where this strong form of the stem is carried through the paradigm.

A number of participles of this kind became simple nouns even in the parent language. Skr. jāra-nt- 'frail, old,

1) In this section, as in Vol I § 235 p 198 f, I have regarded -av- as the regular phonetic representative of original -ā-. This view has been recently attacked by Kogel in the Literar Centralbl 1886 Sp. 1380, in his criticism of Burghausen, who maintained (as I do) that ῥασι (for ῥ(a)arri*) was the normal form of the 3. pl of the root es-, the comparison Skr sānti = Gr εἰσι (for arri*) = II G sind 'is', says our critic, 'almost universally' (??) 'accepted'. In view of this, I am bound to call attention to the evidence of the word π-άντ- = Idg. h₂u-nt-* which is shortly to be mentioned in the text; a form which is of especial importance from its isolation, and which in my opinion decides the question of the representation of Idg. ū in Greek distinctly in favour of av. Can any one maintain the alternative that in the protohmic period of Greek π-άντ-* became π-άντ- through the influence of the weak form π-αν-* = h₂u-nt-*? This form disappeared in that very period, and in other instances of levelling between different cases it is the reverse process and that only that has been established — e. g. -frr- for -fur- on the analogy of -ferr-, φε-ε-σι for φε-α-σι on the analogy of φεεν-. Nor are the objections urged by Meringer (Ztschr. f. österr. Gymn. 1888 p. 149 f.) against my theory at all more serious. I hope to find an opportunity elsewhere of dealing with his arguments in detail; suffice it here to say, that in maintaining as he does (p 150) that the e of the Indo-Germanic sound en, which he and J. Schmidt assume in place of u, 'naturally' became a in Aryan, he has completely overlooked the fact that before this en the Aryan h-sounds would necessarily appear as c-sounds, which no more happens here than it does before ir = Idg. gr.

hoary', Gr. γέρον (-ογρ-) 'old man'. Skr. śá-śvant- śá-śvat- 'complete, whole, every' for *śú-śvant- (I § 557 p. 413), Gr. πάντ- (πάς) ἄ-παντ- (ἄ-πάς) 'all, every', Idg. *h₂y-ūt- *h₂y-ūt- originally perhaps 'coming to fulness', compare Skr. śva- 'swell out' Gr. κέω 'am pregnant' κύος 'fetus' (to the same root belongs Dor. πᾶ-μα § 117 p. 370 f.); cp. Goth. all-s § 66 p. 147 and Lat. omni-s § 95 p. 286. Skr. bṛhánt- bṛhāt- 'exalted, high, great' fem. bṛhāt-ī, O.Ir. Brigat f. Lesb. ἔδοντες was a re-formation, the original word being altered on the analogy of ἔδω, than that a by-form *éd-o-n-t- 'tooth' should have existed side by side with *d-ón-t- in Indo-Germanic; the ó- of ὀδόντς however has yet to be explained; the theory of J. Schmidt (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 51) and G. Meyer, (Gr. Gr.² p. 306) does not satisfy me.

Skr. vindā-nt- Avest. vinda-nt- 'finding', beside indic. vindā-ti vindaiti, √yēd-.

1) I see no sufficient reason for doubting that in dantā we still have the old *-nt-*stem (Brückner, Archiv für slav. Phil. III 247) grindā beside grindāti from grind-i-s 'deal board', only shews that the word has been influenced by the analogy of such forms as dantā.

Skr. udan-yá-nt- 'streaming' beside indic. udan-yá-ti. Skr. vak-śyá-nt- Avest. vax-šya-nt- fut. 'about to speak', beside indic. vak-śyá-ti vax-šyēti. Skr. vā-nt- Avest. vā-nt- 'blowing', beside indic. vā-ti vāiti: Gr. ἀέις, see above p. 396. Skr. snā-nt- 'washing oneself, bathing', beside indic. snā-ti: Lat. nāns. Skr. s-ánt- Avest. h-ant- 'being, true', beside indic. ás-ti as-ti 'is'. Skr. y-ánt- Avest. y-ant- 'going, coming', beside indic. é-ti aeiti. Skr. dād-at- 'giving, dádha-at- ponens', Avest. dađant- 'giving, ponens', beside indic. Skr. dāda-ti dádha-ti Avest. dađāiti; the Avestic form was a new formation, see above, p. 397. Skr. su-nv-ánt- Avest. hu-nv-ant- 'pressing out', beside indic. su-nō-ti hu-naoti. Skr. kṛī-n-ánt- 'buying', beside indic. kṛī-nī-ti.

In proethnic Aryan, participles like vā-n-t- 'blowing' lost their nasal in the weak cases on the analogy of sánt-am: sat-ás etc. Compare § 110 p. 337. Beside Skr. mahat- Av. mazat- (mahat-ā mahād-bhiš, mazaþ) 'great' we have a remarkable form Skr. mahānt- Avest. mazānt- (mahānt-am, mazānt-em). Compare with it the Vedic acc. mahā-m and such compounds as mahā-grāmá-s 'great host'. mahānt- is doubtless a contamination of mahan- (mahān-) and mahat-; compare § 135.

On the whole Sanskrit has preserved faithfully the vowel-gradation of proethnic Aryan; e. g. sing. acc. prchá-nt-am su-nv-ánt-am instr. prchat-ā su-nv-at-ā pl instr. prchád-bhiš su-nv-ád-bhiš. On the other hand, we find in Avestic the strong form of the stem constantly transferred to the weak cases, as gen. pl. jasent-am contrasted with Skr. gácchat-ām, dat. pl. ber'zenbyō contrasted with Skr. bṛhád-bhyas.

Participles used simply as nouns. Pre-Aryan: Skr. járant-, Skr. śá-śvant-, Skr. bṛhánt-, Avest. ber'zant- 'exalted, high, great', Skr. dánt- 'tooth' (Avest. dant-an- has the -en- which is so common in names of parts of the body, cp. § 114 p. 345 ff.); see above, p. 397 f. Aryan: Skr. mahnt- Avest. mazdnt- 'great', see above, Skr. prśant- 'spotted, dappled', dhṛśánt- 'courageous, bold', ṛhánt- 'small, little' (the opposite of bṛhánt-), Avest. sao-šya-nt- fut. part. 'who will help, saviour, preserver'.

Greek. Participles. ῥέων (-o-vr-) 'flowing', beside indic.

ῥέει ῥέει: Skr. sráv-a-nt-, √ sreṃ. φορέων 'bearing', from φορέω: Skr. bharáya-nt-, √ bher-. πέπων (-ο-ντ-) fut. 'about to cook', from πέψω, √ peg-. λιπών (-ο-ντ-) 'leaving', from ἔ-λιπ-ον: Skr. ric-á-nt-, √ leṃḡ-. γνούς (-όντ-) 'learning' for *γνω-ντ- (I § 611 p. 461), from ἔ-γνω-ν; μίγεις (-έντ-) 'mixed with, united with' for *μιγη-ντ-, from ἔ-μίγη-ν. τεκταίνων 'making', from τεκταίνω for *τεκταν-χω. τιμάων 'honouring', from τιμάω. δουλόων 'subjugating', from δουλόω. στάς (στάντ-) 'placing oneself, being in a position', beside ἐ-στη-ν; see p. 396 above. πᾶς (acc. π-άντ-α gen. π-αντ-ός) 'complete, all' for *κμ-ῡτ-, see p. 398 above; the indic. would perhaps be *ἔκμ-τι. πέψας (-αντ-) part. aor. 'cooking', beside ι-πεψ-α, instead of *πεπ-σ-άντ- *πεπ-σ-ατ- = *peg-s-ῡτ- *peg-s-ῡτ- or perhaps instead of the single form *πέπ-σ-ατ- = *pég-s-ῡτ- (which may have been regular in all the cases); the latter view is supported especially by Ved. nom. sing. dhákṣat (dah- 'burn'). τιθείς (-έντ-) 'placing' contrasted with Skr. dádḥ-at-; see above, p. 397. ἀγνός (-ύντ-) 'breaking' (trans.) contrasted with Skr. śak-nuv-ánt-; see above, p. 399. δαμν-ᾶς (-άντ-) 'taming', see ibid.

In Greek only a few traces remain of the different forms due to the original vowel gradation. Beside φέροντ- a form *φέρουτ- = Skr. bhárat- is implied in Heracl. loc. pl. πρᾶσσόν-τασσι and the like: such a form as *φερασσι for *φερατ-σι (Skr. bhúrat-su) would be altered to φερόντ-ασσι through the influence of φέροντ- in the other cases. Dor. έασσα (Cret. dat. ιάττα) = Skr. s-at-t has been already mentioned on p. 396. If we may trust a few corrupt glosses in Hesychius, a form φεκατ-, fem. ἀ-έκασσα once existed beside ἐκών ἐκόντ-ος 'willing'. See R. Kögel, Paul-Br. Beitr. VIII 116, J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 590 ff.

Remark 1 It is very questionable whether θέρμασσα 'furnace, stove' comes directly from the partic. θέρμων 'warming', as some maintain. It is important to notice that we have the parallel form θερμαίνω. Cp. προ-φρσσαι beside πρό-φρων.

Participles used simply as nouns. Pre-Greek: γέρων, πᾶς, ὀδούς, see p. 398. Greek: δράκων 'dragon' (δρακῶν part. aor.), ἄρχων 'ruler', κρείων 'ruler' (εὐρυ-κρείων 'ruling over wide realms'), μέδων 'counsellor, lord' (εὐρυ-μέδων): Goth. mitand-s 'measuring', ὁρίζων 'the bounding line, horizon'; ἐκόν 'willing', φαέθων 'shining, bright', μέλλον 'future'.

Italic. Participles. Lat. sedēns (-ent-), Umbr. zeřef serse 'sedens'. Lat. prae-sēns, Osc. praesentid 'praesente'. Lat. dūcēns: Goth. tiuh-a-nd-s 'drawing', √ deyk-. agēns: Skr. āj-a-nt- Gr. ἄγων, √ ag- 'agere'. monēns for moneient-*, beside moneō (I § 134 p. 121): Skr. mānáyant- 'honouring', √ men- 'remember, think'. cōn-spiciēns: Skr. paś-ya-nt- 'seeing', √ spek-. rudēns: Skr. rud-ā-nt- 'lamenting', √ reud-. vorrens (verrens): O.C.Sl. vrěchy 'threshing', √ uers-. rumpēns: Skr. lumpá-nt- 'breaking'. im-plēns, beside im-ple-t (plē-). flāns, beside fla-t (fla-). albēns, beside albe-t. plantāns, beside planta-t. stāns, dāns, see p. 396 above. mi-nu-ēns ster-nu-ēns may represent immediately the original forms in -nu-ýt- -nuu-ýt-; and similarly li-nēns ster-nēns (li-n-ent- ster-n-ent-), may be directly compared with Skr. my-n-ánt- Gr. δαμ-ν-ávτ-; see above, p. 397.

Few traces can be found of vowel gradation in the stem. If the form -e-nt- did not ever occur beside -o-nt- -ýt- in the original paradigm of the participles from thematic stems (see § 125 Rem. 2 p. 395 f.), then in all the examples of participles of this class in Latin, -ent- must be due to an assimilation of all the cases to those with Idg. -ýt- (e. g. gen. rudent-is = Skr. rudat-ás). The grade -o-nt- is still seen in eunt-is etc. beside iēns, flexu-nt-ēs beside flexentēs, Roman knights on active service, voluntas for volont-i-tās* beside volēns, and other examples; see Bechstein in Curtius' Stud. VIII 344. 348. 352; the forms ferundu-s faciundu-s also are indirect evidence for -o-nt- in the partic.; see § 69 p. 162. In the participles from non-thematic stems, such as prae-s-ent-, -ent- regularly represents both -ýt- and -ýt- (I § 240 p. 200); and this form, which appeared in all the cases, may have helped to establish -ent- in the former class to the exclusion of -o-nt-.

The purely nominal use of the suffix is here more common than in Aryan and Greek. Pre-Italic: Lat. dēns, see p. 398.

Lat. prae-sēns, Osc. pra-sentid. Lat. serpēns, parēns, ad-ulēscēns, cliēns, oriēns (sc. sōl); ē-loquēns, con-gruēns, in-nocēns, sapiēns, abundāns, in-tolerāns. In its adjectival function the participial suffix was fertile even beyond its original sphere; thus such forms as bene-volenter -volentior -volentissimu-s which were attached to bene-volu-s etc., produced māgni-ficenter -ficentior -ficentissimu-s (from -ficu-s).

In Old Irish it is only used as a purely nominal suffix. Brigit f. = Skr. br̥hat-ī and dēt 'tooth', see above p. 398. lōche, gen. lōchet, 'flash', √ leṣk-. brāge 'neck'. care cara, gen. carat, 'friend', Gall. Carant-onus Carant-illus. tē, pl. tēit, 'hot' for tepent-* (I § 339 p. 269).

Germanic. Goth. kus-a-nd-s O.H.G. chos-a-nt-i 'trying, choosing': Skr. jōṣ-a-nt- 'being fond of', √ ḡeṣ-. Goth. us-vakja-nd-s 'awakening' O.H.G. wecche-nt-i 'wakening': Skr. vājāya-nt- 'urging, driving on', √ ueḡ-* 'move, be strong'; Goth. fra-wardja-nd-s O.H.G. far-wertte-nt-i 'causing to disappear, destroying': Skr. varīāya-nt- 'causing to turn, or run a course', √ uert-. Goth. nasja-nd-s O.H.G. nerie-nt-i 'saving', √ nes-. O.H.G. feh-ta-nt-i 'fighting': Lat. pec-tēns. Goth. vit-a-nd-s O.H.G. wizz-a-nt-i 'knowing': Skr. vid-ā-nt- 'finding', Gr. īd-ó-rr- 'seeing', √ ueid-. Goth. ga-daurs-a-nd-s 'venturing': Skr. dhṛṣ-ā-nt- 'courageous'. Goth. salbō-nd-s O.H.G. salbō-nt-i 'anointing', beside indic. Goth. salbō-p O.H.G. salbō-t.

The original vowel-gradation has disappeared. But an example of original -yt- survives in Goth. hulund-i 'cave, hole' § 110 p. 337.

The participles in actual use were declined in Gothic as weak n-stems; except that in the nom. sing. we have -nds i. e. -nd-a-z* besides the usual form from n-stems: thus, nom. kiusa-nds and -nda, gen. -ndins and so forth. In Old High German this participle was an -iō-stem; -nti is the so-called uninflected form. Parallel to it is the inflected form: 'strong' -ntēr, 'weak' -nto. See the sections on the cases.

Participles becoming Substantives:

Pre-Germanic. Goth. tunþ-u-s O.H.G. zan 'tooth', see above p. 398. This variation arose from the original doublet, pr. Germ. tānp-* = d-ó-nt-* and tund-* = d-nt-*. Such cases as acc. sing. Goth. tunþ-u (instead of tanþ-u* = dónt-~~u~~*) gave rise to the u-inflection; see Kahle as already quoted, 12 ff.

Examples common to all branches of Germanic are: Goth. frijōnd-s O.H.G. frunt 'friend' ('who loves'), Goth. fijand-s O.H.G. fiant 'enemy' ('who hates'), no doubt also Goth. all-waldand-s O.Sax. alo-waldand 'All-ruler, Almighty' O.H.G. waltant 'ruler, director', and a few similar words. Other examples are found only in single dialects or groups of dialects, as Goth. giband-s 'giver', mērjand-s 'proclaimer', O.H.G. wigant A.S. wizend 'fighter', O.H.G. helfant 'helper'. These participles, which became substantives only in Germanic, still show an unextended nt-inflection, though it is nowhere found in all the cases: c. g. nom. pl. Goth. frijōnd-s O.H.G. frunt O.Icel. frænd-r = -nt-es* (Gr. -ντ-ες), loc. (dat.) sg. Goth. frijōnd O.H.G. friunt = -nt-i-* (Gr. -ντ-ι-); whereas other cases in Gothic and West-Germanic follow the o-declension, as nom. sing. Goth. frijōnd-s O.H.G. friunt (thus in O.H.G. we have nom. pl. friunta as well as friunt), and in Norse follow the n-declension, as nom. sing. frēnde frændi.

A still younger stratum is formed by substantives like O.H.G. waltanto 'he who rules', furi-sizzando 'architriclinus', nerrendeo 'preserver, saviour'. Their substantival use was based upon the n-inflection, to which as participles they were transferred; compare Mod.H.G. der reisende and the like.

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. vežās O.C.Sl. vezý 'vehens': Skr. vāh-a-nt- etc., see p. 398 above. Lith. velkās O.C.Sl. vlěky 'dragging, drawing': Gr. ἔλκων, √(s)uelq-. Lith. pinās 'plaiting' O.C.Sl. pъny 'stretching, hanging', ground-form pъn-ó-nt-*, √(s)pen-. Lith. mėlėās 'milking': Gr. ἀμείλων 'milking'; O.C.Sl. mlъzy 'milking': cp. Skr. mṛj-á-nt- 'wiping off, rubbing off'. Lith. limpās 'cleaving, clinging': Skr. līmpá-nt- 'smearing', √leip-. Lith. bū-sės O.C.Sl. by-sę fut. 'about to be' (byśąšte-je 'τὸ μέλλον', the only relic of the future participle in Slav.): Avest. bū-šya-nt-, common ground-form bhū-śi-ó-nt-*, √bhey-. Lith. jėszkas 'seeking', beside indie. 1. pl. gīšzkō-me, for jēšzkō-nt-* (I § 615 p. 465): O.H.G. eiscōnt-i 'inquiring, asking' Lith. tūrīs (turint-) 'having', beside indie. 1. sing. turiū 1. pl. tūri-me. O.C.Sl. chvalę (gen. chvalęšta) 'praising', beside indie. 1. sing. chvaljā 1. pl. chvali-mŭ.

The old vowel-gradation has disappeared. Participles belonging to non-thematic vowel stems followed the analogy of stems in -o-nt-, e. g. Lith. ėsąs and ėšąs O.C.Sl. sy 'being', beside indie. ēs-ti jes-tŭ. In Prussian however there is a form -suns = Idg. s-ŷt-* or s-ŋt-* (p. 396 f.).

Remark 2 I cannot believe that Lith. dangujėsis 'heavenly' = danguje loc. + sįs 'being' (J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVII 393). Nor can I believe that O.C.Sl. dade beside dady 'dans' represents another non-thematic form corresponding to the 3. pl. dad-ętu (= Skr. dād-ati); as to dadę and other forms in -ę beside -ŋ see O. Wiedemann, Beitr. zur altbulg. Conjug. 128 f, Leskien Handb.² p. 76 f.

In Baltic and Slavonic most of the cases of the -nt- participles were attracted into the ŋo-declension owing to the suffix of the feminine; e. g. gen. Lith. vėžancziū O.C.Sl. veząšta. The acc. sing. Lith. vėžant-į still belongs to the unaltered consonantal inflexion.

Lith. dant-į-s 'tooth'. Skr. dánt- etc., see p. 398 above. Pruss. dilant-s 'worker'.

§ 127. The Suffix -uent-¹⁾. This Suffix appears in Aryan, Greek and Italic in denominative adjectives; it usually denotes the possession of something, more rarely a resemblance to something.

In the strong cases -uent- = Skr. -vant- Gr. -fer-, and in the weak cases -unt- = Skr. -vat- Gr. -fat-*. The latter was displaced by -fer- (loc. pl. χαρίεν = χαρι-fer-αι*, fem. χαρίενσα = χαρι-fer-ια*), ε being taken from the cases which had -(f)er-. Lat. -ōnsu-s -ōsu-s for -o-unt + to-, a derivative form which also appears in Avestic, see § 79 p. 231 f.

1) See Ebel's (and Bartholomae's) essays mentioned on p. 394 footnote. A. Goebel, De epithetis Homericis in εὐκ desinentibus, Wien 1858, Schuster, Die homerischen Adjectiva auf -εὐκ, Ztschr. für österr. Gymn. 1859 § 16 ff. O. Schönwerth and C. Weyman, Über die lateinischen Adjectiva auf osus, Archiv für lat. Lexicogr. V 192 ff.

In the proethnio language this suffix seems to have been displaced by -yes- -yos- in a certain number of the cases. We have evidence of this in the proethnio Aryan nom. sing. masc. in -yas* (Avest. -vā, altered in Skr. to -vās -vān, see § 136 Rem. 2), voc. sing. masc. in -yas* (Skr. -vas, Avest. -vō) and the Greek τᾱ-φος* Hom τῆος compared with Skr. tā-vant- (see Rem. 1). Observe the similar phenomena in the Aryan -mant- stems (Whitney, Skr. Gr. § 1235): nom. sing. Skr. -mās -mān Avest. -mā, voc. Skr. -mas (Avest. -mō*), and notice the Homeric forms τῆ-μος and ῆ-μος (Dor. τᾱμος ᾱμος) (which are probably to be compared with the Aryan stems in -mant-), beside which we have tā-mov in Thessalian; Solmsen (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 77) and Kozlovskij (Archiv f. slav. Phil. X 657 f.) are no doubt right in comparing O.C.Sl. ta-mo 'thither' ja-mo 'whither'.

Id g. Skr. āpa-vant- 'watery', Gr. ὀπό-εις 'rich in sap'. Skr. viṣā-vant- 'poisonous, poisoned', Lat. virōsu-s. Gr. δολό-εις 'crafty': Lat. dolōsu-s. Gr. οινό-εις 'made of or with wine', Lat. vinōsu-s 'full of wine' or 'like wine' (sapor, odor).

Remark 1. Further examples of the meaning 'like something' are aestuōsu-s cadāverōsu-s mōnstruōsu-s etc. (Archiv für lat. Lexikogr. V 216 ff.); examples from Aryan are Skr. vṣṣan-vant- 'like a vṣṣan-', īndrasvant- 'like Indra' (the s is due to the analogy of stems in -as-), Avest. draṣṣaka-vant- 'like a small flag, fluttering, undulating' (K. Geldner, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 401). This meaning is specially frequent in the Sanskrit adverbs in -vāt (acc. neut.), such as angiras-vāt 'like angiras' pūrva-vāt 'after the ancient fashion, as of yore', and in the adjectives formed from pronouns such as Skr. tvā-vant- Avest. ḥwā-vant- 'who is of thy nature, like thee', Skr. tā-vant- etā-vant- Avest. aṣṭa-vant- 'tantus' Skr. yā-vant- Avest. ya-vant- 'quantus', from which we cannot separate Hom. τῆος ῆος Dor. ᾱ; for pr. Gr. τᾱ-φος* ᾱ-φος*.

Aryan. The accent in Sanskrit falls sometimes on the suffix, but oftener on the word to which it is added. Skr. āma-vant- Avest. ama-vant- 'acting with violence, constraining with force, strong', from Skr. āma- Avest. ama- m. 'violence, strength'. Skr. putrā-vant- Avest. puḥra-vant- 'having a son or sons', from putrā- puḥra- m. 'son'. Skr. vastra-vant- 'having a beautiful garment' Avest. vastra-vant- 'provided with clothing', from vāstra-m vastre-m 'garment, vesture'. Skr. agni-vānt-, 'provided with fire', from agni-ṣ 'fire'. Skr. dhī-vant- 'devout' from dhī-ṣ f. 'devotion', udan-vánt- 'rich in water' from udán- n. 'water', bráhmaṇ-vant- 'accompanied with prayer' from bráhmaṇ- n. 'prayer' (I § 229 p. 195), ṇṛ-vánt- 'rich in men' from nár- m. 'man', marút-vant- 'accompanied by the Maruts' (marút-), pad-vánt- 'having feet', from pád- m. 'foot', támas-vant 'dark' from támas- n. 'darkness', nas-vánt- 'with a nose' from nás- f. 'nose'. Avest. gaoma-vant- 'provided with flesh' from gaoma- m. 'flesh', aši-vant- 'holy' from aši-ṣ f. 'holiness', astvant- i. e. astu-vant- (cp. I § 159 p. 143) 'having a body, corporeal' from astu-ṣ m. 'body', d'biš-vant- 'hostile, hating' from d'biš-* Skr. dvīṣ- f. 'hate, enmity'. In Old Persian the suffix occurs in the feminine proper name harauvat-i = Avest. haraxwaut-i Skr. sáras-vat-i (sáras-vant- 'rich in water'); cp. I § 159 p. 143.

We have no certain explanation of the length of the final vowel of the contained stem in Skr. áśva-vant- beside áśva-vant- 'possessing horses' from áśva-, sutá-vant- 'provided with pressed soma' from sutá-, śákti-vant- 'mighty' from śakti-, viṣṭu-vánt- 'which has or wears different sides, which is in the middle' from viṣṭu and the like. Cp. mā-vant-, yuṣmā-vant-, tā-vant- in Rem. 1. p. 405 and áśva-magha-s etc. § 22 p. 38, and also Gr. -ώεις -ήεις in the Greek section.

This suffix was frequently added in Sanskrit to the passive participle in -tá- (§ 79 p. 225 f.), as kṛtá-vant- 'factum habens, having done'. In the course of the Vedic period this was developed into a perf. part. act., which is very common in classical Sanskrit, where it is almost always used as a predicate; e. g. mā na kaścīd dṛṣṭavān 'no one has seen me'.

Greek. The φ of -φεντ- appears e. g. in Corcyr. inscr. στονόςφισσαν = Homer. στονόςεσαν. ἀμπελό-εις 'rich in vines' from ἄμπελος. τιμῆ-εις 'treasured, honoured' (Pamphyl. inscr. τιμῆ-φισα) from τιμή. χαρί-εις 'graceful' from χάρις acc. χάρι-ν. ύγι-εις 'having growth, blooming' (cp. Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 180 ff.). Hom. εὐρώεις no doubt meaning 'mouldy, musty' from εὐρώς (post-Homerie gen. εὐρῶ-τος etc.) 'mould'. τελέεις beside τελήεις (see below) 'having fulfilment, fulfilling itself', no doubt for *τελεσ-Fert-, from τέλος n. κέραεις 'horned' (late) from κέρας. -ο-εις, proper to the derivatives from o-stems, became an independent suffix: μητι-όεις 'rich in wisdom' from μητι-ς, ἰχθυ-όεις 'full of fish' from ἰχθυ-ς, ἡερ-όεις 'cloudy' from ἡήρ, νιφ-όεις 'snowy' from acc. νίφ-α, κλωμακ-όεις 'rocky' from κλωμαξ, θυόεις from θυός n.; this is found even where the word is derived from an a-stem: σκιοίς 'shady' from σκιά, μηχανοίς 'fertile in resource' from μηχανή. On the other hand from o-stems we find -η-εις as well as -ο-εις: μεσής 'moderate' from μέσο-ν, φοινήεις 'bloody' from φοινός 'bloody'. The same -η-εις occurs also in θυήεις beside θυοίς, τελής 'having fulfilment, fulfilling itself' beside τελείς, ἐλκήεις 'full of wounds', from ἑλκος n., ῥωπήεις 'overgrown with underwood' from ῥώψ, etc. -ώ-εις is found in other words besides εὐρώεις; e. g. Hom. κητώεις 'full of hollows' (cp. κητώδης p. 409), ὠτώεις 'eared' (ὠτ-) and in late authors πηλώεις 'loamy, muddy' (πηλό-ς), δενδρώεις 'wooded' (δένδρο-ν).

Remark 2 It cannot be established that Φλειάσιο-ς contains the α of the -fat- (see p. 404) which we must assume as the weak form of the suffix (J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXV 591). See Wackernagel ibid. XXVIII 130 f

Italic. It is found only in the Latin compound suffix -ōnsu-s -ōsu-s, where the termination of forms containing o-stems became regular in all words. The suffix of Avest. ašavasta- from aša-vant- is exactly parallel; see p. 404 above. verbōsu-s from verbu-m, officiōsu-s from officiu-m; fāmōsu-s from fāma, silvōsu-s from silva; piscōsu-s from pisci-s; aestuōsu-s from aestū-s; crīmīnōsu-s from crimen; niēōsu-s from nix, like Gr. νιφ-όεις.

VIII. The Suffix -d- (-ad-).

§ 129. In Sanskrit -ad- occurs a few times, in Greek -ad- and -id- are found more frequently, in Latin there are a certain number of examples of -d- with a preceding vowel, and in Germanic we have denominative verbs in -at-jan, which seem to correspond to the Greek verbs in -αζειν (-ζ- = -δ-κ-). Side by side with these forms in Greek, Italic, Germanic and Balto-

Slavonic we find other suffixes having d for their distinguishing consonant which appear to be connected with them (-do- may be related to -d- as -to- to -t-). Thus we may be justified in regarding this suffix as proethnic, although there are perhaps only two examples in which -d- appears in more than one branch of language: O.H.G. gramizzōn A.S. zremettan: Gr. χρόμαδο-ς, and O.H.G. albiz O.Icel. alpt: O.C.Sl. lebedŭ.

Remark. We must not disregard the possibility that the -d- of this suffix may have come from -t- in the proethnic period, and that not only in the cases with bh-suffixes, such as Skr dṛśād-bhīṣ. See I § 469, 7 p. 346, and cp. II § 130 Remark

Aryan. There are only three certain instances, all in Sanskrit. dṛśād- f. 'rock, great stone, millstone', bhasād- f. 'back parts, pudenda muliebria', śarād- f. 'autumn'. Add vanād-, a doubtful word found in the Rig-Veda, meaning perhaps 'desire'.

Greek. Adjectives and (feminine) Substantives in -αδ-: φυγας 'fleeing', μηγας 'mixed', μαινας 'raving', μηκας 'bleating', τοκας 'bearing, bringing forth', νομας 'pasturing', γυμνας 'naked, stripped for gymnastics, practised', τεφρας 'ash-coloured', χοιρας 'rising up, jutting out', νιφας 'snow-flake', σιπιδας 'reef', ιλλας 'cord, rope', χολαδ-ες 'entrails, intestines', λαμπας 'torch', πηγας 'rime, frozen earth', γενειας 'beard, hair of the beard', πελειας 'wild dove'. Stems ending in -ιδ- (fem.), the i of which in many words certainly comes from the i-stems: εριδ- (εριδ-ος etc.) 'strife' beside acc. ερι-ν, καλπιδ- 'jug, vessel' (καλπιδ-ος etc.) beside acc. καλπι-ν, ιρι-ς 'rainbow', αυλις 'place for passing the night', αιγίς 'stormcloud, shield of the gods', ασπίς 'shield', γλυφίς 'notch in the shaft of an arrow', κερκίς 'weaver's comb', ακρίς 'locust', επιγονίς 'upper part of the thigh'. Connected with these δ-formations, and undoubtedly in great part derived from them, are a variety of elements of the nature of suffixes containing -δ-. Examples are χρόμαδο-ς (mentioned above), to which κλάδο-ς 'noise, tumult' is parallel; κόρυδο-ς 'tufted lark', which in its formation comes very close to the cognate Germ. word xerut-* 'stag' (Danielsson, Gramm. und etymol. Stud. I 31); patronymics like Ακτορίδης m. from Ἀκτορίς f.; adjectives in -ώδης such as νητωδής 'like a sea-monster' (for the ω cp. κητώεις), which have been incorrectly classed with the adjectives in *-ειδής*¹); and the numerous verbs in -άζω and -ίζω with a characteristic dental which were derived from these δ-nouns, such as δικάζω, νομίζω.

Italic. There are a few examples in -id-, no doubt with Idg. 1: Lat. capis (-id-is) f., Umbr. kapīre 'capide', Osc. xaniditwū i. e. capid-t-to-m 'ollarium'; Lat. cassis f., cuspis f., lapis m. Add pecus (-ud-is) f., herēs (-ēd-is) m. f., mercēs f., palūs (-ūd-is) f. Here too are found a variety of formative elements connected with this d-suffix: as in or-dō -din-is (beside or-d-iur), cp. Gr. μελεδών μελεδαίνω, capēdō frīgēdō rubēdō, cp. Gr. ἀχθρδών, χαιρρδών. The -do- of such adjectives as imbridu-s lūcidu-s however cannot be classed here, if they were originally compounds with dō- 'give' (as Skr. jala-da-s 'giving water' artha-da-s 'bringing benefit, generous') (Corssen, Krit. Beitr. 97 ff., Osthoff, Verb. in der Nominalcomp. 121 ff.; see also the evidence given by Thurneysen in his essay, Über die Herkunft und Bildung der lat. Verba auf -io, 1879, p. 13).

Old Irish. On account of the coincidence of t and d in unaccented syllables it is hard to say what Irish forms belong to this section. Yet it is clearly established that the adjectival suffix -de = -dio-*, e. g. conde 'caninus' talmande 'terrestris', contains an original -d-, not -t-.

Germanic. The verbs in -at-jan should be first mentioned, as Goth. lauhatjan O.H.G. lohazzen 'to shine like lightning' lougazzen 'to burn like fire', Goth. káupatjan 'to box the ears, cuff' (pret. káupasta), svōgatjan 'to sigh', O.H.G. blecchezzan 'to flash', roffezzen 'eructare', snepfezzen 'to sob'. The following words may also be referred to old d-stems: O.H.G. gremizzi 'provoked' beside gramizzōn gremizzōn, einazzi, dat. pl. einazzēm 'singulativ'; O.H.G. albiȝ m. O.Icel. álpt f. 'swan' (the Icelandic Balto-Slavonic. There are no examples with -d-, only -do- -di- and the like; and it must be remembered that Balto-Slavonic d may also be referred to Idg. dh. Lith. pa-klōda-s pa-klōde 'cloth for spreading underneath' from pa-klōti 'to spread out', and other examples. O.C.Sl. vražida 'enmity', kriŭda 'wrong', and other examples. d = pre-Balt.Slav. d seems to be certain only in lebedŭ 'swan' (see above).

IX. The Suffix -k- and -q-.

§ 129. In § 83—89 we assumed that a certain number of Greek, Italic, and Old Irish words in -k- had formerly been -ko- or -qo- stems, e g. Gr. ἀλώπηξ (Skr. lōpāśá-s), ὄρνυξ (Skr. vartaka-s), μεῖραξ (Skr. maryaká-s) ρεᾶξ (O.C.Sl. novakŭ), Lat. senex (Skr. sanaká-s), vertex, filix, bibax, O.Ir. aíre (Skr. aryaka-s). In these cases it is sometimes certain and sometimes very probable that there has been an attraction from the o-declension to the consonantal; but we find in the same languages other similar stems in -k- which cannot be explained with any degree of probability as derived from an original -ko- or -qo-. For Greek and Italic the reader may be referred to Leo Meyer's Vergl. Gramm. II 409 ff., 508 ff. In Old Irish, examples of this kind are nathur, gen. nathrach, 'water-snake', lair 'mare', fal 'hedge' (Zeuss-Ebel Gr. C. 805 ff., Wh. Stokes, Bezenberger's Beitr. XI 84 ff. 155). In Aryan there is only one doubtful relic of these forms: vīpāś- f. beside vīpāša- f. name of a river, which is referred to vēpatē 'is in trembling, whirling motion'.

This being the case, it may be assumed that -k- -q- once existed as suffixes parallel to -ko- -qo-, bearing much the same relation to them as -t- to -to-. And further the transition of such classes of forms as ἀλώπηξ, ὄρνυξ, senex, aíre to the consonantal inflexion may have been aided by the influence of such original k-stems.

X. The Suffix -g- (and -g-ʔ)

§ 130. We find suffixes in -g in Aryan and Greek; but not one of the words containing them appears in both simultaneously. Thus it is not safe to assume this suffix for the parent language.

Remark. We must not overlook the possibility that -g- may have come from -k- in the proethnio period, and that not only in the cases with bh-suffixes such as Skr. uṣṭig-bhīṣ. See I § 489, 7 p. 346. In the case of Gr λάται- (λάταις) 'drop, dregs': Lat. latic- (latex) it may be assumed that the Greek word originally had k, and passed over to the ordinary inflexion of g-stems simply through the influence of the form of the nom. sing. and of the loc pl (-αῖς -αῖσι) (cp. gen. ἡερυγ-ος § 86 p. 258 and gen. δεσάδ-ος § 123 p. 392), and many other instances are doubtful for the same reason. Cp. § 128 Rem p 408

Aryan. Skr. sanāj- 'old' (beside sanakā-s), dhṛṣṭāj- 'bold', tṛṣṇāj- 'thirsty' (beside tṛṣṇā- 'thirst'), uṣṭij- 'longing, desirous', vaṇij- 'merchant', bhūrtij- 'arm'. Forms like instr. pl. uṣṭig-bhīṣ point to -j- = Idg. -g-.

Greek. ἄρπαξ, gen. ἄρπαγ-ος 'robbing, rapacious', whence ἀρπάζω (the ā of Lat. rapāc- shews that it is quite a different word). φάρυξ (-υγ-) 'throat, gullet'. πτέρυξ (-υγ-) 'wing, pinion'. μίστιξ (-ιγ-) 'scourge, lash'. The parallel forms -αγγ- υγγ- ιγγ- are more frequent; these may possibly have arisen from an original formation in which a nasal followed the γ-suffix (cp. I § 221 p. 188 ff.), c. g. φάλαγξ 'phalanx', φάραγξ 'steep rock, gorge', λάρυγξ 'larynx' (similarly φάρυγξ is found later for φάρυξ), στόρυγξ 'tooth, prong, point', σάλπιγξ 'trumpet', σῶιδιγξ 'weal, swelling'.

XI. Suffixes in -s¹).

§ 131. The Suffix -es-². The nouns formed with this suffix in the parent language were partly neuter substantives (generally abstract), with which were associated adjectives like Skr. yaśás- 'glorious, majestic' Gr. ψευδής 'deceitful', and partly masculine or feminine substantives, e. g. nom. Skr. uśás Gr. ἥώς 'dawn'. These two groups bear very much the same relation to one another as the group of neuter and the group of masculine and feminine *-men-*stems, e. g. Gr. χρῖ-μα: χρῖ-μῶν § 117 p. 365 ff.; we sometimes find *-es-*stems, as we found *-men-*stems, which seem to have had both forms of inflexion from the earliest times; e. g. Skr. tápas- n. 'warinth'. Lat. tepor m., Lat. tenus n. Gr. τέρος n. 'bond': Lat. tenor m. At the time of the separation of the languages the neuter forms greatly preponderated. We may begin with these, and the vowel-gradation of the stems will be separately discussed under each of the two classes.

§ 132. 1. Neuter Substantives in -es- and the adjectives connected with them.

From the protohine period onwards -es- is regular in all cases of the substantives except the nom. sing., which had -os, and in the adjectives also except in the nom. sing., whose ending in the masc. was -ēs, in the neut. -es. The vocalism of the root-syllable is almost without exception that of the strong grade (the e-grade in the e-series), and takes the accent in substantives, while in adjectives it falls on the formative suffix. E. g. Gr. ψεῦδος gen. ψεύδους etc. μέρος gen. μέρους etc. beside ψευδής ψευδές gen. ψευδέος etc. δυσ-μενής -μενίς gen. -μενέος etc.

This double system of declension in the substantives and adjectives was no doubt developed out of a single one. The abstract substantive, denoting a quality, when it was used simply for the owner of that quality, formed a nom. sing. with the mark of masculine or feminine gender in the same way as nouns like Gr. ποι-μὴν πα-τήρ; so also, with a similar indication of gender, an acc. sing. -έσ-ηι, nom. pl. -έσ-ες; and the different accent connected with the new meaning caused a differentiation of accent in the other cases corresponding to the new function of the word. There is evidence however that amongst the cases of the neuter substantive there once were also forms with -es-; this is shewn by the datives like Skr. dōhās-ē 'to milk', which are used as infinitives. There must also have been cases where the suffix was simply -s- (the weak-grade form), namely, those in which the case-suffix bore the accent: compare Skr. śīrṣ-ā-m 'head' Gr. κόρον 'temple, forehead' beside Skr. śīras 'head' (I § 306 p. 242), Skr. ā-s-a-s ā-s-a-m Gr. ἄμω-ς for ᾠμ-σ-ο-ς* Goth. am-s-a m. 'shoulder' beside Lat. um-er-u-s, Skr. vats-ā-s 'year, calf' beside Gr. φέρος n. 'year', Skr. ōṣa-dhī- f. 'medicinal herb' for ay-s-a-* beside āvas 'help, comfort', man-dhātār- 'thoughtful, devout person' for manz-dhātar-* beside mānas 'thought', Lith. tams-à beside Skr. tīmas 'darkness', Lat. farr- for fars-* beside Goth. bariz-em-s 'of barley' (I § 571 p. 429) and many similar examples (The Author, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIV 10 f., J. Schmidt, ibid. XXV 26, Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 192)¹). Finally we must observe the frequency of the instances in which the root-syllable shows the weak grade, e. g. Skr. śīr-as beside Lat. cerebru-m for ceres-ro-m* Gr. λίπος 'fat' beside Skr. rēpas 'spot, stain', Gr. νάθος beside νέρθος, Gr. ἄγος 'guilt' beside Skr. āgas 'sin', Goth. ga-digis 'structure, work' beside Gr. τείχος 'wall', Gr. πύος 'pus', Skr. duv-ās- 'eagerly striving' and the like (Osthoff, Morph. Unt. IV 182 f.). We may then reconstruct the paradigm of these neuters as follows: nom. acc. kér-os* 'head', gen. kṛ-s-és (or -ós), dat. kṛ-s-ái*, loc. kṛr-és -és-i*; nom. acc. d-gos* 'sin, guilt' (Skr. āgas), gen. ag-s-és* (or -ós), dat. ag-s-ái*, loc. ag-és -és-i* (cp. Gr. ἄγος ἄγεος). The dat. -és-ai* (cp. Skr. inf. bhuy-ās-ē jw-ās-ē etc.) was then formed on the model of the loc. -és -és-i. In most instances however, and even in the parent language, the nom. acc. (kéros*) gave the type for the position of the accent and the form of the root in all the cases. With regard to the adjectives we must further observe that the accentuation of the final syllable of the stem was original in compounds also: Gr. ἀν-αγής 'innocent, pure' δυσ-μενής 'ill-disposed', Skr. an-āgās 'sinless' (beside án-āgās) a-rēpās 'spotless' su-pivās 'very fat' etc. Along with these there are other words which have the later accentuation, Gr. οὐρανο-μήκης 'heaven-high' μεγα-κήτης 'monstrously great' Skr. su-mānās 'well-disposed' dur-vāsās 'ill dressed', with other examples.

Gr. στέγος τέγος 'roof, house', O.Ir. tech leg 'house'. séd-os* 'seat': Skr. sādas Gr. ἔδος O.Icel. setr (gen. setrs). rég-os*: Skr. rājas 'darkness, dust', (Armen. erek 'evening') Gr. ἔρεβος Goth. rigis (gen. rigizis) 'darkness'. nēbh-os* 'clouds, atmosphere': Skr. nābhas, Gr. νέφος, Lith. debes-i-s (d- instead of n- is difficult to explain; perhaps it is due to the influence of dangù-s 'heaven', Holthausen in Paul-Braunne's Beitr. XIII 590) O.C.Sl. nebo. uēd-os*: Skr. vēdas 'knowledge', Gr. εἶδος 'form, idea'; add perhaps (with the weak form of the stem) uēts-*, īso-s Cret. φίσφο-s 'liko'; see § 64 p. 135. Gr. ἄγος 'awe', Skr. yaj-ús- 'honouring', √ jag-. Skr. āndh-as 'plant', Gr. ἄνθος 'bloom'. Skr. dās-as 'glorious deed' Gr. pl. θήνεα 'counsels, wiles', common ground-form dāns-os*. Skr. ēdh-as 'wood for burning', Gr. αἶθ-os 'brand'. Skr. ōj-as 'strength' Gr. ἐπι-αυγής (late) 'very bright' and ūgής* 'strong, sound' in ύγειά υγεινός 'Υγεινο-s', Lat. augus-tu-s. Skr. āp-as āp-as 'work, religious practice', Lat. op-us.

The dative and the locative of nomina actionis served also as infinitives, a usage which is doubtless proethnic. In Vedic infinitives in -as-e the formative suffix usually bore the accent; this must be due to an early isolation of meaning. Skr. jivās-ē (dat.) 'to live' Lat. vīver-e (loc.).

In several languages -es- sometimes appears in close connexion with other formative elements, which precede it; as in Lat. pīg-nus. These formations existed in the parent language; indeed they were so well established that the compound suffix had the appearance of a primary formation (cp. Skr. kṛ-t-ya- and the like, § 123 p. 391). Skr. pṛ-v-as Gr. πῖ-(f)-ος n. 'fat'. In the word mē-n-os* n. (or nom. mē-n-ōs* m., § 133) dat. mē-n-s-ai* loc. mē-n-ēs -ēs-i* from √mē 'measure', the mē-n-s-* form of the stem prevailed through all the cases, producing the masc. Gr. μήν gen. μηρός, Lesb. μηνν-ος, Lat. mēns-i-s gen. pl. mēns-um, O.Ir. mī gen. mīs 'month'; in Lithuanian mē-n-es-* still survives in the gen. mēnes-io etc.¹). The Aryan mās- and the Old Church Slavonic mēs-ecŭ, which J. Schmidt explains as coming from an Idg. nom. sing. mēs* for mēns* (see I § 220 p. 188), may have been formed directly from the root; see § 134, 1. loq-nos* 'remainder, what is left over' from √leiq- 'leave': Skr. rēk-ṇas 'riches' (bequest'), O.ILG. lēhan n. O.Icel. lan n. 'loan'.

Of the simple adjectives no example is found in more than one language simultaneously in its adjectival function; e. g. Skr. mahás- 'great' beside máhas- n. 'greatness', yásás- 'glorious' beside yásas- n. 'glory', Gr. ψευδής, σαφής. On the other hand several adjectives are so found in composition. Skr. dur-manas- 'ill-humoured' Gr. δυσ-μενής 'ill-disposed', Skr. ny-mánas- 'having a man's mind' Gr. Ἀνδρο-μένης, from mén-os* n. Avest. deuš-r-savah- Gr. δυσ-κλής 'of ill report', from kléw-os* n. Skr. puru-dásas- 'rich in wondrous deeds', Gr. πολυ-θήνεα πολύβουλον, πολύμητιν (Hesych.), from dāns-os* n.

Umbr. vas 'vitium' for vak(o)s*, beside Lat. vacāme. Lat. aes, gen. aer-is, which can hardly stand for aĭ-es-, but for aĭs-, the weak form of the stem¹) (the nom. acc. aes instead of orig. a(ĭ)-os* was formed on the analogy of the other cases), aĕnus Umbr. ahcnes 'aenis' for aĕs-no-* (I § 134 p. 121): Skr. áy-as 'metal, iron', Goth. dis (gen. disis) 'ore, money'.

Lat. nem-us (-or-): Gr. réu-os 'place of pasture'. dec-us (-or-): Skr. daśas-yá-ti 'he honours, is at the service of, is obliging'. Ven-us (-er-), originally n 'love's enticement'. Skr. vān-as- 'charm, sweetness'. scel-us (-er-). temp-us (-or-). terg-us (-or-): Gr. στέργ-ος τέργ-ος 'leather, skin', esp 'the hard hide on an animal's back', corp-us (-or-). pondus and foedus, like modes-tu-s, have exchanged their e for o (pend-os* feid-os*, the latter still appearing in fidus-tu-s), through the influence of parallel stems in -o- (abl. pondō), cp. Gr. όχος above, p. 417, O.H.G. fahs p. 420.

Lat. infin. in -er-e for es-i* (loc.), as vivere (Skr. jīvās-e), agere, minuere; ferre velle esse are discussed in § 162. fieri is a new formation for (O.Lat.) fiere, modelled on agī, sequī, see ib.

vol-nus, mū-nus, fū-nus, pīg-nus, facinus; mi-nus must also be classed here; see § 135. pectus.

The vowel-gradation which belonged to the -es-suffix in the pre-Italic period (preserved e. g. in gen-us -er-is) was superseded in many words in favour of the form -os- which prevailed over the other forms. This is seen in tempus -oris etc.; yet we have also -es- in the adverb temper-t, tēmpes-tu-s, and temper-are. Similarly we have penus -oris etc., whilst the loc. sing. penes (cp. αἰές), which had become a preposition (or postposition), retained the form -es-. -os- is also found in derivatives, e. g. rōbus-tu-s (gen. rōbor-is) onus-tu-s (gen. oner-is), corpus-culu-m (gen. corpor-is) opus-culu-m (gen. oper-is) cp. O.C.Sl. -os-tŕ p. 422.

1) See Osthoff in Paul-Braune's Beitr XIII 405

Adj. pūbēs and pūber, gen. pūberis. Further dē-gener, bi-corpor, both of them probably fairly modern formations having no direct connexion with the original Indo-Germanic type. Similarly the use of vetus (also veter) as an adjective was of recent date; cp. vetus-tu-s like onus-tu-s, veter-ātus like sceler-ātus. Here we have a repetition of the process by which adjectives of this kind were formed in the original language.

Old Irish tech teg, gen. tige, 'house': Gr. στῆγ-ος τῆγ-ος 'roof, house'. nem 'heaven', which we may either compare at once with Skr. nám-as 'obeisance, reverence', so that the original sense was 'object of reverence', or suppose to stand for neb-os* = Skr. nābh-as O.C.Sl. neb-o, its form having been influenced by words containing the $\sqrt{\text{nem-}}$ like Gall. νεμῆτρον Ir. nemed 'sacred thing or place'. leth 'side'. Skr. práthas etc., see above p. 415. au ō (Mid Ir.), gen. aue, 'ear': O.C.Sl. ucho 'ear'; should we add Gr. οὐς Dor. ὠς 'ear'? (see § 114 p. 347). mag 'level tract of country', Gall. Οὐινδό-μαγος = O.Ir. Fínd-mag. lōg luach 'price, hire'.

With -nes-: dū-n 'stronghold'; even as early as in Gallic we have Αουγυ-δουρος beside Αουγυον-δουρον. glū-n 'knee'.

In Germanic the old inflexion suffered great changes.

The transference of these nouns to the o-declension, which appears so frequently in Gothic and Norse, seems to have taken place in protoethnic Germanic, and to have been partly due to the analogy of forms like Skr. vats-ā- (beside Gr. ῥέτος), p. 413. Goth. áis (gen. áizis) O.H.G. ēr n. 'ore' pr. Germ. aiz-a-* (Goth. áiza-smiþa O.H.G. ēr-smid, § 40 p. 73): Skr. áy-as etc., see p. 418 above. O.H.G. lefs m. 'lip' beside A. S. lippa m. 'lip' (cp. I § 337 p. 267 f.) for pre-Germ. lebes-* leps-*. Goth. ahs

(gen. ahsis) O.Icel. q̄x n. O.H.G. ahir ehir n. 'ear of corn': Lat. ac-us. O.H.G. fahs O.Icel. fax m. 'hair', no doubt due to contamination of a form pef-os* n. with poſ-o-s* m. (Gr. νόμο-ς) (cp. Gr. ἔχος p. 417, Lat. modestu-s p. 418). Goth. veihs (gen. veihsis) n. 'borough, vicus': cp. Skr. vēśās- m. 'neighbour, vassal'. Goth. peihs (gen. peihsis) n. 'time' beside peihan 'to thrive, grow', √ tenq- (I § 214 p. 181); it is usual to compare Lat. tempus, but I cannot think it proved that Lat. p is ever = Idg. q. Goth. blahs-jan 'to fear', a denominative: Lat. locusta for tlocus-tā* (Osthoff, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 412 f.). Goth. rimis (gen. -isis) n. 'rest', √ rem-. Goth. agis (gen. -isis) n. 'fear', O.H.G. egis-līh 'terrible' egis-o m. (A.S. ežas-a m.) 'fear' egisōn 'to terrify'. Gr. ἄχ-ος 'pain at heart, grief'. Goth. sigis n. O.Icel. sigr (gen. sigrs) m. A.S. sigor m. 'victory' O.H.G. sigw-ōn 'to conquer', Goth. sigis-láun § 40 p. 73: Skr. sāhus; see above, p. 415. Goth. hatis (gen. -izis) n. O.Icel. hatr n. 'hate', Goth. hatizōn 'to hate'. Goth. riqis (gen. -izis) n. O.Icel. rökkr n. 'darkness': Skr. rājas etc., see above p. 414. Goth. ga-digis n. 'building, work': Gr. τεῖχ-ος 'wall', with vowel-gradation in the root-syllable (p. 413). Goth. bariz-ein-s adj. 'of barley' O.Icel. barr n. 'barley': Lat. farr- for far-s-*; see above, p. 413. Goth. skapis n. 'harm', O.Icel. setr (gen. setrs) n. 'scat': Skr. sād-us etc., see p. 414 above.

No satisfactory explanation has been given of the variation between -s- and -z-, as Goth. gen. agis-is beside rigiz-is, Goth. valvis-ōn 'to roll oneself, wallow' O.H.G. egis-ōn beside Goth. hatiz-ōn O.H.G. sigir-ōn.

Remark 1 Possibly it may be connected with the fact that in certain isolated uses some of the cases retained -ts-, e.g. in the Skr. inf. in -ds-ē (p. 413). Furthermore side by side with the neuter substantives there may have been adjectives with the accent upon the formative suffix, say agés-* 'fearing' beside ágēs-* 'fear', like Gr. ψευδής beside ψεῦδος; and the -s- may have been taken from them, compare further § 133 Rem. p. 424. Lastly in certain instances where the word was used as the first member of compound, -s- may have remained regularly voiceless even when the suffix -es- was unaccented. See von Bahder, Verbalabstr. 55.

In West-Germanic we find beside this another entirely different modification of the original declension, due to the syncope in final syllables. After a long root-syllable, the nom. acc. -oz was dropped (I § 661, 2 p. 517). This loss coupled with the influence of the o-declension, first established a paradigm such as O.H.G. sing. nom. acc. kalb ('calf') gen. kalbires dat. kalbire, pl. nom. acc. kalbir gen. kalbiro dat. kalbirum. Then in the gen. dat. sing. -ir- was dropped, kalbes kalbe being formed on the analogy of wortes worte from nom. wort; hence -ir- naturally became the mark of the plural, especially in the nom. and acc. which had no other distinguishing sign. (A more remote consequence was that -ir-, Mid.H.G. Mod.H.G. -er-, was used for the sign of the plural in a multitude of words with which it had originally no connexion whatever). In the oldest period of West-Germanic this style of inflexion (kalb gen. kalbes, pl. kalbir) is commonest in animal names; cp. besides kalb e. g. O.H.G. lamb (A.S. lomb) 'lamb', and outside of this category ei 'egg' pl. eigir (A.S. æg pl. ægru), rīs 'sprout, twig', and other forms. Compare the use of these words as the initial members of compounds, § 40 p. 73. Other words however, through the same phonetic change in the form of the nom. acc. sing., entirely lost their ir-inflexion, e. g. O.H.G. mast n. 'mast, food, fattening': Skr. mēd-as n. 'fat' (I § 591 p. 447 f.).

Remark 2 Certain substantives which follow the i- and the u-declension have also been regarded as representing original -es-stems; as O.H.G. sigi A.S. siȝe m. 'victory', O.Sax. heti A.S. hete m. 'hate' A.S. eȝe m. 'fear', A.S. sife n. 'sieve' and O.H.G. sigu sigo m. = sigi, situ sito m. 'oustom' (Gr. ῥῆσις). The nom sigi is said to stand for sigiz*, -os -az having been replaced by -es -iz because of the other cases, and the analogy of the m. f. i-stems having then come into play. This transference must have been complete before the beginning of the Christian era; for the i-stem appears in Strabo's Σηγι-μῆρου (cp. Segi-mēru-s Segi-mundu-s in Tacitus, O.H.G. sigi-nomo). But I can see no satisfactory reason for the displacement of -az by -iz in these words and these only, and it seems more reasonable to assume that they are original i-stems; in fact we have such parallel forms as Skr. van-i-ṣ beside vān-as. It is perhaps less improbable that -os under certain conditions should have become -uz in protoethnic Germanio, whence the form sigu (cp. O.H.G. angust § 101 p. 307), see Paul in his and Braune's Beitr. VI 187, and Bremer ibid. XI 3, who remarks: 'I see in -uz the representative of an Idg. sonant s (z), a subject which I hope to discuss in a systematic form at some future time'.

-nes- -tes-: O.H.G. lēhan n. 'loan', see above p. 415; A.S. hró-ðor n. beside hré-ð (m.?) 'glory'. Cp. also A.S. hæl O.Icel. heill n. 'favourable omen, happiness' for hailiz-* beside the adj. Goth. hái-l-s 'healthy' (§ 76 p. 206), A.S. hl̥æw n. 'grave-mound' for hlainviz-* beside Goth. hl̥di-v 'grave-mound' ground-form hl̥ox-uo-* (§ 64 p. 137) and the like.

Adjectives like Gr. ψευδής δυσ-μενής do not seem to occur. It is a question whether they can be inferred from the appearance of -s- side by side with -z- in the oblique cases of the substantives and in derivatives. See Rem. 1 p. 420 above. O.H.G. mast 'mast, food' has also a secondary use as adj. 'fattened'.

Balto-Slavonic. Here we find only Substantives. In Lithuanian they have become masc. or fem. z- or zo- stems: -es-i- and -es-za-.

Lith. debes-i-s m. and f. 'cloud' (but we have the consonantal stem preserved in the gen. pl. debes-ų) O.C.Sl. nebo 'heaven': Skr. nābh-as etc.; see above, p. 414.

Lith. ėdes-i-s, gen. -io, m. 'food (for animals)': cp. Lat. eder-e. kalbes-i-s, gen. -io, m 'phrase, proverb', beside which we have kalbes-ė f. 'speech'. Gen. mėnes-io and mėnes-ės 'of a month'; see above, p. 415. The original -es- is also seen in kalbes-ni-s 'talk', mōkes-ti-s 'payment' and the like: see § 101 p. 307.

O.C.Sl. slov-o 'word': Skr. śrāv-as etc., see above p. 414. uch-o 'ear': Mid.Ir. au; see above, p. 419. ok-o 'eye'. tělo 'body'. Gen. ličes-e 'of the face'; the nom. sing. liko*, is wanting, its place being taken by lice. In consequence of their similar termination in the nom. acc. sing. es- stems were often inflected like neuter o- stems; e. g. gen. slova instead of sloves-e. On the other hand some of the Slavonic es- stems were perhaps o- stems originally, and became es- stems only because of this same similarity of form, c. g. drěv-o 'tree', dělo 'work'. The suffix -os- is no doubt also to be traced in abstract nouns like qzos-ti 'strait', cp. Lat. angus-tu-s; see § 101 p. 307.

§ 123. 2. Substantives, masculine and feminine, with the suffix in the form -os-. Side by side with the neuters in -os- there existed in the original language a certain number of masculine and feminine substantives with -os- in the strong cases, -ōs in the nom. sing., -es -es-i in the loc. sing., and -s- in the weakest cases. It is only in Italic that this formation is at all fertile; and there the ō of the nom. sing. was carried through all the cases. The masculine or feminine form and the neuter form often appeared side by side, as Lat. decor: decus (cp. p. 411 f.).

Skr. uṣ-ās- f. Gr. ῥώς f. (for aues-ōs*)¹) Lat. aur-ōr-a 'dawn'. The acc. sing. was originally -os-m*: Skr. uṣās-am, Avest. uṣdāh-em, Gr. ῥῶ for ῥόα*; Skr. uṣās-am and uṣām were re-formations, the latter modelled on the nom. uṣās. Loc. -es-i: Skr. uṣās-i; Gr. ῥοῖ was a re-formation. Gen. Skr. Ved. uṣās instead of uṣ-ś-ās*, instead of which we find later uṣās-as, and a similar re-formation in Greek, ῥοῦς i. e. ῥόος*. Does the accent of the Att. ῥως (acc. ῥω) indicate that the original accent was auesōs*?

Gr. αἰδώς f. 'shame, modesty', acc. αἰδῶ, and parallel to it αἰδέσ-, in αἰδέσθαι fut. αἰδέσσομαι and αἰν-αἰνής.

Latin. Masculines. decor beside decus Skr. daśas-yā-ti 'honours, is at the service of'; tenor beside tenus Skr. tānas 'offspring' Gr. τένος 'sinew, bond'; angor beside angus-tu-s ānx-tu-s Skr. āhas 'distress'; tepor beside Skr. tāpas 'heat' and many other similar words. honōs honor (hones-tu-s), sūdor, ador, amor etc. Compare also rūmi-ficō beside rūmor § 34 p. 60. In the nom. sing. -ōr (-or) took the place of -ōs on the analogy of the other cases, where -r- regularly represented -s- between vowels

1) ῥώς proves that the law of vowel-shortening discussed in I § 611 p. 461 did not come into operation until after the loss of intervocalic α.

(I § 569 Rem. 2 p. 426 f.). aurōr-a (see above), like Flōr-a beside flos, cp. § 60 p. 110.

Remark. It is possible that all these nouns, excepting the word for 'dawn', were originally masculine; if so they kept their original gender in Latin, whilst Gr. αἰδώς became feminine, in the same way as the -tu-stems (§ 108 p. 323. 327)

It is uncertain how we ought to regard the Sanskrit masculine abstract substantives jāś- 'weakness of age' bhīś- 'fear' taś- 'strength'. They belong to this section if their acc in -āsam is a re-formation like uśāsam. Further: were such Latin substantives as sēdēs mōlēs plēdēs pūdēs really, as is usually assumed, originally s-stems? Possibly we should assume a double class of masculine and feminine substantives in the parent language, corresponding to the two classes appearing e. g. in Greek, ἄκ-μων contrasted with ποι-μὴν, δω-τωρ contrasted with δο-τήρ, distinguished by a difference of accent and of vocalism in the suffix. The accent of ἡώς αἰδώς would then have been shifted just as that of the forms in -ών -μῶν. Adjectives like Gr. ψευδής (§ 132 p. 412 f.) would then bear a nearer relation to these m. and f substantives in -ēs than to the neuters in -os.

§ 134. The Suffix -s- (-s-s-, -i-s-, -u-s-).

Side by side with the nouns formed with -es- (-os-), which have been discussed in §§ 131—133, we find nouns which have the same s-sound in the suffix, but which cannot be shewn with certainty to have ever had an e (o) before the s. And we must remember that although -es- was certainly used as a single and independent suffix at the time of the dissolution of the proethnic community, it may nevertheless have arisen from the fusion of two distinct elements (-e-s-, or rather perhaps as in gene-s*-, see p. 20).

The nouns here to be discussed may be arranged in four groups.

1. Skr. bhās- n. 'light, brilliancy' (nom. acc. bhās instr. bhāśā), Lat. fās n. (indecl.) originally 'utterance', √ bhā- (Bloomfield, Amer. Journ. of Phil. IX 19 compares Att. φῶς with Skr. bhās). Ar. das-* 'gift' in Skr. dās-vant- 'rich in gifts' su-dās- 'giving richly' (acc. -dās-am- gen. -dās-as-) Avest. vanəhu-dāh- 'giving good' (acc. -dāh-em- gen. -dāh-ō-), √ dā-. Skr. jāś- m. 'relative', cp. jñā-ti-ś. Lat. flos flōr-is, Flōr-a Osc. Fluusai dat. Lat. spē-r-are O.Lat. pl. spē-r-ēs spē-r-ibus beside spē-s. Should we class here the Greek κράς- ραράς- in κράτ- κρητ-

'head' (for καῶσ-η*- καρῶσ-η*-, cp. § 114 p. 347)? There is nothing to prevent our comparing with these words Skr. mās- 'moon, month' O.C.Sl. mēs-ecŭ 'month' from $\sqrt{mē}$ - 'measure', see § 132 p. 415.

In these words it is possible that the e of -es- has been contracted with the preceding vowel, so that dōs-: bheres- = dōno-m*: bhereno-m*, see § 65 p. 138. In this case we might regard the Sanskrit stems draviṇḍ-dās- 'giving riches' vayḍ-dhās- 'bestowing life-power' candrā-mas- 'moon' (see Lanman, Noun-Infl. p. 555 f.) as the direct representatives of an original formation, and analysing them as -d-es-* -dh-es-* -m-es-. -d-es-: dōs-* = Gr. λίπ-ος· Skr. rēp-as and the like; see § 132 p. 415. Lat. vī-r-e-s beside vī-s vi-m cannot have suffered this contraction; but it is perfectly easy to assume that the s-inflection in this word may be due merely to the analogy of older types.

2. -s-s-. Skr. kravīṣ- n. 'raw flesh', Gr. κρέας n. 'flesh', cp. Lat. cruor. Gr. κέρας 'horn' beside Skr. śīras- 'head' (originally 'prominent point'); Lat. cere-brum may contain either kēres-* or kēres-*, γήρας 'old age', γέρας 'gift of honour', δέμυς 'bodily frame'. Skr. tāmis-rā tamis-ra-m 'darkness' beside tūmas; Lat. tenebrae instead of temebrae* (I § 570 p. 428 f.) and Mid.Dutch deemster 'dark' may contain either temes-* or teməs-*. Skr. rōcīṣ- n. 'light' beside sva-rōcas- and Avest. raocah- n. 'light, clearness', O.Pers. raucah- 'day'. Avest. hadiš- O.Pers. hadiš- n. 'seat' beside Skr. sādas-. As regards the Aryan forms, however, it must be borne in mind that -iṣ- may represent Indo-Germanic -i-s-.

To this class perhaps also belong Gr. masc. ἔρως 'love' and γέλως 'laughter'. According to Solmsen (Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 109), there was the same ablaut-relation between these nominatives and the stems ἐρας- γελας- seen in Hom. ἐραν-νός ἡρώσ-σατο Pindar. γελαῖνης Hom. ἐγέλασ-σα, as between *δω- dō- and *δα- dā- 'give' (I § 317 p. 255 f.): γέλως γέλασ-ος* γέλασ-ι* etc., thence by qualitative assimilation of the vowel γελο(σ)-ος* γελο(σ)-ι*; later on they passed into the o-declension: acc. γέλο-ν ἔρο-ν and so forth.

3. -i-s-. Lat. cinis, pulvis, gen. cineris for cinis-is* cp. cinis-culu-s (I § 33 p. 33). Danielsson (Gramm. u. etym. Stud. I 51) compares, perhaps rightly, cinis with Gr. νόμ-ς. The same scholar assumes a stem θέμω- 'ordinance, right' in θεμω-νόμων θεμω-τ- and so forth. Here might also be classed some of the Aryan neuters in -iš- (see under 2); I will add only Skr. arclṣ- 'beam' jyōtiṣ- 'light'.

Was this -is- ever the weak form of an earlier -ies-?

4. -u-s-. Skr. dhānuṣ- n. 'bow' beside *dhanū-*ṣ m. dhānvan- n.; pāruṣ- n. 'knot' beside pārvan- n.; mādhūṣ- n. 'sweetness' beside mādhū- n.; mānuṣ- m. 'human being' beside mānuṣ m. Goth. mann- for manu-*. Lat. pecus n. beside pecu, genus m. n. 'knee' beside genu can hardly be deemed parallel examples; see § 104 p. 313.

In a few instances we find the ablaut -us-: -ues- (-uos-). Mention has already been made of Skr. āyuṣ- n. 'life' compared with Gr. αἰῆς αἰῶ § 133 p. 423. Another example is Skr. āruṣ- n. 'wound' beside O.Icel. orr n. 'scar' for arui-*z-.

135. The Suffix *-ies- -ies-*¹⁾.

This is a primary comparative suffix, side by side with the secondary -ero- -tero- (§ 75 p. 188 ff.). The fact that it is contained in the superlative suffix -is-to- (§ 81 p. 242 ff.) indicates that its comparative meaning was wider then that of the sister suffix -ero- -tero-, which from the earliest period to which we can trace it was used only in comparing two things (e. g. Gr. νό-τερος 'which of two?'). So that originally the combination -is + tero- in Gr. ἀριστέρος; Lat. sin-ister and the like (§ 75 p. 190 ff.) was probably not a mere pleonasm.

Even in the prothetic language the comparatives and superlatives containing this suffix had been brought into connexion with 'Positives' formed with all manner of suffixes (-u-, -o-, -ro- etc.), and were regarded as being derived from them, e. g. Skr. svād-tyas- Gr. ῥδ-ιων 'suavior' beside *svād-ū-*ṣ *ῥδ-ύ-*ς 'suavis'. Thus -ies- (-is-to-) acquired the character of a secondary suffix, which appears very clearly in the new formations which are so common in the separate languages, such as Skr. brāhm-īyas- Lat. amic-ior. Compare § 58 p. 107, §⁸¹ 81 p. 243.

As regards the ablaut of the root-syllable, the general rule seems to have been that the comparative had the strong grade (e in the e-series), and the superlative the weak grade. Parallel to this there was always a difference of accent. The corresponding positive was generally a form in which the weak-grade was regular in the root-syllable. Thus lēagh-ies-: lēagh-istó-: lēagh-ú-* 'brisk, small, little' = Avest. renj-yah- Gr. ἐλάσσων for ἐλαγχ-ων* (I § 459 p. 360, § 497 p. 365, § 618 p. 466) instead of ἐλεγχ-ων* through the influence of the form ἐλαχ-: Skr. lāgh-iṣṭha-s Gr. ἐλάχ-ιστο-ς (both with the accent shifted, see § 81 p. 243): Skr. lagh-ú-ṣ Gr. ἐλαχ-ύ-ς; Skr. prāth-īyas-: prth-ú-ṣ; Gr. κρέσσων: κρατ-ιστο-ς instead of κρατ-ιστό-ς*: κρατ-ύ-ς; ὀλεῖων: ὀλλγ-ιστο-ς instead of ὀλιγ-ιστό-ς*: ὀλλγ-ο-ς; O.H.G. suoz-iro: Goth. sut-ista. These distinctions of ablaut were to a large extent lost through the influence of analogy; particularly as between the comparative and superlative. E. g. Skr. lāghīyas- instead of lāēghīyas-* or the true phonetic form lāh-īyas* (I § 454 p. 335 f.); and conversely prāthiṣṭha- instead of prthiṣṭhá-*, bāhiṣṭha- instead of bahiṣṭhá-* (compar. bāh-īyas- posit. bah-ú-); Gr. τάχ-ιον instead of Θᾶσσον (τάχιστα, ταχύ-ς), and conversely ἐλέγχιστο-ς instead of ἐλάχιστο-ς; in μύσσων and μῆκιστο-ς (μακ-ρό-ς) the vowel-grades have exactly changed places; Goth. sut-iza instead of svūt-iza* (O.H.G. suoz-iro), but conversely O.H.G. suōz-isto instead of suōz-isto* (Goth. sut-ista).

In considering all such cases however it must be remembered that in the original paradigm of the comparative besides -ies- and -ios- the stem also appeared in the form -is-, before which the root-syllable must have had the weak-grade; e. g. dat. sing. lēagh-is-ái* like the superlative lēagh-is-tó-*; and this form of the root may also have appeared before -iēs- (see below). We have perfect right to assume if we choose that even in the proethnic language the strong form of the root (lēagh-ios-) had prevailed in all cases of the paradigm of the Comparative, so that, e. g. lēaghisái had dropped out of use in favour of lēagh-* isāi; but it is quite as easily conceivable that forms like hagh-isāi* descended into the separate languages, and there assisted in levelling the forms of the Comparative and the Superlative. The latter assumption would also make it easier to understand such instances as μάσων:μήνιστο-ς (Avest. mas-yah- O.Pers. maḥ-išta-).

There are some examples without vowel-gradation in the root: plē-īos-* plē-īs-: plē-īs-tó-: plē-ro-* = Skr. prā-yas Gr. πλέ-εϛ for πλη-ο-*: Gr. πλεῖσ-το-ς: Lat. plē-ru-s Gr. πλή-ρ-ηϛ.

As regards the different forms assumed by the comparative suffix itself in different languages many points are still obscure. The history of -ies- is in many ways parallel to that of the participial suffix -ues- (§ 136).

Remark 1 It is absolutely impossible to maintain that -iens- was the original form of this suffix. I attacked this view in Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIV 54 ff., and J. Schmidt in the same periodical XXVI 337 ff. has again undertaken its defence. Schmidt imagines that -ions (-iēns) in the nom. sing. masc. became -īōs (-iēs) in the proethnic language by a regular phonetic change (cp. I § 220 p. 188) and that the nasal was dropped in other cases by analogy. To say nothing of the fact that no certain examples of this proethnic phonetic law (-īōs coming from -iōns) have been adduced (cp. also p. 413)¹, the results which Schmidt's hypothesis involves are altogether incredible and inadmissible: see the Author in Iw. Muller's Hdb. II 55 and Solmsen, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXIX 83 (Collitz too declares against Schmidt, Bezenb. Beitr. X 65). I therefore still believe in -ies- (and in -ues- also; see p. 439).

-ies- and -iēs- stand side by side, just as -īo- and -iēo-; and the form -iēs- which is represented by Skr. -īyas- Gr. Att. -io(σ)- may be compared with -iōo-, see § 63 p. 122.

1. -īōs in the nom. sing. masc., -īos in the nom. acc. sing. neut.: Avest. vah-yā vah-yō, Skr. vās-yas (n), Lat. ma-jōr instead of -jōs (I § 569 Rem. 2 p. 426 f.) mā-jus, O.Ir. māo (m.), Goth. hauhis (n. adv.) for pr. Germ. -ias, O.C.Sl. bol-je (n.) for pr. Slav. -jos.

1) R. Meringer (Ztschr. f. österr. Gymn. 1888 p. 134) derives the acc. pl. gūs* (Skr. gās Gr. βῶ;) through gōns* from gōmns*. On p. 138, however, he assents to my view that the acc. sing. was gō(μ)m* before a sonant, but gōμμ* before a consonant. I confess I do not see how to reconcile these statements. I must still regard Meringer's gōmns* as a monstrosity, and the view that gās βῶ; are re-formations on the analogy of the acc. sing. as perfectly admissible.

2. -jos in the voc. masc.: Skr. vās-yas.

3. -iēs- in the loc. sing.: Skr. vās-yas-i (the accent has been shifted). Also in the fem. nom. -iēs-i, gen. -is-iēs etc.; levelling in different directions produced on the one hand Skr. vās-yasī vās-yasyās, on the other Goth. šut-izei šut-izeins, and O.C.Sl. bol-jši bol-jšē (instead of bol-ješi* bol-je*) The suffix has also the -ies- form in Lith. saldūs-nis 'sweeter' with -es- for -ies- (I § 147 p. 131), in the unique Pruss. gen. pl. muīs-ies-on 'maiorum' and perhaps in Lat. mā-jes-iās beside mā-jor (this may also be a new formation modelled on hones-iās: honor and the like) and pē-jer-are beside pē-jor (cf. Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 115).

4. -is- in the weak cases, e. g. dat. sing. -is-ai loc. pl. -is-sū. This form of the suffix has spread through the paradigm, wholly or in part, in Gr. πλῆς πλέας neut. πῖα (πλεῖς*), Goth. šut-iz-a gen. šut-iz-ins, māiz-a gen. māiz-ins, O.C.Sl. gen. bol-jšā 'maioris' for bol-jš-iā* instead of bol-iz-iā* (see below). There were moreover adverbs in -is- mō-is* = Oso. mais 'magis' Goth. māis 'more', Lat. mag-is, Goth. vairs for uirs-iz*, Gr. περία = Lat. prīs- in περία-γυ-ς περία-βυ-ς prīs-cu-s. Further -is- occurred in the fem. gen. -is-iēs etc. see 3. Cp. superl. -is-tō-, § 81 p. 242 ff.

Finally I regard it as probable.

5 That the strong cases of the masc. (except the nom. sing.) had -jos-. acc. Avest. vah-yānēh-em Gr. ἐλπίσω for -io(n)-a The fact that in Greek -io(n)-a is confined to the strong cases (there is no such form as ἐλπίσω-ος* in the gen., for example) may be regarded as an additional proof that in the other cases another form of the suffix prevailed; for if all the cases had originally had -ios-, they would surely have all been treated in the same way.

In Arjan, -iā- was displaced by -yas- in the weak cases: dat. sing. Skr. vās-yas-ē Avest. vah-yānēh-ē, gen. sing. Skr. vās-yas-as Avest. vah-yānēh-ō. Where -yas- is also found in the strong cases in the same group of languages, as Skr. kaniyas-am 'iuniorum' Avest. vañhānēh-em 'meliorem' (-ñh- = -hy-, I § 538 p. 415), it is not original, but due to a secondary change. Instead of -yas- in the voc. sing. masc. -yan appears in the postvedic language; this form is doubtless due to the analogy of -van (§ 136 p. 441).

In Latin the -jos of the nom. sing. was carried through the whole case-system, later it became -ior following the other cases, where -n- regularly became -r-; mā-jor -jōr-em -jōr-is etc.; cp. hon-or -ōr-em and so forth, § 133 p. 423.

The Old Church Slavonic nom. sing. maso. boljŕi boljŕi beside neut. bolje is probably not a compound word (boljŕi + jŕi), but a modification of bol-ŕi* which had the suffix in the form -iēs-; beside it we find nově-jŕi with -iēs-. boljŕi owes its form to the influence of the neuter bolje, or of masculines like dobljŕ-jŕi, or of both together. The masc. terminations -ŕi and -jŕi (instead of -ija* -ja* = Idg. -iōs* -jōs*) are due to the influence of the -jo- stems, such as dobljŕi; nově-jŕi bears to neut. nově-je the same relation as dobljā: doblje. From the nom. acc. sing. neut. and nom. sing. maso. -j- passed on to the other cases which had -iē- = -ie-je-: gen. boljīša instead of bolīša* etc. See 3. above, fem. boljīše instead of bolīše*.

But what is the origin of the nasal in Skr. vas-yāṣ- (nom. vās-yān acc. vās-yāṣ-am) and of the Greek paradigm ἐλάσσων -ων-ος etc.? In § 63 p. 132 we regarded -ies- as an extension of the comparative -iō- by -es-; compare Skr. nāv-yas- Lat. nov-ior beside Skr. nāv-ya- Goth. nīu-jī-s, Lat. nim-is beside nim-iu-s. Now in some instances there may have been a form -iēn- parallel to -iō- and having the same force. The stems formed with this stood in Greek side by side with those which had -ies-, and were taken into more extended use because they had an easier and clearer inflexion than that of the -ies- comparatives, which had broken up into very dissimilar groups through the operation of phonetic laws within the case-system, thus arose ἡδ-ίων-ος like κρον-ων -ων-ος (§ 116 p. 359), and χερό-τερο-ς: χεῖρων = *πῶ-τερο-ς: πῶν*¹). In Sanskrit however -yāṣ- and -yān- were contaminated, producing the form -yāṣ-, just as mahānt- (beside mahat-) seems to have arisen from the fusion of an n-stem and a t-stem. (§ 126 p. 399) Cp. Danielsson, Gramm. and etym. Stud. I 49. Thus we should have side by side e. g. (1) plē-iō-* (Gr. πλέω-ς: πλείο-ς; Cret. πλίω, Armen. li, gen. loy, 'full', Skr. prāyēna prāya-śas 'for the most part, usually, mostly'), (2) plē-ies-* plē-iē-* (Skr. prā-yas, Gr. πλείω πλείον-ος etc.) and (3) plē-iēn-* plē-iē-* (πλείων -ων-ος, neut. Att. πλείν, ep. with the latter Cret. περί Hom. πεῖν Att. πεῖν beside πεῖσ-; πλείν: πλείον πλείων = Goth. māis: hādūhīa). Compare further (1) Skr. kan-yā 'maiden' Gr. καινό-ς 'new' for kan-iō-ς* (2) Skr. kān-iyas- 'younger' kan-iśthā 'youngest' (3) Avest. kain-in- f. 'girl'; Gr. (1) ἥα-ιο- 'easy' (ἥη-διο-ς, ἥη-ι-τερο-ς): (2) ἥηω ἥηω, ἥηω-ος ἥηω-ος: (3) ἥη-ων ἥηων (etymology doubtful, see Osthoff, Zur Gesch. d. Perf. 446 f.)²). Compare the parallel forms āx-uo-* (Lat. aevo-m Goth. diu-s): āx-ies-* (Gr. αἰεῖ αἰώ Skr. āyuv-): āx-iēn-* (Gr. αἰών αἰέν Skr. āyuni-) § 116 p. 362, § 133 p. 423, Skr. fbh-va- fbh-vas- fbh-van- 'artistic' and other examples.

Indo-Germanic. lengh-(i)ios- beside lengh-ū-*: Skr. lāgh-īyas- Avest. renj-yah- Gr. acc. ἐλάσσω, cp. p. 427 above. suād-(i)ios-* beside Skr. svadū-ṣ Gr. ἡδύ-ς Goth. sut-s 'suavis': Skr. svad-īyas-, Gr. ἡδ-ιω -ίω, Lat. suārior 'instead of suād-ior* through the influence of suāvi-s, O.H.G. suoz-iro Goth. sut-iza. δῆ-(i)ios-* beside Skr. āś-ū-ṣ Gr. ώκ-ύ-ς Lat. acu-pediū-s: Skr. āś-īyas-, Gr. ώκ-λων (this is not actually found, but may be

2) In view of this it may not be rash to see a further group of old -iō- forms in the Att. gen. sing. of the compar. in -ιον (ἀπό τοῦ μέλου, ἐχθάρτων, Meisterhaus, Gramm. d. Att. Inschr. p. 67).

Skr. māh-tyas- Avest. maz-yah- 'greater': Gr. Ion. μεῖζων, Lat. māior (cp. I § 135 p. 122) mag-is mag-is-ter (cp. I § 469, 8 p. 346 f.). Skr. nēd-tyas- Avest. nazd-yah- 'nearer' for pr. Ar. na-zd-*; see I § 591 p. 447 and II § 4 p. 9.

Skr. vār-tyas- beside ur-ū- 'wide'. śrē-yas- beside śrī-lā- 'fair, glorious': should we compare Gr. ἡρότων 'noble, princely, ruler' (which has passed into the -vr- declension, like θεράπων etc., see § 114 p. 350)? kṣēp-tyas- beside kṣp-rā- 'quick'. dāv-tyas- beside dū-rā- 'distant'. tēj-tyas- beside tig-mā- 'sharp'. srāj-tyas- beside srag-vīn- 'crowned'. nāv-yas- nāv-tyas- beside nāv-a- 'novus': Lat. nov-ior, O.H.G. niw-iro nuw-iro 'novior'. prē-yas- beside priy-ā- 'dear'. jyā-yas- 'mightier'. In Avestic the metre often shows that the reading should be -iyah-, as renjiyah-, nazdiyah-, masiyah- (beside mah-) s.ya

In Sanskrit we find occasionally new formations from noun-

Greek. -ιο(σ)- -ῖο(σ)- occurs only in the acc. sing. masc. and the nom. acc. plur. masc. and neut. By its side we find through all the cases -ιον- -ῖον- (-ιν- in πλεῖν, πρεῖν πρίν); in Rem. 1 p. 430 I have stated my conjecture that this form represents Idg. -ion- and never contained s. -ιο(σ)- -ιον- occur in Attic.

The examples are given in the form of the acc. sing. masc. in -ιω -ῖω for -ιο(σ)-α* -ῖο(σ)-α*.

πάσσω and παχ-ίω beside παχ-ύς 'fat, thick'. θάσσω for θαρχ-ιος-α* beside ταχ-ύς 'swift' (we must compare Pol. daḗyc 'to press forward, aspire, hasten', see Bezzenberger in his Beitr. XII 241; the favourite comparison of this with Avest. taṣyah- has not been reconciled with phonetic law), cp. ἐλάσσω p. 427. βραδ-ίω beside βραδ-ύς 'slow': Skr. mrad-tyas-. γλυκ-ίω beside γλυκ-ύς 'sweet'. ὀλεῖω beside ὀλιγ-ος 'little' ὀλίγ-ιστος, from which ὀλίζω was afterwards formed. κακ-ίω beside κακ-ός 'bad'. ἐχθ-ίω beside ἐχθ-ρός 'hostile'. ἥσσω 'inferiorem' beside ἥκ-α; ἡττάσθαι instead of ἡττοῦσθαι* follows νικᾶσθαι, and from the verb ἡττάσθαι the substantive ἡττα was itself formed (Wackernagel, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXX 299 f.) ἀμείνω for ἀμεν-ιω* 'meliorem'. A form ἀγγ-ιος-* 'nearer' may be inferred from the adv. ἄσσον for ἀγγ-ιον (beside ἄγγ-ι): Skr. ah-tyas- O.H.G. eng-ir-o 'narrower'. μείω 'minorem' for μει-ιο(σ)-α* beside mi-no-mi-nu-*, Lat. mi-nus Goth. minniza for mi-nu-is-*, see below; the superl. μείστος stands for με(ι)-ιστος* (for the vowel-grade of the root cp. ἐλέγγ-ιστος and the like p. 427) or else is a new formation in imitation of its opposite πλεῖστος. πλείω πλέω 'more' instead of πληγ-(ι)ο(σ)-α* has been affected by the form of πλεῖστος (like Skr. sthé-tyas- instead of sthā-tyas-* through the influence of sthéṣṭha-, § 81 p. 244), and perhaps also to some extent by μείω; by the side of it we find a form πλεισ- for pleis-*, belonging properly to the weak cases of the comparative, in Hom. πλέ-ες πλέ-ας Cret. πλί-ες neut. πλί-α (ι for ε, I § 64 p. 51¹): Skr. prā-tyas etc.; see p. 431 above. κρείσσω κρείττω beside Ion. κρείσσω (ῥ: κράτ-ιστο-ς κρατ-ύ-ς 'strong' and μείζω beside Ion. μείζω (ῥ: μέγ-ιστο-ς μέγ-α-ς 'magnus')¹ owe their ει to the analogy of χεῖρω ἀμείνω ὀλειζω, conversely Ion. ἔσσω beside ἤττω follows κρείσσω, cp. I § 639 Rem. p. 479 and Ber. d. sächs. Ges. d. Wiss. 1883 p. 193.

In rare instances we find nominal suffixes preceding the comparative -ισ-, as καλλ-ίω 'pulcriorem' beside κάλλος n., βελ-τ-ίω 'meliozem'. Compare the superlatives, § 81 p. 245.

In Cretan (Gortyn) we find πρεῖγω (πρεῖγωνα) beside πρεῖγυν-ς and κάρτω (καρτόνανς) instead of *κρέττω = Ion. ῥέσσω, beside καρνύ-ς. It remains doubtful whether these forms are regular phonetic representatives of *πρεῖγυν-ω, *καρτ-ω (cp. Dor. κάρρων for *καρσων), or new formations with -ω instead of -ω on the model of some one or more forms where the κ had regularly disappeared.

One example of an adverb in -is is πρεῖσ- ('before') found in the compound Cret. πρεῖσ-γυν-ς (whence πρεῖγυν-ς by assimilation). Thessal. πρεῖσ-βυν-ς (cp. I § 428 p. 316), which corresponds to the pris- of the Lat. pris-cu-s (beside prior prius), cp. Rem. 1 p. 429 and for -γυν- -βυν-, § 91 Rem. p. 277. Obviously *πρεῖς is related to Cret. πρεῖν (Hom. πρεῖν Att. πρῖν) as πλεισ- (in πλέες πλεῖσ-το-ς) to Att. πλεῖν and as πλείους (i. e. *πλειουσ-ες) to πλείον-ες, cp. Rem. 1 p. 430. If we start from an original *πρέ-ιος- *pri(ι)-is- (by analogy *pri-ίος- and *pre-ίς-), Lat. pris- may represent not only *πρεῖς but also *pri-ίς (cp. πρῖν). It must be admitted that the forms πρέσγυν-ς πρέσβυν-ς are still obscure¹).

Italic. O.Lat. minirimu-s for minus-imo-s* (cp. plūr-imu-s etc.), minus-ter, Osc. minstreis mistreis 'minoris': cp. Goth. minniza

1) The student who believes that the doctrine of 'hyphaeresis' (κέσκειτο = *κε(ι)σκετο, σπέσαι = *σπεσαι) is not a mere midsummer madness, may find comfort in supposing that *πρεσ- stands for an older form *πρε(ι)εσ-, an analogical modification of an original loc. *pri-ίεσ. It is simpler however to analyse *πρες into πρ + -ε, (the genitive ending), and to regard it as a by-form of πά-ος Skr. pur-ās (I § 294 p. 234) Prellwitz, De dial. Thessalica 1885 p. 11 takes a very similar view, but a different explanation may be found in Per Persson's Studia etymologica, Upsala 1886, p. 95.

'minor' for mi-ni-is*- O.C.Sl. mīnjŭi 'minor' and the archaic Gr. μειω 'minorem' for μει-ιος-α* (p. 432), minus was a neuter like vol-nus Gr. δύ-voς (see § 132 p. 415 and p. 418); it originally meant 'minority', and then like vetus came to be used as an adjective, when it had thus become the opposite of mājus, mājōris māior etc. gave rise to the analogous formations minōr-is minor etc.¹). Umbr. mes-tru f. 'maior' (ep. § 75 p. 195), Ose. mais 'magis'. O.Ir. māo etc., see p. 431 above. Ose. pūstir-is 'posterior'.

Lat. ōc-iōr beside acu-pediū-s: Skr. āś-iyas- etc., see p. 430 f. above. nov-iōr beside novo-s. Skr. nāv-yas- etc., see p. 431 above. sen-iōr beside senex. Skr. sān-yas- beside sān-a-s 'old', O.Ir. sin-iū 'older' sinser 'the elder, eldest' for senis-tero-s* beside sen, Lith. senēs-m-s 'older' beside sēn-a-s, cp. also Goth. sinista 'eldest'. mel-iōr. pē-jor. māior mājus with magis beside māgnu-s: Skr. māh-tyas- etc., see p. 431 above, the evidence of the Gr. μέγα-ς and the Goth. mikil-s shews that the root originally had e and hence it seems necessary to assume that the Latin word has been influenced by the pr Ital. maḡs-* = Idg. mā-ies-* (ep. Ose. mais beside Lat. magis, Umbr. mes-tru beside Lat. magister), which belongs to a different root.

pleōrēs and plūsma, see p. 431 above. It has not yet been clearly shewn what relation the forms plous plūs, plūr-ēs, plōer-a and plourume (C. I. L. I 32) bear to plē-ies-* which we must assume as the ground-form of the comparative stem.

Remark 2 For a discussion of these latter forms see Stolz (Iw Muller's Handb. II p 164), Danielsson (Pauli's Altital. Stud. IV p 164 and Osthoff (Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 445 f) Danielsson's proposal to assume a form plō-ies-* parallel to plē-ies-* is the simplest from the phonetic standpoint. We should start from a stem plūies-, whence we should arrive at plōies- (according to I § 612 p 462²), and then at plūs-. In plous- ou would be merely a graphic representative of the sound ū.

1) It seems to me less probable that even at the time when minus was still a substantive, there was also a maso. form minor, like decor beside decus and the like (§ 133 p 423)

2) In the third line of this paragraph read 'explosive or spirant' instead of 'sonant'.

Adverbs in -is-. Lat. mag-is beside mājor. numis. satis. prīs in prīs-cu-s beside prior, see p. 433 above; is it also contained in prīdem?¹⁾ Osc. mais 'magis': Goth. māis.

There was in Latin a very great deal of levelling between the form of the comparative and that of the positive, which converted -ies- into a secondary suffix. suāvior instead of suād-ior* follows suāv-i-s for suād-ū-i-s*, cp. Skr. svād-īyas-. tenuior instead of ten-ior* follows ten-u-i-s, cp. Skr. tan-īyas-. levior instead of leg-ior* follows levi-s for legu-i-s*. sēr-ior instead of sē-(i)ōs* follows sē-ru-s, in the same way, in old Irish, side by side with the regular sia there arose a form sīru sīre on the analogy of the positive sī-r 'long'. jūn-ior juven-ior, cp. Skr. yāv-īyas-. audac-ior. facil-ior. asper-ior. doct-ior. sapient-ior.

Lat. super-ior inter-ior dexter-ior Osc. pústir-is; see § 75 p. 195. Late formations are plūriōrēs proximior and the like.

Old Irish Only the nom. sing. has been kept.

māo mō for mō-īōs*, beside mā-r 'great'. Osc. mais etc., see p. 431. sin-ū beside sen 'old' Skr. sān-ya- etc., see p. 434. laig-ū 'smaller'.

It is often a secondary suffix, as in sīr-ū (see above), follls-iu from folllus 'manifest', uasl-iu from uasal 'high'.

Sometimes we find -u instead of -iu after consonants, as lug-u beside laiguu. This is perhaps a new formation modelled upon those forms in which ī had been dropped between vowels, such as māo (māu*)

-is-tero-. sinser ōser, see § 75 p. 196.

Germanic. As a rule, the suffix is extended by n-suffixes.

1) prīdiē can only be regarded as prīs-diē* if it is assumed that postrīdiē stands for postris-diē* (cp. Osc. pústir-is) (Havet's explanation, in Mém de la Soc. de lingu. IV 229, seems to me untenable). But postris may also be loc. sing. of postro-, and prīdiē may have been formed later in imitation of postrīdiē.

These are absent only in such adverbs as Goth. hauh-is 'higher' nēhv-is 'nearer', hald-is 'more gladly, potius, rather' fram-is 'further on'; the termination -is seems to be the original neuter termination -ios (Rem. p. 428 f.), while such adverbs as Goth. vairs O.H.G. wirs 'worse', for pr. Germ. wirs-iz*, Goth. mins O.H.G. min 'less', for min-iz* represent Idg. -is (see loc. cit.).

Pr. Germ. -iz-en- (-iz-en-) m. n. (f. Goth. -iz-ein- O.H.G. -ir-ōn-). Goth. sut-iza O.H.G. suoz-iro 'sweeter': Skr. svād-tyas- etc.; see above, p. 430. Goth. māiza O.H.G. mēro 'greater': Osc. mais etc., see above, p. 431. Goth. hard-iza O.H.G. hart-iro hert-iro beside Goth. hard-u-s 'hard': Lith. kartės-ni-s beside kart-ū-s 'bitter'. Goth. hauh-iza O.H.G. hōh-iro beside Goth. hauh-s 'high'. Goth. bat-iza O.H.G. bezz-iro 'better'. Goth. vairs-iza O.H.G. wirs-iro 'worse, wicked'. The forms have often been levelled to match the positive, and secondary formations have arisen: Goth. jūh-iza O.H.G. jung-iro and jūg-iro beside Goth. jugg-s O.H.G. jung, as contrasted with Skr. yāv-tyas- O.Ir. ōa, cp. O.H.G. jungisto § 81 p. 248, Goth. alp-iza O.H.G. alt-iro beside Goth. al-p-ei-s O.H.G. al-t 'old'. The origin of Goth. minn-iza O.H.G. minn-iro for mi-n-iz-*, compared with Gr. μειω Lat. minis-ter O.C.Sl. měnjŭjŭ, is obscure.

-ōz- -ōz-en- appeared in proethnic Germanic side by side with -iz- -iz-en-, see § 81 p. 248. It is used only in the comparatives of o-stems in Gothic and (with rare exceptions) in Old High German. Adv Goth. snūmundōs 'more hastily', aljalēkōs 'otherwise'. Goth. frōdōza from frōp-s 'wise', svinpōza from svinp-s 'strong, powerful', O.H.G. lobōro from lob 'beloved', liohtōro from lioht 'bright', gileganōro from gi-legan 'apt, suitable': hōhōro (also hōhiro) from hōh 'high', hērōro (also hēriro) from hēr 'grand, glorious'; this variation is frequent; tiurōro (and tiuriro) from tiuri 'dear, valuable'.

Balto-Slavonic. In Lithuanian the only form of the suffix is -ies-, in the combination -ē-s-n-i-s -ē-s-n-e; the origin of the second part (-n-jo-) is difficult to explain (an attempt may be found in Schmidt's paper in Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVI 399 f.). In Slavonic in the nom. acc. sing. neut. -je = Idg. -jos; as regards -jīše- instead of -īše- = Idg. -is-jo- and nom. sing. masc. -jījī (later -jijī, no doubt by the rule in I § 36 p. 37) -jī, see p. 429 f.

Remark 3. For the Lithuanian comparative adverbs in -iaus, such as saldžiaus 'more sweetly', whose suffix has nothing to do with -ies-, see § 81 p. 248 f.

Lith. sald-ėšni-s O.C.Sl. slaždījī, neut. slažde, beside sald-ū-s slad-ū-kū 'sweet'.

Lith. gerėšni-s beside gėra-s 'good', didėšni-s beside didi-s 'great'. It is clearly denominative in e. g. baltėšni-s from bāl-ta-s 'white' jaunėšni-s from jáu-na-s 'young'.

In Prussian a solitary example with -ies- is preserved (-ies- no doubt = Idg. -ies-): muīs-ies-on 'maiorum'.

O.C.Sl. boljījī boljijī neut. bolje 'greater': Skr. bāl-īyas- 'stronger, more powerful'. gorjījī 'worse': Skr. gār-īyas- 'gravior', mīnjījī 'smaller': O.Lat. miner-īmu-s minis-ter, see pp. 433 f. 436 above. krěpljījī beside krěpūkū 'strong'. chuždījī beside chudū 'bad'. vysjījī beside vysokū 'high'. As to the effects produced by the first j of -jījī upon preceding consonants, see I § 147 p. 132 ff.

This formation however is not so frequent in Slavonic as that in -ě-jīs-: nom. sing. masc. -ějī nom. acc. sing. neut -ėje gen. -ějīša and so forth. novějī from novū 'new'. silīnjējī from silīnū 'strong'. mūnožajī from mūnogū 'multus', for mūnogējī* according to the rule given in I § 76 p. 66. As the last example shows, the ě of -ějī was Idg. ē, and it can scarcely be doubted that this comparative formation arose from the addition of the suffix -ies- to the instr. sing. in -ē of the o-stems; compare the Germ. comparative in -ōz-(en-), formed from the instr. sing. in ō. From the nom. sing. in -ějī -ėje, j passed into the other cases; hence the gen. -ějīša instead of -ējīša and so forth. The Prussian comparatives with -ais- seem to be of the same kind; e. g. maldaīs-in acc. sing. masc., from malda- 'young', cp. O.C.Sl.

mladē-jī beside mladū 'young', urais-in beside ura- 'old', massais adv. 'less' beside Lith. māža-s 'small'. It is doubtful however whether these forms come from the instrumental in -ē or from that in -ō, whether -ais- represents -ē-is- -ēis- or -ō-is- -ōis-.

§ 136. The Suffix *-ues-*¹⁾. This served to form the Perfect Participle Active.

In this participle as elsewhere the perfect stem was reduplicated; cp. Skr. ba-bhū-vās- Gr. πi-φv-ώς from √ bheu- 'become'. Even such forms as Goth. pl. masc. bēr-us-jōs 'parents' Lith. fcm. séd-us-i (beside séd-au 'I sit') contained reduplication, as we shall see when we come to discuss the verb.

Remark 1 It may be assumed that the syllable of reduplication had not come to be regarded as an integral element in the formation of the -ues- participle, until the latter had been associated with the perfect system (single forms with -ues- may very well have had the reduplicating syllable before that time, see § 52, 2 p 93 f, and these very forms may have been the chief factors in cementing the connexion of this participle with the perfect-system) It is therefore a question whether the partic Skr vid-vās- Gr ῥιδώς, εἰδώς, has not descended as an unreduplicated form from a period older than the date at which this association had taken place; it is certain that the infinitive Avost vid-van-ōi Gr εἰδ-έν-αι (§ 116 p 363), whose connexion with the verb belongs to a comparatively late period, never had the reduplication. I conjecture that this participle of ueid- was always unreduplicated, and being a word very frequently used banished the reduplication even in the forms of the finite verb (Skr veda Gr οἶδε etc) Other participles without reduplication must be explained in the same way, e. g. Skr sah-vās- viśi-vās-, Gr εἰκ-ώς ἄγναι (sc. ἡ ὁδός) αἰθναι (so. ἔγενε)²⁾, Lith džy-ęs O C.Sl. žeg-u, Lith vėž-ęs O C.Sl. vez-ŭ.

The root-syllable has generally the weak-grade of Ablaut; this is regular in Aryan, as Skr ri-rik-vās- beside ri-rēc-a 'he

2) Cp. E. Wörner, Die Substantiva auf vai, in Sprachwissenschaft. Abh. aus G. Curtius' gramm. Gesellsch 1874 p 111 ff On p. 114 the author writes of participles like ἄγναι that 'either they have lost their reduplication, or else — more probably — they never had any' set free, made empty', ca-kr--vās- beside ca-kār-a 'he made', Gr. id-vā f. 'knowing' beside oidε, Lith. vilk-ęs O.C.Sl. vlāk-ŭ beside the pres. vell-ū vlēk-a 'I trail'. Certain forms, however, seem to have originally had the strong grade, that is e in the e-series, ē in the ē-series and so forth. This is indicated by Gr. eidōs (: idvā, oidε), κεκλεβώς Messen. (: κέκλοφε), ἐρρηγεῖα Heracl. (: ἐρρωγε), λεληκώς (: λελακνῖα), ἀρηρώς (ἀραρνῖα), ἐστη-ώς (: ἐστᾱ-ώς) and the like; also by Goth. veitvōþ-s 'witness', if, as is probable, its ei = Idg. e₂ (see below)¹). It may be assumed, that originally this form of the root was proper to the strong cases of the masc. and neut., where the participial suffix appears in its -o- form (-mōs- not -mēs-). nom. sing. masc. méld-mōs* acc. méld-mos-ŋi*. Further explanation of the forms assumed by the root-syllable (e. g. Goth. bēr-us-γōs Lith. sēd-ęs) must be reserved for the section dealing with the formation of the perfect-stem.

With respect to the phonetic variation in the character of the participial suffix, our enquiry into its original form or forms is met by the same difficulties as we encountered in dealing with the primary comparative suffix (§ 135). Much has still to be explained.

Rem. 2 In Kuhn's Ztschr XXIV 69 ff I have attacked the view (which J. Schmidt, ibid XXVI 337 ff, has again undertaken to defend) that this suffix originally contained a nasal (-mens-). My criticism (§ 135 Rem 1 p 428) of the old view of the comparative suffix, applies equally well to this. It is absolutely untenable. The arguments on either side are on the whole the same, see loc cit. I therefore still regard -mes- as the original form.

There is no record of a form -umes- parallel to -mes- (cp. -tes- beside -ies-). Osthoff, Zur Gesch d Perf 401 ff, endeavours to show that in Skr. forms like ōkivās- papivās- the termination -ivās- took the place of -uvas-.

If we disregard this question as to the initial part of the suffix and regard it simply as -mes-, the following assumptions may be considered as adequately established for proethnio Indo-Germanic.

1. The nom. sing. masc. ended sometimes in -mōs, Gr. eid-ώς, sometimes in -mēs, Lith. dā-ęs instead of da-vēs* (see below). The pr. Ar. -mās, Avest vid-vā, may represent either termination; here we must notice the

1) O.C.Sl. vlēku and brēgŭ prove nothing. See O. Wiedemann, Beitr. zur altbulg. Conjugation, 1886 p 132 f.

Skr. compounds with d- dūṣ- śā, as ś-vidvas- śā-vidvas- beside vid-vas-, as favouring the view that -ūṣ- and -ues- existed side by side in Aryan.

2. -uos in nom. acc. sing. neut.: Gr. εἰδ-ός. There was probably a parallel form -ues, compare the masc. -uēs. It remains uncertain whether the Lat. neuter forms caddēver and papāver contained this suffix (-ver would have taken the place of the phonetically regular -ves*).

3. -uōs, or (under other conditions) -ues, in the voc. sing. m.: Skr vid-vas.

4. -uēs- in the loc. sing.: Skr. -vas-* (there is unfortunately not a single example of this case in our text of the Veda). We may again directly compare with this the feminine formation (cp. § 135 p. 429): nom. -uē-si gen. -uēs-īś: Gr. -ēia beside -vīa; an original γερωνεία: γερων-uās* became, by levelling, on the one hand γερωνεία: γερωνείας, on the other γερωνεία: γερωνείας; cp. also Laced βιδεοί beside βιδυοί ιδυοί ιδῶοι name of an official ('inspectors').

5. -us- in the weak cases: dat sing Skr vid-uś-ē Avest. vid-uś-ē, gen. sing. Skr. -uś-as Avest. -uś-ō, gen. pl Skr -uś-ām Avest. -uś-am, instr. pl. Avest. -uś-biś. Further in the fem. suffix -us-ī- and the corresponding masc. neut. -us-īo- gen. sing f Skr. vid-uś-yās Gr. ιδ-υία; Gr pl ιδυιοί βιδυοί (see 4), Goth. bēr-us-jōs m. 'parents', gen. sing. f. Lith. vilk-us-ios O C Sl vlūk-ūšę gen. sing. m. Lith vilk-us-io O C Sl vlūk-ūša. Cp. further the Ar nom. sing in -uś: Skr vid-uś Avest. vid-uś maman-uś and other like forms, compare perhaps Osc sipus 'sciens' and O.C.Sl vlūkū (see below), and again the comparative formation Skr vid-uś-tara- Avest jāger-buś-tara-

Lastly, I regard it as probable

6 That the strong cases of the maso (except the nom sing) had -uos-, where the tense-stem bore the accent acc sing. Avest vid-vānsh-em.

It will be remembered that we have regarded -ues- as an extension of -io-, and assumed the existence, side by side with -ues-, of a form -ien- with the force of a comparative suffix (§ 135 p. 430). In the same way, I regard -ues- as an extension of -uo- (cp. Skr. pak-vā- Lat ar-vo-s pas-cuo-s perspicuo-s residuo-s and the like, see G. Curtius, Ber. d. sächs Ges. der Wiss., 1885, p. 432)¹), and I assume the existence of a parallel form -uet-, made by the addition of the -t- (-et- -ot-) discussed in § 123 p. 389 ff This -uet- appears in Greek and Gothic: Gr acc. sing. εἰδ-ότ-α gen. sing εἰδ-ότ-ος etc, Hom. τεδνῆ-ώτ-α, Goth. vent-vōd- 'witness', vent-vōd-: uid-ues-* = Goth. mē-nōp-: mē-nes-* (Lith. gen. mėnes-io), see § 123 p. 393 f The form -uōt- was originally proper to the nom. sing. masc, and the phonetic coincidence of -uōs and -uōt- in Greek produced there the contaminated declension. I doubt, however, whether this was also the origin of the Skr. -vāt- in loc pl. vid-vāt-su instr. pl. vid-vād-bhiṣ nom. acc. neut. vid-vāt. We saw in § 127 p. 405 that in protoethno Aryan these participles coincided with the vant-stems in the formation of the nom. and voc. sing. maso.: -yas and -yas. Now pr. Ar. -uś-sū* loc. pl. and -uś-bhiś* instr. pl. (Avest. vid-uś-biś) must have regularly become in Sanskrit -uṣṣu* and -uḍbhiś*, and similarly, -yas-su* and -yas-bhiś* (if -yas- had taken the place of -uś- before the phonetic change of ś and ṣ came into operation) must have become -vatsū and -vadbhiś (I § 557 p. 412, § 591 p. 448). In either case, especially in the latter, a new and closer phonetic relation to the vant-stems was established. If -uṣṣu* -uḍbhiś* arose first, then it must have been just the association with the vant-stems that superseded these terminations by -vat-su *-vadbhiś*¹). The neuter form vid-vāt and the post-Vedio rideattara 'wiser' vidvātā vidvātva-m 'erudition' were further results of this connexion.

1) We have the two side by side in ai-ues-* ai-uo-* § 116 p. 362 f. § 133 p. 423.

Now whence comes the nasal in Skr. -vās-? To explain this as we explained the nasal in Skr. -vās- (p. 431) as being derived from a form -ven- parallel to -yes-, is hardly probable, because there are no participial forms corresponding to the Greek comparative μῆτις -oro- and the like. I conjecture that in early Sanskrit the nasal passed from -vant-am -vant-as to the nom. sing. in -rās* (see § 127 p. 405), agni-vās* becoming agni-vās (-vān), and thence passed on to the participles, first vid-vās, then vid-vās-am and so forth; it is possible also that -vant-am had a direct influence upon -vās-am*.

And lastly, the vant-stems may have given rise to the later formation of the voc. sing. in -van instead of -vas, having first exchanged -vas for -van in their own system.

In Lithuanian we find vilk-ēs beside dā-vēs, Pruss larpinn-ons beside klanti-souns, OCSl vlūk-ū beside da-vū, similarly gen. vlūk-us-io beside dā-vus-io, vlūk-ūša beside da-vūša. In the nom. sing. the consistent absence of v after the consonant may have been caused by the fact that this sound regularly disappeared after certain consonants (op. I § 184 p. 160 f.)²; the form which the suffix took in these instances was then applied generally to all tense-stems that ended in a consonant. At the same time the absence of the r in the other cases (vlūk-us-io vlūk-ūša etc.) may have helped in forming the type. In the case of Slavonic however, we have further to take into account the possibility that there existed a nom. in -us* (op. Skr. vid-uś etc. p. 440). -ū may be the regular phonetic representative of this ending. Lith. -ens -ens, -vēs -ēs replaced -vēs* -ēs* through the influence of the present form -ans -ās (-ens probably arose first, on the model of -ans, then -ens likewise), and a further consequence was that the neuter of the pretorite in -vę -ę was formed upon the neuter of the present in -ą. The Prussian -uns -ons (-uns -ons) is a similar analogical formation; but it remains an open question whether the original form here was -mes*, whose e-vowel, after the insertion of the nasal, became o (u) because of the preceding u-sound, or whether we should take Idg. -mos* as our starting-point. In Slavonic we have masc. -vŭ -ŭ and neut. -vŭ -ŭ, just as in the present -y serves for both genders: as here -y passed from the maso. to the neut., so probably did -vŭ -ŭ in the preterite, the old neuter form falling out of use. If now -ŭ = Idg. -us*, it is a very natural suggestion that -vŭ arose from a contamination of -us* and -mes* or -mōs*. But -vŭ may have arisen in the same way as -ŷi (p. 429 f): if so, there once existed side by side masc. -vŭ = Idg. -mōs* and neut. -io* = Idg. -mos*, -vo* produced the maso -vŭ and was itself afterwards driven out of the field by -vŭ. Gen Lith dā-vus-io O CSl. da-vŭša owe their r to the nom (we should expect d-us-io* d-ŭša*), Lith. būvusio O CSl. byvŭša (beside bū-ves by-vu) are to be analysed as būv-usio byv-ŭša (instead of būv-ŭša*), and thus these forms may have helped to give currency to the formations dāvusio etc. O CSl. chvalŷi chvalŷša for chvalŷi* chvalŷša* (later chvalvŷi chvalvŷša) follow the type of the non-derivative verbs, cp. part. pret. pass. chvalŷnŷi like vedenŷi (Wiedemann, Beitr. zur altbulg. Conjug. 134)

1) This association prevented the development of forms parallel to the loc. pl. mahīyassu and the instr. pl. mahīyābhiś (see I § 557 Rem. p. 412, § 591 Rem. 2 p. 448).

2) In l. 18 of this page read 'after initial s- (ss-)' instead of 'before'.

It is to be hoped that the explanations advanced here and on p. 429 ff. will not meet with the fate which has befallen J. Schmidt's attempt to elucidate the same difficult theme, and be regarded as 'final'. We are still, I think, some distance, perhaps a very considerable distance, from a final conclusion.

ἐ-γένε-το 'arose, became'; the parallel form γε-γα-ώς γεγώς γε-γα-νῖα, like με-μα-νός (√ men-) and βε-βα-νός (√ gem-), was a new formation suggested by γέ-γα-μεν (μέ-μα-μεν βέ-βα-μεν) etc. and modelled upon ἐ-στα-νός: ἐ-στα-μεν. δε-δι-νός beside δέ-δι-μεν 'we feared' 1. sing. δέιδω 1. c. δέδω for *δέ-δω(ι)-α, √ dy-εἶ- πε-φν-νός: Skr. ba-bhū-vās- etc., see p. 442 above. τε-τοκ-νός beside ἔ-τεκ-ε 'he begat'. ἐ-στα-νός ἐ-στνός and ἐ-στη-νός ἐ-στενός beside ἐ-στα-μεν 'we stand': Skr. ta-sthi-vās- etc., see p. 442 above. πε-πηγ-νός beside πέ-πηγ-ε 'is fitted, fixed', √ pak- παγ-πε-σηρ-νός σε-σαρ-νῖα beside σάρω 'I sweep'.

The suffix is sometimes found in derivative verbs, as Hom. κεραι-νός beside κέρειναι (aor. ἐ-χάρ-ην, pres. χαίρω 'I rejoice'), βεβαρη-νός 'gravatus' beside pres. βαρέω, Boeot. inscr. Fe-Fṛkonο-μειόντων = Att. ὀικονομηκότων beside οἰκονομέω 'I govern' (for -όντων instead of -ότων see below), all following the formation of τεθνή-νός κει-μη-νός and the like. Cp. O.C.Sl. želě-vŭ.

It was further extended to the x-perfect: δέδωκ-νός beside δέ-δωκ-ε 'has given', ἐ-στηκ-νός beside ἔ-στηκ-ε 'stands', τετίμηκ-νός beside τε-τίμηκ-ε 'has honoured' and so forth.

The feminine forms in -εῖα -είας (see p. 440) appear in Doric dialects and in Attic: e. g. Heracl. ἐρρηγ-εῖα Ther. ἑστᾶκ-εῖα, Att. γεγον-εῖα.

It occurs in Homeric forms with -(F)ωτ- instead of -(F)οτς, whose ω was taken from the nom. sing. masc., e. g. πε-φν-ῶτ-σ-, με-μα-ῶτ-ες -ῶτ-ος, τε-θνή-ῶτ-α. Cp. μήσ-τωρ-α formed on the pattern of μήσ-τωρ § 120 Rem. p. 380, § 122 p. 386.

These perfect participles, like the other forms of the perfect stem, were remodelled on the analogy of the presents in -ω in different dialects, especially in those of the Aeolic group: e. g. Lcsb. πεπληρώκοντα εὐφρογέτηναισαν, Thess. ἐν-οικο-δομεικόν-τεσσι, Boeot. FeFṛkonομειόντων (see above), Hom. κεκλήγοντες, Hesiod. ἐρρῆγοντι, Pind. πεφρῆκοντας, Delph. τετελευκᾶκούσας. Here it was a purely syntactic consideration, viz- the similarity of meaning (the Greek Perfect being a Present in point of time) that suggested this transfer to the system of the present-inflexion; the new feminine formations, on the other hand, such as Hom.

Att. βεβῶσα, Att. ἑστῶσα τεθειῶσα, Herod. ἑστειῶσα, with precisely the same endings as the pres. part. τιμῶσα and the like, were in part also determined by the contracted forms in -ω- (ἑστῶτ- for ἑστῶσσι, τεθειῶτ- for τεθειῶσσι) of the corresponding masc. and neut.; the -ω- of these feminines in -ῶσα was taken from the corresponding masc. and neut., the -σα from the pres. part. fem. I do not believe that ἑστῶσα is derived from a hypothetical ἑστώουσα*.

Italic. An attempt has been made to trace this suffix in Lat. cadaver and papaver, the former being regarded as 'that which has fallen' (cadō cada-bundu-s, cp. πτῶμα 'corpse') or 'that which has been destroyed' (cadamitās cassu-s Skr. kad-, see Bersu Die Gutturalen und ihre Verbindung mit v im Lat. p. 170), the latter as 'that which is inflated' (papula pampinu-s), and both compared with participles like Gr. κακιστῶς (Curtius, Das Verb der gr. Spr. II² 250). The suffix has also been traced in Lat. perfects like sē-vī strā-vī amā-vī, which have been regarded as examples of a crystallised periphrastic formation of the same kind as the Skr. fut. dātāsmi 'I will give' ('dator sum, daturus sum') (Curtius, Ber. d. sachs. Ges. d. Wiss., 1855, p. 421 ff., Schulze, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 266 ff.). Lastly, the same suggestion has been made for Osc. sipus 'sciens' (v), as compared with a Lat. perf. sēp-i* equivalent to sapui (J. Schmidt, XXVI 372 ff.); its termination might have come from either ibid. Idg. -us* or -uōs* (cp. p. 440).

This suggestion is most plausible as applied to sip-us, least as applied to sē-vī.

In Germanic only a few isolated examples have survived. Goth. bēr-us-jōs pl. m. 'parents' ('they that have brought forth'), ✓bher-, cp. indie 1. pl. bērum 1. sing. bar. A.S. ēzesa ēzsa O.Sax. ēcso m. 'owner' = Goth. āg-us-ja* m., beside Goth. āigan 'to have, possess'. The suffix is -us-jo- as in the Gr. pl. ιδῶντο, gen. sing. Lith. vīlkusio O.C.Sl. vlūkūša (p. 440).

Balto-Slavonic. Lith. geĩd-ęs beside geĩdžiu 'I long for, desire', O.C.Sl. ĩd-ũ beside ĩdā ĩdā 'I wait, await'. O.C.Sl. čĩt-ũ beside čĩt-a 'I reckon, esteem, honour'. Lith. kĩrt-ęs beside

Just as the Lithuanian participles dėjes and stojęs follow the preterite in -jau, so do the forms mātęs mācziusio ('pret. macziaū pres. maiaū inf. matý-ti 'to see'), vālgęs vālgusio ('pret. vālgiau pres. vālgau inf. valgy-ti 'to eat'); where it should be observed, that mātęs vālgęs, earlier mātenš vālgens, according to the regular phonetic laws must be referred to matzens* valgzens*

(I § 147 p. 131). Further examples of the same sort are penējes beside penējau 'I nourished, fattened', šeskójes beside jėškóju 'I sought'. On the other hand we find u in the Pruss. klantī-wuns 'having condemned' (klantī-t 'to condemn'), less correctly written klantīuns; and similarly signāuns (signā-t 'to bless'), teiktīuns (teiku-t 'to form, make') as well as the form postūuns quoted above must have had the termination -uns.

O.C.Sl. buždi for būd-jū* beside pres. bužda inf. budi-ti 'to wake' chvaljī beside pres. chvalja inf. chvali-ti 'to praise' etc., are like Lith. mātes mączyti, later we have -ivū, as budivū chvalivū. Cp. p. 442. dėla-vū beside dėla-ja dėla-ti 'to work'. žėlė-vū beside žėlė-ja žėlė-ti 'wish'.

MEANING CONVEYED BY THE SUFFIXES: NOUNS CLASSIFIED FROM THIS POINT OF VIEW.

§ 137. In the foregoing account of the formation of nouns (§ 59—136) our classification has been based upon the phonetic character of the formative suffixes. It will be useful to re-arrange the facts of this chapter in the history of noun-formation from the point of view of their meaning.

Considered in this respect the different suffixes have many points in common and are connected in many ways; all of which can be exhibited more clearly and studied more directly by a fresh survey

The original meaning of the proethnic Indo-Germanic formative suffixes is unknown: accordingly the method by which we are to consider them must be based upon the logical categories which they generally serve to denote. We need not concern ourselves with the question whether any given suffix in its very oldest usage was, or was not, capable of fully expressing the idea which it helps to represent in those periods of the history of language which we are able to observe.

It is only a small proportion of the formative suffixes in which we can trace from the beginning a simple and clearly defined function; as, for example, in the 'comparative -tero-'. Most of them serve several purposes, and it is often impossible to reconcile the meanings of a particular suffix. It must be admitted, however, that it is far from certain whether in such cases we have really to recognise only one formative element. The same group of sounds may have more than one etymological origin, e. g. -mo- as a suffix of comparison (Lat. summu-s for sup-mo-*) may have a different origin from -mo- in substantives like Lat. fū-mu-s ani-mu-s (§ 72 p. 170 ff.).

In the following sections there is no need to do more than emphasise the most important points. I have not attempted to make the survey absolutely comprehensive from any point of view.

Adjectives.

§ 138. Variation according to gender (masc. neut. fem.), and the formation of derivatives to denote comparison (degrees of comparison), are usually assigned as the chief characteristics of adjectives as such in the Indo-Germanic languages. However these types of inflexion are all found in substantives also, so that no hard and fast line can be drawn between the two groups.

The suffixes which appear in adjectives in the proethnic and later periods are all found in substantives as well. The question then arises, whether the substantival or the adjectival use is the older. In some cases the latter is undoubtedly earlier, e. g. Lat. caprina in pellis caprina and the like, compared with caprina 'goat's flesh' (§ 154). In another group of forms, however, the substantival meaning seems to have been the older e. g. Skr. māhas- 'greatness' compared with mahās- 'great', Gr. ψεῦδεσ- 'deceit' compared with ψευδέσ- 'deceitful' (§ 155). In other instances again, no distinction is possible a priori, e. g. in Avest. per'na- f. 'plena' and 'plenitudo, plenitas' (§ 158).

Many Indo-Germanic adjectival suffixes have no definite meaning to distinguish their own class of adjectives from others. The most sharply defined are those with a comparative meaning. These we will consider first.

§ 129. Adjectives with Comparative meaning. The elements of meaning which are really distinctive of this class are first the idea of contrast by comparison, and secondly the idea that what is predicated by the adjective is only true in a relative and limited sense.

-jo- in al-jo-s* 'alius', medh-jo-s* 'medius' me-jo-s* 'meus' and the like simply helps to express the idea of contrast by comparison, which is given by the root itself. See § 63, 3 p. 132 f. It may be conjectured that -jo- had etymologically nothing to do with the notion of comparison, but that in the earliest or some of the earliest of these adjectives the suffix came to participate in this idea, which was really expressed by the root of the word (cp. § 57 p. 104 f.); and that it was then used independently in other words with the same force.

-ies- (-ien-) which is probably an extension of -jo-, expresses primarily contrast by comparison in the widest sense. The adjectives formed with this suffix came into close connexion with other adjectives of the same root and the same root-meaning, where the idea of relativity was wanting; hence they were applied to express not so much absolute contrast (as that of 'new' : 'old') as limited contrast ('new in comparison with something else which must also be called new'). A further limitation of meaning appeared with the to derivative -is-to- (§ 81 p. 242 ff.). A distinction in usage sprang up between -ies- (-is-) and -is-to-, which is analogous to that between -ero- -tero- and -mo- (-mmo-) -mmo-: whilst -is-to- denotes comparison with several other objects, -ies- (-is-) is confined to comparison with one other. E. g. comparative Skr. lāgh-tyas- Avest. renj-yah- Gr. ελάσσων and superlative Skr. lāgh-iṣ-ṭha-s Gr. ελάχιστος beside Skr. lāgh-ú-ś Gr. ελαχίς ('agile, small, little'). In formations like Gr. ἀριστερός 'left', as contrasted with 'right' (§ 75 p. 190 ff.), the notion of contrast with a single other thing is still further expressed by the addition of -tero-; for this suffix, as we shall see, was especially used in the Indo-Germanic period and later to express ideas which are contrasted absolutely. See § 135 p. 427 ff.

-ero- and -tero- seem to have been 'first used only in words expressing conceptions of space and time, and in certain pronouns of a different meaning. In these the comparison contains only one notion, that of strong contrast, like 'below': 'above'. qdh-ero-* 'lower': Skr. ádharma-, O.H.G. undaro; en-tero-* 'inner': Skr. ántara-, Armen. ender-k, Gr. ἐντερο-ν, Lat. inter-ior, O.C.Sl. jětro. qo-tero-* 'which (of two)?': Skr. katará-, Gr. νότερο-ς, Umbr. podruh-pes, Goth. hvaþar, Lith. katrà-s. Add certain examples found in single languages, as Armen. mer O.Ir. ar n- Goth. unsar 'our', Gr. ἡμέτερο-ς Lat. nos-ter 'our' (contrasted with 'your'), Gr. ἀγρότερο-ς 'dwelling in the open fields, wild', thus having the sense of ἄγριο-ς, but originally distinguished from it by the reference to its opposite ἄστυ. In Aryan and Greek -tero- then became a common comparative suffix for adjectives of any formation and meaning, like Skr. āmá-tara- Gr. ὠμότερο-ς compared with āmá- ὠμό-ς 'raw', and here there was comparison no longer with the absolutely opposite idea, but with the notion expressed by the so-called positive; probably this process was completed partly through association with the other group of comparatives formed with -jes-, such as Skr. svád-tyas- Gr. ἡδ-ίω (acc. sing.). In the older stratum of comparatives, like en-tero-* ni-tero-*, it is seldom that the idea of relative contrast appears, as in Gr. πρότερον ἢ 'before that' Osc. pruter-pan 'prius quam'. See § 75 p. 188 ff.

-to- -is-to- -mo- (-ημο-) -t-ημο-. -to- and -mo- are found first in numerals, where they were used to express position in a numerical series, e. g. dekmtō-* 'decimus': Gr. δέκατο-ς Goth. tathunda Lith. desziūta-s O.C.Sl. deseti, septmō-* septημο-* 'septimus': Skr. saptamá- Gr. ἐβδομο-ς Lat. septimu-s O.Ir. sechtm-ad Lith. sėkma-s O.C.Sl. sedmy-jě. Thus these suffixes were suited to set one particular idea in comparison with several others separately. Hence -is-to- was formed beside -jes- -is-, to express comparison with a number of objects, cp. e. g. Gr. μέγιστος ἐγὼ ὑμῶν 'I am greater than any one of you' (μεγίστων ἐγὼ ὑμῶν 'I am greater than you', ὑμῆς being regarded as a single notion), πόλεμον ἀξιολογώτατον τῶν προγεγενημένων

'more remarkable than any one of the preceding wars' (Thucyd I-1). -mo- passed from the numerals to those stems which expressed ideas of space and time and contained the suffix of contrast -ero-, forming either (in contrast to -ero-) the true superlative, as up-mo- up-ymo- 'uppermost, highest' (Skr. upamā- Lat. summu-s) beside upero-*, or, as in Gothic, a general expression of comparison, e. g. Phil. 2, 3 sis aūhuman 'se superiorem' (from which was derived the normal superlative aūhum-ist-s). In the same way, -tymo- ranged itself beside -tero-, and in Aryan it proved quite as fertile a suffix. See § 72 p. 166 ff., § 73 p. 177 ff., § 81 p. 242 ff.

In Lettish -aka- became the usual suffix of comparison; sa'ld-āk-s 'sweeter'. See § 89 p. 273 f.

§ 140. Verbal Adjectives. Under this head I include all such adjectives as have a more or less participial character, cp. § 144. Here we may make several subdivisions.

1. Forms with Active Meaning.

-nt-. bhero-nt-* 'bearing': Skr. bhārant- Gr. φέρων Lat. ferēns Goth. bairand-s O.C.Sl. bery. See § 126 p. 396 ff.

-ues-, with the implied idea of a completed action (cp. 3 below). Skr. ririk-vās- Gr. λελοιπ-ώς Lith. ūk-ęs 'having let free, left'. Goth. bēr-us-jōs 'parents' ('those who have brought us into the world'). See § 136 p. 438 ff.

Other forms, found in single languages, are: Skr. -vant-, in kytā-vant- 'factum habens, having done', see § 127 p. 406. Slav. -lo- in bi-lū 'having smitten', see § 76 p. 212 ff.

2. Forms with Medial and Passive Meaning.

-mno- -meno- -mono- had from the earliest period the same meaning as the medial personal-endings. Skr. yāja-māna- Avest. yaza-mna- Gr. ἀζόμενος partic. of yāja-tē yazai-tē āzetai 'he honours'. See § 71 p. 163 ff.

-mo- has the same meaning as -mno- in Umbro-Samnitic and Balto-Slavonic. Umbr. persnih-mu 'precamino' Osc. censa-mu-r 'censemino', Lith. vėža-ma-s 'being carried, fit to be carried'. See § 72 p. 166.

Ar. -āna- is used as a medio-passive suffix, as in Skr.

dūh-ana-s dūgh-ana-s, beside the act. indic. dōgdhi 'he milks'. See § 67 p. 151 f. •

3. Forms expressing completed action and hence a state, chiefly passive.

-to-. kīā-tō-* 'heard, famed': Skr. śrutā- Gr. κλυτός Lat. in-clu-tu-s O.Ir. cloth O.H.G. Hlot-hari ('Lothair') hlāt ('loud'). gyn-tō-*: Skr. gatā- 'gone, gone forth, come' ā-gata- 'untrodden', Gr. βαρός 'trodden, passable', Lat. circum-ventu-s. See § 79 p. 218 ff.

-no- -yno- and in some of the languages also -eno-on-o-. pī-nó-* pī-nó-* 'filled, full': Skr. pūrṇā- Avest. per'na- O.Ir. lān Goth. full-s Lith. pilna-s O.C.Sl. plünū; Gr. στυγρός 'hated'; Lith. kil-na-s 'exalted'. Gotb. fulg-in-s 'hidden'; O.C.Sl. voz-enū 'carried'. Goth. vaurp-an-s O.H.G. gi-wort-an 'become'. See § 65 p. 138 ff.

4. Forms expressing the feasibility, possibility, or necessity of the action; passive.

-īo- -iāo-. Skr. yāj-ya-s Gr. ἄγ-ιος 'venerandus'. Skr. dṛś-ya-s dārś-īya-s 'visible, worth seeing'. Gr. στυγ-ιος 'abominable, detested'. Lat. ex-im-iu-s 'eximendus, distinguished'. Goth. brūk-s (stem brūk-ja-) O.H.G. prūchi 'useful'. See § 63, 1 p. 123 ff.

-tno- -tyno-. Lat. dandu-s 'who is to be given'. Lith. sūk-tina-s 'torquendus'. See § 69, 2 p. 161 ff.

Further the words formed with -to- (3) seem to have sometimes implied this secondary meaning even in Indo-Germanic, primarily however in negative usages. It is found especially in Greek, as λυ-ρός 'that may be freed or loosed'. See § 79, 1 p. 220.

Forms peculiar to single groups of languages: Skr. -tva-, kār-tva-s 'faciendus', see § 61 p. 116. Skr. -tav-ya-, kār-tavyā-s 'faciendus' see § 63 p. 126 f. Gr. -τεο- clearly for -τε-fo-, διω-τέο-ς 'who is to be pursued', see § 64 p. 135 with Rem. 1. Occasionally this meaning can be seen in the no- adjectives (3), as Gr. ἄγ-ρός 'venerandus, deserving of honour, holy', σεμνός

'timendus, terrible', ἐδαινό-ς 'eatable'; similarly in Lith. -ma- (2), as vėša-ma-s 'fit to be carried, transportable', sūkū-ma-s 'capable of being twisted'.

§ 141. Denominative Adjectives. The relation to the noun from which they are derived may be any one of many different kinds: the word may mean 'made of the same material', 'belonging to the same species', 'derived from', 'possessing', 'being provided with' etc.

*-ino- -īno- -a*ino-*. This is especially used with the meaning 'made or consisting of', 'arising from', 'belonging to the same kind as' that which the original noun expresses. Gr. φηγ-ινο-ς 'beechen' (φηγό-ς). Lith. auks-ina-s 'golden' (auksa-s). Avest. bawr-aēni-š Lith. bebr-in-i-s Lat. fibr-īnu-s 'coming from the beaver' (e. g. fur). Skr. sat-inā-s (sānt-) Gr. ἀληθ-ινό-ς (ἀληθή-ς) O.H.G. wār-in (wār) 'truthful'. See § 68 p. 155 ff.

-uent-. The chief meaning is 'provided with' that which the original word denotes; more rarely it means, 'of the same kind'. Skr. viśā-vant- 'poisoned, poisonous' Lat. vīrōsu-s 'poisonous' (viśā-m vīru-s 'poison'). Gr. οἰνό-εις 'made from or with wine', Lat. vīnōsu-s 'full of wine, like wine' (οἰνο-ς vīnu-m 'wine'). Skr. putrā-vant- 'having a son or sons' (putrā-s 'son'). Gr. χαρί-εις 'graceful, gracious' (χάρι-ς 'grace'). Lat. verbōsu-s 'full of words, diffuse' (verbu-m 'word'). See § 127 p. 404 ff.

-tno- -tyno-. This is found in adjectives formed from temporal adverbs. Skr. pra-tnā-s 'ancient, old', nā-tna-s nā-tana-s 'present'. Lat. diū-tīnu-s, crās-tīnu-s, Lith. dabar-tina-s 'present'. See § 69, 1 p. 160.

-go- occurs in adjectives derived from adverbs, which chiefly express ideas of space. Skr. nī-ca- 'low, going downwards', O.C.Sl. ni-c-ŭ 'pronus'. Lat. reci-procu-s orig. 'turned backwards and forwards'. Besides these, -go- and also -igo-* are found in adjectives formed from substantives; the relation to the original word varies very widely. Skr. sūct-ka-s 'pricking' (sūct- 'needle'), sīndhu-ka-s 'arising from the Indus' (sīndhu-ḥ), Lat. amni-cu-s (amni-s), O.Ir. sūile-ch 'oculus' (sūil n. 'oculus'), Goth. stādina-h-s O.H.G. steina-g 'stony' (Goth. stāin-s O.H.G. stein 'stone'). Skr.

paryáy-iká-s 'strophic' (paryáyá-s 'strophe'), Gr. νυμφ-ικός 'bridal' (νύμφη 'bride'), Lat. bell-icu-s (bellu-m), O.Ir. cúimn-ech 'mindful' (cuman 'remembrance, memory'), O.H.G. wuot-ig 'furious' (wuot 'fury'). See § 86 p. 255 ff., § 87 p. 260 ff.

The following examples of the proethnic methods of forming adjectives will further serve to shew how widely the relation of the derived to the original word may vary in different cases.

-iō- -iō-. patr-iō-s* 'relating to one's father, fatherly' (potér-* 'father'): Skr. pátriya-s Gr. πάτριος Lat. patriu-s. Skr. uśas-ya-s 'dedicated to the dawn' Gr. ἠοῖος 'early, eastern' (uśás-ἠώς 'early light, dawn'). Skr. nāv-īya-s 'navigable', Gr. νήιος 'belonging to a ship, consisting of ships' (nāv- νη(φ)- 'ship'). The adjectival usage is seen with special clearness in compounds like Gr. ὁμο-πάτερ-ιος O.Icel. sam-fæðr 'having the same father' compared with the Gr. ὁμο-πάτωρ O.Pers. hama-pitar-, with the same meaning. See § 63, 2 p. 125 ff.

-no-. Skr. strāt-ṇa-s 'feminine' (strī- 'woman'). Gr. ἀλγεινό-ς 'paining, painful' (ἄλγος 'pain'), Hom. ἐρανό-ς 'lovely' (ἔρως 'love'). Lat. aēnu-s (aes), īlignu-s (īlex), paternu-s (pater). Skr. purā-ṇá- 'ancient' (purā 'earlier, before'): Umbr. Osc. kom-no-* n. 'τὸ κοινόν' (kom 'cum'); Lith. jáu-na-s O.C.Sl. ju-nŭ 'young' (jaŭ ju 'already, by this time'). See § 66 p. 139 ff.

-ro-. Avest. taṇ-ra (cp. § 74 p. 182 footnote). Mid.Dutch deemster O.H.G. dinstar 'dark' Lith. tŭms-ra-s 'bay-coloured' (Skr. támas- n. 'darkness'). Gr. οἰζυ-ρό-ς 'mournful' (οἰζός 'mourning'), φοβε-ρό-ς 'fearful' (φόβος 'fear'), δρoοs-ρό-ς 'dewy' (δρoόςος 'dew'). See § 74 p. 179 ff.

Particular uses in the separate groups of languages: Ar. -a- is especially frequent with the meaning of origin, as Skr. sāvitr-á-s 'sprung from savitar', but also denoting every kind of relation, e. g. Skr. mānas-á-s 'mental' (mānas- n. 'mind'), see § 60 p. 112 f. Ar. -in-: Skr. cittin- 'intelligent' (cittī- 'intelligence'), parṇin- Avest. per'nin- 'winged'. (Skr. parná-m 'wing'), O.Pers. vīṣin- 'belonging to a clan (vīṣ-)', see § 115 p. 357 f. Skr. -nu-: rōciṣ-ṇá- 'shining' (rōcī- 'light'), kraviṣ-ṇú- 'greedy of raw flesh' (kravi-), see § 106 p. 320 f. Gr. -ιμο-, especially with the meaning 'proportioned, suited to' that which the original word denotes; as νόμ-μιος 'suited to law, legal' (νόμος 'law'), see § 72, 3 p. 174. Gr. -συννο-: δουλό-συνο- 'subject, in service' (δούλο- 'servant'), see § 70 p. 163. Lat. -ali- -eli- -ili- -uli: vitāli-s, fideli-s, hostili-s, idali-s, see § 98 p. 202. Kelt. -ako-, as O.Ir. marc-ach 'equester' (marc 'horse'), see § 89 p. 273. Germ. -iska- Lith. -iszka- O.C.Sl. -isko-: Goth. judaiv-isk-s 'Jewish' (Judaiu-s 'Jew') gud-isk-s 'divine' (gud 'god') O.H.G. ird-isc 'earthly' (erda 'earth'). Lith. prūs-iszka-s 'Prussian' (Prūsas 'a Prussian'), dēv-iszka-s 'divine' (dēvas 'God'), O.C.Sl. kūnęš-iskū 'princely' (kūnęgū 'prince'), dět-iskū 'childish' (děti f. pl. 'children'), see § 90 p. 276.

§ 142. Amongst denominative adjectives, those with a diminutival meaning form a special group: they denote what merely approximates to the description given by the original adjective, what is only similar to it. This meaning has often disappeared, so that the derived adjective has acquired the meaning of the word from which it was formed.

-lo-. Gr. παχυ-λό- 'somewhat thick' (παχύ- 'thick'), ἡδύ-λο- 'sweetish' (ἡδύ- 'sweet'). Skr. bahu-lā- beside bahú- 'thick'. See § 76 p. 198 ff.

-go-. sene-go-* orig. 'oldish', beside seno-* 'old': Skr. sanakā- Lat. senex (Goth. sineig-s). Skr. an̐tyas-ka- beside an̐tyas- 'thinner, finer', Lat. pr̥is-cu-s compared with prior, melius-c-ulu-s with melior, nigri-cāre with niger. aṅghu-go-* orig. 'somewhat narrow', from aṅghú-* 'narrow': Armen. ancuk anjuk- O.C.Sl. ažukū 'narrow'. See § 84 p. 252 f., § 88 p. 202 ff. Cp. also Lith. -oka-, as saldōka-s 'sweetish, fairly sweet', see § 89 p. 273.

With this must perhaps be classed -go-, Skr. ārbha-ga- 'youthful' beside ārbha- 'small, young', O.H.G. alt-i-h 'old' O.Sax. lutti-c 'small'. See § 91 p. 276 f.

Compare the substantival diminutives, § 153.

-o- ney-o-s* 'new': Skr. nāva-s, Gr. νέο-, Lat. novo-s, O.C.Sl.

noōū. saus-o-s*: Skr. śū-ṣa-s 'drying, parching', Gr. Ion. αῖο-ς Lith. sausas O.C.Sl. suchū 'dry'. See § 60 p. 109 ff.

-u. ggr-u-s* (gr-u-s*): Skr. guru-ṣ 'heavy, violent, hard', Gr. βαρύ-ς Lat. grav-i-s Goth. kaūru-s 'heavy'. aŋgh-u-s* 'narrow': Skr. qñū-ṣ Armen. ancu-k anju-k Goth. aggou-s O.C.Sl. qetū-kū. syād-u-s* (sud-u-s*) 'sweet, pleasant': Skr. svādū-ṣ Gr. ῥῆν-ς Lat. suāv-i-s Goth. sut-s. See § 104 p. 312 ff.

-ro - gro-. rudh-ró-s -gró-s* 'red': Skr. rudh-irá-s Gr. ῥυθ-ρό-ς Lat. rub-er O.C.Sl. rūd-rū. spə-ró-s*: Skr. sphirá-s 'fat, large, rich', Lat. pro-sper, O.C.Sl. sporū 'rich'. Skr. cit-rá-s 'shining, glorious, wonderful' O.H.G. heit-ar 'shining, clear, bright'. See § 74 p. 180 ff.

-mo-, excluding its participial function. (§ 140, 2). Avest. gar-ma- Lat. for-mu-s O.H.G. war-m 'warm', Armen. jer-m Gr. ῥεμ-μός-ς 'warm'. Skr. tū-tu-má- Avest. tā-ma- 'strong'; Skr. tig-má- 'sharp', O.Ir. lua-m 'celox'. Goth. rū-m-s 'roomy'. Lith. szir-ma-s 'gray'. See § 72, 3 p. 170 ff.

-yo-. gī-yo-s* 'living': Skr. jivá-s Lat. vīvo-s Mod.Cymr. byw Goth. giu-s Lith. gyva-s O.C.Sl. živū. ṛdh-yo-s*: Skr. ūrdhvá-s Gr. ῥεθ-ός-ς 'upright', Lat. arduo-s 'steep', O.Ir. ard 'high, great, noble'. Skr. pūr-va-s 'former, earlier', Gr. πρῶ-φο* in Dor. πρῶν 'of yore', and other words, O.C.Sl. prī-vy-jī 'primus'. See § 64 p. 133 ff. In Latin and Germanic this suffix is used in a considerable number of adjectives denoting colour; which must be explained as due to the influence of a few examples (as ghel-yo*-. Lat. helvo-s O.H.G. gelo), cp. § 57 p. 104 f.

The Relation of Adjectives to Participles.

§ 144. An adjective can be used to denote not only a quality inherent in the nature of a thing, but a transitory attribute, defined in regard to time according to the standpoint of the speaker; thus it comes to have somewhat of a verbal character, in other words it becomes a participle (μετοχή). Its verbal nature may include the power of governing a case, and of distinguishing different epochs of time, different kinds of action (momentary, continuous, inceptive), and Voice (diathesis, genus verbi). See § 140 p. 451 f.

In general the existence of adjectives as a class must necessarily precede that of participles. Where however we find purely nominal and purely participial values side by side in any one word, it would be incorrect to regard the former as in every case the older; for the participle may be again gradually reduced to a simple noun.

In many cases it is impossible to determine whether the nominal character of any given form dates from a time before the corresponding adjectival form had developed verbal uses, or whether a participle has been re-converted into a noun; e. g. in the case of Skr. śāśvant- Gr. ᾗ-πᾱς 'complete, whole, every' Skr. bṛhānt- 'exalted, high, great' (§ 126 p. 397 f.), Skr. vid-vās- 'heedful, full of knowledge' compar. vidiṣṭara-vidvattara- (§ 136 p. 438), and in the Skr. and Lith. -to-participles constructed with an adnominal genitive, as Skr. ānuspāṣṭō id bhavaty eṣō asya 'conspectus est ille ab eo' (lit. 'eius'), Lith. arklys suėstas vilko 'equus devoratus a lupo' (lit. 'lupi'), cp. also Διός-δοτος (§ 79 p. 218 ff.).

The former transition, from a purely nominal to a participial use, may be assumed with certainty in a few instances in the separate languages; e. g. in the Sanskrit participles with -vant-, like kṛtā-vant- 'having done' (§ 127 p. 406), and in the Slavonic participles in -lo-, as bi-lŭ 'having smitten' (§ 76 p. 212). The connexion with the verbal system was established by the influence exerted on the meaning and usage of the adjectival forms in question by verbal forms derived from the same root, either those of the finite verb, or, sometimes, other participles previously formed. The process of transition was complete when analogous forms of the same kind could be made at will from other verbs in actual use.

Undoubted examples of the change from a participial to a purely nominal character are of frequent occurrence in later periods. Such are e. g. Gr. ἐκών 'willing' μέλλον 'future' Lat. ē-loquēns sapiēns Mod.H.G. reizend 'charming' (§ 126 p. 396 ff.), and the Gr. compar. ἀσμεν-έστερο-ς 'more glad' ἐρρωμεν-έστερο-ς 'stouter, stronger' (§ 71 p. 163 ff., § 75 p. 194).

§ 145. Distinction of Sex. The o-suffixes served to indicate male creatures, e. g. ekyo-s* 'horse, stallion': Skr. āśva-s Gr. ἵππο-ς Lat. equo-s O.Ir. ech. Female creatures were distinguished by the a-suffixes and by -iē -ī, e. g. ekya-* 'female horse, mare': Skr. āśva Lat. equa Lith. asva; ulgi-iē* ulgi-ī* 'she-wolf': Skr. vṛkī O.Icel. ylg-r O.H.G. wulpa. See § 59 ff. p. 107 ff., § 109 ff. p. 332 ff. It must, I think, be assumed, as I have already observed (in § 57 Rem. p. 104, cp. my essay on Gender there cited), that originally neither the o- and a-suffixes nor even -iē (-ī) had any connexion with animal sex; it is far more probable that in one or two words, perhaps in genā* 'woman' māma-* 'mother' s-tr-i-iē* s-tr-ī* 'woman', the idea of female nature contained in the root of the word was imparted to the suffix, and that this led to the creation of such forms as ekya-* beside ekyo-, ulgi-iē beside ulgo-*, to describe the female as distinct from the male animal. It was only through being contrasted with -a- and -iē that the 'o-formation afterwards came to denote male sex. And it was still constantly and indeed primarily used to denote any given creature without reference to gender, e. g. ἵππο-ς 'horse'. See § 158.

§ 146. Names of kindred. The suffix most frequently used is -er- -ter-, as in daijér-* 'husband's brother-in-law' (Skr. dēvár- etc.), syésor-* 'sister' (Skr. svásar- etc.), pā-tér-* 'father' (Skr. pítár- etc.). See § 119 ff. p. 376 ff. This suffix in its origin had certainly nothing to do with the notion of kinship. From its accidental use in one or other of these nouns it was taken to form a series of words in which its function was to denote that idea. pā-tér-* seems to have been originally a nomen agentis: 'protector'.

§ 147. Names of Animals. The use of -bho- in one or other of the words denoting animals, which had come down from the earliest times, led the Indians and the Greeks to employ this suffix in other instances to form animal-names; e. g. Skr. śarabhá-s a fabulous eight-legged creature, Gr. ἐλάφης 'stag'. See § 78 p. 216 f.

In Germanic are found bird-names with Idg. -go-, as Goth. ahak-s 'dove' O.H.G. habuh 'hawk', which follows cranuh 'crane' (Armen. krun-k). See § 91 p. 277 and Kluge Nom. Stammb. p. 29.

§ 148. Names of parts of the body. -en- is found in a large number of proethnic names for parts of the body, though to begin with the suffix had no such meaning. It follows however that this use of it must have developed in the proethnic period, although we cannot tell which of the words containing it, e. g. Skr. údān- Gr. οἰθ-α-(ρο-) 'udder' Skr. yak-ān- Gr. ἥπα-α-(ρο-) 'liver', formed the type for the rest. It was still a living suffix with the same sense in the separate languages, e. g. Skr. dōṣ-ān- 'forearm', Avest. nānāh-an- 'nose'. See § 114 p. 344 ff.

§ 149. Nomina agentis.

-en-. Skr. tákṣ-an- Gr. τέκτων 'carpenter, artificer'. Avest. spas-an- 'watchman', O.H.G. speh-o spy'. Lat. ed-ō O.H.G. egg-o 'glutton'. Gr. κραυγ-ών 'screamer, wood-pecker'. Goth. nut-a 'fisher', O.H.G. bot-o 'messenger'. See § 114 p. 344 ff.

-ter-. Skr. dā-tār- dā-tar- Gr. δο-τήρ δο-τήρ δώ-τωρ Lat. da-tor O.C.Sl. da-tel-ŭ 'giver'. Skr. pā-tār- pā-tar- 'drinker', Gr. οἶνο-ποτήρ 'wine-drinker', Lat. pō-tor 'drinker, drunkard'. See § 119 ff. p. 376 ff.

-lo-. Gr. κάπηλος 'huckster' δείκηλος 'actor'. Lat. figulu-s 'potter' legulu-s 'gatherer, gleaner'. O.H.G. putil 'beadle' ('summoner') brūt-pitil 'a wooer's best man, suitor's advocate', tregil 'bearer'. Lith. tekėla-s 'grindstone turning about an axle' (lit. 'runner'). See § 76 p. 198 ff.

We have an example of a suffix of this meaning occurring only in one group of languages in the Lith. -ika-, as szérīka-s 'feeder' tupīka-s 'sheaf-binder', see § 87 p. 262.

Many nomina agentis in the Indo-Germanic languages arose through the metaphorical use of nomina actionis for the door of the action. Thus Skr. dhāti-ś m. 'shaker' (as f. 'a shaking', cp. Gr. θῆα-ς f. 'a raging, roaring'), Avest. rāiti-ś m. 'bestower' (as f. 'bestowal, alms', cp. Skr. rātī-ś f. 'alms, gift'), O.Ir. táid m. O.C.Sl. taŭ m. 'thief' (orig. 'concealment, theft'), see § 99 f. p. 298 ff. Skr. mán-tu-ś 'counsellor' as well as 'counsel, advice', see § 108 p. 323 ff. Cp. § 157.

The nomina agentis may be used to denote an activity limited in point of time as well as one constantly repeated. It is especially in the former use that, like the participles, they have developed verbal constructions; for example those in -ter-, as Skr. vásūni dāta 'bona dator' beside vásunā dāta 'bonorum dator' (cp. p. 378 f.), Lat. (rarely) dator divitiās, iusta orator beside dator divitiarum, iustorum orator, Gr. (Aesoh. Prom. 612) πυρὸς βροτῶς δοτήρ ὁρῶς Προμηθεΐα 'thou seest Prometheus, the bestower of fire upon men'. If the connexion between the substantive and the verbal meaning is relaxed, the former may by degrees lose the character of a nomen agentis altogether; there then remains only the notion of a concrete thing or person, Thus po-ter-* at the time of the separation of the Indo-Germanic races had ceased to mean 'protector', which seems to have been its original signification, and meant simply 'father' (cp. § 146). uksen-* (Skr. ukṣán- Mod.Cymr. ych Goth. aihsa) did not mean 'sower, begetter', but 'bull'. Gr. τρυγών 'turtle dove' orig. 'cooer' (τρυῶν 'I coo'), Lat. praetor orig. 'qui praeit', O.H.G. heri-zogo 'duke' orig. 'leader of a host'.

§ 150. Nomina instrumenti.

-tro- -tlo-. Skr. ari-tra-m ari-tra-s O.H.G. ruo-dar Lith. ir-kla-s 'rowing implement, oar'. Skr. kār-tra-m 'magic charm'. Gr. φῆς-τρο-ν φῆς-τρο-ν Lat. fer-culu-m 'framework for carrying, litter, bier'. See § 62 p. 118 ff.

-ro- -lo-. Avest. pata-ra- 'wing', Gr. πτερό-ν 'feather, wing' (means of flying', √ pet- 'fly'). Lat. scalp-ru-m 'cutting instrument, knife', caelu-m 'chisel' for caed-lo-m*, prelu-m 'press' for prem-s-lo-m*. See § 74 p. 180 ff., § 76 p. 198 ff.

-āhro- -āhlō- in the European languages. Lat. sa-bula in-sabulu-m Czech st-ālo 'punch,awl' (Lat. suere). Gr. μήλη-θρον 'magic charm', ἐπι-βάθρα 'means of climbing, ladder'. Lat. crī-bru-m, tere-bra, suscita-bulu-m. Czech běli-ālo 'means of colouring white, white paint'. See § 77 p. 213 ff.

Gr. -τήριο- Lat. -tōrio- in neuter nouns. Gr. θελε-τήριο-ν 'means of enchantment or delight' χω-τήριο-ν 'means or ground of decision' καλλον-τήριο-ν 'means of adornment, ornament' κασο-τήριο-ν 'branding iron' σημαν-τήριο-ν 'seal, stamp', Lat. liqua-tōriu-m 'filtering vessel, strainer' scalp-tōriu-m 'instrument for scratching' circum-cīdōriu-m 'lancet'. See § 63 p. 128 f.

Lith. -tuva-: kosz-tuva-s 'strainer, sieve', min-tuvaī 'tool for tearing flax' and other examples see § 61 p. 117.

Nomina agentis (§ 149) are often used to denote an instrument, this being regarded as if it were a living performer of the action: cp. Mod.H.G. träger used both for the person who carries and for the means of carrying (beams and the like), feld-messer 'surveyor's instrument' and gas-messer 'gasometer' [Eng. shutter, fender etc.] and the like. Thus Skr. sā-tār- 'fetter, bonds' (si- 'enchain, bind'), Gr. ῥαστήρ 'hammer' (ῥαλω 'I shatter, crush') ζευκ-τήρ 'yoke-strap' (ζεύγνυμι 'I yoke') ἀρν-τήρ 'ladle, spoon, scoop' (ἀρνύω 'I draw water, ladle') just like δο-τήρ 'giver'; Lat. runcō, -ōn-is 'hoe' like edō -ōn-is; O.H.G. meizil 'chisel' (Goth. māita 'I hew') sluzzil 'key' (lit. 'he who closes') slegil 'mallet' ('beater') just like putil 'beadle'.

We find also nomina actionis becoming names of instruments, see § 155.

§ 151. Nomina loci. The suffixes chiefly used to form names of places were those which also formed nomina instrumenti (§ 150). A locality may often be regarded as the means for the performance of an action, e. g. a 'hiding-place' is a means of concealment. When a suffix has so acquired this function in a few words, it may then be used directly in other words as a suffix denoting locality.

-tro- -tlo-. Skr. kṣē-tra-m 'place of settlement, field' Avest. šōi-pre-m 'place of settlement, dwelling-place'. Skr. sthā-trā-m

'standing-place, position', jani-tra-m 'birthplace, home'. Gr. λέκτρον 'lying-place, bed', θέατρον 'place of exhibition, theatre'. Lat. cubi-culu-m, spectā-culu-m, hospitā-culu-m, ambula-cru-m. Lith. bū-klā 'home', bu-klā-s (ū?) 'lair of an animal'. See § 62 p. 118 ff.

-ro- -lo-. Skr. mand-irā-m housing, chamber, house', Gr. μῦνδρα 'fold, pen, stall'. Skr. aj-irā-m 'arena, courtyard'. Gr. ἐδρά O.Icel. set-r n. 'seat'. Gr.Lac. ἑλλά for ἑδ-λα* Lat. sellā for sed-lā* Goth. sit-l-s 'seat', O.C.Sl. selo 'fundus, habitaculum' Upper Sorb. sy-dlo 'dwelling-place'. Here no doubt should be classed Idg. aǵ-ro-s* 'common, meadow, field' (Skr. áj-ra-s, Gr. ἀγ-ρός Lat. ag-er Goth. ak-r-s) as denoting 'a place for driving cattle', ✓ aǵ- 'agere', cp. Skr. ajirā-m; the word acquired the meaning 'arable land' only when pasturing gave way to tillage, and the greater part of the land was cultivated by the plough. See § 74 p. 180 ff., § 76 p. 198.

-dhro- -dhlo-. Gr. ἀλυνθή-θρα, 'wallowing-place', γενέ-θλη 'birthplace' ἔδε-θλο-ν 'seat, site'. Lat. volatā-bru-m 'wallowing-place for swine', sta-bulu-m, nata-bulu-m, concilia-bulu-m, lati-bulu-m, late-bra. Czech by-dlo 'dwelling'. See § 77 p. 213 ff.

Gr. -τηριο- Lat. -tōriū-. Gr. ἀγωνισ-τήριο-ν 'place of battle', ἀκροᾶ-τήριο-ν 'hall of audience', ἐργασ-τήριο-ν 'place of work', βουλευ-τήριο-ν 'council hall'. Lat. audi-tōriū-m dēversōriū-m condi-tōriū-m.

Other suffixes came in other ways to denote locality. Thus -μεν- in Greek, as οἰνεών οἰνών 'wine-bin', παρθενιών παρθενών 'maidens' apartment', ἱππών 'stable', λασιών 'place thick with bushes', see § 116 p. 364. -το- in Lat., as arbus-tu-m 'plantation' ('something provided with trees'), filic-tu-m 'place full of ferns', cārec-tū-m 'place full of reeds', see § 79 p. 231 f. and cp. § 152. Cp. further the nomina actionis which have become names of place, § 155.

§ 152. Collective Nouns. Under this head there is little to notice. The chief means which the Indo-Germanic languages possess of denoting groups of things collectively in the singular is the use of the neuter (e. g. Gr. ἐπὶ ἡκού-ν 'dependencies' compared with ἐπὶ ἡκού-ς 'subject, dependent') which cannot be properly considered in this section, although indeed the view of the distinctively neuter case-suffixes as having been originally used to form the stem of the noun to which they were added is one which has nothing against it and a good deal in its favour. Nor are we here concerned with the collective use of the singular in names of peoples and the like (e. g. Gr. ὁ Πέρσης = 'the Persians' O.Pers. mada = 'the Medes collectively, Media'), or with the later use of compounds in which the final member had become a kind of suffix, (e. g. O.H.G. liut-scaf 'natio' Mid.H.G. heiden-schaft 'heathendom, the Saracens and their country').

Notice first that denominative adjectives, denoting connexion with the word from which they are derived, are a very common means of representing the collective idea. It will be found, I believe, that the neuter is regular in all the cases which occur frequently, and this was a factor of importance in expressing the collective meaning. E. g. Gr. -ικό-ν: ἱππικό-ν 'body of horsemen', ὀπλιτικό-ν 'body of heavyarmed troops', συμμαχικό-ν 'alliance, host of allies', see § 87 p. 260. The Lithuanian collectives in -ýna-s also, such as aušl-ýna-s 'a number of oaks standing together, grove of oaks', krūm-ýna-s 'thick underwood', akmen-ýna-s 'heap of stones', appear to have been originally neuter, see § 68 p. 159.

We must further observe that sometimes suffixes used in substantives denoting a quality are also used collectively; e. g. Skr. janá-tā 'company of people, community', Little-Russ. bidota 'proletariate' temnota 'ignorant people' (§ 80 p. 238 ff.), Gr. φράτρια O.C.Sl. bratřija 'brotherhood' (§ 63 p. 125 ff.).

The collective nouns cannot always be clearly distinguished from the nomina loci (§ 151). A few of the group of Latin neuters in -tu-m mentioned in the previous section may be repeated here; e. g. arbus-tu-m 'plantation', virgul-tu-m 'bushes', salic-tu-m 'willow plantation, undergrowth of willows'.

§ 153. Diminutives and Pet Names. The sense of diminution (depreciation, detraction, endearment and so forth) often disappeared, partly even in prehistoric periods. Compare the diminutive adjectives in § 142.

-lo-. Skr. vṛṣa-lā-s 'mannikin, small man', śalākā-lā 'little shaving'. Gr. ἀρκυλός 'young bear'. Lat. porc-ulu-s porcil-ia O.H.G. farhel-i Lith. parszē-l-i-s 'little pig, sucking pig'. Lat. rot-ula Lith. ratē-l-i-s 'small wheel'. O.H.G. bendil 'little band'. See § 76 p. 198 ff.

-go-. Skr. māyā-kā-s 'mannikin', Gr. μῆραξ 'girl' μαιράκιον 'boy'. Skr. aśva-kā-s 'small horse'. Gr. βῶμαξ 'small altar'. Lat. homun-c-iō 'mannikin' (in the sense of a weak creature), ovi-c-ula 'little sheep'. Lith. parszūka-s 'little sucking pig', tėvūka-s 'little father', O.C.Sl. synŭ-kŭ 'little son'. See § 84 p. 252 f., § 88 p. 262 ff.

Usages confined to single groups of languages: Gr. neuters in -io-v: ὀρνίθ-io-v 'small bird', ἑταίριδ-io-v 'little mistress', ἀσπίδ-io-v 'small shield', ἀδελφ-idio-v 'little brother', see § 63 p. 128. Germanic neuters with -ina-: Goth. gait-ein O.H.G. geiz-in 'little goat', Goth. gum-ein 'little man', see § 68 p. 158. In both these instances the intermediate stage was the idea of belonging to a species, which suggested that of incompleteness and inferiority. The developement was perhaps the same in the case of the suffix -ien- in Avest. kain-in- f. 'girl', Lat. pūs-iō 'little boy' pūmil-iō 'dwarf' senec-iō 'little old man' homunīc-iō and others of the same sort, see § 115 p. 358. 359. Mention should also be made of the Germanic diminutives with Idg. -go-, such as O.H.G. armihha 'paupercula' smurihha 'little daughter-in-law', see § 91 p. 277.

Diminutive suffixes were often combined, as Gr. -x-io-, Lat. -c-ulo- -l-ulo-, Germ. -l-ina-, Lith. -le-la- (nom. -lė-l-i-s). This was done partly to give a fuller and more emphatic expression to the idea of diminution, e. g. Lat. agellulu-s beside agellu-s, from ager 'field', Lith. mergelėls beside mergėlė, from mergà 'girl', partly in consequence of a complete loss of the diminutival sense in the first suffix, e. g. Lat. mus-c-ulu-s, Mod.H.G. ferk-el-chen.

-lo- and -go- were frequently employed in the proethnic and later periods in names of persons, especially to form 'pet names'. How far indeed the suffix retained its proper sense, is often hard to determine in any particular instance. Skr. bhānu-la-s, Gr. Θρασύ-λο-ς, O.Ir. Tuathal, Goth. Vulfi-la, Pruss. Butil. Skr. dēva-ka-s dēvika-s Gall. Divico Divic-ia, Skr. śuna-ka-s Gr. Kύ-να-ς, Skr. sana-ka-s Gall. Senicco Seneca O.H.G. Sinigu-s (the termination is Latin), O.H.G. Berhtung Berhting, Pruss. Tewiko Banduke.

Relation of Adjectives to Concrete Substantives.

§ 154. No distinction in form has ever been made in the Indo-Germanic languages between the adjective or participle on the one hand and the concrete substantive on the other.

Adjectives were used without change as substantives, just as substantives were often used without change as adjectives. Thanks to this usage the original adjectival or substantival character was often completely lost; thus Idg. dont-* 'tooth' (Skr. dānt- etc.), originally a verbal adjective meaning 'eating', became a simple substantive, perhaps even in the proethnic period (§ 126 p. 394. 398). The original character of a particular word however often appears side by side with the new sense, e. g. Lat. nātū-s 'born' and 'son', uber 'udder, exuberant fulness, abundance' and 'fertile, rich'.

The process of the change from adjective to substantive was frequently that the meaning of the adjective came to include the idea of some substantive to which the adjective was especially often applied. Thus ναῦς 'ship' was often left unexpressed Greek, as in the phrases ἡ τριήρης, ἡ πνέμυνη. In many instances the different languages show a remarkable agreement, and there the usages in question may date from the Indo-Germanic period. Thus we have fem. Gr. δεξιὰ (sc. χείρ) Lat. dextra (sc. manus) 'the right hand', O.Ir. for deis (sc. laim) 'on the right', Goth. taihva (sc. handu-s), Lith. dešinė (sc. rankà) 'the right hand', but on the contrary masc. Skr. dākṣiṇa-s (sc. hāsta-s) 'right hand'. Lat. capr-ina

'goat's flesh' Lith. oš-ėnà 'flesh of a he-goat' *O.C.Sl. bǫbrov-ina 'beaver's flesh'; Lat. rāp-īna 'turnip-field' Lith. aviš-ėnà 'oat-field' O.C.Sl. nov-ina 'newly ploughed land, fallow land', see § 68 p. 156 ff.

But some formative suffixes acquired the special function of converting adjectives into substantives, being used as denominative suffixes to form names of persons or things possessing the attribute or quality which was expressed by the original word. -en- is very commonly so used, especially in Germanic; e. g. Avest. mar't-an- 'a mortal' beside mar'ta- 'mortal', Gr. στράβων 'squinter' beside στράβός 'spinting', Lat. Ruf-ō beside rufu-s Goth. rāud-a 'red one' beside rāup-s 'red', Lith. rud-ũ 'autumn' beside rūda-s 'reddish-brown'. See § 114 p. 344 ff. Other suffixes of this kind are found only in single groups of languages, as -ago- in Balt.-Slav., e. g. Lith. naujōka-s O.C.Sl. novakũ 'novice' beside naũje-s novũ 'new' (§ 89 p. 274), and Germ. -inga-, e. g. O.H.G. arming 'poor man, poor fellow' beside arm 'poor' (§ 88 p. 267).

Substantives denoting an activity or state (nomina actionis, verbal abstract nouns).

§ 155. To denote an activity or a state is in general the function of the verb. Substantives which express an action or a state owe their existence to a metaphor, as do those which denote a quality (§ 157), — action and state being regarded as belonging to the category of material objects.

It often happens that the nomen actionis does not express its own idea simply, but represents also, by a confusion, the notion of a person or thing that is in some way connected with the action; thus such substantives come to denote material objects. The designation of the action may be applied to its (grammatical) subject: e. g. Mod.H.Germ. rat (properly 'advice') = 'adviser, counsellor', strom strömung (properly 'a streaming') = 'streaming water', verzierung (properly 'an adorning') = 'something which adorns'. [Cp. Eng. counsel (in e. g. Queen's Counsel), a grief = 'something which grieves', a hindrance = 'something which hinders']. Or it may be further extended to denote the external (direct) object of the action, that which is in any way affected by the action, e. g. Mod.H.Germ. saat (properly 'a sowing') = 'what is sown', wohnung (properly 'the act of inhabiting') = 'the house a man inhabits' [cp. Eng. contrivance = 'what is contrived', belief = 'what is believed']. Or to the internal ('cognate') object, thus giving rise to a term for the result of the action, e. g. Mod.H.Germ. riss (properly 'a rending') = 'a rent', wuchs (properly 'a growing') = 'the result of growing, growth, figure', vereinigung (properly 'a uniting') = 'the result of uniting, a united body' [cp. Eng. growth, union, a spelling = 'the method or result of spelling a word']. In the same way we have such words used as nomina instrumenti, e. g. Mod.H.Germ. verzierung = 'means of adornment', lösung (properly 'a setting free') = 'means of setting free, redemption-money' [cp. Eng. distinction = 'means of distinguishing', influence ('he will use his influence for me') = 'means of influencing', relief = 'means of relieving']; or as nomina loci e. g. Mod.H.Germ. wohnung = 'a dwelling-place', trift (properly 'a driving') = 'pasture-land' [cp. Eng. dwelling, pasture] etc. Cp. Paul Princ.² p. 81 f.

These various developments are generally difficult to separate clearly, and hence in what follows we shall not confine our attention to the nomina actionis in the strict sense but consider along with them those which show the secondary variations of meaning that have just been enumerated.

We will begin with the suffix which seems to retain the simple meaning of an action or state most regularly.

Other suffixes used in the formation of nomina actionis will be discussed in §§ 156 and 158.

When the nomina actionis had come to denote material objects, they were liable a still further extension of meaning, namely to be used as adjectives (cp. § 154). Here perhaps should be classed e. g. Skr. pū-ti-ṣ 'stinking' and tapyā-tū-ṣ 'hot, glowing', originally 'stench' and 'heat, glow'.

§ 156. Since the nomina actionis denote not merely a continuous activity but also one which may be defined in point of time, they sometimes come to be used in verbal constructions. Here, as in the case of the adjective (§ 144), the connexion with the verb may include the power of governing a case, and of distinguishing differences of time, different kinds of action (such as momentary, continuous, inceptive) and Voice (diathesis, genus verbi).

This kind of assimilation to the character and construction of the verb appears e. g. in Gr. τὴν τοῦ Θεοῦ δόσιν ὑμῖν (Plat.) 'the gift of God to you', περὶ δὲ σφίσι καταδουλώσεις (Thuc.) = περὶ δὲ τοῦ ἑαυτοῦ καταδουλωθῆναι (τοὺς Ἕλληνας), Lat. reditus Rōmam. But a still more complete identification is seen in what are called infinitives (and supines), which are crystallised cases (generally acc., dat., loc.) of nomina actionis. An infinitive may be said to be completely formed when the noun is no longer regarded as a case-form belonging to its own system, and its construction no longer follows the analogy of its original use as a noun; this is true, for example, of Gr. δομεναι δοῦναι Lat. dare, at the earliest period of which we have record. Before, however, such forms were completely isolated from the nominal system, they passed through a number of intermediate stages, and hence it is often hard to say whether any particular form should be called an infinitive in the strict sense of the word¹). The infinitives that least deserve the name are the Irish, because the nomina actionis used in Irish where other languages use the infinitive retained the construction of nouns, e. g. ar-dot-chuibdig fri sechem na m-bria-thar sin 'pledge thyself to obey these words' (literally 'to the obeying of these words'). In this latter respect (the power of governing an acc.) even the language of the Veda shews a further degree of developement; e. g. we find not only ándhasah pítáyē 'for the drinking of the soma-juice', but also ándhāsi pítáyē; the same double construction is found in the Avesta (cp. Bartholomae, Kuhn's Ztschr. XXVIII 12 f.). The infinitive reached its most characteristic development in Greek and Latin, the only languages in which we find a special expression for differences of voice.

The following formative suffixes are distributed amongst the infinitival forms (we may omit the Keltic infinitives). -tu- in Ar., Lat., Balt.-Slav., see § 108 p. 323 ff. -ti- in Ar., Balt.-Slav., see § 99 f. p. 293. -men- in Ar., Gr., see § 117 p. 365 ff. -uen- in Ar., Gr., see § 116 p. 362 ff. -es- in Ar., Lat., see § 131 f. p. 411 ff. In single groups of languages: -i- in Ar., see § 93 p. 279 f.; -lo- in Armen., see § 76 p. 202; -o- in Umbr.-Samn., see § 60 p. 114; -ono- in Germ., see § 67 p. 153. 154.

As the participle might again become a simple noun (§ 144), so also could the infinitive. In this case, however, the process was more difficult because it was not inflected. The approximation to the noun was easiest where there was least necessity for expressing its relations by means of inflexion, that is, in its use as subject or object; e. g. Gr. πάντεσσιν ἐπὶ ἑυροῦ ἵσταται ἀκμῆς ἢ μάλα λυγρὸς ὄλεθρος Ἀχαιοῖς ἢ ἐβίωναι (Hom. K. 173), πειρήσω ἀλαλγεῖν (Id. T. 30), Lat. habēre eripitur, habuisse nun-quam (Sen.), hic verēri (= verēcundiam) perdidit (Plaut.). This led on to such constructions as Gr. τὸ λῆγειν, Lat. tuom amāre (Plaut.), nostrum istud vivere triste (Pers.), nīl praeter plōrāre (Hor.), quid hūius vivere est? (Sen.)¹) and so forth. See Paul Princ.² 311 f.

1) Hence e. g. the objection urged by Brunnhofer against Ludwig and Wilhelm, that they had adduced as infinitives Vedic forms which were nothing but nomina actionis (Kuhn's Ztschr. XLV 880).

Substantives denoting a quality (Abstract Substantives in the strict sense).

§ 157. Substantives which denote a quality, owe their existence to a metaphor just as do the nomina actionis: an attribute or natural quality was regarded as belonging to the class of material objects.

Substantives denoting a quality often come to designate the person to whom the quality belongs, e.g. Mod.H.G. Jugend = 'youthful persons, young folk (collectively)' or 'a single youthful person', [Eng. youth]. But it is difficult to maintain any sharp distinction between the separate uses, and therefore the words which show this secondary developement of meaning will be treated along with the rest. It is important also to recognise the fact that no hard and fast line can be drawn between this class of nouns and the nomina actionis with their secondary shades of meaning. It is natural enough that the two divisions should often overlap.

The suffixes that most frequently appear in these abstract nouns are the following.

-tā-. Avest. cista- 'wisdom'. Gr. πρηνή 'prudence, understanding'. Lith. gelta 'yellowness'. Lat. juventa Goth. junda 'youth'. Skr. pūrṇatā- O.H.G. fullida O.C.Sl. plūnota 'fulness'. Skr. ghōratā- 'awfulness' Goth. gaurīpa 'trouble'. Skr. dirghata- O.C.Sl. dlūgota 'length'. In Greek and Slavonic are found concrete nouns like ἀγρότης 'countrymen' junota 'youth'. See § 79 p. 220 ff., § 80 p. 238 ff.

-tati- -tāt- and -tūti- -tūt-. Skr. sarvātati-§ sarvātāt- 'completeness' Avest. haurvatāt- 'safety' Gr. ὁλότης 'totality, entirety'. Gr. νεότης 'youth', Lat. novitas 'novelty, strangeness'.

Gr. ἀνδραγίη 'manliness', ἀναρχία 'anarchy'. Lat. audacia 'boldness', modestia 'moderation', sapientia 'wisdom'. See § 63 p. 122 ff.

-tyo- -tyā-. Skr. dēvatvā-m 'divinity', śucitvā-m 'purity', sātmatoḍ-m 'inspiration, possession by a deity'. Goth. þivadv 'servitude', fiþaþva 'enmity'. O.C.Sl. zělstvo 'violence'. See § 61 p. 116 f.

-es- -os-. reges*- 'gloom, darkness': Skr. rājas (Armen. erek) Gr. ἔρεος Goth. riqis. Skr. māhas- 'greatness, size', yāśas- 'glory', Gr. εὐρος 'breadth', μήκος 'length', βέθος 'depth', μέγεθος 'size, greatness'. Lat. Venus 'charm of love', languor 'weariness', lēvor 'smoothness', dulcor 'sweetness'. See § 131 ff. p. 411 ff.

In single groups of languages: e. g. Lat. -tūdin-, fortitūdō 'fearlessness', lassitūdō 'weariness' (cp. § 128 p. 409), Lith. -ybė-, auksztýbė 'height, highness', O.C.Sl. -ba-, zūloba 'wickedness' (§ 78 p. 217 f.).

The Relation of Adjectives to Abstract Substantives (nomina actionis and substantives denoting a quality) formed with the same suffixes.

§ 158. In conclusion we have to discuss another question which bears upon the origin of the substantives denoting an action or a quality and the general relation between adjectives and substantives in Indo-Germanic.

Many nouns formed with o-suffixes act both as adjectives and as abstract substantives; as a rule it happens that the feminine or neuter form, more rarely that the masculine form is the one which is used substantivally. If the adjective is a nomen agentis, we have a corresponding nomen actionis, e. g. Skr. srutá-s 'flowing': srutá-m n. 'a flowing, flood'. Or if it predicates an attribute, then the corresponding substantive denotes the attribute, e. g. Lith. gelta-s 'yellow': geltà f. 'yellowness'.

The following are examples.

Feminine. Avest. cistā- 'wisdom': Skr. cittā- parte., in the neut. 'observation, thought, intent, spirit'. Gr. πιννρή 'intelligence, wisdom': πιννρό-ς 'intelligent'; γενετή 'birth, origin': Lat. genitu-s; βροντή 'thunder'. Lat. offēnsa 'a striking against, offence': offēnsu-s; repulsa 'rejection': repulsu-s; impēnsa 'expenditure': impēnsu-s; multa 'punishment': mulsu-s instead of mol(c)tu-s* (the isolation of the substantive from the participle preserved it from the analogical change which affected the latter), Skr. mṛṣṭā- 'grasped, touched'. O.Ir. ed-part ed-bart 'oblatio': do-breth Mid.Ir. 'datum est', (Skr. bhytā-s Gr. πεπρό-ς); loth 'filth': compare this and the Lat. lutu-m lutu-s 'mud' with Lat. -lūtu-s (ab-lūtu-s etc.) 'besprinkled, soiled'. Goth. skanda O.H.G. scanta 'disgrace': O.H.G. scant 'shamed'; O.H.G. forahta 'fear': Goth. faúrht-s 'fearful'; A.S. zud 'battle': Skr. hatā- 'smitten'. Lith. geltā- 'yellowness': gelta-s 'yellow'; banktos pl. 'boisterousness, storm': bankta-s 'boisterous'. O.C.Sl. vrīsta 'condition, state, position, stage': Skr. vyttā- 'versus'. The secondary Idg. suffix -tā- in Lat. juventa Skr. pūrnatā etc. should be added here, see p. 238 ff.

Neuter. Skr. mṛtā-m 'death' O.H.G. mord 'murder': Skr. mṛtā-s 'dead'. Skr. matā-m 'meaning, opinion, intent' Lat. com-mentu-m 'idea, invention, design' O.Ir. der-met 'forgetfulness': Skr. matā- 'thought, intended'. Idg. kley-to-m* 'faculty of hearing' Avest. sraote-m Goth. hliuþ: Skr. śrutā-s 'heard'. Skr. srutā-m 'flowing, flood, stream': srutā-s 'flowing'; stutā-m 'laudation, praise': stutā-s 'praised, lauded'; mānita-m 'a doing of honour': mānita-s 'to whom honour is done, honoured'; Avest.

fra-dāte-m 'help, success': fra-dāta- 'helped, made'. O.H.G. ferid 'navigium'. O.C.Sl. pāto 'fetter': partic. peŭti. Here we must also class Idg. -my-to-, as in Skr. śrōmata-m 'a listening to' O.H.G. hlumunt 'repute, character', Lat. cōgnōmentu-m, see p. 249.

'frost' beside friosan 'to freeze'. Lith. būta-s 'dwelling, house': Skr. bhūtā-s 'become, been', cp. O.Ir. both f. This brief list of examples is enough to justify the conclusion that the fluctuation between the adjectival and substantival value in the o-nouns dates from the proethnic period¹). Now in the case of the double usage of the es-stems (such as Skr. māhas- 'greatness': mahás- 'great', Gr. ψευδος 'lie': ψευδής 'lying, false'), which is also proethnic, it can scarcely be doubted that the substantival value is the older, and it would be natural to adopt the same view in the present instance. But no decision is possible until the original meaning of the a-suffixes as opposed to the o-suffixes has been established. In discussing these (p. 106, 458) we were led to the conclusion that except in a comparatively small group of words (e. g. Lat. equo-s equa), they had no connexion whatever with the distinction of animal sex. A further consideration may now perhaps be suggested. Is it not precisely in the variation of meaning we have just noticed that we must look for light on the original function of the o-and a- suffixes?

1) It is still a question for investigation how far this use has been extended in the separate families of languages apart from the direct influence of the original variation of meaning in similar cases which came down from Indo-Germanic (cp. e. g. B. H. Balser, De linguae Graecae participiis in neutro genere substantive posito, Lips. 1878, p. 29 ff.).

NOUNS WITHOUT FORMATIVE SUFFIXES (ROOT-NOUNS)¹).

§ 159. The term Root-nouns is applied to those nouns which do not admit of analysis into root and formative suffix, in the termination of whose stem no element can be recognised which is similarly used elsewhere to form noun stems. Whether, however, all the nouns that fall under this definition were from the beginning absolutely simple forms, must be left an open question. Many of them, e. g. Skr. div- 'heaven' and Lat. hiem- (see below), may have been originally compound forms.

Root-nouns are found in all divisions of Indo-Germanic; they have been preserved most frequently in Aryan and the classical languages. In many instances they lost the special character of their formation and passed into the analogy of some vowel declension (cp. § 56 p. 102 f.), and we may regard this change of declension as the chief cause of their comparatively rare appearance in Armenian and in Germanic²), and of their almost complete disappearance in Balto-Slavonic. Here however we are bound to discuss all the nouns of this kind which occur in the separate languages, when the change of declension has made no difference in their meaning.

The Root-nouns have no simple, clearly marked function (such as that of denoting material things, actions or any other special idea). Even those which are demonstrably proethnic have meanings of different kinds. The uncompounded examples are mostly substantives, and amongst these the nouns denoting an action (fem.) and those denoting the agent preponderate; and in the former group we must include those that are used as

1) Leo Meyer, Die einsilbigen Nomina im Griech. und Lat., Kuhn's Ztschr. V 366 ff.

2) As far as the Germanic is concerned, this exchange of declension has been thoroughly discussed by B. Kahle, Zur Entwicklung der consonantischen Declination im Germanischen, Berlin 1887.

infinitives in Aryan, Greek and Latin. When they are the second members of compounds these nouns usually denote an agent.

This method of forming noun-stems was still in active use in the separate developement of Aryan, Greek and Italic.

§ 160. Root-nouns uncompounded.

We will begin with such examples as appear simultaneously in more than one group of languages.

1. Forms showing vowel-gradation.

uoiḱ-* uiḱ-* (✓ ueiḱ- 'enter'): Skr. viś- f. 'settlement, house, community, stock', Avest. vīs- O.Pers. viṣ- f. 'village community, clan'; Gr. oīxade, better written, oīxá-de, 'homewards' (compare Hom. τριχᾶ-ἰκ-εῖς?); O.C.Sl. vīs-ŭ 'village', which follows the i-declension. With Skr. acc. viś-am cp. div-am Gr. Δία beside dyām Ζῆν (see p. 481).

dorḱ-* dṛḱ-* (✓ derḱ- 'see'): Skr. dṛś- f. 'seeing, perception, eye', adj. 'seeing, beholding', inf. dṛś-é 'to see' (§ 162); Gr. δόϋς δοϋκ-ός f. 'roe, gazelle' (named from its eye).

Avest. bar'z- ber'z- f. 'height', adj. 'high'. O.Ir. bri, gen. breg, 'mountain' (I § 288 p. 230, § 298 p. 236). Goth. bairg-, gen. bairg-s, 'fortress, city'. Avest. bar'z- may stand for bhṛgḡh-* bhorḡh-* or bherḡh-; all the other forms represent bhṛgḡh-.

sem-*, sm- sqn-. Gr. εἷς Cret. ἔν-ς, gen. ἐν-ός, 'unus', ἔν 'unum' (ἐν-ός substituted for ἐμ-ος*, see I § 204 p. 170); μῶννξ 'with undivided hoof' for σμ-ωννξ*, fem. μία for σμ-ια*; ᾄμ-α 'simul' instr. sing., see I § 236 p. 199. Lat. sem-per 'in one unbroken sequence, always'; for -per see I § 658, 7 p. 504.

kred-* (kerd-) and kṛd- 'heart'. Skr. śrād dadhāmi 'I believe, trust' Lat. crēdō for crezdō* (I § 507 Rem. p. 372) O.Ir. cretim 'credo' (I § 521 p. 379), from the pr. Idg. phrase kred dhē-*. Lat. cor cord-is O.Lith. gen. szird-u (now szirdžiū) from kṛd-*, cp. Gr. καρδ-ία Ion. καρδ-ίη etc., where the root has the same vowel-grade (I § 292 p. 234). Gr. καρ no doubt for κηρδ*¹⁾.

1) This shows that the law of vowel shortening discussed in I § 611 p. 461 f. was later than the loss of the d. Cp. p. 423 footnote.

Remark 1. Armen. sirt and Goth. hairs 'heart' represent kērd-* or kērd-* (the ē being shortened, cp. I § 614 p. 464 f.). What relation does this form bear to kred? In view of this difference and of others, such as Lat. grax: Gr. γέγραφα (§ 52 p. 94), Gr. βείπον O.C.Sl. brěbъ for berbъ*, Gr. πλέω O.H.G. blechen Skr. bhrājatē: Skr. bhārgas (cp. also Skr. drakṣydmi and the like I § 259 p. 212), we may perhaps suppose that the metathesis — under certain conditions — occurred in protoethnic Indo-Germanic.

ped-* m. 'foot'. Ar. pad-: Skr. acc. sing. pād-am dat. sing. pad-ē loc. pl. patsū, Avest. acc. sing. pād-em pad-em dat. pl. pad-byō instr. sing. pād-a. Armen. pl. ot-k; by its side we find ting. otin gen. otin. Gr.Dor. πῶς (πώς?) πός Att. πούς (the ou has not been explained), gen. ποδός etc., instr. sing. Lesb. Boeot. etc. πεδ-ά 'after, with', Heracl. ἑκατι-πεδ-ος 'amounting so 20 feet'. Lat. pēs ped-is, Umbr. perī persi 'pede' du-purs-us 'bipedibus'. In Germanic ped-* occurs in O.Icel. fet n. 'step', pod-* in A.S. fæt 'step'; elsewhere pōd-*: nom. pl. O.Icel. fētr A.S. fēt = pr. Germ. fōt-iz*, loc. sing. A.S. fēt = pr. Germ. fōt-i*; Goth. acc. fōt-u fōt-uns (pr. Germ. -un -uns = -m -ys, I § 244 p. 203), on the pattern of which was formed nom. sing. fōt-u-s etc. (thus the correspondence of the Gothic word with Skr. pād-ū-ṣ would be purely accidental). For the ablaut cp. I § 311 p. 249.

Skr. vāc- f. 'voice, speech', without vowel gradation (acc. vāc-am dat. vāc-ē), Avest. vāc- vac- m. 'speech, word, prayer' (nom. vāxš acc. vāc-em instr. vac-a). Gr. ὄψ f. 'voice'. Lat. vōx f. 'voice, word', all from √ueq- 'speak'. The original paradigm is uncertain, perhaps nom. uōq(-s)* acc. uōq-η* loc. uēq-i* dat. uq-āi*. Cp. I § 314 p. 252 f.

Skr. bhrāj- f. 'brightness, gleam' instr. bhrāj-ā (cp. pres. bhrāj-a-iṣ). Gr. φλόξ φλογός f. 'flame' (cp. pres. φλέγ-ω). The root is bhleg- (bhæg-), cp. Rem. 1 above; the original paradigm of the noun is not clear.

nās-* nas-* 'nose'. Skr. du. nās-ā instr. sing. nas-ā, O.Pers. acc. nāh-am. Lat. nār-em, which has become an i-stem (nārium etc.). Cp. also A.S. næs-dyrliu, Lith. nas-rai nós-i-s. Originally it formed acc. nās-η* dat. nas-āi*. Cp. I § 318 p. 257. We cannot regard as certain the often repeated conjecture that the -s- in Lat. nās-u-s O.C.Sl. nos-ŭ is explained by supposing nās(s)* to be the original form of the nominative, cp. I § 569 Rem. 3 p. 427.

2. Forms showing vowel-gradation, and the loss of the final consonant of the root before the -m which appears in the acc. sing. when a sonant follows. (Cp. I § 188 p. 162, § 192 p. 164).

dīey-* dīey* m. 'heaven, bright day'. Skr. dyāu-ṣ diyāu-ṣ acc. sing. dyām diyām div-am nom. pl. dyāv-as diyāv-as div-as loc. sing. dyāv-i div-i dat. sing. div-ē instr. pl. dyū-bhi-ṣ. Gr. Ζεῖ-ς for *Ζῆν-ς (I § 611 p. 461) voc. Ζεῦ acc. Ζῆν (whence sprang the forms Ζῆνα Ζηνός Ζηνί) Δι(F)-α gen. ΔιF-ός loc. ΔιF-ι. Lat. Umbr. Osc. Jov- (for Djov-*, I § 135 p. 122, § 506 p. 371) and Di(χ)ov-: Lat. Jov-em Jov-is, Jūpiter Juppiter voc. = Ζεῦ πάτερ (I § 612 p. 463), dat. O.Lat. Diov-ei Diov-e, Umbr. Iuve Osc. Iuv-ei Tovi Osc. Diúv-ei Tovi; the Ital. -ov- may in all the cases = Idg. eu (I § 65 p. 52)¹⁾; to these add Lat. diem for dīēm*. Germ. gen. sing. in O.H.G. (Alemannic) Zios-tac A.S. Tīwes-dæg O.Icel. Týs-dag-r (Goth. Tius-dag-s*) 'day of Tiu (Zio), Tuesday'. The original paradigm seems to have been: nom. dīēy-s* (beside this possibly a parallel form dīēs* before consonants and when it stood last in a sentence, cp. Gr. Ζῆς Lat. diēs) acc. dīēm* voc. dīey* (for the quality of the accent see I § 671 p. 536) loc. dīey-i* dat. dīy-ái* loc. pl. dīy-sú*.

Remark 2. The analysis of dīu-* into dī-u-* is no doubt right. dīu-* seems to bear the same relation to dī-* dēx-* as srū- (Skr. srū-tā 'flowing') bears to sr- ser- (Skr. sar- 'go, flow'), see § 8 Rem. 2 p. 20 f. Then as we speak of a 'root' srey-, we may certainly add dīey-* to the root-nouns. However, if any scholar, in view of Avest. bāzdu-ṣ O.Pers.

1) There is nothing to prevent our claiming for Italo the same double forms dīey-* and dīēy-* as we find in Sanskrit; cp. also I § 120 p. 111 and § 153 p. 138 f., § 170 p. 150 (bi-dēns: dui-dēns). I am therefore unable to agree with Danielsson, who would separate etymologically Jov- and Diov- (Gramm. und etym. Stud. I. 49) dahyāu-s and Gr. βαυλός (for -ηυε) should prefer to class this word amongst those containing suffixes, I should offer no objection. It is entirely a matter of convention.

gōm-s* m. f. 'ox, cow'. Skr. gāu-ś acc. sing. gām and gāv-am nom. pl. gāv-as loc. sing. gāv-i dat. sing. gāv-ē instr. pl. gō-bhiṣ. Avest. gāu-ś gao-ś acc. gaṃ gāum (i. e. gāv-em) gaom (i. e. gav-em) instr. gav-a gāv-a. Armen. kov, gen. kovu (u-decl.). Gr. βοῦς for βωυς* (I § 611 p. 461) acc. Hom. Dor. βῶν, gen. βο(φ)-ός, the acc. βοῦν is a new formation following βοῦς. Lat. bōs bov-is (is this borrowed from some Umbr.-Samn. dialect? see I § 492 Rem. 1 p. 322), Umbr. bum 'bovem' buf 'boves' bue 'bovc'; Ital. bov- may be Idg. gou-* or geu-* (I § 65 p. 52). O.Ir. bō gen. bō, cp. I § 174 p. 153; kelt. bov-* may be either Idg. gou-* or geu-* (I § 66 p. 56). O.H.G. chuo O.Sax. kō, A.S. cū O.Icel. ký-r; the relation of the vowels presents a difficulty; kō-* (O.H.G. O.Sax.) may perhaps have been developed out of the acc. pr. Germ. kōn* = Gr. βῶν, and kū-* (A.S. O.Icel.) may perhaps come from an Idg. stem of the form gā-* (cp. Skr. śata-gu- 'having a hundred cows' Gr. ἑκατόμω = gu-ā*). The original paradigm may be conjecturally given as follows: nom. sing. gōm-s* (also possibly a parallel form gō-s* like dīē-s*, cp. Gr. βῶς beside βοῦς) acc. sing. gōm* nom. pl. gōm-es* loc. sing. gōm-i* dat. sing. gōm-ai* gōm-ai* loc. pl. gōm-sū*.

Skr. rās 'property, treasure, riches' acc. rām and rāy-am instr. pl. rābhiṣ nom. pl. rāy-as dat. sing. rāy-ē, Avest. nom. pl. rāy-ō instr. sing. ray-a gen. pl. ray-am; cp. Skr. rē-vānt- 'rich' ray-t-ś 'property, treasure, riches'. Lat. rēs rem rē 'property, thing'. Cp. I § 150 p. 136.

Skr. kṣām- f. 'earth': nom. kṣās acc. kṣām nom. pl. kṣām-as loc. sing. kṣām-i gen. abl. sing. kṣm-ās gm-ās jm-ās instr. sing. kṣām-ā jm-ā. Avest. zā acc. zām gen. z'm-ō instr. z'm-ā. Gr. χθών f., χθον-ός instead of χθου-ος* (I § 204 p. 172), χαμ-υλός χαμ-αι (Maia for Xμ-αῖα* Γμ-αῖα*?). Cp. further Lat. hum-u-s, hom-ō O.Lat. hem-ō, hūm-ānu-s (probably not for hāmin-ānu-s*, but formed immediately from hōm-* and only at a later period connected with homo), Goth. gum-a, Lith. žm-onā 'wife' (cp. p. 346 footnote 1), O.C.Sl. zem-lja. The original paradigm may be conjecturally given as follows: acc. gzhōm*¹) nom. pl. gzhōm-es* loc. sing. gzhēm-i* dat. sing. gzhym-dā* (cp. Skr. kṣam-d Gr. χθαμ-αλό-ς χαμ-αί Goth. gum-a) ghm-a* loc. pl. gzhym-sū*.

Avest. zyd m. 'winter' acc. zyam gen. zim-d. Gr. χών f. 'snow', gen. χίων-ος instead of χιου-ος*, like χθον-ός (see p. 482). Lat. hiem-s hiem-is. O.Ir. gam 'winter' instead of gi(ǵ)am*. O.Cymr. gaem for geam*- gi(ǵ)am*-, see I § 383 p. 288, § 392 p. 293. We may conjecture that the orig. paradigm was acc. ghīōm* ghīōm* nom. pl. ghīōm-es* ghīōm-es* loc. sing. ghīēm-i* ghīēm-i* dat. sing. ghim-dā* loc. pl. ghym-sū* ghīym-sū*. The word may be mentioned here, although it is certainly not a root-noun in the strict sense of the word, cp. Skr. hē-man Gr. χει-μὴν. But we find nowhere else an Idg. suffix *-em*²).

dem*- 'house', √ dem- 'build'. Gen. Skr. dán Avest. dēng = pr. Ar. dam-s*, Avest. loc. dām = pr. Ar. dam*. Gr. gen. δεης* = Skr. dán in δισ-πότης 'lord of the house' (I § 204 p. 171); δα- = dṃ-* in δά-πεδο-ν 'house-floor', then 'ground' in general; here probably must be classed δάμαρτ- 'wife', which should be analysed into δαμ-αρτ- = Idg. dṃm-* (I § 236 p. 199); remarks on further examples from Greek may be found in R. Meringer's paper in the Ztschr. f. österr. Gymn. 1888 p. 152. Cp. also Avest. dm-ana- and Armén. tun gen. tan for tm-an-. We may conjecture therefore that the following was the original paradigm: acc. dōm, whence Gr. δῶμ-α, nom. pl. dōm-es*, loc. sing. dēm-i* gen. sing. dēm-s* (cp. gen. Skr. gṛṣ Avest. gaoš, Skr. dyṛṣ), dat. sing. dm-āḷ* dṇm-āḷ* loc. pl. dṇ-sū*.

1) As regards the initial part of the word I assume the correctness of Bartholomae's hypothesis, see I § 554 Rem. 1. p. 407

2) In view of the fact that words of contrasted meaning often influence each other in form (on this point op. amongst others the Author, Ber. der kgl. sächs. Gesellsch. der Wissensch. 1883 p. 191 ff., W. Meyer, Die Schicksale des lat. Neutrums im Romanischen 1883 p. 12, Holthausen in Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 590, Wheeler, Analogy and the scope of its application in language, Ithaca N. Y. 1887, p. 19 sq.), it is not a very bold conjecture that there once existed in protohmic Indo-Germanic a form gh(ǵ)en-*, whose n gave place to m under the influence of the word sem-* 'summer' eo often joined with it (Avest. ham- Armen. am-arn O.Ir. sam O.H.G. sam-ar, op. Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 111 f.). Even during the period of separate development the words for these two ideas have sometimes influenced one another; op. e.g. O.Ir. gam. sam (see I § 392 p. 293), O.H.G. wintar: sumar (see Kahle, Zur Entwickl. der consonant Decl. im Germ., 1887, p. 20).

As to the forms dīēm* gōm* rēm* see I § 150 p. 136, § 188 p. 162. I may now also refer the reader to Johansson, De derivatis verbis contractis (Upsala 1886) p. 117 ff., R. Meringer, Ztschr. f. österr. Gymn. 1888 p. 132 ff.

Obs. 3. Meringer's welcome 'Hints' shew very clearly that in the question he discusses there is much that still needs explanation. Here I can only add a few remarks (cp. p. 428 footnote). I regard the accusatives also (gzhōm* ghzōm* dōm*) as regular phonetic developments. What Meringer (in footnote 6 p. 139) offers as 'another possible solution' is distinctly preferable to that which is given in the text itself, for if there had ever been a nom. sing. dḷēs* gōs* without u, it is certain that the u would never have been again inserted in these forms (Skr. dyāúṣ) without being at the same time restored to the precisely parallel acc. sing. (such a form as dyāum* is unheard of). Moreover, I do not feel convinced that u and ḷ ever disappeared before consonants and at the end of a sentence in the nom. sing. as well as the acc. (Gr. Ζῆς; Lat. dīs, Gr. βῆς, Skr. rās Lat. rēs); in all these we must allow the possibility of a re-formation on the model of the acc. sing. With regard to kās I must here emphatically repeat what I have said elsewhere. Meringer's assertion (p. 132. 137), that J. Schmidt has 'demonstrated' the loss of n after ā ē ū before final s in proto-ethno Indo-Germanic, does not agree with the facts (cp. § 135 Rem 1 p. 428). Lastly, I would add that we are not justified in assuming the same Indo-Germanic inflexion for all monosyllabic stems of this kind, so as to construct e. g. an acc. nām* 'navem' simply on the model of gōm*. It is not necessary to suppose that all these monosyllables arose at the same period of the parent language. For example, nāu-* 'ship' may have been formed at a later stage, and so have been dealt with otherwise than the older stems were at the time when they came into existence.

3. Forms in which vowel-gradation cannot be proved.

rēg-* 'ruler, king'. Skr. rāj- 'prince, king', usually found as the second member of compound words. Lat. rēx rēg-is. O.Ir. rī rīg, Gall. Catu-rīg-es ('battle-lords'). Goth. reik- nom. pl. reik-s; the ei is remarkable (I § 74 p. 64).

Skr. ās- (instr. ās-d) Avest. ah- (n.p) 'month'. Lat. ās n., ōr-is. Cp. also O.Icel. ās-s 'river-mouth'.

Gr. φῦρ Lat. fūr 'thief'. $\sqrt{bher-}$ 'carry'.

Gr. χίρ 'hedgehog', Lat. ēr hēr.

nāu-* f. 'ship'. Skr. nāu-§ acc. nāv-am dat. nāv-ē. Gr. ναῦς for nāu-s*, ναυαί for nāu-ai* (Ion. νηῦς νηυαί are new formations), nom. pl. νη-ες gen. sing. νη-ός ναός (I § 611 p. 464). Lat. nāv-em, which has become an i-stem, nom. nāv-i-s. Cp. also O.Icel. nōr (gen. nōs) m. from pr. Germ. nōm-a-z*.

mūs-* 'mouse'. Skr. mūṣ-, nom. pl. mūṣ-as. Gr. μῦς loc. pl. μῦναι; μῦν μυός instead of μῦ(σ)-α* μῦ(σ)-ός* follow ὀφρῦν -ύος and the like; μυός then produced μυοί beside μῦοί. Lat. mūs- mūr-is Germ mūs- is kept e. g. in nom. acc. sing. O.H.G. mās, nom. pl. A.S. mȳs O.Icel. mȳs-s; beside which we find new formations following the vowel declension. O.C.Sl. myš follows the i-declension. A by-form Idg. mus-* (the accentless form of the weak grade) is seen in Skr. muṣ-kā-s Lat. mus-culu-s (should we assume a parallel form mūsculu-s?) § 88 p. 262 f.

Skr. dīś- f. 'direction, region of the sky', Lat. gen. dic-is in dicis causa 'only in appearance, for form's sake', $\sqrt{deik-}$ 'point out, show'.

Gr. νίφ-α acc. 'snow', Lat. nix niv-is, go back to a common ground-form snigh-* (I § 423 p. 309, § 433 p. 322 f.), $\sqrt{sneigh-}$.

Gr. χήν χην-ός Dor. χᾶν χᾶν-ός 'goose' for χανσ-*; the nom. χήν is a new formation which has replaced χᾶς* as μήν replaced μείς (stem pr. Gr. μηνσ-*). In Germanic the same stem occurs in a few forms, as in A.S. loc. sing. zēs = Gr. χην-ί, and also in the Lith. gen. pl. žas-ū, which elsewhere conforms to the vowel-declension. The -s- of the word however, may perhaps be an element of the nature of a suffix, cp. O.H.G. ganazzo 'gander'.

Gr. ἅλ-ς άλ-ός m. Lat. sāl sal-is m. n. 'salt', Umbr. salu 'salem'; Lat. sāl instead of sal* follows forms like pēs. Armen. ał gen. ał-l and O.C.Sl. sol-ŕ are i-stems.

4. There is a special group of forms in which are found -ū -ī -ṽ -f- -f- before case-endings which begin with a consonant, and -uy- -iḡ- -ḡn- -ḡr- -ḡl- before those which begin with a vowel. See I § 253 p. 207, § 306 p. 243, § 312 p. 250.

bhrā-s* f. 'eyebrow' dat. sing. bhruy-āḡ*. Skr. bhrā-ṣ loc. pl. bhrā-ṣū acc. sing. bhrūv-am dat. sing. bhruv-ē. Gr. ὀφρῦ-ς acc. ὀφρῦ-ν gen. ὀφρῦ-ος; loc. pl. ὀφρῦσι instead of ὀφρῦσι*. A.S. brū. The O.C.Sl. brūv-ī belongs to the i-decl. Compare the parallel forms Gall. brīva 'bridge' O.H.G. brāwa 'brow' whose common ground-form is bhrēy-a-*.

sū-s* 'sow' dat. sing. snuy-āḡ*. Gr. ῥ-ς ῥ-ν ῥ-ός. Lat. sū-s sū-bus su-em su-is, Umbr. sim 'suem' (I § 57 p. 46). O.H.G. sū O.Icel. sý-r; snuy-* is perhaps represented by A.S. suzu f. 'sow', see Bugge, Paul-Braune's Beitr. XIII 509 f. Cp. the dimin. sū-go- § 88 p. 263.

Gr. ἰχθῦ-ς ἰχθῦν ἰχθῦ-ος m. 'fish'. Lith. gen. pl. dial. žuv-ū; elsewhere it follows the i-decl., žuv-l-s. Cp. Armen. ju-k-n etc. § 88 p. 263.

Gr. ἰ-ς f. 'power, might' instr. ἰ-φι. Lat. vī-s vim for vī-m* (I § 612 p. 463, § 655, 4 p. 503). μῡ-* before sonants seems to have disappeared.

The other instances belong only to single groups of languages: e. g. Skr. gū-ṣā-s gen. -ṣān-as 'gaining cattle' (-ṣ-), pūr gen. pur-ās 'fortress' (-ḡ-).

5. Skr. jyā- jīyā- f. Gr. βίᾱ f. 'might'. Compare Skr. perf. jī-jyāu subst. neut. jyāna-m and perf. jī-gāy-a pres. jāy-a-ti. Cp. § 8 Rem. 1. p. 20, and Morph. Unt. I 6.

§ 161. Examples from single groups of languages. The largest numbers are found in Aryan, Greek, and Italic.

Aryan. When they denote an action these root-nouns are always feminine.

Skr. drūh- f. 'injury, enmity', concrete 'injurer, enemy', Avest. druj- f. 'lie', concrete 'fiend (f)'. Skr. kṛp- f. 'figure, appearance', Avest. kehrp- f. 'figure, body': cp. Lat. corp-us. Skr. kṣāp- f. Avest. xšap- f. 'night'. Skr. Avest. ap- f. 'water': acc. Skr. āp-am Avest. ap-em, instr. Skr. ap-ā Avest. ap-a Skr. acc. khā-m f. 'source', finds its complement in Avest. xā f. 'source', both from pr. Ar. khē-s* khē-m*, beside Ar. khan- 'dig'. Skr. spāś- Avest. spas- m. 'spy, inspector', cp. Lat. au-sper, Gr. οἰώψ 'owl'. Skr. hṛd- n. Avest. zard- n. 'heart'. Skr. māh- Avest. maz- 'great'.

Skr. vṛdh- f. 'help, prosperity', adj. 'helping, strengthening'. vṛt- f. 'host of foes, foe', adj. 'turned against anyone'. nṛt- f. 'bearing, gesture'. yūj- 'yoked with, companion', cp. Gr. οὔζυξ Lat. con-jux. tī- 'lord'. bhū- f. 'world', nom. sing. bhū- pl. bhūv-as. dht- f. 'thought'. bhī- f. 'fear'. gīr- f. 'praise, laud', adj. 'praising', nom. sing. gīr ground-form gī-s* pl. gīr-as ground-form gīr-es*. jā- f. 'being, creature' adj. 'born, formed', nom. sing. jā-s acc. sing. jā-m loc. pl. jā-su, ground-form gā-*. sthā- 'standing', nom. sing. sthā-s acc. sthā-m. psā- f. 'food' ni-drā- f. 'sleep' vra- f. 'host, troop' like jyā- § 160, 5 (Morph. Unt. I 18. 43).

Avest. var-z- ver-z- 'work'. mas- 'great, wide', cp. Gr. μακρό-.

Armenian. The old root-nouns have passed into other declensions. See the examples in § 160. It is however possible that certain case-forms, such as ot-ē 'pedes' sirt-ē 'corda', still belong to the old consonantal inflexion Greek. στύξ στυγός f. 'hatred, awe', cp. ψευδοί-στυξ 'hating lies'. πρώξ πρωκός f. 'drop, dew', ground-form pṛk-*, see I § 306 p. 242. ἀλκ-ί loc. sing. beside ἀλκ-ή 'strength of body'. κρόκ-α acc. sing. beside κρόκ-η 'woof', compared with κρέκειν, which was also used of the noise caused by the striking of the web. φρίξ φριχός f. beside φριχ-η 'the shiver of the surface of the water'. Thus no doubt δίκ-η has replaced an older dīk-* = Skr. dīs-. λύγξ λυγγός f. 'hiccough' beside λυγγάρομαι λύζιο λύγ-οην (O.H.G. sluccho n. 'devourer'); for the nasal m in the root-syllable cp. I § 221 p. 187 and Skr. yūñj- beside yūj- (acc. yūñj-am and yūj-am) Lat. con-junx beside -jux. θρίξ τριχός f. 'hair' (cp. I § 496 p. 364 f.). αὔλαξ f. 'furrow' for ā-Flax-*, with the by-forms ᾠλξ ᾠλος ᾠλαξ, seems to have sprung from an old doublet Flax-: Folk- with ablaut, from (s)uelq- 'draw, pull' (cp. Darbishire, Notes on the spir. asper in Greek, Cambridge 1888, p. 29). ῥῶξ ῥῶγ-ός f. 'rift, cleft, split', beside ῥήγ-νῦ-μῖ*. ῶψ 'countenance' acc. ῶπ-α; compare κύκλ-ωψ ἑλλκ-ωπ-εῖς and ὄλν-ωψ αἰθ-ωψ, which probably shew an old gradation *ῶψ ῶπ-α ὄπ-ός etc. κῶτ n. 'barley' no doubt for κῶτῑ*, cp. κῶτῑ. θῶς, gen. θῶός, 'jackal' beside θῑτ- 'run'. χῶγ 'necessity' (cp. also ὁμοκλή 'joint cry, loud cry', μεσό-δμη 'intermediate structure, cross-beam'), like βία § 160, 5 (Morph. Unt. I 49. 64). κῶξ κῶκ-ός m. a bird, and also 'braggart', beside κῶκω, cp. κῶκ-α above. τῶξ τῶγ-ός m. 'gnawer, worm' beside τῶγω. κῶς κ-ός m. 'a worm in the corn', like Skr. dht-ṣ dhiy-ás. κῶψ m. 'thief' beside κῶπ-τω. Further examples are given by Bloomfield, Amer. Journ. of Phil. IX 7 ff.

Italic. Lat. lēx lēg-is f. 'law', Osc. ligud 'lege' ligis 'legibus' Marruc. līxs 'lex' or 'leges' Pelign. lex-e 'in leges'. Lat. vās vās-is n. 'vessel', Umbr. vas-us 'vasis' (the preservation of the voiceless s in all the cases is perhaps due to the analogy of the nom. acc. sing.). man- 'hand', Umbr. man-f acc. pl., Lat. man-ceps malluviae for man-luviae*, with other exx. (Danielsson, Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 189 f., Duvau, Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. VI 226 f.). The connexion between Lat. frūx frūg-is f. 'produce' and Umbr. frif acc. 'fruges, frumenta' (I § 57 p. 46) is doubtful, see Pauli Altital. Stud. V 114 f.

Lat. lūx lūc-is f. 'light'. nux nuc-is f. 'nut'. pix pic-is f. 'pitch'. vic- gen. vic-is f. 'change' (beside vmcō, see Osthoff, Paul-Br. Beitr. VIII 272). nex nec-is f. 'death'. prex prec-is f. 'prayer'. op-s op-is f. 'might, means, power'. pāx pāc-is f. 'peace'. dap-s dap-is f. 'feast', beside Gr. ἰαν-ἀνῆ 'expenditure'. arx arc-is f. 'citadel'. faex faec-is f. 'dregs'. faux fauc-is f. 'throat'. spē-s, acc. spe-m, f. 'hope'. re-quiē-s, gen. -quiēt, f. like Skr. jyā- § 160, 5 (Morph. Unt. I 10). strix strig-is f. 'horned owl'. dux duc-is m. 'leader'. vas vad-is m. 'surety'.

Osc. far n. 'far' and Umbr. far n. 'far' farer 'farris' appears to be a root-noun; far-: Lat. farr- (for far(e)s*-, see § 132 p. 413 and p. 420) = Skr. kṛp-: Lat. corpus.

Old Irish. bri 'mountain', ṛí 'king', bō 'cow', see § 160. This method of forming noun-stems seems to have died out in Irish. Cp. further the Gall. brog- 'district, neighbourhood, land' in allo-brox pl. allo-broges, parallel to which we find brogi- in Brogi-marus O.Ir. bruig and other exx. (Zimmer, Kelt. Stud. I 117 f. Thurneysen, Keltoroman. 50).

Germanic. The original root-nouns (§ 160) were all more or less completely transferred to the vowel declensions; e. g. out of the Goth. paradigm, sing. nom. baúrgs gen. baúrgs dat. (loc.) baúrg acc. baúrg pl. nom. baúrgs gen. baúrgē dat. baúrgim acc. baúrgs only the gen. dat. sing. and the nom.-acc. pl. belong to the original consonantal declension.

Even amongst the few root-nouns which do not recur in other languages there are none in which the simple root is used for the stem in all the cases. Examples of forms whose stems contain no suffix are: O.H.G. dat. sing. gi-nōz nom. pl. gi-nōz beside nom. sing. gi-nōz 'companion' (i. e. 'one who enjoys (geniesst) with another'), A.S. dat. (loc.) sing. bēc beside nom. sing. bōc 'book', O.Icel. nom. pl. hend-r beside nom. sing. hond (Goth. handu-s) 'hand'; see Kahle's essay cited on p. 478 footnote 2. As regards some of these nouns it is probable that they had at first a vocalic formative suffix, and that it was a secondary process, affecting even then only a certain number of their cases, which put them on a level with the root-nouns.

Balto-Slavonic. The root-nouns as a class have almost entirely disappeared, giving place to new formations on the model of the vocalic declensions; e. g. Lith. nós-i-s f. 'nose', O.C.Sl. vīs-ī f. 'village', see § 160. Besides these there are only a few traces preserved in the forms of the gen. pl. in Lithuanian: O.Lith. szird-u, Mod.Lith. šird-ū šird-ū; we should add Slav. krŭv- f. 'blood' gen. sing. krŭv-e, beside which we have nom. sing. krŭv-ī instead of kry*.

§ 162. Nomina actionis used as Infinitives. Cp. § 156 p. 470 ff.

This usage is found in Aryan, Greek and Italic. In all three the dative is used as an infinitive; in Sanskrit other cases are used as well.

In Sanskrit the case-suffix had the accent, if the verb had no prefix; otherwise the accent fell on the root-syllable. dr̥ś-ē 'to see' bhuj-ē 'to enjoy', nir-ājē 'to drive forth' (Lat. ag-ī) ni-námē 'to bend down'. Avest. sav-ōi 'to use' dar-ōi 'to see'.

Lat. ag-ī (: Skr. -ājē), dīc-ī, sequ-ī ūt-ī, hence also tund-ī posc-ī mi-nu-ī etc. in imitation of these forms. A difference in meaning was established between these and the locative forms agere etc. (§ 132 p. 418), the latter being distinguished as active, the former as deponent or passive forms; the origin of this process was probably an accidental preponderance of the use of the dative of root-nouns to serve as infinitives in deponent verbs.

-s- sometimes appears between the root-syllable and the dative termination. This is rare in Aryan. Skr. jī-ś-ē 'to conquer' -prāk-ś-ē 'to fill, satisfy', Avest. a nāšē 'to bring near', root Avest. nas- Gr. ἐνεγχε-. Gr. γράφαι 'to write' δείξαι 'to show'. The -s- is identical with the element which is frequently found in the verb finite after the root-syllable, particularly in the sigmatic aorist, to which it gave its name (it is very possible that it is etymologically identical with the -s- which is used in the formation of noun-stems, § 134 p. 424 ff.; cp. Morph. Unt. III 42 f.); hence in Greek this kind of infinitive was confined to the sigmatic aorist. In Latin we may compare such forms as da-rī fer-rī.

Remark 1. There are difficulties in determining the relation of the Latin forms in -se -re to those in -sē -rī*, several different views are almost equally tenable. If we start by assuming that Latin inherited from an earlier period only forms in -es-ī* (vivere amāre) -aī* (agī) -s-aī* (darī), we must suppose that the following are new formations: dare ferre on the model of vivere amāre, and on the other hand amārī following darī, fierī also instead of fiere. But perhaps even in the pre-Italic period there were parallel forms in -s-ī* (da-re), cp. dixē scripse and Skr infinitives like dr̥ś-ī (see below). Lastly it is also possible that on the analogy of indic. aget*. infin. ages* (agit agere) the infinitives es-sī* fer-sī* (esse and ferre respectively) were first formed to correspond to es-t fer-t and that then and not before fer-rī was formed on the model of agī.

Remark 2. In Old Latin and even later in poetic diction beside the forms in -ī and -rī we find equivalent forms in -ier and -rier, as agier durier. It has often been assumed that agier should be analysed into agie-r, -r being the sign of the passive as in agitu-r, and agie* being the ground-form of agī. This every one would admit if agīe* could be explained as an infinitive form¹), and if the change from -ie to -ī could be shewn to be regular (it is not shewn by the voc filī, for the -ī of this form may be the original weak-grade of -iā- -iē-, op. § 63 p. 122). Other explanations of -ier -rier are equally unsatisfactory; see e. g. J. Stadelmann, De quantitate vocalium Latinas voces terminantium, Luernae 1884, p. 73, V. Henry Mém. de la Soc. de lingu. VI 62 ff. I conjecture that -er represents the preposition ar (ar-biter ar-vorsus), which appears to be of dialectic origin (I § 369 Rem. 1 p. 280). For the change of -ar to -er see I § 97, 3 p. 91, op. in-ers arti-fex im-pertiō; and for the position of the word cp. quem ad beside ad quem and Umbr. asam-aī 'ad aram'. It need not surprise us to find at so early a stage of Latin the combination of the infinitive with a preposition which is established in the Romance languages (cp. ad before the infinitive, as Ital. ho a scrivere, Diez Gramm III⁴ 281 ff.), since even in Latin the infinitive had again approximated to the noun, and at least inter and praeter were used with it (see p. 471 ff.). Nor is there any difficulty in the assumption that agi-er, after the origin of the -er had been forgotten, had the same meaning as agī: the assimilation in usage was caused by the association of the final r of agier with the r of agor agitur etc. This entire class of infinitive formations, being like ar of dialectic origin, were allowed to drop out of use in classical prose, like so many other idioms that came from the same source.

In Sanskrit we find, besides the dative, the acc. in -am, the loc. in -i and the gen.-abl. in -as used as infinitives, e. g. ā-nām-am (ā-nam- 'incline or bend towards one'), dyś-i sa-dyś-i (cp. dyś-ē p. 490), abhi-śrīṣ-as (abhi-śrīṣ- 'make fast to').

In the Indo-Germanic and later periods we find compounds in which a root is the second member, and serves as a noun to denote the agent, as in the Skr. puru-drūh- 'injuring many'. There is no need to assume that the root was first used in the compound as a nomen actionis and that the whole word was subsequently epithetised (i. e. converted into an adjective, see § 50 p. 92), since in protoethnic Indo-Germanic the root could be used alone to denote the agent; cp. Skr. rdj- p. 484, Skr. drūh- Avest. druj- etc. p. 486 ff. More rarely the compound has a passive sense, as Skr. sa-yuj 'joined by bonds of friendship or kinship', cp. yúj- 'yoked with, companion'. Compound words of this type were formed in Aryan, Greek and Italic.

1) Thurneysen's explanation seems to me improbable (Über die Herkunft und Bildung der lat. Verba auf -io, p. 46)

Indo-Germanic. • Skr. sq-yuj-, see above, manō-yúj- 'yoked by thought, by mere will', Gr. σύνεξις óμó-ζυξις 'yoked together, united', especially 'joined in marriage', Lat. con-jux. Skr. viśva-vid- 'knowing everything', Gr. νη-ις acc. νή-ιδα 'not knowing, ignorant'. Skr. tri-bhúj- 'threefold, triple' Avest. qzō-būj- 'freeing from distress', Gr. πρόσφυξις 'fugitive, client'. Skr. pr̥tandj- (pr̥tana-aj-) 'running in or to battle', Lat. rēm-ex. Skr. muhur-gir- 'devouring suddenly', cp. Gr. ὠμο-βρώξις 'devouring raw' gen. -βρω-ι-τος etc., see I § 306 p. 242, § 312 p. 250, II § 123 p. 391.

I may add a few examples taken from the separate groups of languages.

Aryan. Skr. vytra-hán- Avest. ver'pra-jan- 'slaying Vritra': acc. Skr. -hán-am Avest. -jan-em dat. Skr. -ghn-é Avest. γν-ε loc. pl. Skr. -há-su. Skr. upastha-sád- 'sitting in the lap', Avest. armaç-sād- 'sitting quiet'. Skr. úd-añc- 'turned or directed upwards' acc. sing. úd-añc-am loc. pl. úd-ak-ṣu, ny-añc- Avest. ny-anc- 'turned or directed downwards', cp. Gr. ποδ-αν-ός 'coming whence?' Lat. prop-inqu-o-s long-inqu-o-s (cp. I § 228 p. 195); the Sanskrit and Avestic declension of words containing -añc- -anc- (Whitney Skr. Gr. § 407 ff, Bartholomae Handb. § 192, J. Darmesteter, Le suffixe -ac- en Iranien, Mém. de la Soc. de de lingu. III 302 ff.) shows many new formations, partly caused by a confusion with forms which had the suffix -qo- (see § 86 p. 256). Skr. satya-yáj- 'duly honouring, duly offering' Avest. daēva-yāz- 'honouring the demons, offering to them'. Avest. na-zd- Skr. nēd-, only in compar. and superl., see § 135 p. 431.

In Sanskrit, compounds of this kind are very common. Any root could be used in this way. We may add as further examples su-dṛś- 'seeing well', sahō-vṛdh- 'increasing strength', purō-yúdh- 'fighting before', purō-bhū- 'being in front, surpassing'. In Iranian too this kind of formation remained in active use, cp. vohu-var'z- 'working good', ahūm-mer'c- 'slaying, injuring the world' (also -mer'nc-, cp. Skr. yuhj- Gr. λύγξ p. 487).

Greek. ψευδο-στυξ 'hating deceit'. οινό-φλυξ 'drunken with wine, wine-bibbing' (cp. I § 427 p. 314, § 428 p. 316). χερ-νιπ 'water for the hands' originally 'washing the hands', ὑπό-δρα for -δραx* neut. adv. 'looking from below upwards', cp. Skr. दृष्ट- f. 'sight, aspect'. Here perhaps we may class δεῦρο (which hitherto has never been satisfactorily explained) if it stands for δε-φρον* 'inclined hither', compare ἐέπω 'I incline' ἐσπή 'inclination, sinking, direction'; v is regular, as in ναλα-ῦροψ; δεύρω Hom. I 240 may be for δε-φρων*; more probably it is only a reformation on the model of ἄνω πρόσω and the like.

Italic. Lat. jūdex 'declarer of the law, judge' for jouz-dic-s* (I § 33 Rem. 1 p. 33, § 594 p. 450), Osc. med-dīs med-dis 'meddix' (I § 501 p. 368); in spite of its abbreviated form metd. which occurs once, I should prefer not to separate the first part of the Oscan word from Umbr. meṛ-s mers 'ius, fas' (§ 132 p. 418). Lat. prae-ses -sid-is. tubi-cen -cin-is. libri-pēns -pend-is. redux -duc-is.

Remark. For arti-fex opi-fex see § 85 p. 254

Germanic. O.H.G. ort O.Icel. odd-r 'point' may have been a compound of this kind, standing for ud+dhē-* 'upraise, lift on high' (I § 536 Rem. p. 392); it is however quite conceivable that the original form was ud+dh-o-*, with the suffix -o-, which in this position would date from a very early period.
